Noted author address writers

A good number of writers and other folks interested in writing gathered at the Killam Library at 7:30 p.m. on Monday October 15th to hear and to meet Mr. John Patrick Gillespie, Director of Film and Literary Arts for Alberta. Mr. Gillespie spoke about writing in general and gave some rules to observe when writing either fiction or non-fiction. The number one rule in all cases is to find a specific market and write specifically for it. He then listened to some of the fiction writers read their scripts and offered helpful comments and suggestions. During a break in the reading he presented a cheque to the Flagstaff Creative Writers which they had received through his department from Mr. Monte Keith for their work published each week in "Ritters Ramblings" in the Community Press and the Alliance Enterprise. It was then the turn of some of the non-fiction writers to read their scripts and again Mr. Gillespie offered constructive criticism. Lusch and visiting followed the meeting which ran much later than the usual meetings due to the great interest of those present.

Parents meeting at Killam Public School

Ten families were represented at the Killam Public School parents meeting on October 11 in the school library. There was also six teachers which we truly appreciated.

Robert North unofficially chaired the meeting commencing with individual introduction of parents and teachers present.

Mr. Tiffen was then asked by Robert to inform us of the teachers on staff and what subjects they were teaching. Next on the agenda copies of a questionnaire on government testing of students which had appeared in the Edmonton Journal were passed around and it was suggested that the group present, may like to send a letter of their views on this subject to the Provincial Department of Education. There was a long and informative discussion held with teachers and parents viewing their opinions freely. It was left up to the individual to write to the department with his or her views on the subject. Robert next asked for opinions on the suggestion of Christian Education being taught in the school. This was discussed and it was decided to invite members of the clergy to our next meeting on November 5 to provide us with more information of this subject.

The evening concluded with a feeling that much information had been gained. We hope more parents can be present at the next meeting. This is the Year of the Child - how about getting involved with your child and his education.

Neil Wilson (left), outlines some of the objectives of the Community Management Assistance Program to a group of 46 interested business people. The initial meeting was held at Hardisty on Monday, October 15 under the co-sponsorship of the Hardisty Chamber of Commerce and the Regional Business Development Branch of the Alberta Tourism and Small Business Branch. Also in the photo are Reg Fee of Killam as one of the 23 who signed up for the program and Joyce Harrison, Hardisty who is busy making out the receipts. On the right is Peter Stephenson of Peter Stephenson and Associates who will act as consultants for the program.

Committee seeks more co-operation on Sr. services

The communities of Daysland and Forestburg have been working on developing an innovative way to provide housing and services to senior citizens in their area. The project, begun in 1977 with the assistance of Flagstaff Preventive Social Services, has undertaken an extensive study of the needs of senior citizens in the Daysland and Forestburg areas and has proposed a multilevel care centre which would not only provide housing for the area's senior citizens but would also act as a community centre from which meals, transportation, medical services, recreation and social services could be provided to seniors living in the centre and seniors still living in their own homes.

Over the summer, a combined committee representing seniors in the study area which includes Bawlf, Daysland, Strone, Forestburg, Gahad and Alliance, prepared a report for presentation to local MLA's and the Policy Advisory Committee to the Minister of Hospitals and Medicare, the Hon. Dave Russell. At an initial meeting with MLA Gordon Stromberg and the Hon. Henry Kroeger, Minister of Transportation, support was obtained for the project from the MLA's and an appointment was arranged with the Policy Advisory Committee.

The meeting with the Policy Advisory Committee to the Minister of Hospitals and Medicare took place on September 19, 1979. At that meeting Stan Lusch and Roy Carlson of Daysland, Eldon Oberg and Bob Graef of Forestburg represented the combined Daysland and Forestburg Committee. Paul Bujold represented Flagstaff Preventive Social Services and Jim Waugh from the University of Calgary Faculty of Environmental Design acted as the project advisor.

The Policy Advisory Committee was very supportive of the idea presented but asked that more work be done on the co-ordination of services and on present availability of services in the area. These facts are presently being gathered and another presentation to the Committee will be made in the near future.

Agriculture Week - October 21 to 27

Agriculture Week, October 21 to 27 has been set aside as a time of year when we focus our attention on agriculture and the tremendous contributions farmers make to our province. A great deal of promotion is directed to the urban areas and to make them aware of agriculture and the buying of home grown products. It does seem a little like selling refrigerators to Eskimos when the rural people start congratulating themselves on being part of the scene. Everyone in the rural areas including towns and villages are very appreciative of agriculture and the manner in which we all depend on one another.

Farmers and ranchers in the Flaxstaff area have shown leadership in the past year that is hard to equal. Besides doing their usual good job of farming the lands and managing their livestock and businesses some of our farmers have found time to organize some very progressive projects. The local office of Alberta Agriculture has been involved in many of the projects but it is the farmers that should take the credit because in all cases it has been their ideas and their efforts that have made the projects a success.

Hardly a day goes by that we don't read or hear about how rich Alberta is with all her oil and how promising our future will be when we get a petro chemistry industry to even raise us higher on the ladder. For my part I still prefer the taste of an Alberta-grown carrot - over that of crude oil or the smell of fresh mowed hay over the rotten-egg smell of sulphur gas.

In short, "It would be a hungry day in hell" if everyone thought oil or tourists were the only and major industry in Alberta.

What Others Say

Birthday cake could flop on Alberta

Alberta's seventy-fifth anniversary party, planned for 1980, may be a flop if excitement generated to date is any indication.

So far this year, the provincial government has stated only what it will not do to celebrate the occasion. What it will do is apparently being left up to the citizens of Alberta, who should not expect substantial funding from the province, according to Bob Dowling, a former provincial cabinet minister who is heading the celebration.

The province will not build any monuments to celebrate the occasion as it did with the construction of the Jubilee auditoriums in Calgary and Edmonton in 1965. And there won't be any large grants available to small communities for capital funding projects, either.

Mr. Dowling has told Albertans that it is their party and they should expect to contribute if they want to celebrate it. Some money will be available, but the government has not yet disclosed any particular figure. The amount that will be allocated will be determined after the province looks at the proposals put to it.

Mr. Dowling said "off-the-record" at a convention of newspaper editors and publishers last week that the money will be allocated on a per capita basis with a likely minimum of $1,500 funded to each community.

The biggest part of the seventy-fifth anniversary program to date has been a $4.5 million Homecoming 1980 project which will be co-ordinated by Travel Alberta and the Travel Industry Association of Alberta. And the most interest expressed to date in the anniversary project has been in the letters being sent to former Albertans and friends of Albertans inviting them to come and visit Alberta.

What they will do when they get here is another question. Apparently, they will help towns like Drayton Valley spend their $1,500 allocation.

But the minimal financial backing of the planned anniversary party is not surprising—even from a province with the billion-dollar wealth of Alberta. Why should the province invest a great deal of funding in a party when it so begrudgingly allocates it for roads, hospitals and education?

Western Review, Drayton Valley.

JASPER, Canada's Safety Bear

Well take the sucker out of your mouth when you run and play. If you should trip and fall on it, it could ruin your day

The Third Column

by Truncate

I WRITE AS PLEASE

TO SPEAK OR NOT TO SPEAK.

ON THE ONE HAND, I am not particularly fond of a continuous regurgitation of old sayings, simply because overuse waters down the impact. I do believe though that the use of them should not be completely abandoned. Many of the old adages, if adhered to, bear fruit even in this day of "very thing goes". The more modern cliches have as much voltage as those of ancient vintage, and they are so numerous that we find one for almost any situation.

RECENT EVENTS have given some "oomph" to a familiar saying that "It is better to remain silent and be thought a fool, than to speak up and prove the fact." During the most recent federal campaign, Joe

Clark made it abundantly clear that if elected he was going to move the Canadian embassy to Jerusalem, and move it too.

The resultant rage expressed by the Arab nations including economic sanctions, gave cause for second thoughts on the matter. The tune was changed to one which said, "We will still move the embassy sometime." Well the war of nerves continued, Joe was elected, and pressure forced a decision. Should he stick to his original statement which won the admiral and votes of the Jewish element or should he back off and placate the angry Arabs? The answer was obvious, stall the whole matter, and win some breathing room. So on to the next step. The quiet, unobtrusive talents of Robert Stanfield. Using a bit of imagination the script can be outlined as follows:

GET THREE into the land of the Arabs and slide them in amongst them and their neighbors, mingling amongst them, learn thereof their inner-most feelings, their angers and inner-most interests. Journey these also to the lands of Moab and those of the Ancient Kings; learn of their methods and their retaliations and their ancient modes of revenge; learn also of their inner strengths and weaknesses, that we may set up our means of defence. Bow these before them, paying homage to their rulers and paying tribute to their ancient Kings and custom ers lest they offend their sensitivanities. Learn thereof all that is to be learned and store these things in thy mind. Write nothing learnest less those things be perilous and used against thee.

WHEN THOU HAST learned

all that is to be known unto thee, get thee unto the site of the Holy City of Jerusalem.

There gaze upon the Golan

Heights and the Gaze Strip.

Learn thereof the ancient struggles for survival. And when thou hast seen those things get thee unto the Holy City of Jerusalem and learn therein the strengths and weaknesses of this ancient monsters. Get thee to the Wailing Wall there seeking strength for thy mission. Abide there thou amongst them until such time as thou hast learned all that is to be made known unto thee, and when thou hast learned all that is to be made known unto thee, store these things in thy mind. When thou mountest thy camel to get thou back to the land of thy inheritance, look thou not back least thou be made as a pillar of salt and lose thy effectiveness.

On thy return disclose fully all of that which thou hast learned as to whether we should or should not fold our tent and remove hence. Fear not that thy mission shall have been for naught for verily I say unto thee thy words shall have evidence in the innermost plein-potent walls of thine own establishment in thy own homeland.

TIME PARSETH all

understanding and are you have perused this, Robert Stanfield will have returned and made his disclosures as to who he has learned, to Joseph and his Tribe. What it will be may become public knowledge and may be altered away from the archives, but my imagination allows me to speculate. Therefore I suspect that his words of wisdom will follow these lines:

"Verily I say unto you and thy tribal chiefs, move not thy camp lest thou encounter trials and tribulations beyond measure from the camps of the enemy. Be thou content with thy present, ancient location, and so still the treacherous waters and calm the angry seas.

GET THOU INSTEAD unto masters of more import to thine own troubled people and verily thy name shall hang on the walls of posterity."

THUS WILL THE issue be resolved and any repetition therefrom be settled on the shoulders of Robert Stanfield instead of where it belongs, on the inventor of the ill-conceived

The Daysland Hospital Auxiliary meeting was held October 11th. The meeting opened with the Auxiliary Prayer. The roll call was answered by 11 members and one visitor who became a new member. The secretary minutes were read by Dorothy McDevitt in Helen Hirdlicka's absence. The treasurer's report was given by Emily Hill and she also gave a report on the amount taken in at the Pina Market which was a great success.

Ellen Pederson read the report on the Regional meeting that five members attended last May. She also thanked all the ladies that worked at the Flea Market to make it turn out so good.

A motion was made to send a donation to the Daysland School Year Book, and another was made to give a donation towards the new unit in the hospital. It is called a blood chemistry auto analyzer. Mr. West the hospital administrator came and explained the use of the unit and took us to see it. He said October 26th there will be an afternoon tea at the hospital from 1:30 to 4:30 where you may see the unit at work.

The meeting adjourned and coffee and lunch was served compliments of the hospital.

Flagstaff Further Education reports

A regular meeting of the Flagstaff Further Education Council is scheduled for October 24th, at 7:30 p.m. at Sedgewick Central High School.

Approximately four general meetings are held each year to which the public are encouraged to take part in. May I remind you that the council of adult education in the county is made up of interested persons and that should be you. Flagstaff Further Education in conjunction with P.S.S. District Health Unit, Department of Agriculture, I.D.A. and Home Economics Ministerial Association, as well as other interested groups, are busy setting up courses to fill the needs of the area.

Beginning in 1980, changes in administration procedures will take place and the local council will assume more autonomy regarding the approval of courses and the spending of their grant money.

The system for offering adult education programs should interest every citizen in the county, so plan to attend this meeting.

I pledge "My head to clearer thinking. My heart to greater loyalty. My hands to larger services. My health to better living. For my club, my community, and my country."

This is the 4-H pledge that opened our reorganization meeting on October 5 at 8 p.m. Lee led the pledge followed by everyone else. Pat Hogg brought the meeting to order by asking last year's treasurer to give the report on our bank statements. It was decided, seeing that only 15 members were present, to leave new elections till the November 2 meeting.

A phoning committee was elected. The topic of "Standard Breed Pacers" was brought up. We are going to see them on October 13 in Edmonton; how this horse breed is trained for racing.

Fritz Wilson adjourned the meeting. After our meeting, we arranged our chairs in a circle. We discussed what we were going to do this year. Some suggestions were: go on more tours; go to McEwen's Quarter Horse Ranch again; go to a Vet clinic; go to a different horse trainer each month; have a secondary project; and there were many more ideas.

Each member then stood up and told us what special things they did with their horses this summer.

If you would like to see what 4-H is all about, come to our next meeting, it's the 1st Friday of every month, we meet at the Auction Market, cafe in Killam, at 7:30 to 8:00 p.m.

The Government of Alberta has introduced a new program to assure a guaranteed level of income for Alberta's severely handicapped.

The maximum level of benefit per month as of December 1, 1979 is $370. A modified handicap benefit will be available to severely handicapped persons living in designated facilities such as nursing homes or auxiliary hospitals, in addition to financial benefits, recipients, their spouses and dependent children will be covered for Alberta Health Care Insurance Plan, drugs, optical and dental care.

You may be eligible if:

- your condition is permanent and one for which there is no remedial therapy available in Alberta;
- you are 18 years of age or more;
- you are not eligible to receive benefits under the Old Age Security Act;

Galahad

W.M.S. report

The Missionary Church W.M.S. held their October meeting on Wednesday afternoon October 10, with 18 members. Genevieve Tinkens, and Vicki Snyder of Castor as guests.

The ladies worked at quilting during the work period.

The devotional opened with Vicki Snyder at the piano, while the hymn "More About Jesus", was sung. Ethel Black led in prayer, she then introduced Mrs. Tinkens the speaker for the afternoon, who chose as her topic "The Heavenly Prospect" which she ably developed, showing that the Christians prospective is looking for the coming of the Lord Jesus Christ. Ethel Black gave the missionary study and asked Alta Willis to offer prayer for missionaries and ministers both retired and active, and all christian workers.

President Ann Whitehead was in charge of the business meeting. She welcomed the guests and thanked all who had a part in serving meals at the 60th anniversary celebration. Secretary Pat Wetmore read the minutes for the September meeting and Marguerite Scott gave the treasurer's report. We were pleased to learn that all our 1979 commitments had been met. Christmas gifts for our missionaries were announced. The vote was unanimous to send a cheque to our former missionary Robert Ertion, and to the oldest son of the Reimers of Japan, who is here taking further education. He and Robert are both attending Bible College at Brainerd, Saskatchewan.

The members thought briefly of how we can assist in the Galahad Homecoming to be held July 5 and 6, 1980, plans to be made later.

Pat Wetmore and Clara Wegman served a delicious lunch. The table was beautifully decorated with fruit, fall flowers and vegetables, reminding us to be thankful for a bountiful harvest.

TREASURE
the Land that Loves You...

Treat the Good Earth
With Care and Reverence

Our very life comes from the land. The food we eat... the clothes we wear... the gifts we receive... all come from the land. So we must care for the land with the same respect and reverence that we give to the land itself. The land is good and the order of nature. The land is good and we must preserve and protect it.

RITERS RAMBLINGS

by Blanche McGraw

Walking A Pig To Market
Some pigs are dumb, but I don't agree. It was Thursday, shipping day, a day I almost flew through always a chore, getting the pigs separated and into the truck, then hauled to the next town to the trucker.

Well this day, Oscar we shall call him didn't want to be loaded and gave us quite a chase and finally had to be pushed, pulled, and finally dragged into the truck to go with the other pigs.

We got on our way and all was fine till about three miles from the trucker's place. Oscar kept standing on the other pig and was trying to get a foot hold to climb out. My husband had to stop quickly several times to knock him down. Then, just as we went to turn into the approach to where we unloaded them, Oscar jumped right over the side and landed on the ground. We stopped so abruptly that I almost flew through the windshield. We thought he might have a broken leg or neck but he was okay in the ditch. My husband said, "Stay with him and watch which way he goes while I unload the rest of the pigs."

I went around him and he came up on the road, so slowly I walked behind him heading him the right direction. As we were walking I saw that the middle of the road another truck came with a load of pigs. The three fellows in it looked at me as if I was crazy, chasing a pig down the road. Laughing loud, "He jumped out of the truck. Guess he prefers to walk rather than ride the road like we know exactly where he was going. It has been a big joke ever since about walking a pig to market."

walked with me on the other side and we drove him up to the pen. The man in charge opened a side gate and he and my husband stood guard and Oscar walked right down the path and into the pen. We don't know if he was stunned or just decided his fate, but anyway he didn't give any more trouble.

As we looked into the pen, that pig Oscar tamed, winked one eye and seemingly laughed in our faces. I guess it did look funny to see a pig walking down the road like we know exactly where he was going. It has been a big joke ever since about walking a pig to market."

Kilham horse club tours

On October 14th at 8:30 a.m. fourteen members with parents and family met at the Kilham Auction Market, then left for Edmonton in four vehicles.

We arrived in Edmonton at 11:00 a.m. and went straight to the Northlands Barns. We came to see another special breed called the Standardbred horse. They are a high-strung learner who starts pacing in competition at the age of two. They pace around one mile track at about 30 m.p.h.

Pacing is when, a left front leg and a left hind leg travel up at the same time. With the next stride, the right foreleg and hindleg move forward, producing a gait with a rolling effect. Their goal is the fastest 2 minutes per mile.

Mr. and Mrs. Rusty Beazon who have and train standardbreds, directed us to our tour guide Mr. George McKelmon. Mr. McKelmon handed out booklets and stickers on standardbreds and trotters. We then moved on to an explanation of how and what a training cart is and used for. We walked around looking at horses being groomed and walked around.

Mr. McKelmon took us up on a skywalk so we could see all the stalls, track and grounds.

After coming down from that dizzy height we walked over to where they were warming up their horses on a track. We were allowed to click pictures and click we did.

We then jogged up the many flights of stairs to the top, to look at how the judges would see the track.

It was a very successful trip. We learned what another type of horse does and how he is trained. Jane Christenson

Sedgewick Junior High have many activities

Well, another three weeks have passed at Sedgewick Junior High, and some very exciting things have taken place.

Initiation week was a big success, and in sure everyone enjoyed it. On the afternoon of Friday September 28th we had a kangaroo court with grade nine students posing as a jury, a judge and policemen. They had the most hilarious night I've ever seen. Everybody was covered in shaving cream. I'm sure all of us will remember that day for years to come.

That evening there was a dance, and from what I saw, almost everyone was dancing and having fun. Playing the music was Super Soul (Bob Conrad, Bonnie Stevens and Bill Keith). We had a good turn out and everyone was behaving themselves so this contributed in making the dance a success.

Oh yes, a special thank you to teachers and parents who spent their evening chaperoning. We appreciated it.

On October 10th, there was an additional basketball game held in Killam. The score for the boys was Killam 36 and Sedgewick 15. The girls did a bit better Killam 18, Sedgewick 17. Close game girls. Nice try, don't give up guys.

This year we have very large classes in Junior High. Each grade has at least 80 students. We also have several new students and we'd like to welcome them and we hope they will enjoy going to school in Sedgewick.

Cross Country Running
Cross country running has been an annual event for nine years in the County of Flagstaff. Each year the name of the winning school is placed on the trophy, then the trophy is presented to that school for the next year.

In the past eight years, only two schools have placed. From 1971 - 1974 Heister held it. In 1975 - 1976 Hardisty and in 1978 Heister again. However, this year Sedgewick had some very enthusiastic runners, and we were first place for the girls. The students participating were very victorious. Glenda Branning, Denise Hagen and Jaymi Armbrage were the first three in.

They brought back great pride and joy for all of us. Congratulations girls, your successful efforts are greatly appreciated.

The boys on the other hand were not quite as successful. They got second place. Just the same boys, you tried your best and that's all for us to be thankful for. Congratulations and thank you to all the students who ran. You did great.

Bethania Lutheran ladies meet

"The Gift of Opportunities" Bethania Lutheran Ladies met Tuesday, October 9th, 1979.

The Bible theme "Stewards of God's Gifts" continued, as Lillian Albrecht directed our attention to "The Gift of Opportunities." In the words of Christian Stewardship we recognize that God's love must govern our attitudes and responses to the opportunities that present themselves; we live in specific situations and circumstances, in which we are in contact with people who have problems, in crisis, and in their joy. We can be agents of God's grace where we are, as we consider each situation, each opportunity, a gift from our Father. We then searched the scriptures and our own hearts and came to realize that we have the responsibility and the potential to respond. Studying the responses of Jesus in various situations, we were aware that He did so according to the need. He responded in love, in admonition, even in rebuke when necessary. We also learned that we respond as individuals, and as corporate groups; both, according to the circumstances, are effective. Lillian directed us to the story of Queen Esther, and her response to the desperate need to save her people, and we learned that while it took courage and deep concern on her part, both she and her people with their fasting and prayer support were instrumental in saving Israel from annihilation.

We were reminded of "God's gift of opportunity" for us, as we considered the family from the best people who are shortly to become part of our community. It may be that some of us can exercise greater "stewardship of opportunity" than we have ever done before, and in so doing become more thankful for the privilege of being "Stewards of His gifts."

Election of officers for the new term was held. They are as follows: President, Thordis Taylor; Vice president, Myrtle Arntsen; secretary Lillian Albrecht; treasurer (not yet elected); education secretary Molly Magee; stewardship secretary Christine Myrheang. The possibility of electing a catering chairman was discussed.

The annual smorgasbord will be held October 29, 5 to 7 pm at Bethania church.

Annual workshops will be held in Edmonton, Dickson, and Foreburg, October 20th.

The prelude to Christmas program will be held December 2nd at Bethania. More about this later.

Coffee and farewell party was planned for Sunday, October 14, honoring Doris Likness and children who are leaving to make their home in Camrose.

Prayer and table grace was said, and a delicious lunch was served by hostesses Helld MacGregor and Myrtle Arntsen.

Brownfield man's hobby turns into business

What started out as a hobby may quickly turn into a lucrative business for farmer-herdman Richard Scheffele of Brownfield, Alberta.

During the recent craze of importing exotic cattle, what could be more exotic than a herd of buffalo? That he adds, more seriously that he finds the buffalo a great challenge, and they have become his hobby, which he loves.

This man has an abiding love for animals. He said in the future he may sell some, but only to persons who have good facilities and will give the animals good homes. He is critical of the lack of investigation the Canadian government does before disposing of the surplus buffalo.

The sales will be arranged privately. The animals will be sold at a specific price per buffalo delivered to the packing plant. There they will be slaughtered and graded.

The hide and head will be reserved for sale elsewhere.

Currently buffalo meat sells for about a dollar a pound more than beef. A mounted head brings about $200 to $400, while a tanned buffalo skin can bring between $200 and $250.

Originally the herd was in a partnership with Orland Sivace of Lacombe, but in recent years, Richard has been more involved with the herd.

When you visit the 5,500 acre Scheffele farm, you find 43 head of buffalo in a 50 acre fenced page wire paddock containing adequate water and tree shelter with the remaining area planted to greenfeed for grazing. This is the breeding herd and is made up of four bulls, 22 cows, heifers, and 17 calves born in 1978. You also see over 50 head of buffalo in the feedlot on full feed.

In a third area is Bono, the seven year old display bull which Richard has taken around to local communities for exhibit at fair time. Bono has one cow in his pen for company.

Richard and his wife Marie, have a herd of around 60 of these once nearly extinct animals.

Hardisty Legion meets

The Legion Auxiliary, Hardisty # 88 met in the Hut on October 1, with 16 members present. The meeting opened with the usual flag ceremony. Reports had been received from the convention in Calgary and items of interest were read. The raffle committee reported sales going well in the booked raffle, and asked members to turn in tickets at the November 6 meeting.

R. Matthews reported on the joint canvass meeting with suggestions for the members to think over.

The school award night will be October 25, when the Auxiliary presents Grade 8 awards.

It was decided to hold a family Christmas party on December 2nd in the form of a potluck supper at 5 pm and informal social to follow.

The meeting closed in form, and Mrs. M. Timolin and Watkins provided a lovely lunch.

COME ALIVE

Curtis Johnson

And whatever ye do in word or deed, do all in the name of the Lord Jesus, giving thanks to God and the Father
by Him, God Sift.
The Lord requires that every human agent shall do his best, and those that do their best will have the greatest personal satisfaction, and will bring the greatest satisfaction to those who have an interest in them.
The youth need to realize that they need a deep experience in the things of God. A mere surface work will be of no benefit to them. You need to bring the light of God's word into your heart, that you may search it with a lighted candle.

When you associate together, you may be a help and a blessing one to another if you surround yourselves with an influence that is divine; but there are those who have grave defects which are gaining a deeper hold upon them, and which, if not overcome, will drive the Spirit of God out of their heart.
Bible religion is not commonplace among many, but its influence is supreme, pervading and controlling every other influence. Bible religion is to exercise control over life and conduct. It is not to be like a dash of color brushed here and there upon the canvas, but its influence is to pervade the whole life, as though the canvas were dipped into the color until every thread of the fabric was dyed a deep, fast, unfading hue.
The Lord will give you understanding in all practical Bible truths as you bring them into your life practice. Principles of truth are to be carried out in your practical experience in every-day matters.

Even in the smaller duties of common life, we are to make continual growth in grace, supplied with high and holy motives, powerful because they proceed from One who gave His life to furnish us with the incentive to be wholly successful in the formation of Christian character.

Wherever the religion of Christ works, it will brighten and sweeten every detail of life with more than an earthly joy and a higher than earthly peace.

By the grace of God I am what I am and His grace which was bestowed upon me was not in vain; but I laboured more abundantly than they all; yet not I, but the grace of God which was with me. 1 Cor. 15:10
There are those who attempt to ascend the ladder of Christian progress; but as they advance, they begin to put their trust in the power of man, and soon lose sight of Jesus, the author and finisher of their faith. The result is failure; the loss of all that has been gained.
Sad indeed is the condition of those who, becoming weary of the way, allow the enemy of souls to rob them of the Christian grace.

The joy of God in the soul will have a direct influence upon the life and will call the intellect and the affections into active, healthful exercise. The child of God will not rest satisfied until he is clothed with the righteousness of Christ and surrounded by His life-giving power.

When he sees a weakness in his character, it is not enough to confess it again and again; he must go to work with determination and energy to overcome his defects by building up opposite traits of character. He will not shun this work because it is difficult.

Wednesday, October 17, 1978

Untrusting energy is required of the Christian; but he is not obliged to work in his own strength; divine power awaits his demand. Everyone who is sincerely striving for the victory over self will appreciate the promise, "My grace is sufficient for thee."

Through personal effort joined with the power of faith the soul is trained. Day by day the character grows into the likeness of Christ. It may cost a severe conflict to overcome habits which have been long indulged, but we may triumph through the grace of Christ.
If we are true to the prompting of the Spirit of God, we shall go on from grace to grace and from glory to glory until we shall receive the shining touch of immortality when Jesus comes in the clouds of Heaven.

A new addition to Canada's West Coast grain handling capability, the Pioneer grain terminal (left), was opened in North Vancouver on October 10 by George Richardson, President of Pioneer Grain & Sons, Ltd., and Chairman of Pioneer Grain Terminal, on the north shore of Burrard Inlet, with a total capacity of 108,000 tonnes (4 million bushels) is expected to handle as much as 2 million tonnes (75 million bushels) annually. This would mean a 25% increase over present West Coast shipping levels.

Lougheed W.I. hold regular meeting

The presentation of an engraved W.I. tapestry to Mrs. W. Kinghorn highlighted the meeting of the Lougheed W.I. held at the W.A. Skoderberg home on Tuesday October 9.

Nine members, two adult visitors and a small visitor were welcomed by the president, Mrs. J. Johnson. After repeating the Club-women's creed, the minutes of the September meeting were read by the secretary Mrs. E. Wain. It was revealed from these minutes that fourteen "Verdant Valley" books were on hand at that time. However some have since been sold, so anyone wishing to procure a copy would be advised to do so immediately, as there will be no re-print.

There were no financial reports as the various treasurers were absent. The library convener, Mrs. H. Storkbaken, reported that 12 pre-schoolers in the kindergarten were coming to the library for their story and books on three Thrusday afternoons, and on Friday afternoon once a month when the school is dismissed early on the Thursdays. She also wondered if it would be agreeable to change the library days from Saturday to Friday since the post-office is now closed Saturdays. It was agreed to make this known and to start in November.

A letter from the Lougheed member of the Battle Regional Planning Committee re the Alberta 75th Homecoming was read and considered. A reply suggesting a "Lougheed Homecoming" will be sent to him by the secretary.

An appeal by the Lougheed Community Hall Building Committee for funds was tabled to the next meeting. It was announced that Mrs. Martha Belsch, a former Provincial President of W.I., who is now the Canadian President, has recently been given the vacant Alberta seat in the Senate. A card congratulating her on the honor bestowed on her will be sent.

Under new business, several suggestions were made regarding the cemetery, such as improving the parking facilities for funerals, and the removal of the road side fence. Mrs. M. Skoberg volunteered to approach the Flagstaff County re the cemetery. Some discussion with regard to forming was held, and it was agreed to let it be known that the Lougheed W.I. is available and willing to cater to inquests, weddings and other social functions.

Mrs. F. Storkbaken and Mrs. W. Frost have agreed to act as a nominating committee to present a slate of officers for 1980 at the next meeting. The possibility of a demonstration of making Christmas gifts by Mrs. D. McKinnon was left in the hands of Mrs. W. Peterson.

The November meeting will be at the home of Mrs. H. Skoderberg. A "meal exchange" will be made, so each member is requested to bring 2 dozen of one variety of cookies. The meeting was adjourned, and all enjoyed a delicious portion of "Vegetable Cake" provided by the co-hostess, Mrs. J. McClements, with a cup of tea.

Gretna Good Will club meet

The regular monthly meeting was held on October 10 at the Porter O'Reilly home, with 5 members and 4 visitors present.

The President, Marlene Simpson, welcomed all and the business part of the meeting was dealt with in the usual manner. Correspondence and reports given were also dealt with.

A donation is to be sent to U.S. Veterans in answer to an appeal for funds.

Roll call was on Thanksgiving, and everyone felt they had much to be thankful for.

Highlights of this meeting was the presence of Mrs. Jean Johnson, Co-ordinator of Further Education. She gave a very interesting and informative insight into Further Education, and there are many potentials open to anyone so interested. Thanks Jean, we enjoyed your coming.

The hostess served a tasty lunch, assisted by Helen Sutherland in Christie's absence. Next meeting to be at Helen Sutherland's home in Lougheed, with Marlene assisting. Hope to see you all there girls, and hope it's as good weather as today was.

The buffalo range in size and age. The bulls weight approximately 2000 pounds. The smallest and youngest calf is similar to the color of a young heifer and still hasn't developed the hump.

Unlike cattle, buffalo are indiscriminate eaters. They don't take as much feed to put on weight as they will forage some woods cattle pass up. Buffalo can live on a range which would support only two cows.

He said buffalo will survive on poorer feed than cattle and because they prefer musty, mouldy feed they can be pastured all winter. Cattle will starve standing by a bunk of feed if there is just a little snow over it. Buffalo will paw and root through the ice to get at the grass.

This past winter he kept his buffalo in a feedlot alongside his cattle and fed them the same ration of barley and straw and silage as his cattle.

Adult buffalo have thick black hair hanging at the head and shoulders, or soft, fine and down colored in six-month calves and heifers. They frequently hawl in a call similar to that of a moose.

The Scheffelmair farm, 98 miles northeast of Coanville, is a popular tourist attraction. Visitors from England, France, Switzerland, Germany, India and Australia have ventured to see the massive animals.

The enormous hairy, humpback animals can be seen grazing in a field or resting in an area with trees on the farm of Richard and Marie Scheffelmair.

He said the buffalo have tamed down considerably. They hardly notice him if he takes a slow stroll through them. They are a big attraction for district residents. People drive several miles and spend an hour or two sitting on the pole fence just watching the buffalo feed.

Under normal conditions, buffalo are lazy by nature and shy bunching in groups, paying little attention to anyone, yet always keeping a cautious distance of about 30 feet when approached.

Richard's found buffalo like visitors. It's a novelty for them. "They're awesome animals. They like company."

The Scheffelmairs are friendly people. If an interested group from the district telephones and requested permission to see the buffalo, they would most likely be taken on a guided tour. Some interesting and knowledgeable commentary would also be provided.

Schools from nearby areas also bring children on annual tours. Visitors are welcome, says Mr. Scheffelmair, but the family is busy in spring with seedling and in the fall with harvesting.

The foreigners also got to see Mr. Scheffelmair's farm-ranch which he started in 1965. "With 10 cents in my pocket." The farmyard then was "just a big pile of weeds and no fence posts."

Richard has always been a "farm-boy". He was raised on a mixed farm, raising cattle and various grains.

After marrying a local girl, he continued farming on his own farm. Raising buffalo is just a hobby he picked up along the trail.

"We keep buffalo because we like keeping them. It could be a full-time or a part-time job, but we're raising cattle, so this is just a side-line", Richard says.

Richard is currently experimenting crossbreeding the buffalo with his cattle. One buffalo was born last spring but died shortly after it's birth.

"We probably have the biggest herd in Central Alberta that we know of," he says. "I would be able to say we have the only productive, thriving, and reproductive herd in Central Alberta."

To run up his enthusiasm for his buffalo, Richard says: "If I had more buffalo, I would have lost best cows."

Sedgewick kindergarden enrolls 18

The 1979 Sedgewick Kindergarten opened its door on September 11th. Mrs. Helga Affolter has 18 children in the class. Mrs. Betty Smith has been part time teacher aide and dinner time supervisor.

The class has been going swimming at the Killam Aquatic pool on Tuesdays. Everyone seems to be enjoying it.

The class has also visited the Health Nurse where they were weighed and measured. There is more fun to come as we plan a visit to the Killam farm as a part of the agriculture week.

Killam Senior Citizens discuss activities

On October 10 the Senior Citizens had a very enjoyable Thanksgiving party in the form of a pot luck supper, music by Tina Blumhagen and Annie Burdloff with song song by all. Assisting the ladies were Ruth Granger also Betty Pender who was visiting here favored us with the beautiful version of "Jesus Christ Was Passing By". This was followed by the monthly meeting when quite a number of business items were discussed and decided on.

We will continue to salvage papers for our van. Amy Robison representative in this area for Majestic Tours for Senior Citizens out of town as well as local encouraged tourists to book with her as five percent of the amount of the tour will be refunded.

Anyone interested in ceramics should contact Maile Maars.

Several members attended a Chamber of Commerce meeting to get information as to procedure to apply for a grant through Alberta Culture and Recreation Board.

A newsletter was received from "Pensioners Concerned" which is celebrating their 10th year anniversary and has come along way to assist in activities, objectives and aims and what we stand for.

Several thank you notes were read and letters suggesting a program of specific activities to celebrate Alberta's 75th year of Confederation. The visits to the sick were recorded and sang Happy Birthday for 8 members.

Coming events announced were: Whist and party October 18th; on October 25, 8:00 will be played and next meeting is November 8th at 8:00 p.m.

Bowling plans were discussed which will begin October 29 at 1:30 and 8:00 p.m. for Senior Citizens. Those interested pay your dues and contact the committee who are Eleanor Burns, Tina Blumhagen or Cyrella Selferman if you wish to bowl as a spare or regularly. We are accepting two out of town teams.

It was decided that dining will resume every Tuesday and Friday morning at 10:30 after the fitness class at 10:00.

Hardisty Hospital Auxiliary

Plans for the October 28th Auxiliary club bingo were finalized at the Hardisty Hospital Auxiliary meeting held October 9th at the Hospital. Ten members were in attendance at this meeting and the Auxiliary invited any ladies who are interested in helping the hospital, to come to their next meeting, as we are always looking for willing workers. All meetings are held on the second Tuesday of the month at 8 p.m. downstairs at the Hospital.

A highlight of the evening was the presentation of attendance plan to 5 of the members. President Erna Matthews presented plans to Marion Elms, Shirley Gray, Dorelle Cahill, and Rose Marie Thompson. Rose Marie was to have been the fifth recipient, but was unable to attend the presentation.

Charlotte Golka displayed the memorial plaque she had made in memory of Sister Elms' Vets. The plaque will be placed in the waiting room, as this area served as Sister's office when she served as administrator in St. Anne's Hospital.

The volunteer program has gotten underway with 15 girls attending the first session. Marilyn Manning is once again taking charge of the program for us. The Auxiliary would like to remind young people taking the program that if they should continue on in a health care profession, they are eligible to apply for a $100 bursary from the Auxiliary. There is no limit on the number of persons accepted in any one year, the only stipulation being that a person must be starting their second year in an accepted health care career. The Auxiliary moved to supply all required books and to support this venture in any other way necessary.

Erna Matthews reported on the meeting regarding joint canvassing. It was generally agreed at this meeting that a joint canvass along the lines of the United Way, used in the cities, would be advantageous. Each participating group was to get the acceptance from their members and from the agency they represent, and then meet again in November.

Phyllis Manning showed two dollars made and donated by Bill Matthews, while the girls Auxiliary extends its thanks. Phyllis also has purchased a large supply of yards suitable for baby sets. Anyone interested in buying or crocheting baby sets this winter please contact Phyllis.

Hilary Gray reported on the Red Cross babystitching course. She has obtained approval from Mr. Gutmann for the course to be accepted as a mini-option in the junior high, with Jean Drager interested in teaching it. Hopefully it could be offered from mid-November till Christmas. The Auxiliary moved to supply all required books and to support this venture in any other way necessary.

A request from Maureen Oberholzer for some crib mobiles for the children's ward was approved, and Dorelle Cahill was put in charge of purchasing them. It is hoped that the color t.v. for the children's ward will be in place within the week.

Janetie Crane reported on her meeting with Mr. West in regards to the various equipment required by the hospital, and as some of these items seem rather complicated to the uninitiated, the Auxiliary proposes to invite Mr. West and Dr. Cahill to our next meeting to explain the various items, so that we make make an intelligent decision.

Hardisty and District News

The Hardisty Garden Club met at the Drop-In Centre on Tuesday afternoon, October 9. A very satisfactory report was given on the August Flower Show. It was decided to cancel the November and December meetings. Members please note the next meeting will be January 12 & 13 p.m. Slide have been ordered for the first three meetings of the year.

On October 5 a few friends called on Mrs. Agnes Barascher to wish her a happy birthday and to enjoy coffee and cake with her. Later her daughter Fay and husband Jim Brown took her out to a birthday supper. We wish Agnes many more happy birthdays.

Wednesday being Windy, Mrs. Gosselin was thrilled to see her son-in-law Vernon Starr and daughter Helen and granddaughter Barbara, being presented with the $100.00 cheque was recently by Vernon. Mrs. Gosselin also enjoyed having all her family at home for Thanksgiving and she found her new home in town really enough to accommodate them all very nicely.

Ronnie and Judy Schlosser visited Judy's mother, Joyce Johnson last Saturday. Then they visited Ronnie's folks in Hughenden, Mr. and Mrs. Pete Schlosser.

I was asked if I knew who had passed away as a bear and five cars following passed by. Well it was Mrs. Lonsdale who passed away in Watakin and was the sister of Jim and Ray Humphrey, who ran the Hi-Way Coffee shop for awhile. She had lived for sometime in the Nilren area.

Lisa Quast with her friend Denise Lonsdale visited Lisa's grandparents the Bob Quasts last Sunday evening. Lisa is working at St. Mary's Hospital in Camrose while Denise is in the Treasury Branch.

It was a real surprise to accompany my sister and sister-in-law to St. Mary's for supper Saturday night and to see all the Manne family enjoying supper. It was so nice to see Jessie and Stanley Mazure from Edmonton and I believe they were celebrating the arrival of Marie's mother Mrs. Velch from Holyrood, Newfoundland. Mrs. Velch and the later Sister Elizabeth Velch were sisters.

After leaving the Lounge who should we see but Bob Chadwick. Bob has changed a lot since last seen here and he quite enjoyed seeing the puzzled look on old friends faces trying to figure out who he was.

He is still employed at Grant McEwan College in Edmonton. My nephew Allen McCartney kindly made the trip from High River to install his cousin Allen Nelson's furnace. On Saturday his mother, my sister Florence, Ida Todd and Leslie McCartney with daughter Julia spent Saturday afternoon with your reporter.

Allen is very busy installing furnaces in the High River area as many people from Calgary are coming to Alberta. Last year they came from B.C. to that area.

Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Cookson visited their son Horace and family last Wednesday. They kindly brought Olaf Nelson with them to visit around Hardisty.

Rufus and Carol Harley and family of Olyn spent Thanksgiving with Carol's parents the Perry Prouses.

In response to the question we sent out recently and urging people to write to the Hon. Dave Russell, minister of Hospitals and Medical Care, it is indeed gratifying to receive an early response to our letters. As so many requests are on his agenda it looks as though we have to keep on hoping for awhile yet regarding hospital changes.

Congratulations to Jim and Doris Yanke who have stamped around Alberta this summer and received all their medals or acknowledgements of their feat.

Thanksgiving visitors with Glen Mitchell were Billy Robinson and sister Lorna, also Kitty Martin of Red Deer.

Many of us still remember the wonderful programs put on by Kitty Martin and her family at the first four Hardisty Stampades. Two that I remember were her daughter Laurie and son Joey and they were good. Kitty is a sister to Donald and Billy Brown of Car who are known to most everyone far and wide.

Our skeptical faith in all those prizes given away by a well known magazine has vanished. Andy Formanek was a winner of a vibrating shower head courtesy of the Readers Digest. Andy is very pleased with his newly acquired prize so congratulations Andy and we know now that it really happens.

Mr. and Mrs. Lorne Alderidge of Elford, B.C. came back as many people from Calgary are coming to Alberta. Last year they came from B.C. to that area.

Mr. and Mrs. Ken Blackwell spent Thanksgiving in Saskatchewan and saw their son David's new home.

Mrs. John Skene enjoyed a brief visit from Toronto cousins who were passing through Hardisty and whom she had not seen for a long time.

We understand that Annie Whitehead was the lucky winner of the lovely red cushions raffled by the play school. Guess the rest of us will have to wait for our pumpkin that minor hockey was selling tickets on.

Wise energy use saves you money.

Ever thought about how much money you could save by using energy wisely?

Right now, we waste much of the energy we use. If everyone in Alberta saves just 5% on home heating, we'll have enough extra energy to heat all the single-family homes in a city the size of Medicine Hat and Red Deer combined!

Here are some little things we can all do to save energy — and money.

- Turn off unnecessary lights and TV sets.
- Close drapes at night — to help keep heat in.
- Use public transportation. It can be a lot easier on your pocketbook. . . your nerves and your car!

Use what you need — but need what you use. Wise energy management is not a sacrifice! For more energy management ideas, contact one of Alberta's Energy Utilities.

New at PSS office

A new assistant program director has been added to the Preventive Social Services office for the County. The new person is Nancy Holman and she was already busy at work last week getting to know her resources people in the area. She is shown (above left) as she talks to Donna Martin of Sedgewick.

Nancy first started her career as a teacher in B.C. and later went on to social work. She has had extensive experience in youth and family counselling. She plans to work in that particular area helping families and community leaders in the youth programs and play-act.

She reports her main interests are the out of doors and art which is one reason she chose to live at Hardisty. An interest in art as a hobby has resulted in courses in aerial landscape painting.

Open house to view new equipment

Sunday, October 28, will be the date of the open house at Dayland Hospital. The purpose of this event, which is from 1:30 to 4:30 p.m., is to show-off the hospital's new Gilford-Swiss 200. This is a "Blood Chemistry Auto Analyzer" the pre-programmed codes.

Results of tests can be stored for future reference, and on command, the computer will display all the information gathered from tests, with all the abnormalities marked.

There are many "extras" which can be bought and added to this machine to increase its capabilities and usefulness. It should be of great value to the hospital and to the patients as well.

The operator is given the chance to experiment with 5 general modes. These should make things easier and efficient for the operator. Also, there are 5 user-programmable modes which can supplement the pre-programmed ones.

Alberta Heritage money loaned to Quebec

Probably never before has Quebec figure so prominently in the deliberations of the Alberta legislature.

In a single week, the government announced a $300 million Heritage Fund loan to Hydro Quebec, and, tempering generosity with a sharp note of warning, Premier Peter Lougheed told Quebecers they will have to deal with the provinces as well as Ottawa if they want "sovereignty-association."

The loan to Hydro Quebec was negotiated in less than ten days following the failure of the Crown corporation to float a new bond issue on the New York money market.

Hydro Quebec made the initial contact with Heritage Fund officials in Edmonton and by the following week the provincial government had announced the 25-year term loan yielding 11 per cent annual interest for Fund coffers.

The loan deal was worked out only a month after Premier Lougheed told the Fund's legislative review committee that he was lifting the ban on loans to Quebec that had been in place ever since the Parti Quebecois came to power in 1978.

The loan brings to $400 million the amount the Heritage Fund holds in debt issues from six provincial governments in Canada, and is the first tangible evidence of a general shift in policy of the Alberta government on the national unity question.

While Lougheed has repeatedly stressed that he believes Quebec Premier Rene Levesque's efforts to secede from Canada won't succeed, he had invoked the "compact theory" of Confederation to argue that Quebec will have to deal with the provinces as well as Ottawa if it wants separation.

If Levesque was the scheduled spring referendum on "sovereignty-association" which is defined as an independent Quebec within a monetary union with Canada, Confederation would "revert to the compact of provinces" it originally was, Lougheed told the legislature.

Critics claim the premier is on shaky constitutional ground in making this declaration. But the strong provincial rights stand expressed serves to emphasize to Quebecers that extensive powers can be achieved for their community by reuniting a province within Confederation.

As well as announcing the Hydro Quebec loan, the province has also tried to sweeten Confederation for Quebecers by offering low natural gas prices if they convert their home heating systems from fuel oil to gas.

The situation now being given Quebec in the Alberta capital represents a marked transformation from the silence on the subject of national unity that has prevailed in the last few years.

The government previously held that any comments from an English-speaking province might serve to inflame a volatile and sensitive Quebec electorate.

Plans for 75th

Albertans are enthusiastic about participating in the province's 75th anniversary celebration next year, says culture minister Mary Lemeasurier, who is chairwoman of the cabinet's anniversary committee.

To date we have received proposals from more than 500 organizations and groups wanting to share directly in the year-long celebrations", Mrs. Lemeasurier said.

Deadline for submitting proposals for possible funding assistance is October 15th, 1979. The anniversary commission working with three advisory groups will then review the submissions. One group will deal with general proposals, another with film proposals and the third with books.

Presenting what she terms an "update report" on the work

What first appeared to be a new house in the Marna area has turned out to be the new field Office of Post-Canada Exploration. Work started in the spring and with the final addition of trees it has been completed.

Thank You God For Things We See

Have you ever stopped and said thank you, God, for things that you can see? You know something that we hardly ever think of, is children who can't see. Have you ever looked at the sky and thought how beautiful it is, or looked at a little puppy with his big eyes and floppy ears, and his wagging tail, and said, "O how cute he is!" Or looked at a pretty little daisy, or a big red fire truck, and said, "Wow!"

Some little boys and girls are blind and can't see the beautiful sky or a puppy or a daisy or a lot of other beautiful things that you can see. I want you to shut your eyes for a minute and try to picture a sunset in the evening after a hot summer day. The sun is bright red and the sky is blue with red and yellow and orange blazes

Let's thank God that we are able to see and for all the beautiful things He has given to us that we do see, and let's pray that someday the unfortunate blind boys and girls will be able to see everything that we can.

Thank you God, for things we see... mostly life and all eternity... life and joy and happiness are some of the things that we see best. Our faith in You will some day be a life with You... All men will see. So praise to God where the glory will be. To our God in Heaven: we will rest with Thee.

Plea for foreign investments

The fall sitting of the legislature has opened with a strong plea from Premier Peter Lougheed for more foreign investment in the Alberta and Canadian economies.

Condemning "the paralysis of foreign investment in this country," Lougheed made a spirited defence of the value of foreign capital for economic development and claimed that government-owned companies can be made "good corporate citizens" by judiciously applied tax laws.

Only days after his return from a week-long visit to U.S. money markets and Washington, D.C., Lougheed's remarks were intended, at least in part, to assure U.S. investors of the security of foreign capital in Canada.

Lougheed's invitation to foreign capital was only one of six pointers he offered the new federal government on how to manage the Canadian economy over the next few years.

He urged Ottawa to reduce the country's balance of payments deficit, control government expenditures, boost private sector efforts to expand international trade, improve the grain transportation system and place emphasis on resource-based industries.

He also called on Ottawa to quickly approve substantial increases in the export of Alberta natural gas to the United States.

He said the income derived from these export sales would help combat Canada's growing balance of payments deficit and support the Canadian dollar.

He didn't mention that such export increases would also produce hefty returns for the Alberta Heritage Savings Trust Fund.

The fund has already seen this month how the beneficiary of Ottawa's decision to increase the Canadian export price by 66 cents per thousand cubic feet to $3.48.

The move was made to bring the Canadian export price within range of the Mexican price, now at $3.62.

The Canadian increase will mean an additional $60 million pouring into Alberta coffers during the remainder of the fiscal year, with a $275 million flow attributable to the increase coming next year.

Announcement of the increase by Energy Minister Ray Hnatyshyn came only a day after Lougheed, in Washington, warned U.S. utilities that the price of gas would rise soon.

Lougheed's foreknowledge of the price increase was evidence of the continuing, closed-door negotiations currently underway between Alberta, Ottawa and other provincial governments over energy pricing.

But in the battle over the conflicting interests of Alberta and Ontario, the recently announced price increase is considered a victory for Alberta.

Nurse visits Killam Kindergarten

"I wonder if I'm growing?"

Thanks to our Nurse Mrs. Yvonne Spornitz who came and measured the height, the weight and took the temperature of each child. The children were allowed to listen to their heartbeat, and a demonstration on blood pressure was given.

Along with the growing experience came the learning of the 6 senses. A mystery bag of storage objects was used for feeling touch. Smelling games taught the children to recognize objects by smell. Records and songs were used for the hearing sense, and taste was discussed. Mostly the children found out they could blow bubbles in water, colour the water, and could learn about float and sink.

For the eye sense, a color song was taught and everyone found out everything does have a color. Dolores Coates of Lougheed took George Hots out to Lougheed for supper one day last week.

Eileen and Malcolm Gascogne of Sedgewick were down visiting Grandma Fogelberg.

brought vegetables from home which also suited our Thanksgiving theme. Each child expressed "Things I'm Thankful for" and then drew turkeys from their hand, cone, and potato.

We wish to thank Mrs. Pauline Beyerbach for coming and telling the stories The Little Red Hen and The Three Pigs. With these also included puppets and games and we hope you come again. Mrs. Carol Stang came in one day and told the story "Laps for Sale". She included dramatization with the children and we hope you come again too. Stories are a real treat!

Since then, we've seen film strips of nursery rhymes, made leaf men, and stuffed and sewn up T-shirts for pillows. And, with Halloween around the corner, our kindergarten room is beginning to look spooky - including the masks the children have made.

Highlights of the month was when a guest David Spornitz shared with us his birthday cupcakes. Dorothy As turned 4 and shared with us cake and candy. Thank you Dorothy and David.

Swimming will be over October 31 and thank you swimming instructors for all your time. It has certainly proved worth while to the little ones. Thank you also to Mrs. Karen Kishman for the new mask in the sandbox.

We wish to mention those who attended the Hardisty workshop on communication. They were Mrs. Pat Gale, Mrs. Carol Stang, Mrs. Yvonne Spornitz and teacher Mrs. Donna Foleg.

Parents are invited to the kindergarten Halloween party being held Wednesday October 31 at 2:00 p.m. Please send along costumes as we will have a parade to school and hospital.

Alberta is known throughout Canada and around the world as the "energy province." Energy Conservation Month is our chance to show the world that we're not just producers and consumers but can be energy savers too! The whole world will know that we care!

Here are some little ways we can all save energy and money:

- Don't waste hot water.
- Do full loads in dishwashers, clothes washers and dryers.
- Close the damper on your fireplace when not in use.
- Keep your car well tuned for fuel economy and longer life.

Use what you need — but need what you use. Wise energy management is not a sacrifice! For more energy management ideas, contact one of Alberta's Energy Utilities.

COYOTE HOWLS HAVE MEANING

The scientific name for the coyote is "Canis latrans", or barking dog. But there is more to the coyote's bark, or howl, than a noise in the night.

Coyotes are social animals, and their vocalizations carry information between individuals and between groups. Research shows that, including howl, there are several - the short bark and the longer howl - there are nine recognizable calls, as well as combinations of them. Existing evidence suggests all have meaning.

For example, a howl from a single animal, repeated several times, served to rally separated pack members. A bark, or bark-up, repeated a number of times, is a warning of potential danger. A series of barks followed by a group of howls, is a warning of danger. It is suspected that variants of the call also provide an assessment of the size of the local coyote population and of the availability of food resources. If numbers are high, and food resources poor, coyotes decrease their reproductive rate.

Wildlife biologists believe that more knowledge of the meaning of such vocalizations may ultimately provide a tool in the campaign to reduce coyote attacks on domestic livestock.

At the moment, this is not a serious problem in Alberta. During the past few years, claims made for livestock lost to coyotes have averaged $30,000 and $40,000. Against this, humans and trappers in the province annually harvest coyotes valued at about $1.3 million.

News from the Anglican Church

By the time you read this, we should know whether the new - again old - again garage section at St. John's Parish Hall to provide funds for repairs to the roof of the church was a success or a dismal failure. Considering the time and effort which Rev. Conrad has devoted to the project, we sincerely hope the venture proved worthwhile.

Sympathy is extended to Mrs. Marjorie Adamson and to all members and relatives of the Adamson family on the recent passing of Mr. John Adamson of Sedgewick. The funeral took place Saturday at St. John's Church.

Get well wishes to Mr. Bill Russell who is now in hospital. Guests for several days with Mrs. Elsie Cookson of Sedgewick were her cousin, Mr. and Mrs. Bill Darrington of Eckville. Bill lived with his parents in the Loughheed district for a number of years, and he and Mary enjoyed renewing friendships and exploring old haunts.

Greg Martin of Sedgewick spent the weekend chaperoning local high school students at a debating seminar at Camp He He. It appears that Killam Community Church School will be unable to operate this year. Its departure is viewed with regret.

Bishop Kent Clarke, Assistant Bishop of Niagara, has been elected Bishop of the Diocese of Edmonton, and we look forward to meeting and welcoming him. He will replace retiring Bishop John Langstone. Please remember to give your envelopes, containing your donations to the Bishop Langstone Bursary Fund to your church treasurer.

Four lay delegates left on Saturday at the crack of dawn or earlier to participate in Edmonton in the special Electoral Synod, which selected Bishop Clarke.

The Ron Affolder family enjoyed a visit by Helga's mother from London, England. She has now returned to her home.

I WRITE ALL THE PLEAS
YOU ARE WHAT YOU WANT
Now there is a statement that leaves itself wide open for debate. What do they mean when they say "you are what you want"? Are they "want" right or are they so wrong? It is said that men dream to look alike and women, and to look different, and that's where the jealousy. Confine your quest to visualize a woman going far afield to acquire an "exclusive" creation with which to stan out. It is the woman's right to the first sexual function, that her next-door neighbor is adorned with the same crea tion. That's when the jeal ousy, the admiration flows and brings about the demise of friendship.

THIS IS NOT TO say that all women look alike in the same creation, for some look as though they struggled into it, others look like they were pour ed into it, while others appear as though they were draped under it. Not to impose upon you that I am a connoisseur of ladies wearing apparel, but only to assure you that while my reflexes may have slowed down, I have assurance from the M.D. that even without glasses my vision is 20/20.

That's all it takes isn't it?
NOW CONTEMPLATE the fascia as a man saunters into his favorite haberdashery to pur chase the latest in three-piece pinstripe creation of the fash ion designers. When he goes to his associates in the same out fit, he not only looks like a social function and finds all his associates in the same out fit, he just says "welcome to the club". However that is not to suppose that they all look like one another, some look squared into it while others are draped and others look like Mount Vernon about to erupt. How do I know? I asked a woman who also has 20-20 vision and sharper reflexes. As we com pared notes we discovered some other startling things about dressing and undressing.

Oh, not what you are thinking. This is all above board, on the level and fully in the light of day.

OUR FIELDING ranged a wide area. Here are some of our findings: A man wearing broad casuals, yellow shirt, red tie, white socks and a pair of runners. Now there's a sight to behold, but it simply takes you that he is a colorful individual, and that he is prepared for a quick escape. Or take the fellow stuffed in the latest creation of three-piece suiting, matching shirt and tie and cowboy boots.
You know he is one who doesn't know a horse's ear from the other and he will convince you that they are confusable and the cowboy ten-gallon which adorning his topknot keeps his face from sunburning and notifies all and sundry that he is a burly and rugged out door character. He really doesn't care what others think, he is an individualist. There there's the man who has every thing matched right down to his 800 tie. He's usually the guy who can hardly wait for the meeting to end so he can jerk the tie loose and settle down in comfort.

THERE'S THE women. First is the neurotyp who would suffer from nervous prostration if not were not covered from chin to midriff, and on to the type who insists on having those about to jealousy. Confine your quest

Plans for 75th Anniversary

Two hundred gold medals will be sent to those persons who were born in Alberta in 1895 or in the Territories earlier and who still reside here. A further one hundred gold medals will be sent to visiting dignitaries and other meritorious people.

The biggest number of medals - 60,000 struck in silver - will be distributed as a mark of special recognition to residents of Alberta who are 75 years or older.

The anniversary committee, headed by Commissioner Bob Dowling, is made up of three members.

First is the administration branch, which handles all ad ministrative duties and controls the allocation of funds.

A second branch, publicity and communications, is re sponsible for all press, i.e., ad vertising, publicity and public information.

The program branch consists of two units. One is responsible for co-ordinating all programs and activities. The other, with four regional offices, handles contact between the communica tion and community groups and organizations undertaking 75th anniversary programs.

Mrs. Lemesurier said a key element in the anniversary celebration was the decision to ask Albertans themselves how they wanted to mark the histo ric occasion.

As a result, ads were placed in all daily and weekly news papers requesting suggestions and ideas. This was followed by a letter to 12,000 clubs, orga nizations and associations invit ing them to become involved.
Letters also went out to all municipalities, asking them to form local committees and to consider some form of commu nity activity to celebrate the anniversary.

"Per capital grants will be made available to all municipa lities, Indian Bands and Métis settlements," said Mrs. Lemes urier.

The amount is still un decided, but the government hopes to make the money avail able as early as possible in the new year so that the municipa lities, bands and settlements will have funding to help with their anniversary celebrations.

At present the committee is trying to identify all corporate entities in the province. Cor porations will be asked to con sider becoming active in mark ing the anniversary by doing something on their own or by sponsoring events. They are also being requested to use an niversary promotional material in their own promotional cam paigns.

Financial Funding approved for other proposals includes the following:

$705,000 for a festival of the arts designed to involve as many Alberta communities as possible. The festival is being co-ordinated by Alberta Culture.

$325,000 for promotional and publicity items supporting the visual identity of the 75th an niversary. Included here are flags, posters, pins, decals, bunting, etc.

$54,000 for a proposal that will serve as a gift from Alberta to the rest of Canada. Premier Loughheed is to announce the proposal at a later date.

$85,000 for a photography con test and exhibition, to be co
-ordinated by Alberta Culture.

$5,000 for a provincial arts show in visual arts. There will be seven categories of visual arts and it is intended to have the display open simultaneously in seven Alberta centres and then move on a rotating basis.

$45,000 for two bronze sculp tures to be placed in unoccupied niches in the Legislature Build ing rotunda, one sculpture on the Princess Louise Carol ine Alberta, daughter of Queen Victoria, after whom the pro vince was named. The other will be of Chief Crowfoot, one of the principal signatories of Treaty No. 7. This area will be co-ordinated by Alberta Culture, using Alberta artists.

$16,000 for a multi-media musical stage drama that will depict the story of Alberta.
There will be a road show ver sion of this musical which will be taken to many commu nities in the province.

Initial funding of $689,000 has been provided for the an niversary commission, which at present is in the process of hiring a staff of 61 persons, most of whom are expected to start work by the end of this month.

This staff is being hired on a program basis, so by the time the anniversary winds down early in 1981 no additional civil service positions will have been created for the anniversary celebrations.

Keeping in Touch

by Arnold Malson

THE THRONE SPEECH
 The Throne Speech has been read: the 31st Parliament has opened.

Such addresses by any government are an overview of intentions. The specifics of these intentions are to be detailed in later legislation. However, the upcoming legislation is expected to embrace general reliance in the private sector and a decrease in the overall involvement of the Federal Government in the lives of Canadians. Towards that goal there will be a decrease in the size of the Federal Government, and a privatization of those aspects of government that no longer require direct government intervention.

The Throne Speech that opened the 31st Parliament was one that brought me tremendous personal satisfaction. A great deal of my time this summer in Ottawa was spent intensely working on a committee to review the procedures and organization of the Parliamentary process in Canada. Specifically, we undertook to achieve three objectives:

1. To design an approach that would increase the accountability of government;
 2. To increase the openness of government;
 3. To strengthen the role of the private members of all parties.
- I was pleased to note that the Throne Speech specifically mentioned the above objectives. Our committee has submitted to my government 71 major recommendations for change or modifications that would assist us in achieving our goal. Towards the above objectives we will be introducing very soon a Freedom of Information Bill. Such legislation will make it impossible for our government or any future government to continue to work under a veil of secrecy. Other than these areas mentioned on national security, the citizens of the country would have the right to the knowledge that has been accumulated by the public servants working on behalf of the citizens of Canada.

It is also our intention to increase the role and the productivity of the private member in the legislative process. During the last Parliament, Mark McGowan conducted a national study on the pensionary system. The chairman and his committee did a superb job. After visiting many penitentiaries, prison guards, prison administration staff, prisoners and ex-prisoners, the report was finally tabled in the House of Commons containing more than seventy recommendations. After several years of waiting not a single recommendation was ever considered by the Parliament of Canada.

What a waste! If the recommendations of our committee are accepted, such inefficiencies would be largely removed and the status of the private member increased. One of our recommendations is that special committees, such as the one mentioned above, ought to be granted the power to investigate but also to prepare draft legislation and introduce it to the House of Commons. Surely there is enough work to be done in Canada that we ought not to assume that only those thirty people who form the Cabinet should be responsible for all the decisions that must be made.

Moreover, in all party committees, each committee member continually is checking the support of his Caucus at their weekly meetings. These special committees with all party representation usually work with an efficient non-partisan perspective and when there is general accord, these pieces of legislation would pass quickly because of the cooperative process in which they were developed.

Things are looking good as the landscaping with trees takes place in Hardisty. Shown here are Danny Dammann and Brad MacLennan as they plant trees as part of the Devonian Mainstreet Project. Plans call for other shrubs and trees being planted this fall and grass in the spring.

Bad drivers on the increase

A total of 2,163 Alberta drivers lost their licenses during August for impaired driving offenses. This was an increase of 588 license suspensions over July's total.

Since January 1st of this year a total of 15,065 drivers have had their licenses suspended for impaired driving offenses. Six-month suspensions were given to 9,086 drivers with 2,256 receiving 12-month suspensions and 1,266 receiving 96-month suspensions. A total of 664 drivers have had their licenses revoked for three months with another 1,612 receiving suspensions for refusing the breathalyzer test.

The statistics were compiled by the Motor Vehicles Division and Alberta Checkpoint which is co-ordinated by the Law enforcement Division of the Solicitor General's Department.

In addition to the license suspensions, these drivers were fined in court and must attend an impaired drivers' course operated by the Alberta Alcoholism and Drug Abuse Commission and co-ordinated by the Driver Control Board. There are no exemptions to license suspensions for impaired driving offenses.

There were also 679 24-hour license suspensions handed out by police in the province during August bringing this total since April 1st to 2,559.

A driver convicted of impaired driving can be fined up to $2,000 or sentenced to prison for six months - or both. Repeat convictions can bring even stiffer penalties.

Last year approximately 17,000 Alberta motorists had their licenses suspended for impaired driving offenses.

In August R.C.M.P. and Municipal Police Forces in Alberta established 2,606 checkpoint locations and checked 27,366 vehicles. This year has seen police setup 22,302 checkpoint locations, checking 303,515 vehicles.

Last year police established checkpoints in 32,417 locations and checked 436,577 vehicles.

All checkpoint activity by Police Departments is in addition to their regular and continuous traffic checks.

GREEN ACRES

by Glen Warner, D.A.

Fall Table:
The completion of harvest comes on us all to before a sigh of relief. However, before we settle for the winter, there are a few things to take care of around the house and yard.
Trees
If you have any overgrown trees you would do well to give them an extra large watering. Late fall watering greatly improves the tree's ability to winter well and look healthy next spring. Lack of water in fall can cause the trees to brown over the winter and lose its needles next summer.
Shrubs
Sensitive trees like conifers, junipers, fruit and some ornamentals can often suffer from the bright sunbath in February and March. This drying or scalding can be reduced or prevented by shading or loosely covering these plants with burlap or heavy kraft paper. Single stemmed or -mould can be protected by painting the south and west side of the trunk with white latex paint. Don't use an oil based paint.

Gardens
Rotation of your garden plot from year to year is advisable, however, if that isn't possible, then a reasonable minimum winter program can be started this fall. Be sure to remove all the old plant residues - examples, vines, etc. This will reduce the possibility of insects which will over winter there.
Insects
If you have a privet tree which you wish to protect from moths or rabbit damage, here's a handy device you may wish to set up. Garbage of 10mm square wire screen set 10 cm into the ground and reaching about 80 cm above the ground placed completely around the tree, and allowing several cm space

TODAY A TOMORROW
By Duffin W. Johnson
Alberta Minister of Agriculture

SAPPOKO, Japan — Among the many good experiences I've enjoyed during my first 27 weeks as Minister of Agriculture, few can compare with my visits to two of Alberta's far-flung relatives during the last seven days.

Of course, I'm talking about our official "trip" to the province of Gangweon in the Republic of Korea, and our so-called "sister," the province of Hokkaido in Japan.

My week actually began in Australia where I was attending the Ninth Biennial Conference of the Royal Agricultural Society of the Commonwealth.

After that meeting, I flew to Hong Kong where I met with the Honorable E.H. Nichols, Director of Agriculture and Fisheries for the Hong Kong Government (Kowloon), and Mr. W.T. Warden, the Canadian High Commissioner to the colony. During that day I also addressed Hong Kong's Canadian Businessmen's Association on Alberta's presence and position in Southeast Asia.

Hong Kong is a growing market for Alberta products. Currently, we sell her sizeable amounts of rapeseed oil and hides, and we're continuing to work on expanding our sales of frozen vegetables, margarine and evaporated milk.

My next stop was Korea, where I was received by the Governor of Gangweon, and met with Mr. Jun Hahn, president of Korea's Livestock Industry Development Corporation, and Mr. Tae Won Cheng, president of the Korean Food Association.

Alberta's relationship with Korea's Gangweon province continues to improve. Just last August the Alberta-Gangweon Livestock Project was officially inaugurated when a planeload of top-quality Alberta cattle left Calgary for this region.

The departure of those 55 cattle was a visible result of the 1974 Alberta-Gangweon twinning arrangement. The main shipment, three separate herds of high-quality Angus, Hereford and Simmental cattle, was sent to demonstrate the merits of Korea's purchasing higher-quality breeding stock.

The herds, each composed of 10 head heifers and a good quality bull, were a gift from this province and the three participating breed associations.

The project could become very important for Alberta producers. Korea intends to import more than 100,000 dairy cattle and 50,000 head of beef under a long-term domestic livestock improvement program. Most of these cattle will be sent to Gangweon, the chief livestock district in Korea.

Important developments are taking place in several other sectors. Korea is reducing its rapeseed import to that now imposed on soybeans.

As a result, we expect to increase our rapeseed and rapeseed meal exports. In the coming years we also hope to export more Korean sales of forage seeds, dehydrated alfalfa and feed barley.

Japan was my last major stop of the tour. Upon arrival, I paid a courtesy call on the Governor of Hokkaido, Mr. H. Dogakuni. We had a fruitful discussion, made interesting because we had a common bond in the on-going Alberta-Hokkaido Dairy Exchange Program.

The aim of this program, first announced in 1972, is to promote an exchange of culture, friendship, business, education and technology. This year Alberta has hosted 10 farm exchanges from Hokkaido, and four young Albertans have taken similar advantage of this opportunity to study the dairy practices of Japanese producers.

On a trade level, Japan ranks as Alberta's top customer. In fact, Japan is Canada's chief market for agricultural and food products. At $5 billion in 1978, Canada's total Japanese trade was second in value only to our trade with the United States.

This merchandise exchange also tended to be very profitable for Canada who achieved a healthy trade surplus of $750 million from the year's transactions.

In agriculture alone, our 1978 Japanese exports exceeded $800 million. Of this, rapeseed (worth almost one-

Mrs. Barbara Whitbeck and family wish to express their gratitude to the many friends and relatives for their thoughtfulness in sending flowers, cards, memorial donations and food to the home and many other kindnesses, all of which made their loss easier to bear.

A special thanks to Mr. and Mrs. Lars Seethun, Kae Routledge, Pastor Nierberg, honorary pallbearers, allbearers and the Lutheran Ladies for serving a lovely lunch following the service.

Your love and kindness will always be remembered.

Argyle W. I. holds first meeting

The first meeting of the W.I., since the summer recess, took place October 18th at 2 p.m. in the library. There were 10 members present. Our president, Mrs. Scott, and fellow members opened the meeting by singing O'Canada and reading our pledge.

After the minutes were read and discussed a long informative letter was read from Mrs. Marie Plaidier, the president of the Alberta Women's Institutes. It was decided to send a letter of congratulations to Mrs. Biellish who has just been appointed to the Canadian Senate by Prime Minister Joe Clark. She will fill Alberta's vacant Senate seat.

Mrs. Biellish is a long time member of an Alberta Women's Institute group and has held many executive positions both here in Alberta and in Canada.

Mrs. Schofield reported that 100 lbs. of wool clothing was sent to the Salvation Army.

A step forward?

When man landed on the moon the first comments were "A step for mankind" and I trust it was a step forward. Meanwhile back at home things seem to be going backwards, particularly in the Battle River hockey league.

Have you ever sat in on a meeting with 22 adults, and heard them approve a constitution? Foremost in the aims of the group is to promote sportsmanship and local hockey players. Well gentlemen, for people who should know hockey, there wasn't a smooth play made for the first two hours. The only thing that seemed quite evident was a strong desire to have a winning team and then the chippiness, back slashing and general all-round roughness started. All this from coaches and team representatives who are dedicated to the art of hockey.

Is it any wonder that in the words of one refereeing official "The Battle River League is nothing better than woodchoppers". Can we expect anything better this year?

What Others Say

Hunting courtesy

There is a lady in the Duchess district who is up in arms over the careless and inconsiderate hunting practices of some hunters. The cause for all her anger is the wounding of a 2½ year old collie which she had hoped to train and take on the show circuit. Last year she lost a dog to some careless hunters.

The lady, Debbie Armishaw, is organizing a petition which will ask the government to pass a law prohibiting shooting in populated areas and these would be noted on all government issued pamphlets to hunters. She is further asking fines for those who are apprehended carrying firearms in these specified areas.

In defence of her actions we are told that in the area there are ten houses within a mile of her home. During hunting season she states there are so many hunters around that she is scared to venture outdoors.

While we can sympathize with her misfortune, we must question the need for more laws to restrict the good hunters of our province. It seems there already is a law restricting hunting on occupied lands without permission. The necessary restriction is in place, but because of the vast areas involved, Alberta doesn't have the manpower to enforce the present regulations. Adding another law to the books, without the required enforcement machinery simply invites more abuses.

Alberta each year issues thousands of hunting licenses to citizens from all segments of the population. And it seems each year a number of people go to the who show no consideration for the rights or property of others. Here again, the culprits come from every occupation, so it is impossible to separate the good from the bad.

Unfortunately there doesn't seem to be any clear cut solution to the problem. A total ban on hunting I don't think would cure the problem. It would deny the law abiding hunter of pursuing his sport. For those who at present shoot out of season, shoot on Sundays and go onto private property without first asking permission it won't make too much difference. These people now show a complete lack of courtesy and respect for the law.

Wetaskiwin Times

Advise against organized sports

A sociologist at Queen's University says involvement in organized sports at an early age can stop a child's normal adolescent development.

Richard Gruneau said in a recent interview that children should not be involved in highly-structured team sports until they reach mid-teens.

"Let them get to 15 or 16 before asking them if they want to be involved,"

Children need free time for play to learn to be imaginative and adaptive and to forge their own identities, he said.

"Play is the creative phase in a child's life. There is a certain amount of evidence that in cultures where children are left to play on their own, they are more creative and less bored."

The professor, who is writing a book on the social development of Canadian sports and teaches two Queen's courses on sport on leisure, says the power held by coaches disturbs him.

"Coaching involves power and there are some who abuse it. The analogy with acting and stage mothers is quite good here."

Children are pushed to set records, not just enjoy themselves, he said.

The Third Column

In Truncus

"I WRITE AS I PLEASE"

THE WHOLE WORLD'S a stage and the people in it merely actors. What a statement. What a scenario. The greatest and largest outdoor auditorium ever conceived and the greatest array of actors ever assembled on one stage.

The producer might well have had in mind a light opera, a sort of farcical-comedy which was destined for success at the world box office had it not been for the top actors vying for stardom and diluting the comedy with tragedy.

THIS GREATEST OF outdoor spectacles slowly but certainly unfolding before our unseeing eyes, bears the symptoms of a cancerous growth which the genius of man seems unable to diagnose and genetic science fathom. And so its destructive force keeps gnawing away at this fabric of social mores and human dignity; and unless the wild change direction and humanity makes an about turn, the incidence of aggression or unprovoked aggression will accelerate, with an aftermath of human suffering and agony beyond compare.

THE GREAT OPEN air show put together by the talented and the foolish, the sane and the insane, the climber and the climb-over, has produced a three-act play with no estimable cost in capital investment or human resource; and one which has little hope of paying dividends. So let's get on with the comedy-drama. The stage is still there and after all we are part of the cast. The show will and must go on.

ACT ONE. The emergence of man on stage, armed with all the latest powers of good and evil. We dare not turn the camera on him. We were not part of the cast. We rely only on the ancient recorded writings of the historians of antiquity. But from them we glean information of inestimable value which we have chosen to ignore for the most part. Emergent man, banding together in societies gave birth to many useful arts and the planning thereof produced valuable works of civilization. Yet the passage of time, rich less ignorance and greed, and the devastations of war and strife laid waste and even destroyed many of the valuable monuments of antiquity, and the retrograde movements of man's insatiable desires brought about the downfall of mighty empires. With these went also a devaluation of human worth and the decadence of moral values.

ACT TWO. The birth of a second world built upon the foundations of the first, yet neutralized by the human inability to learn from the past and to live together in peace and harmony. It is difficult for us to visualize this point in the development of the world because we are not members of the cast in the unfolding drama. We do know though, thanks to historians, that man continued to advance in knowledge, that he improved on the old and that his technical attainments produced many comforts and conveniences for mankind. Man improved his stature wherever the will prevailed. Yet his advancement was nearly nullified at the economic and social expense of the less affluent and the less learned. Thus emerged the all-too-frequent saying of "have and the have-nots"; the crudity that we will always have the poor; that fortune favors the brave; that misfortune lives with the unprepared. We are rapidly approaching the time for us to get into the show.

ACT THREE. It's here and now. We have joined the actors of the past. We are now a part of the cast. The Third World has emerged. It's an active, living part of today's human drama, and we better play our parts well or the show will fold for lack of attendance and attention. The third world is crying for recognition; it is struggling for parity in the world scene; it is fighting and dying for a reasonable share of the food, clothing and shelter which prevails in such abundance in the developed nations because of the greed of others. If the drama is to continue the plot must change, the actors must re-learn the script and the producers must change the timing of the climax. All this can be done. The only thing we can't change is the on-stage theatre where the drama is being played. That is out of our control, thank God; for if we could we would destroy it just as we have many past monuments of antiquity.

Basketball begins at Strome school

On Friday, October 19th the Strome Junior High basketball team went to Dayland for their first games of the season. Unfortunately Strome lost but they were close games. The boys lost to 17 and the girls 14 to 10.

On Friday, October 26 the Killam team came to Strome for the second game. There was a good crowd there to cheer the teams on. The girls team won when Angie Blawie made a basket with only a few seconds left and made the final score 22 to 20 for Strome. However the Killam boys overpowered Strome and won 44 to 17.

COME ALIVE

By Robert Chappell

Yesterday-Today-Tomorrow
There are two days in every week which we should not worry...Two days which should be kept free from fear and apprehension.

One of these days is yesterday, with its mistakes and blunders, its aches and pains. Yesterday has passed forever beyond our control. All the money in the world cannot bring back yesterday. We cannot undo a single act we performed, we cannot erase a single word we said. Yesterday is gone.

The other day we should not worry about is tomorrow, with its possible adventures, its burdens, its large promises and poor performance. Tomorrow is also beyond our control.

Tomorrow's sun will rise, either in splendour or behind a mask of clouds, but it will rise. Until it does, we have no stake in tomorrow for it is as yet unborn.

This leaves only one day...Today. Any man or woman can fight the battle for just one day. It is only when you and I add the burdens of those awful eternities yesterday and tomorrow that we break down. It is not the experience of today that drives man mad. It is remorse or bitterness for something which happened yesterday and the dread of what tomorrow may bring.

Let us, therefore, live. But one day at a time. "Next year" when we are going to do those great things is here. Actually, I'd like to suggest we do a bit less of some things like worrying!

We are victims of mounting tension...we have difficulty in relaxing...we have no time to see and enjoy the stars. Often that they are in good faith deny that people are under any tension.

...but a keen observer can see the signs, people saving, wearing sweaters and raincoats. To many persons, time taken out for rest seems a total loss instead of an investment. Adults, like children, find many excuses for not going to bed; but not only time in bed is to be counted as resting...short periods of relaxation speed throughout the day result in far less fatigue for the total work accomplished than a long stretch of strenuous activity.

The person who can alternate work and true relaxation recognizes two worlds. The world as it is and the world we are working toward. "God grant the Serenity to accept the things I cannot change, the Courage to change the things I can, and the Wisdom to know the difference."

Save Energy - Save Money

October has been International Energy Conservation Month. We in Alberta have an abundance of natural resources including coal, gas, oil and some hydro-electric power. At this time, there is no energy crisis, however, as individuals we do have to take responsibility for using our resources wisely. Electricity cannot be stored effectively, but must be generated continually, often from non-renewable resources. We must begin using these resources carefully.

Here are some quick ideas on how to save energy. Full dishwasher leads save water, detergent and energy. Avoid opening the oven to peek!

Be sure outside doors fit snugly.
Don't overdry clothes - it wastes energy.
Prepare a complete or a meal. Install solid state dimmer switches.

Wash dishes after 7:00 p.m. Turn off Turn down the thermostat.

The Daysland and District Recreation Board meeting was held on October 18. As of yet, we have not received all the letters concerning the creation of the tennis court fence.

Because of the shortness of time, the co-operative grant application is to be given to the Daysland Agricultural Society for the Daysland Arena Association which is in need of funds.

Grants have also been voted for the Daysland Community Hall and the Daysland school.

We have reimbursed participants in a volleyball tournament in hopes that it will encourage Daysland citizens to come out and participate. Phone 374-3800 if a group of you are interested. We may be able to help.

Many activities at Agriplex

Participation from all ages has been keeping the Agriplex very busy for the past few weeks.

Our "Roller Drome", the curling rink, has had a full house on several occasions in the month of October. Roller skaters from all over the county have come to give a whirl to the skates on wheels. This is a reminder that the roller skating continues until Wednesday, October 31, which is of course Halloween.

We are inviting the public, especially all the kids, to spend this Halloween roller skating in a costume. It is optional of course as to whether or not you dress up that night, but we would like to announce that there will be a prize for the best costume on wheels.

Swimming lessons for the fall season are half-way through their course. Registration once again was very responsive and we hope the participants are learning as well as enjoying their aquatic program as much as the staff at the pool are. Besides lessons, we are pleased to have several educational groups renting our pool and receiving instruction. Four kindergartens in the County of Loughheed, Sedgewick, Killam and Strathcona are partaking in a six week program. Junior High from Heister have also ventured on a six week "Water Safety and Learn to Swim" program. This is the first time we have had a group from a school come to our pool and receive instruction on a six week basis, (with the exception of the Killam School).

The pool will be closing for a short time again this winter. Shut down will be from December 3 to mid February. We have a few activities planned for "Wind-up Week at the Pool" that we hope you will enjoy. Some of the events will include Kiddies Carnival with relay races, candy scramble, water polo games, apple bobbing and other interesting games. Sunday, the final day of swimming before shut down, the chlorine level will be lowered in order that we may dump in 50 gold fish. Whoever catches a fish will be given a plastic bag and can take it home. Watch for other activities planned in this paper and on posters around your community, in conjunction with "Wind-up Week at the Pool."

Teen swim nights in November are Friday the 9th and 23rd, from 10 to midnight.

For our avid curlers in projected for early November and a mixed funspiel is being planned for November.

Remember, a few less pounds and inches are going to make you look pretty good in that new outfit for the festive season coming up. Wednesday night at 8:00 pm, come and exercise to music and a moonlight mood.

RITERS RAMBLINGS

By Betty Walsh

Clipping Made Interesting

There's another one! And a third worm joined the two wriggling on three and a half year old Kerry's hand.

"She loves worms" explained her mother.

"Not what you'd expect in a little girl." They were my next door neighbors, standing talking to me as I began to dig my finger garden. Just then a car drove into their yard but although her mother left Kerry stayed on to, as she expressed it, "Help you."

"For awhile the worms were plentiful and Kerry's collection grew steadily. Then a few spadefish revealed no little wigglers and Kerry inquired

"Where have all the worms gone?"

"Oh, they've most likely all gone deep down in the ground and curled up and shut their eyes and go to sleep."

"No they haven't" came the reply.

"Why not?"

"Cause they don't have no eyes deep" raising the worms laden palm close to my face. I really couldn't remember from my school biology anything about worms eyes but the appearance of a big fat worm saved me from having to think of an answer.

Holding this one tenderly between thumb and finger she confided "Mom says worms'll bite me. But they won't. Look, this time dangling the wriggling thing in front of my nose."

"No mouth!"

"But they must have mouths!" I protested.

"They have to eat, else they couldn't live."

"Oh" and the worm was subjected to a very close scrutiny.

"Well, I can't see it's mouth. What does it eat?"

I have an idea that worms eat their way through the soil but that didn't seem the right answer so I replied that I thought they ate stuff they found in the ground.

"Bite of grass and stuff like that?"

"Just like cows. I know how you milk cows. I watch on the farm. Can you milk cows?"

I assured her that yes, I knew how to milk cows but wasn't very good at it.

Still holding the big worm between thumb and finger she announced "This is a daddy worm, he's big. When I grow up I'm going to be bigger than my mom. I'll get big as my dad!"

"Could he? I assured her, still digging steadily. After a few seconds of silence she asked,

"Can I take these worms indoors and keep them?"

"Goodness! That's die if they didn't have dirt to live in."

"Well, I could take some dirt in to."

"Do you think your money would like that?"

"She wouldn't mind."

"Now Kerry, I'm sure your mom doesn't want worms and dirt in the house."

"You're not my mommy," she stated emphatically as though I could have no idea of what her mother would like. "My mom lives there," pointing to their lives there. "And her name is Holly but I call her mom. She won't mind if I take worms and dirt in."

"Thinking it wise not to carry this discussion any further I remarked on another worm which turned up and it was added in the pile of pink squirmers on her palm.

Her stomach must have reminded her that it would soon be time to eat as the next question was "What are you having for supper?" And before I could answer the announcement

"I'm hungry!"

"They have to eat, else they couldn't live."

Alberta Agriculture

YDUA & TUMBUH
By Dalia W. Schmidt
Alberta Minister of Agriculture

Over the years Alberta farmers have taken great pride in the fact that theirs is the industry that has Alberta's greatest renewable resource — land.

Therefore, it would seem reasonable for us to assume agriculture now is and will continue to be the backbone of the Alberta economy. But, remember, this claim is based on the assumption that we have a renewable resource.

And I question the assumption. The reason? Soil salinity. Farming is basics — sun, water, soil and seeds. Problems, large and small, affect each one, but to me nothing seems so potentially harmful as the saline deposits that are beginning to creep across the soils of southern and central Alberta.

In fact, it's now probable that dryland salinity is our No. 1 soil problem. As of 1978 it affected approximately 250,000 acres across the province. Even more important, it's estimated a growth rate that's averaging about 10 per cent per year.

The causes and solutions of dryland salinity are complicated. In general, excessive moisture on high land (a recharge area) seeps downward to some solid or impermeable surface, and then moves laterally until it surfaces at a lower elevation (the discharge area). This water carries with it dissolved natural salts. The excess water then evaporates, leaving behind the salts which accumulate until the soil becomes unproductive.

Irrigated land was once considered the only potential salinity victim. We now know drylands are also affected. The process is the same, but the actual sources of the problem are much more difficult to pinpoint and control.

With irrigated land we've found improving nearby drainage canals or exercising better irrigation water control often provide effective solutions. On the other hand, dryland salinity problems may begin on several different farms as much as 10 or 15 miles away.

Five years ago my department began more intensive research into the situation. We're now better able to define where dryland salinity will most likely occur than it is an area extending from northeast of Calgary to the United States border. But, solutions haven't been quite so easy to find, though moisture management and cover crop conclusions: local rainfall is usually marginal for continuous cropping, yet excessive for a crop-summer/fallow rotation.

At first that would seem almost impossible to solve. It isn't, and we've initiated two general methods of attack: further develop cropping systems such as Zero-Till which increase moisture use and promote continuous cropping, and develop drainage systems that are more economical. Using both principles will probably provide the best solution.

Even today Alberta farmers can help themselves by making partial use of the continuous cropping principle by ceasing to summer/fallow higher elevation land.

Planting a water absorbent crop, e.g. alfalfa, on these areas will at least help reduce excess moisture reaching lower land. And, it also makes sense to plant crops on the lower land since these crops will draw moisture at the root level leaving the salts further down in the soil.

Better drainage is another solution. At the moment draining all affected dryland is not a viable alternative, though drainage improvement in specific areas may be worth considering.

Research is also continuing. Just recently Farming for the Future began funding a new project that will provide needed data for drawing up future provincial standards for Alberta's drainage construction industry. As well, the project will review drainage research undertaken in other provinces and states to determine how applicable those findings are to Alberta conditions.

As you can see, the problem has been recognized, and Alberta Agriculture is doing its part by identifying causes and researching solutions. But Alberta farmers must also do their share. Reviewing your land's susceptibility to salinity seepage would be wise, since you may be able to stop soil draining before it ever occurs, whether it's on your or your neighbour's land. It's a two-way street.

For further help or information I suggest you contact our dryland salinity specialist, Hank Vander Pijp, in Lethbridge at 324-5126. For irrigation related problems farmers should contact our consider. Unless we give it some care and some help, our renewable resource isn't going to keep renewing itself on its own.

In 'hot water' about photos

The ever-suspending tale of the Provincial Archives' acquisition of the Roloff Beny photographic collection is one of the most intriguing developments of this otherwise business-like legislative sitting.

Culture Minister Mary LeMessurier has begun to find out just how dangerous the impetuous or incomplete answer can be when questioned by Opposition politicians and the media.

Although there is no evidence indicating LeMessurier, a freshman Edmonton MLA elected for the first time last winter, was deliberately trying to mislead the assembly, the price of the Beny collection rose three consecutive days to $229,000 to $145,000 after three consecutive days of questioning.

The former figure, as it turned out, was a first installment on the renowned, Alberta-born photographer's life work; the latter was the total price specified in Beny's contract.

But still a question of dispute is how much it will cost to preserve the perishable collection. With the tendency of color negatives to fade, estimates of the preservation price have ranged from $600,000 to $9 million for the required "repatriation" process.

The collection purchased by the Archives includes 60,000 color and 22,000 black and white negatives, as well as an assortment of diaries, first-edition books, medals and papers.

LeMessurier contends it will be an honor for Alberta to have the collection of the Medicine Hat-born man who rose to international prestige with the publication of 12 large format photographic books on Canada, Greece, Iran and other countries.

Beny now lives in Rome, and in conversation, is fond of dropping the names of his monarch patrons, among whom he numbers the deposed Shah of Iran and his wife, the Princess Parnu.

Beny contends the Shah and the princess had promised to build a museum to contain Beny's works before the Iranian people rose to oust the Shah in a protracted popular assault on his power last year.

The photographer said he suggested to then-Culture Minister Stuart Smith that Alberta might be interested in purchasing the collection during a meeting at the 1977 Commonwealth Games in Edmonton.

The Beny proposal was well-received by the minister, and shortly after the transfer of the department to LeMessurier's portfolio last spring, LeMessurier and other government officials flew to Lethbridge to discuss a deal with Beny who he was in the province for a visit with his family.

The $229,000 voted by cabinet as the first installment on the collection amounts to nearly half the total $460,000 budget approved by the legislature for archival acquisition, preservation and storage this year.

Although LeMessurier's purchase of the assembly has been questioned of late, it has been poor, it does not appear she has lost the confidence of her cabinet colleagues.

Warble Control, Does not Cost

Warbles cause major direct losses to the livestock producer through reduced weight gains and reduced milk production. These losses are a result of cattle gadding and grub movement through the animals body. Gadding in the herd may reduce milk production by 2.5 pounds per day. Weaning weights may be reduced by 44 pounds. Yearling gains on pasture may be reduced by as much as 56 pounds. These reductions in weight represent losses of $40 to $50 per calf, and about $45 per yearling steer on an infested pasture.

With these losses in mind, warble control is good insurance even when a herd is relatively clean. As an added bonus, you get control of actively feeding lice when a systemic insecticide is applied as a pour-on or spot-on. Total coverage, high pressure spray such as Co-Bal will not control control of louse eggs as they hatch.

Both systemic and contact insecticides are available for warble grub control. Systemic insecticides are absorbed into the animals blood stream and kill grubs where ever they are in the animal. Contact insecticides must be scrubbed or sprayed into the wrinkle opening in the hide during the spring and must come in direct contact with the grub to be effective.

Livestock should be treated in the fall, because grubs will be killed before they cause major damage. Systemic insecticides can be used in our area up till December 1. Cattle should not be treated in December, January or February.

Spring treatment is a clean-up operation and systemic can be applied after March 1. Milking dairy cattle can only be treated in the spring with Rotenone, which is sprayed or scrubbed into the open holes in the back at three week intervals during March, April or May.

Always read and follow label directions to ensure proper dosage and safety. For information on what insecticides are available and what rates to apply, we have a handy publication here in our office. You can reach us at the D.A.'s office or phone 364-3777. Note: Tree application deadline through the District Agricultural office was October 31, 1978.

Hardisty Tops A.B. 2286 hosts ethuslam night at Hardisty Legion Hall October 28 with 41 members of 8 different chapters attending (Camrose, Sedgewick and Hardisty) for a lovely buffet supper and social evening. Leader Linda Drevier asked Paul Beebe to say grace. There were approximately 12 KOPS members there, some 3 years in KOPS, 2 years, 1 year and new ones. Mary Ann Lewis was area captain gave us an interesting talk and also won the fruit basket as she had the cup that was marked.

Sedgewick brought their own instruments, household utensils and gave us a couple of songs which was enjoyed by all. We had a sing-song from the TOPS song book. Camrose gave us a very hilarious skit which was enjoyed and had everyone in a fit.

The tables were decorated for the Halloween season with pumpkins and rotting witches.

Leader Linda Drevier then presented the trophy for the best toast of the summer which was Connie Kuhl who lost 22½ pounds and sister-in-law Melody Kasli was runner up with 22½ pounds. Melody won this trophy in 1978 at Sedgewick Ethuslam night. Paul Mazure was given a standing ovation for being the only man in TOPS in our area. Paul was King of Alberta in 1976.

Camrose gave us a talk and as did Sedgewick. We all had discussions as to what TOPS had done for us.

Many attend Hardisty supper

We were indeed sorry to hear of the sudden passing away of Mrs. John MacRae. Sincere sympathy to her family and also her brother and sister-in-law Mr. and Mrs. Alex MacRae.

Most of the Johannessen family were home last weekend. Randy and Dennis live in Rocky Mountain House and Aaron in Edmonton. Timmy will be coming back to Hardisty soon, after being in Sedgewick for awhile.

Congratulations to Mr. and Mrs. Ron Croesus on the arrival of a young daughter October 5, weight 9 lbs. 6 oz. and named Reagan Marie. A granddaughter for Mr. and Mrs. Leo Croesus.

Mrs. Ann Buckley of Edmonton was down recently visiting her mother Mrs. Marie Koltzsch, also her brothers.

Walter Koltzsch also had company. His brother Dexter and his wife were met in Wainwright by Walter after touring the Maritimes and Eastern States by VIA. They found as much history in Quebec City and enjoyed Nova Scotia too as Mrs. Koltzsch's family had a great deal to do with ships there and in Vancouver also.

Mrs. Nellie Scott says that Santa Claus came early to the Parkland Manor, as some kind soul left a box of lovely tannet for people to enjoy and as she did not know who left them she would like the donor to know that they all enjoyed them very much and everyone had some.

Sympathy to Madeline Brown and her family on the sudden passing away of Jake. He and Ronie were alone so it was a terrible shock to all but Ronie especially.

A great deal of credit to all the ladies who arranged and served the lovely U.C.W. supper last Friday. The crowd was tremendous and seemed to come from all over. A few noticed were Louis Miller's two sisters Edith and Verda from Edmonton, the Hervo Wrights, Julius Dillips and Howard Carsons from Clair Hughesden area never miss either as well as a number from Assiniboia. Sedgewick also was represented and with such a crowd and such a lovely evening it is very hard for the ladies to estimate the amount of food required. The hall was full by 5 p.m. and people were still coming after 5 so there would be many tired ladies that night.

School succumbs to apathy

A not so rare malady has taken the life of the Killam Church school. The school was only six years old. Final services for the infant church program were attended by a few who remained interested to the very end. These few devoted individuals were unable to save the church school. The church school is dead and its remains lie in the past.

The school will be mainly missed by a few children and their parents. Please send expressions of sympathy to whoever it is that keeps track of lost traditions.

Six years ago the Anglican, United and Presbyterian Churches decided to pool their resources and bring together the children of Killam in one school for the purpose of teaching the gospel of Christ. The three churches became a beehive of activity, the sanctuaries rang with songs and praise, while the halls became places of learning and fellowship.

Each year the school got off to a rocky start, with pleas for teachers and helpers, while the executive committee grew old and wearying that the end was near. Each year a cure was found for this dread disease which effects committees grow old and wearying that the end was near. Each year a cure was found for this dread disease which effects committees grow old and wearying that the end was near.

While it lived the school brought ecumenical unity between three denominations in one community. An achievement.

Two business change hands
Two business, one in Killam and one in Sedgewick announced changes in ownership this week. New owners of the Killam Hotel and Cafe are Allen and Marilyn Hoops. It is their first venture in the hotel business and have moved with their two pre-school children from Steward Park.

The Medico Motel and Confectionary is now owned by Jean and Glen Scholten. The Scholten had from Entwistle and have already moved with their 17 year old son Shannon.

ment of which we may all be proud.

Research is continually going on, but help is needed, if this dread disease is to be defeated. Money cannot help. Tears are not the answer, only hundreds of letters demanding that the school be reopened can be of any assistance. Send your assistance to your local pastor.

Warning: If apathy can kill a church school only six years old, it can kill other organizations as well. Be on the look out for the carrier of this killer? Who are they? You and I!

Please help by sitting down at this moment and writing that letter.

The constant caretakers of this school who were present when it passed into history thank you for your expressions of sympathy.

The Church School Committee

Top reporters

A years work was recognized on Monday, November 5th when three 4-H reporters were awarded prizes in the annual Community Press reporters' contest. This is the 8th year of the contest open to all 4-H reporters in the Plagstaff 4-H District Council area.

This year's winners were all very close when the final tabulations were made. The Club reports submitted by the reporters are judged on promptness, legitimacy, originality and interest.

The first place winner was Lorraine Barnes, top left, who has been known to kill the young and old institutions of the church.

Where does this disease begin? Usually in the hearts of mankind who do not give a hoot about anything to do with their creator or His church. From there it is just a matter of time.

Sedgewick Junior High

There hasn't been much activity at Sedgewick this past little while. Although the cheerleaders and basketball teams were chosen, and there was a basketball game at Hardisty on Friday, October 26, the scores weren't all that great for Sedgewick but we're still trying. The scores were in the boys game Hardisty 23 - Sedgewick 13. The girls' score was Hardisty 18 - Sedgewick 13. Good luck for the next game team! On Wednesday October 26th there will be a sockhop in the gym at noon for grades 7-12. Super Soul (Bob Conrad, Bill Koth, Bonnie Stevens) will be supplying the music. Students are encouraged to bring their hunch so we will have a good turnout for the sockhop. There hasn't been much else happening at school but I will be sure to keep you informed on anything of interest.

I've got a secret

As anyone who lives in a small town knows, it's hard to keep any sort of secret. If someone on a village council gets a payoff for installing parking meters along the main drag, people will soon hear about it, one way or another.

In cities, that natural flow of communication breaks down. Information may never get around — unless people make an effort — when so many live and work in different worlds. Office and home may be even further apart in attitudes to life than they are in miles.

And when you get to the biggest organizations of people — to international corporations and national governments — secrecy turns into a fetish. Information doesn't get around at all. It stays in double-locked filing cabinets, on documents marked "Private," "Confidential," and "Secret," out of bounds to everyone without proper authorization. Any information that does get out, such as press releases or annual reports, is carefully checked by corporate vice-presidents and public relations officers to insure it says nothing more than it should.

The former federal government's mania for secrecy even kept it from telling an engineer working on defence contracts that his security clearance had been lifted. So he didn't know he wasn't supposed to see the documents that he was eventually arrested for possessing. Some of them he had written himself. Others had been sent to him by different departments — which had not been informed of his revised status either.

And cabinet ministers in that same government — to give them the benefit of the doubt — were apparently kept in the dark about the activities of their own security forces.

Granted, those are extreme examples. But they reveal a pervasive pattern of thinking, in which secrecy becomes a basic principle.

Because big government and big business are engaged in a power struggle — with each other and within themselves — because when you know something that someone else doesn't — whether it's a current fact, a marketing trend, or a technological process — you're in a position of power. You have an advantage over someone who doesn't know.

But at the same time, you degrade the other person. Secrecy reduces that other person from a fellow human to a threat to be wary about, if not an enemy to be destroyed. Before it was elected, the present Canadian government proclaimed the need for a Freedom of Information Act. It is to be hoped they will not succumb to the malaise of bigness and power, and will introduce legislation to cut secrecy down to size.

For secrecy, in the end, always works against its owner. If you have no secrets to hide, you never fear that they may be discovered and used against you.

JASPER, Canada's Safety Bear

It extra-long acorns worn always keep this in mind. It could get you in all kinds of trouble as it flows behind you.

The Third Column

by THURGOOD
"WHITE AS PLEASUR"

"WE ARE TIRED OF being the good guy." Now I'm not dead sure that this is an exact quote issued from the oval and angry mouth of Pierre Trudeau, Minister of Foreign Affairs, but it is close enough to an aim, for the purpose here. It was an angry tweet directed toward the member in the United Nations Assembly who made the crack branding Canada as "imperialist". Now, being branded or tagged with such an appellation is, in itself, not worthy of rebuttal, except for the fact that such a statement implies that the members of the Canadian society are therefore Imperialists. The word really doesn't have much meaning in the world's society of today, so we may dismiss the remark with some mirth as having come from a person who inhabits a country less fortunate and therefore whose skin just might be tinged with a bit of green. Now, if the speaker had added the word "pig" to his statement and called us Imperialist Pigs, or Capitalist Pigs, to which some have been known to do, then I could take exception. Imperialist? O.K. But Pig? Never. In any case our Pigs are far less angry passion rife, and answered with a well-edited "We're tired of being the good guy, and maybe you better get the message."

THE ART OF practicing anthropology in the world is becoming less satisfactory with the passage of time, and less rewarding too. The art of talking has become big business for some and the business of giving without a return of appreciation is becoming unacceptable. There are still some who adhere to the policy of turning the other cheek, but the attitude is changing somewhat and now amounts to, "You kick me in the ass and I'll kick you back." You can't keep beating your head against hardening insults or you'll end up in the obituary column.

THE FOREGOING verbal exchange is the World

Assembly had as its base line the arm of Foreign Aid. There is little doubt that a part of the foreign aid policy is politically motivated with economic considerations. Assistance usually is motivated from need, but with a political twist on the investment. That is not to say that philanthropy is dead for certainly a part of aid is motivated from humanitarian instinct. Certainly compassion plays a role, and indeed it should. Yet there is beginning to creep into the aid program a sense of frustration. What is the use of continual assistance for depressed countries who cannot or will not put their own houses in order. Countries where revolutions, counter revolutions, class wars, greed and apathy prevail, remain with the accompanying destruction, unstable positions and the inevitable surrender to starvation. And when and if that time is for the United Nations Assembly to direct forceful and meaningful action towards putting a stop to such activities, so far as it lies in their power and means to do so. How long is it supposed to last? How long will it continue to expend millions upon millions of dollars in foreign aid to countries who will not try to control their own destiny? The innocent starving must continue to be helped, but I should the day is coming when the greedy, selfish and indolent will be left to work out their own way of life without the benefit of foreign assistance. And when and if that happens the world will be in real trouble, and a world confrontation will result in ugly head which will make past confrontations look like a summer dance around the maypole.

HAVING WATCHED OUR Pigs' reactions in the opposition Commons and having viewed her boot-lifting maneuvers at the latest P.C. leadership convention, she, well I tell you she was never at the top of my friendship list. Yet, this time she might well have smacked the egg dead centre; but we'll have to wait and see what kind of an omelet she comes up with.

Strome and District News

Sympathy is extended to relatives of the late Mr. Gail Seward who passed away in the Viking hospital on October 31, 1979. He was 61. The funeral service was held in Strome United Church on November 3rd, with Pastor Thomas McLaughlin officiating and burial was in the Rosedale Cemetery. The funeral service was attended by many friends and relatives from near and far.

The community welcomes Mr. and Mrs. John Niekamp to Strome. They have moved into the former home of Bob and Carol Graham who are now residing in their new home. John and Marie are nicely settled in after living many years on the old farm where they raised all of their family. We wish them well in their new home.

It is nice to hear that Hal Hackett, Allan Ashburn and Karl McDougall are all home from the hospital.

Mr. and Mrs. Earl Seward of Ontario visited relatives and friends here recently.

Mr. and Mrs. Ben Niekamp attended the wedding of their son Larry in Calgary last week-end.

Allan and Karl Ashburn visited David and Rozanna Fergus.

What Others Say The luxury of integrity

"The luxury of integrity," that ironic phrase is the title of an essay written some years ago by the American economist, Stuart Chase. Chase suggested that our moral foundations have been badly cracked and eroded that many of us have come to feel that moral integrity is a luxury we simply cannot afford.

He commented on "the art of back-slapping in the interests of a profitable sale," and he showed how the frantic quest for the dollar can prostitute honesty and make a mockery of friendship. He pointed to dishonesty in advertising. He showed that in the grasping bustle of life, compassion is often squashed as we try to exploit and manipulate one another, and he observed that "for the milk of human kindness, the most obvious substitute is soft soap. There may be some extravagance in Chase's gloomy diagnosis, but he did make some points which are still valid and relevant. We seem to be losing both the capacity and the courage for calling a moral spade a moral spade. We are so afraid of seeming narrow and intolerant that we tend to give up on authentic moral concern. As it has been put, "Quite often when a man thinks his mind is becoming broader, it is only his conscience smothering."

Yes, for many of us integrity is a luxury we feel we simply cannot afford. Of course, there are still many men and women of firm integrity — honest, merciful, compassionate. And we must recognize that in the complexity of life today, moral distinctions are not always as clear as we might like them to be. In business and public life today, the making of moral decisions is often terribly difficult, and there are forces in our society which erode our integrity without our being aware of what is happening.

Let us take seriously, the warning given by the British historian, Herbert Butterfield: "A civilization may be wrecked without any spectacular crimes or criminals by constant petty breaches of faith and minor compromises on the part of men generally considered very nice people." — Nation News

On Friday, November 2nd there was a basketball game held at the school. Sedgewick vs Loughheed. There was a pretty good turn out. Everyone was cheering. Sedgewick did exceptionally well this time. The scores were in the girls game Sedgewick 5 - Loughheed 4. The boys Sedgewick 38 - Loughheed 28. Congratulations teams, you did real good. Also thank you to all the students who helped in concessions and at the door. Your help was appreciated.

On November 10th there will be a tournament at the school. We hope that you won't be too busy to come and watch. We'd be more than too happy to see you.

Next week I'll have the results of the tournament. Until then, bye from.

Services held for Elmer Eis

Elmer Elsworth Eis was born to Peter and Emma Banker Eis at St. City, Iowa on August 11, 1889 and passed away in hospital at Killam on October 27, 1979, after a prolonged illness.

He moved with his family to Lake Preston, South Dakota in 1902 and from there to Camrose, Alberta in January of 1905.

In 1905 the family came to a homestead nine miles north of Sedgewick, in which area he remained for the duration of his life.

On December 17, 1903 he was united in matrimony to Viola Hart and to them were born four sons of whom one, Bernin, died during infancy.

Elmer and Viola (Babe) resided and farmed on the family homestead continuously until their retirement to the town of Sedgewick in 1975.

Elmer was an ardent sportsman and was active in membership in the Iron Creek Fish and Game Association. He will be remembered by his contemporaries of the 'twenties as an excellent sprinter and very effective baseball pitcher.

He is survived and his loss mourned by his loving wife Viola, nee Annie of Edmonton; five sons, four of whom are still living; and one sister Rose Eis of Sedgewick. Predeceasing him were two sisters, Ida and Nellie and one brother Albert.

Funeral services were held at 11 a.m. Wednesday at the Sedgewick Lutheran Church with interment in Sedgewick Cemetery.

Full burial was at Albert Nordstrom, Frank Mayne Jr., Tormod Christensen, George Christensen, Jens Peterson and Ole Lunde.

4-Her's at Lakeland College

KILLAM 4-H HEEY REPORT

We arrived at Lakeland College at 1:15 p.m. We met our guide who took us to our first stop, and that was the cafeteria, which is where they teach cooking. The food that is served is what the students make.

Following that the group went to the gym, it was large and had a nice interior and a large spectator area.

Then we went to the science library where there were many books, magazines, and pamphlets on science. The group then went to the animal science building, where we looked at a guinea pig farm and a horse skelton and other fascinating things.

Then the 4-Her's went to a place where they teach students to slaughter animals.

We then went to the wood

Loughheed unlikely to stop flow of oil

Premier Peter Lougheed's tough talk to the contrary, Loughheed is highly unlikely to stop the flow of crude oil to Canada's consuming provinces if an agreement on oil pricing is not reached with Ottawa this winter.

Loughheed made the ultimatum in Vancouver at a Board of Trade luncheon, and within minutes Ottawa was about with concern over the energy security of the country.

The purpose of the premier's threat may have been to accelerate faltering talks on oil pricing between Ottawa and the province, and to once again assess Alberta's case for full ownership and control of its natural resources.

But his threat is unlikely to be carried out for two reasons. The consuming provinces really have no place to go to find a full replacement for the oil they now get from Alberta. And the federal government could flex the full power of its legislative muscle to see that Alberta does not hold the rest of the country to ransom.

Alberta now exports 1.4 million barrels of oil a day to the consuming provinces, who in turn import another 400,000 barrels from overseas.

With the gradual reduction of oil production by the members of the Organization of Petroleum Exporting Countries (OPEC), oil supplies outside Canada are becoming increasingly scarce. And attempts to purchase replacement for Alberta oil on the Rotterdam spot market would be doomed to failure given the amounts required.

So if Alberta unilaterally raised the price of its oil to world levels, the rest of Canada would have no choice but to pay.

But the federal government would be unlikely to accept one-sided action by a single province and would have available a number of legislative powers to stop the move.

The Petroleum Administration Act of 1975 gives Ottawa the right to set oil prices as it sees fit. Because oil prices have previously been established through federal-provincial negotiations, the powers of that act have never been used. But they are there.

Ottawa could also move against a decision to withhold oil by Alberta by invoking the "peace, order and good government" clause of the British North America Act, the country's constitution.

Finally, there are two landmark resource jurisdiction laws in which the Supreme Court of Canada ruled that attempts to set oil prices at the wellhead or at oil prices to regulate the supply of a resource infringe upon the federal government's authority over inter-provincial trade and commerce under the BNA act.

These two cases, both decided by the Supreme Court in the last two years, found Saskatchewan legislation respecting oil and potash production to be outside the authority of the provincial government to impose.

Loughheed has promised to wait for winter to pass before taking action anyway. An oil price agreement might be reached before then.

Marsh World

POWER LINES AND BARBED WIRE - Power lines and barbed wire fences near marshes are hazards to flying waterfowl. Many casualties occur when the birds are flying low, especially in bad weather, or during migration when flights take place at night. During courting or in defence of territory, birds will dart about at high speeds, rising and dropping as they wing about the marsh. In some instances the bird will be caught on a barbed wire fence and will be unable to break free. Any head-on contact with wires means almost instant death.

COME ALIVE

By Dan Carson

Man is a hurry. Man is a hurry today. Hurry is characteristic of our culture. Even the shelves of our supermarkets reflect our impatience. They offer us instant coffee, instant chocolate, instant oatmeal, instant rice, instant cake mix, and instant everything. We live in what is called an instant culture.

Stumbling as he goes, Man goes in a hurry, but most of the time he doesn't know where he is going or why. Man is on the run, but he just stumbles as he goes.

Most of the ills of the world come from men not being able to rest calmly in a room and think. Maybe God sent Moses into the desert for 40 years to sit and think. Moses was in a hurry to redeem Israel, and in his hurry he forgot a few things and slew an Egyptian. Maybe that was why Jesus rebuked John and Peter, impatient with the unsophisticated Samaritans and wanting "fire to come down from heaven and consume them." Maybe that was the reason Jesus told his eleven disciples just before his ascension to stay in Jerusalem and wait for the promise of the Father.

God takes his time. We are in a hurry, but God isn't. The cups of our life do not mesh with the cups of God's plan. As we speed up, we strip our gears. We wear out, and we fall apart.

Before he ascended into heaven Jesus gave his disciples some very interesting instructions. He commanded them they should not depart from Jerusalem but wait for the promise of the Father, the Holy Spirit. And because the disciples waited, Pentecost came. This experience the disciples would probably have missed if they had been in a hurry.

God does things in his own time. In the fulness of time he sent his Son. In the fulness of time he will come again in spite of all efforts of man to hurry his second coming along.

Slow down and live. These are the days when we emphasize the coming of the Lord, the changing of the years, the need for inner preparation to meet the challenges of the coming days.

Let's stop, look and listen to God. Let us slow down. Let us wait for the promise of the Father. If we must make haste, let us make slowly. Let us not forget the quiet moments and the secret claims where we might wait upon God.

Patience may be misapplied. Not to be in a hurry does not mean to be passive, lazy or entirely careless. There comes a time when the fields are ripe and the harvest is ready. Patience means simply living in the presence of God and acting in his own good time.

Local leader at conference

Rose Barnes of Hardisty, along with four others from the province will be representing Alberta 4-H leaders at the National 4-H Volunteer Leaders Conference in Toronto from November 7 to 10.

The conference, co-ordinated by the Canadian 4-H Council, will provide an opportunity for 40 4-H leaders from across Canada to share information on programs in their respective provinces. When the delegates return home, this information will prove valuable to the 4-H programs in the individual provinces.

Through recognizing the valuable contributions volunteers make to the 4-H program, this Canadian 4-H Foundation-sponsored event will allow leaders to become part of the national 4-H scene. Guest speakers, group discussions and social sessions will enable them to become more aware of the leadership techniques and skills that they can apply at the club level.

A SERIES OF INTERESTING FACTS ABOUT THE NATURAL HISTORY OF OUR PROVINCE

THE WESTERN WOOD LILY

Substitute for Potatoes?

The Western Wood Lily, or Tiger Lily, has bright orange or orange-red flowers that are conspicuous above the prairie grass. Many insects and spiders visit the vivid plant to rest, hide or feed. Considered by Indians and early travellers to be a good substitute for potatoes, the Western Wood Lily is a perennial flower, blooming in June-July. Look for the Western Wood Lily along Alberta's roadside and in fields.

THE POLYPHEMUS MOTH "One-Eyed" Giant
The Polyphemus Moth belongs to the same family as the giant silkworm moths. Because of its large size and eye-spots, this moth was named after the mythical one-eyed Greek giant called Polyphemus. Like most moths, it is active only at night, and rests on leaves of trees and shrubs during the day. The caterpillar for the Polyphemus Moth throughout our Province.

Family trees for both the bride and groom are among the special features in Keen's Wedding Albums from Hallmark Cards. The albums also have sections for engagement announcements, shower and wedding invitations and honeymoon souvenirs. There's a special section to record gifts and to note if thank-you's have been sent. And, of course, there's ample space for wedding-day pictures. Hallmark designed the book so that the bride and groom would have an "instant memory bank" of all the events leading up to their wedding as well as photos of the wedding day.

You got it, Pontiac!

Just when the competition thought they were finally catching up, Pontiac redesigns its successful Laurentian, Catalina and Parisienne. The new look is dramatic, more "full size", more formal and more aerodynamic. 1980 full-size Pontiacs are size-efficient, weight-efficient and fuel-efficient. Even the new tires are designed for the times, they offer low rolling resistance. Yes, the others may catch on, but can they ever really catch up?

HIGH INTEREST RATES

Each day my incoming mail basket is overflowing with letters from various parts of the country, most of them from my constituency. I have been very surprised however, to note that very few letters reflect upon the important question of interest rates. I am surprised because I know intuitively how difficult our policy must be for a very large number of the constituents in Crowfoot.

Crowfoot is one of the constituencies that is particularly harshly affected in the short term since we are comprised almost entirely of small and medium sized business that rely heavily on borrowed capital.

Since constituents have been so very patient on this painful issue, I would like to share some of the reasons why we are forced to adopt this difficult policy. The data clearly indicates that there would be two drastic negative effects of having our interest rates at a level significantly lower than the United States.

The first would be a sudden and very dramatic decrease in the value of the Canadian dollar. A fact that would increase the winter foods. The cost of other essential imports would also skyrocket. Also, there would be a drastic decrease in confidence of the Canadian economy in the international community.

The second negative effect would be to have a massive outflow of capital to other countries, mostly the United States. Our balance of payments would become negative to the extent of a major depression.

We are presently asking Canadians to swallow some tough medicine in the short term with the objective of re-establishing a sound economy in the relatively near future.

Canadians have been living on borrowed money. As a result, our wealth today is not the result of our current productivity, but rather, we have borrowed upon the future. This policy of borrowing has been embraced by the government of Canada for more than a decade. We have a national debt of $4 billion dollars and a negative trade balance in manufactured products. With a nation, as with a family, recovering from such mismanagement cannot be achieved without sacrifice.

We cannot tolerate the ever-increasing inflation rates and excessive foreign borrowing that came with past policies. When a country faces uncertain economic conditions and low economic growth it would be naive to assume that no matter how bad the numbers are, somehow, some way, things are going to get better without effort or sacrifice. We have suffered from that kind of "cross your fingers and pray" economic leadership for several years and we are now paying the price. It is a tradition that cannot continue.

The current economic situation is complex and very difficult. Nevertheless, I am sure that a number of you will be intensely interested in this very important issue. I will, therefore, put together bits of information containing the statement by the Governor of the Bank of Canada, Gerald Bouey, and his responses to questions placed by Members of Parliament to the Finance Committee. Any constituent who writes requesting further information will receive a kit helping to explain why we are in current economic difficulties what our short and long term objectives are, and the kind of measures we expect Canadians, private and public, to undertake in achieving a solution.

This keeping in touch has rough hands, however our commitment is for rebuilding the structure upon which a sound economy can operate and to manage our government and our nation on the basis of business-like principles.

Hardisty District News

Word has been received of the death of Mrs. E.C. (Lola) Syron at Riverside, California. The Syrons used to farm in the river flat near Tenny's and the land is now farmed by the Chermans. Mrs. Syron was in her eighties and had two children, Ramona and Ann.

Elsie Parkin accompanied by Isabel Nelson spent an enjoyable afternoon at the home of Mrs. Eleanor Proulx as a community, something which is most interesting to see Eleanor's greenhouse with climbing tomato plants, some green and some ripe and her potted plants were beautiful, just covered with flowers as were her yellow chrysanthemums.

Phoned Mary (Renehan) Griebel at Custer the other day and she and her husband had been visiting in the Dawson Creek area, where Mary's former neighbour who lived near her west of Battle River. She is Rene Churchill, also saw her sisters Ruby and Jessie and Rene's daughter Rene. These ladies are friends of Marion Elm as well.

Halloween was thought of in many ways. It was Paul and Bonnie Mason's 75th wedding anniversary, forty nine years since Isabel Nelson came to the Hardisty area, also Mike Brunner's birthday.

The park at the end of main street looks very nice and surety has so far, made main street much quieter, with the big boulders at the end which also add to the appearance of the park. The evergreen cross look so nice and do look good in the park area between the Post Office and Tom Bay Store.

Mrs. Lucie (Lila) passed away recently at the age of 93. She had been a patient at Kilam Auxiliary for some years. Sympathy to her husband Charlie.

Freda Blackwell accompanied by Isabel Nelson attended at the upper in the Hughesden Arms Friday night. It was nice to see Mr. Jackson and Bill Davies there also the Don Baumgartner family. There were many people from Custer and it was so nice to see old friends again.

The ladies down there tell me that they took on the task of raising money to pay for the insurance on the area and of course the last few years that has increased several times so it is a big community project for the ladies. However they work together as a community, something lacking in some towns.

The fire alarm rang on Saturday morning around 8 a.m. From your reporter's window it looked to be coming from the lumber yard but found out it was a truck burning near the fire hall. A very convenient place to have it burn.

We were sorry to hear about the passing away of Walter Metz who had moved to Fish Creek after his wife Daisy passed on. It is presumed that he died of a heart condition before his car and the other one collided.

Walter was born in Estonia and found his way to Canada about 1928. Walter did a lot of blacksmith work in Hardisty where they lived for some time. Later they lived near Art Armstrongs for some years and their son Norman was with the oil but settled at Fish Creek where Walter joined them. The service was in the Hardisty United Church with burial beside his wife in Lougheed Cemetery.

Splitting the proceeds of some $15 games were Anna Berge and Belva Dushak, Lena Hoeg and Mary Dunne. Ester Nelson and Ben Hahn. Silver dollar in breakers went to Tammy Hope and Gordy Birks. The winner of the deer prize on advance tickets was Mrs. Orr. It was gratifying to see so many persons from surrounding communities supporting the efforts of the Auxiliary, and Ed Watkins must once again be commended for his excellent job of calling the Bingo. The Auxiliary is also grateful to the ladies who volunteered to play proxy cards.

Those winning $15 games were Andy Givens, Gertrude Terry, Barb Mathews, Clara Wilder, Edith Lambright, Ruth Longman, Alvina Parsons, Isabel Nelson, Dolly Hiera, Corrine Boud and Ed Watkins.

Applause filled the Elks Hall on Monday night, October 29th, when Grandma Mawer called "Bingo" on the $100 blackout game, at the Hardisty Hospital Auxiliary annual fall bingo. Being the sole person to have a bingo, Grandma received the entire amount and a more popular win would not be so many possible, judging by the reaction of the crowd.

Those winning $15 games were Andy Givens, Gertrude Terry, Barb Mathews, Clara Wilder, Edith Lambright, Ruth Longman, Alvina Parsons, Isabel Nelson, Dolly Hiera, Corrine Boud and Ed Watkins.

Hardisty history book workshop well attended

The History Book Workshop held in the Drop-in Centre was attended by some 30 interested persons. The chairwoman, Vivian Robinson, welcomed all and introduced Mr. Al Grainger of Prince's Printer. This company specializes in history books and is most co-operative. Mr. Grainger described in detail the steps needed in making a course history, also gave information on available grants from New Brunswick and Alberta Culture.

A brochure is to be made up and sent out to further residents. Some material has already been received and more promised. Volunteers will be needed for reading, editing, typing, proof reading etc. Leave your name with Mrs. Vivian Robinson or Mrs. Barla Mathews. This will be a big undertaking.

Regular business meetings will be held the first Tuesday of each month, with work meetings as required.

Monday, November 12 was not Remembrance Day, but it is a day that will be remembered by a group of people the rest of their lives. It was at 5:10 p.m. that day, when Lori Blatz of Dayland was being evaluated for her Red Cross Beginner Swimming badge at the Kilam Pool under the watchful eye of Susan Sparrow. Lori had completed her instruction session, along with 8 other children.

While treading near the edge of the deep end of the pool something happened. Lori was in trouble. She said she tried to call but after a gulp of water she submerged with no apparent distress motion.

Upon doing a head count, a standard procedure, a pool search was done and immediately she was recovered from the bottom of the pool by Susan Sparrow.

June Geir administered artificial respiration at once and after five or six puffs of air Lori was revived and regained consciousness moments later. Meanwhile Mr. Arns and the Kilam Ambulance was called and the pool area cleared. Standard treatment for shock was conducted and the young girl was sent to her own doctor at the Dayland Hospital. Dr. Stuenkel reports she is now recuperating and doing well.

In conversation with Dr. Stuenkel on what might have caused Lori to go under with no apparent cramp or distress he said anyone can faint at any time for a variety of reasons and in water is no different. He can see no cause for alarm.

It is reported that Lori plans on returning to obtain her badge as soon as possible and that her sister is continuing with her swimming lessons.

Sedgewick kindergarten plans for Christmas

The Sedgewick Kindergarten walls are covered with pictures of every type and every shape of animals there is. This is the theme for the next few weeks. Also with the first flutter of snow there have been many snowy pictures being painted.

Mrs. Affolder has been teaching the class the safety and uses of carpentry tools, which is really catching and holding their attention. They certainly don't mind hammering nails, of course the projects coming up next will be concerning that delightful and merry time of year, Christmas.

What is 4-H?

4-H is a program designed for young people ages 10-18 who are interested in learning special skills, enjoying new experiences and making lots of friends - all the while having fun.

Each 4-H club is formed around a project that is of interest to all members. There are 30 different projects to choose from. Some of the more unusual ones are interior design, sweet corn growing, pleasant raising, veterinary sciences, and agriculture. Besides working on the projects, there are lots of other activities in 4-H such as regular monthly meetings, achievement days, public speaking, and recreational activities.

The experience a 4-H member gains in public speaking, participation in meetings and the organization of events, is one of the most important aspects of the 4-H program. Our community needs adults who will participate in committees and organizations, who will stand up at meetings and speak, and be able to explain their feelings or a situation to other people. The 4-H program provides young people with training and practical experience in these areas.

Another big plus for the 4-H program is that members have a chance to travel. The provincial 4-H activities include the communication Festival, Conservation Camp, Club Week, Provincial Livestock Shows and judging competences and provincial public speaking competitions. There are also exchanges provincial, national and others.

Adult leaders are an important part of the 4-H program. Leaders provide training and assistance with project work, act as an advisor to the club members, and oversee the smooth running of the club.

Before a young person can join 4-H they must obtain their parents approval, and commitment. Since much of the 4-H project work is done at home, parents are needed to inspire and support their children in their efforts.

For more information on how to start a 4-H club or join one, please contact Doug Norman, 4-H Regional Specialist, at Stettler, 745-4481, or myself at 384-3787, or Box 270, Sedgewick.

Martin and Bert would like to, at this time, thank you all very much for the lovely surprise and the envelope of the honoree couple, which will likely go towards a large scenic picture for the living room.

The neighbors, friends and relatives were saddened to hear of Mrs. Janet J. Hill of Dayland passing away so suddenly November 8th in the Dayland Hospital. She was 76 years old. Her funeral was held in the Knox United Church on Wednesday, November 14th at 2:30 p.m. with Rev. Miss Pool officiating at the service. Her three grandsons and three granddaughters were pallbearers. Interment was in the Dayland Cemetery.

Galahad and District News

Guests at the Gilbert Rabin home for the weekend were Ed and Vi Babin of Fort Creek, and George and Lucy Babin of Edmonston.

Mr. and Mrs. Jim Wetmore spent the weekend with the Gordon Schmidt family in Camrose.

Mountain View Bible College students that spent the weekend at Oakdale and Fairview were Mr. and Mrs. Derrick Lauer at McFarlane, and Debbie Whitehead and Lynn Datta with relatives and friends at Galahad.

Weekend guests at Lois Brannen's home were Mr. and Mrs. Darrel Brannen and children.

Mr. and Mrs. Shirley Holten and Russell were at staminate at the wedding of Allen Holten in Edmonston on Saturday.

The latest contact from our history book project is Marvin City of Edmonston, the son of Bob and Elaine City, who once owned the farm where Percy Ponto now lives. Marvin has been called to the Rose Martin home in St. Albert on business. Here he learned of the Golden Echoes history book, he called

Thursday evening to reserve a copy. It is always thrilling to hear from another former Galahad person.

Martha Bedy, Mr. and Mrs. Sandy McDonald, and Mr. and Mrs. Ed Koenig to Rocky Mountain House on Friday for the wedding of Susan Edmonston on Saturday November 18.

Later in the day Mr. and Mrs. Jim Koenig and Gerry Koenig also left to attend the wedding. Galahad and district were saddened when word was received of the passing of Joe Lencucha at Calgary. Mr. Lencucha was the principal of the Galahad School for a number of years. His upright character endeared him to all who knew him. Keeping in Touch

By Arnold Malone

Elections have but one purpose: to regain or to retain the mandate. At the time of an election call, a majority of Canadians have already concluded whether or not they wish to return the government they have or to seek another option. Therefore, the period of the election campaign is largely aimed at those who have not decided which way they wish to cast their vote.

It was abundantly clear to me during the last election that the period for decision was long. Not only was the lengthy period tiring for politicians, but it also was heavily upon the public. Sixty days of solid campaigning is far more than the time required for the public to cast a studied response.

It is for this reason I am pleased to see that Bill C-21 has been tabled in the House of Commons. The explanatory notes of the Bill read as follows: "The purpose of this Bill is to shorten the period required to hold a general election by approximately sixty days to forty-seven days. The proposed period would apply to both general elections and by-elections. It would be obtained by replacing the requirement that preliminary lists of electors be printed and sent to the public, and that preliminary lists be reproduced in reduced numbers by photographic or other means and that a notice of enumeration be sent to electors."

I applaud the intent of the Bill. It is, however, my personal opinion that methods should be sought that would trim another five to ten days from the campaign period. It is my belief that the majority of Canadians are generally in tune with the day-to-day issues. Naturally, they will want to reassess the record of the present government in view of the alternatives that the opposition parties offer. Nevertheless, the period of election should not be so long as to allow the present government the option of moving from the position of defence to that of suggesting a new alternative.

The last Alberta election took place in 30 days. There is no genuine reason why a federal government should require twice as long.

Keeping in touch requires that you remember the situation upon which you are about to judge and allows you the option of directing the future in accord with your confidence or in the direction of a new hope.

RITERS RAMBLINGS

By Phyllis Albers

Where were you on Remembrance Day
When "The Last Post" rang out?
Did you take the time to stop and think
What this day is all about?

Did you pause amid your daily work,
Or bow your head in prayer,
For one long silent moment?
Did you take the time—or care?

Did you recall the memories
And wipe away a tear.

For all the ones who went to fight
And paid a price so dear?

Did you linger in your routine
Of family, friends, and fun,
To spare a moment's silence
For the ones who died so young?

Did you stop and think, remembering
Our never-ending debt,
To those who died, or we may live,
Or...did you forget?

Couple exchange vows

Mr. and Mrs. George King of Hardisty celebrated a special Thanksgiving weekend - the wedding of their youngest daughter and a surprise 41st wedding anniversary. The festivities began with a rehearsal coffee party at the home of Wayne and Phyllis King of Irma. Then on Saturday October 4th came the wedding of Connie Mariano King and Mr. Earl Miller, youngest son of Mr. and Mrs. Bill Muller of Minniskaming. Ontario. The bride was the Irma United Church - Rev. Wilson officiating.

Attending the bride were Mrs. Wendy Soloski, sister of the bride, and Miss Joanne King, niece of the bride, both of Edmonton. Mr. Earl Miller, brother of the groom, and Mr. John Field, friend of the groom, both of Toronto, Ontario, were the groom's attendants.

Ushers were Mr. Leo King of Irma and Mr. Kerry Hote of Edmonton. Miss Gwyneth Ashley of Ryley was the matron of honor. Margaret Enter was the bride's maid. The wedding song "during the signing of the register."

Connie wore a beautiful white gown of chintilly lace, flowing behind in train-like fashion with chiffon pleats in front. Her head-piece, also covered in chintilly lace, had a double veil complimented with rosette trim. As accessories, she wore a gold pendant set with a single ruby, a gift from the groom. Also a matching pair of ruby earrings. She carried a bouquet of red roses, white gerberas and lily-of-the-valley, interspersed with lily. The Loughed Co-op Store is really getting a brand new look on the outside wall, and it will be very nice indeed when it is finished. It is a credit to the town when buildings get a new look when they get it.

Looks like winter is on its way with snow flurries around us. Although not too miserable weather yet, it has been a nice fall. Seems as though the farmers are busier now than in springtime and harvest.

Curling has started, also the ladies and some men are busy with bowling and other winter activities.

Kings celebrate anniversary

On Sunday, October 7th, the King family and relatives gathered at the home of Marie King and then travelled in a motorcade to the home of George and Ethel to surprise them on their 45th wedding anniversary.

Everyone gathered at the front steps to hear a short history of their courtship and marriage, and to join in a toast to the bride and groom. A buffet dinner was prepared by the daughters and daughters-in-law, their friends and neighbors joined them in the afternoon for lunch and the cake cutting ceremony. The cake, decorated in coral and white, by daughter-in-law Ida, was the color of Ethel's wedding dress. As a special surprise, the bride of 45 years ago was presented with a diamond engagement ring from the groom.

Mrs. Helen (White) Kipstick of Edmonton, their bridesmaid, joined them for the occasion and the best man, Mr. Homer King of Seattle, Wash., planned to congratulate the couple and wish them many more years of happiness.

George and Ethel (nee Powell) King were married in Hardisty on October 17, 1934. They then homesteaded for 10 years near George's hometown of Rocky Mountain House and later bought a sawmill, making the lumber business their livelihood until 1947. Then, they returned back to Hardisty where they bought a farm in the Silver Lake district north of town. Here they farmed until they built a new home and retired in 1976.

George and Ethel have five children: Verne and Marie of Hardisty, Wayne of Irma, Mrs. Wendy Skoske of Edmonton, and Mrs. Cecile Miller of Calgary. They also have two daughters-in-law, two sons-in-law and five grandchildren.

Fly in fishing trip

Like October is seen by most sportsmen as prime time for fishing. However, we found that the Lake Trout in Namur Lake were still biting fairly good.

Ron Tanton, Pete Martin from Sedgewick, James McClements, Bob Roggenbach and Al Martin from Loughheed flew into the Birch Mountain Lodge October 25 by float plane from Fort McMurray. Everyone caught and released many trout as the possession limit on trophy lakes is three trout each. The largest fish taken was caught by Bob, a 26 pounder. The weather was a bit cold and windy, but for fishing like the we all felt it was worth the discomfort. Contact Al came in on schedule at 12:30 p.m., October 27 to take us back to civilization.

Loughheed kindergarten enjoys many activities

The Loughheed Kindergarten, under the direction of teacher Mrs. Sandra Roodenbach, has been bouncing with happy pre-school activity since it opened in September. Twelve children are in attendance this year, including two sets of twins, and they find their quarters in the Loughheed School very comfortable.

Six weeks of trips to Killam for swimming have now reached an end, and thanks are extended to the mothers who came along and helped so willingly with wet bathing suits and splashing children.

Each Thursday the children look forward to their excursion to the Loughheed Public Library where members of the Women's Institute read to them and invite them to explore the world of books.

On Halloween Day the kids and some parents, too, appeared in their spooky costumes and paraded through the school to display them. Guests at the Halloween party were treated to orange juice and cookies and specially made by the children themselves. Thanks to Shirley Mater who volunteered her kitchen for the cookie-making. Games and apple-bobbing were highlights of the party.

On November 6th the excited children braved the cold, and visited a farm near Brownfield to make the acquaintance of some real buffaloes. They also discovered a donkey there who kept them well

Galahad holds disaster exercise

Galahad's Disaster exercise to hear the reports was a fair success. As the two correspondents were not invited to attend we can only give a small hand report.

The bus load of victims left the school around 12 o'clock. The "accident" took place about 1 1/2 miles west of town. Unfortunately a real emergency had come up and the ambulance was away. Communications were not so good. We understand that there were runners to carry the news of the victims to the hospital before the patients arrive and we the correspondents hope we will be invited to see get pictures and first hand news instead of second hand reports.

P.M. and Premier still at odds over oil pricing

The month-long negotiations over who should get the proceeds of future oil price increases have finally surfaced in public when Premier Peter Lougheed and Prime Minister Joe Clark have been forced to make their respective positions known.

While Clark and Lougheed appeared bound on a collision course at the opening of the first ministers meeting on energy in Ottawa, Clark seems now to have swung around to Lougheed's view that a federal tax to take windfall revenues from oil companies be imposed on profits rather than directly on the wellhead price.

This agreement represents a significant political victory for Lougheed for whom the form of tax eventually imposed must reflect a basic principle that the province should dictate the conditions under which its resources are sold.

But federal officials have yet to come up with a system of income tax that would yield the federal government the sum it would have received under the proposed national energy self-sufficiency tax they laid on the table at the first minister's meeting.

However large and in whatever form the tax finally appears, Canadians will be forced to accept dramatically higher oil prices annually for at least the next four or five years.

Clark got all the premiers except Ontario Premier Bill Davis to agree that the price of Canadian-produced oil sold in Canada should be rapidly increased toward the world price. The increase is necessary, supporters of the move argue, to bring about improved conservation and raise the funds necessary for building the giant energy projects the country needs in order to achieve energy self-sufficiency.

Davis contends that price hikes of the size envisaged from $18.75 per barrel now to more than $25 per barrel in three years will have a devastating effect on the entire Canadian economy, and produce an economic recession.

But even Nova Scotia and Prince Edward Island, the provinces most dependent on crude oil for all energy needs including home heating, supported the push for higher prices so long as the federal government helps them meet their oil needs in the meantime.

The provincial governments' share of new oil revenues will remain the same as it is on current production—45 per cent. The Alberta Heritage Savings Trust Fund, now at $5.5 billion, will grow even faster than it has done in the four years since its inception.

And if Lougheed wins in the tax talks with Ottawa, Alberta will be able to increase its royalty share of oil revenues at will if it decides more funds for its officers are warranted.

As winter season approaches activity heightens at the local curling and skating rinks. Shown here is the interior of Ole Hardisty arena which has undergone extensive renovations recently. A new lobby and waiting room has been enlarged and rebuilt, plastic rink boards have been installed and a plastic shield to protect front glass will complete the job in time for the first scheduled hockey games.

What your child thinks

Of the many things that come across the editor's desk was a recent submission by Gertrude M. Nelson of Killam Public School. It seems her grade 4 class in a variety of activities for the International Year of the Child, were asked to write 10 rules that adults should obey when they are with children.

In her own words this teacher reveals to us adults some of the ideas that kept appearing in the over 20 replies. "I feel the results are quite revealing and submit this as you may wish to print one or two of the best ones. Also it may be interesting to summarize a list of the most frequent items, such as: Listen to us when we speak. Don't swear in our presence. Don't let us get away with everything. Don't shout (yell) at us. Trust us with responsibility. Do not ignore us and explain things we don't understand."

Some of the rules I found most interesting like "Don't let your children do whatever they want to do", or "Children should be good for their parents". One thing is quite evident in all the replies and that is that these children, like most, have a very good grasp of things and there is no doubt we adults should be communicating with our children. I cannot help but feel that somewhere between the ages of these grade 4ers and when they reach Junior High school level there is a serious breakdown between their ideas and ours. Just in passing a further review of the papers show a marked difference in the writing and spelling of these youngsters. Some was very, very good while others were terrible. How can this be? Along with Rules should there be Reading and Riting?

I wish we could put up some of the Christmas spirit in jars and open a jar of it every month. Harlan Miller

What Others Say

Petrol-Power Peter

We are fortunate to have Peter Lougheed in the driver's seat during the debates on energy now going on between Ottawa, Toronto and Edmonton, Alberta, which has been supporting the eastern provinces and sacrificing more than any province has had to in the history of this country, is being used as the bad guy for the power hungry mandarins from the east. It will be interesting to see how the prime minister will handle the situation. Will he remember his heritage and support the rightful claims of the western provinces, will he buckle under to the power brokers of the east, particularly Toronto which put him in power, or will he sell his home province down the drain?

We feel the rights of the provinces over their own resources should not even be a debatable item. The federal government never intervened on the pricing of electricity from Quebec or uranium or nickel from Ontario. They always went on world pricing no matter who it hurt. Why then now feel it is necessary to interfere with the pricing of Alberta oil is beyond us. The premier of our province has stated long and loud he does not want world oil prices in Canada and is willing to agree to a lower rate for Canadians, but feels that if Canada is going to reach energy efficiency in the future, more money will have to go into exploration than is now available from the present pricing system.

If Alberta's oil runs out ten years from now, will the east be around to give us cheap uranium or hydro? We doubt it. So, it is up to the premier to defend Alberta's rights. The future of Canada is in the west; the premier knows it, westerners know it, and most banks know it. It is just too bad the power brokers in the east have not caught on yet. Guard the bank, Peter, they will walk up sooner or later. Let's hope it is sooner.

Nanton News

School bus safety

Despite several appeals, the safety of youngsters riding school buses each day is not as assured as it should be. The local RCMP has charged several drivers recently who have been passing school buses that had stopped to load and unload.

On Monday the RCMP stepped up its program by riding on a school bus to see first hand how drivers ignore the law. The maximum fine ($50) doesn't seem adequate to convince some drivers that this is a serious offence.

Passing a school bus that has stopped could be the start of a criminal offence—and end in manslaughter. Youngsters are excited when they get off the bus to go home. Extra caution is a must to ensure their safety. To be in a hurry is not excuse of ignoring the law. Just think what it could do to you for the rest of your life if you hit a child. —The Reporter, Stony Plain.

Philosophy for the Birds

The Third Column

by Trumcat
"I WRITE AS PLEASE"

"O bury me not
On the lone prairie—
Where the coyotes howl
And little birds from
The little plover of the "Cowboy's Lament" was put together back in the days when in actual fact the wily coyote howled more frequently than he does today. He has only one thing to howl about now and that is that man has chased and hounded him into the hinterlands. His howl now is not one of joy in living, but one of the agonies of maintaining life in a hostile environment.
Yet we will never eradicate him entirely for he's too wily, too smart for us. He's an artist at survival.

THE SONNETTEER of the foregoing rhyme, put it together, too, back in the days when the riders of the grasslands suffered the vagaries of the climate in a wide-open land, soothing the spooky seem-demonstrated "herds" and slaughtering the vulnerable buffalo for food and clothing, risking the raids of the hostile redskins who saw his means of survival being wiped out by the intruding white man. All that is gone now is the ever-contin-ing progress toward a better way of life with more sophisticated means.

ONLY ONE THING is left from the opening rhyme. The wind still blows free, changing its course from time to time as always, with its warning of things to come; portending disaster to the unwary and hope for the faithful, and attentive.
Over this man has no control.
THE "CHAFFS", the distinguishing mark of a true cowpoke, have given way to the blue jean, and along with the spur, lariat, sheepskin coat and ten-gallon hat have been mostly relegated to ceremonial dress.
Even the molasses and molasses strains of the mouth organ have given way to the transistor radio, and the sturdy muscling has been replaced by the front-wheel drive Jeep. The Riders of the Purple Sage are few and far between. The West has changed and the reformation might well cause Zane Grey to turn over in his grave.

Yet the wind blows free.
AH, BUT THE WINDS of change. The trade winds which traditionally blow from North-East to South-west, (North of the Equator) have given up in despair and changed course to blow directly East and West.
The torrid winds from the East blow passionately and determinately over the West, and the frigid and resolute wind of the West blow back with equal violence. And when the twin meets, the ensuing vocal monsoons are both amusing and frightening.

The "redskins" are blowing forth the winds of imbalance, to be not by the wind of consideration decrying the fragmentation and balkanization of an already loosely-knit confederate unit. The Fathers of Confederation must be squirming uncomfortably in their celestial abode. They would unlikely have the desire to return to this tenuous terrestrial situation to right their near-rightness and lay a planisphere for the guidance of the future of a diverse and agonizingly stabilization.

YES, THE WIND BLOWS free.
And may its reviving and soothing currents re-vitalize the field breath of a sickening nation, that it may once more breathe the pure air of nationalism and restore again in the hearts of its people the pride of being a Canadian.

AS A NATION we simply cannot afford to continue cat-walking and pussy-footing our way through the mists of uncertainty, or sooner or later we are going to have to walk the gauntlet and end up submerged in the depths of hopelessness.
Let us keep the winds and learn therefrom the direction from whence they come, and profit thereby.

Consumer and Corporate Affairs

Because these games and toys are new, many consumers have been asking, "What should I look for? How do I know a good one from a poor one?" Some consumers have been asking for a recommendation.

Also there's a big difference in electronic toys in terms of battery power required to run them. I don't think there is a parent who hasn't experienced the battery panic at Christmas

latest information on electronic toys - dig up the November 75 issue of Consumer Reports, it has an excellent article and will be helpful to those of you serious about buying quality electronic toys this Christmas.

A.T.A. president speaks at induction

There are basically two products on the market, Electronic games and electronic learning aids. There's a difference, so do be sure you know what you're buying.

Most of the electronic games centre around some sort of popular sport. Some of these require two to four players - others are games where the child pits himself against the built-in computer. Whether you are looking for an electronic game or learning aid, those in the know in the Toy Store.

Winners announced in $100 Club

Mr. Kryszewski spoke of the honor and the pleasure he is proud of their profession and the need for dedication. He tried to impress upon the Inductees, the enormous responsibility they were accepting and the need to meet the challenge with dignity and perseverance.

In a short interview, Mr. Kryszewski said that the Induction Banquet and Dance was a great success, due to the high level of professionalism shown by all concerned in the planning and execution. The $100 Club Restaurant, the High School Band, and the Organist were all commended.

COME ALIVE . . .

By Don Carson

The Parable of the Haunted House. Matthew 12: 28-30

In this strange parable of the haunted house, Jesus used the medium of the popular mythology of the day to set forth lessons which are applicable in every age.

The presence of evil. Evil is not merely an absence of the good, but it is a force, a power at work in the world seeking to thwart God's will. The man in the parable kicked the demon out of his life (his house), swept it clean, and then sat back and rested. But the demon returned when he wasn't looking. Jesus doesn't tell us all we'll like to know about evil, but he does tell us that it is a persistent thing, something against which we must always be on guard. Experiences seem to bear out his words. Therefore, Jesus continually admonished his disciples to "watch and pray" that they enter not into temptation.

The peril of complacency. A vacuum is always a dangerous situation. "Nature abhors a vacuum", and that holds true of our spiritual nature, as well.

An empty mind, heart, and life are like empty houses. They are invitations to evil. Negative thoughts are not enough. Many times religious people tend to think of religion as a set of taboos, a set of "thou shalt not's" to which people must conform. Jesus attacked on the popular religion of his day was that it was primarily negative.

Evangelism is impossible. If a life is not filled with positive good, it will soon become filled with positive evil. Negativity is impossible. Life demands that we have something at its centre something to which we can give ourselves with passionate intensity. If not God then something else. Paul Tillich was right when he said that man's basic problem is not atheism (no god) but idolatry (the wrong god). The problem of our world is that we have lost our centre. As a Christian, I believe that Christ intended to be the centre. I believe that our choice today is the same as it has always been: Christ or Chaos. It is true of our personal lives. It is true of our world. Which will it be?

Killam Public School

If you heard lots of laughter around the Killam Public School it was probably someone reading one of the joke sheets grade seven have published. An example of a joke is "What kind of music do you play at a cake party?" (I'll tell you later.) But it was no joke when the Killam girls played on Friday, November 16th and 21st. 54 boys brought lots of cheering when they won against Strome boys 44-28.

The Killam cheerleaders did a good job at leading them on. Congratulations to the winners and good luck to the losers in their next game on Friday, 23rd, at Dayland.

The answer to the joke is pop music.

Call Cows

Warning and Cows:

Warning is as critical as spring calving, so advance preparation is worth the time and effort. Call cows and pens checked out early during warm sunny weather have been dry for a month or more and your calves are less likely to catch a cold or flu.

Vaccination, dehorning, branding, castrating and stand control should be done before weaning. The calf can stand these operations better when it's with its mother. If these haven't been done before weaning wait a week or two after weaning and then treat the calves. This will give your calves time to adjust to new environment and feed.

A common reason for fall weaning may be cows milking and bawling on one side of the fence and on the other side calves doing the same thing. A way to stop all this stress and commotion is to move the cows away from close contact with the calves - if possible move them to a distant pasture. With this done the old saying "out of sight and out of mind" comes into play. Now the calves can get down to the business of eating and drinking - and the owner can get some sleep at night.

Another trick to make weaning easier is to start your calves on creep feed before being separated from its milk supply.

This gives the calves a gradual start on feed rather than being put on a completely new feed that they don't know how to eat. Another point to creep feeding - fall pastures aren't as good as summer pastures and cows have trouble giving enough milk to a big bull calf. Creep feeding takes some of the load off the cow and helps the calf.

Now on weaning and creep feeding next week.

Heisler students immersed in swimming

For the first time at Heisler, fifty-two junior high students had their Physical Education course enriched by a swimming program at the Killam Aquatic. During October and November the students attended six two hour sessions. They were divided into four groups according to skill level. The instructors, June Gale, Jack Crocker, Brian Bowles, and Janet Horth, took these groups and provided instruction at the appropriate levels.

The sessions included teaching and practice time, accompanied by water safety taught through films and practical experience. The instruction was excellent and ranged from basic skills for the non-swimmers to snorkel for the advanced group. The program concluded on November 15 with written and practical examinations given by the pool instructor.

Students, parents, and teachers were enthusiastic about the program. Teachers were impressed by the quality of instruction offered. Students responded well and the Killam staff went out of their way to meet that response with the most comprehensive training possible at the student's level in the time available.

Heisler School feels that this program has been an asset to the total instructional plan and hopes that funding will be available in the future to repeat this experience.

Little league is dangerous

Organized amateur hockey is dangerous to society because it is more dangerous than casual hockey games, according to Dr. Pasby, chairman of the Canadian Standards Association Committee on Protective Equipment for Hockey. Pasby, who has been treating hockey injuries for over 30 years, and has been active in coaching amateur hockey players, feels that organized hockey poses a greater risk to the player than the "win at any cost" attitude.

"The kids today are told to win at any cost. Some coaches seem to instill the philosophy 'It doesn't matter how you play as long as you win,'" explains Pasby. "This of course, creates injuries and hockey has got to become safer if it is to survive."

"Hockey is a great game and I hate to see it ruined by too much violence," Pasby believes that players playing hockey on ponds are safer than those in organized league because the game is "more for fun than to win."

Lougheed Rebekah Lodge

Members of the Lougheed Rebekah Lodge met for their regular meeting on Wednesday November 14th.

Since the reporter arrived late, the account is limited. Members reported having attended and served lunch at a dress show in the Flagstaff Lodge.

Sis Johnson reported that she had attended a B.R.T.A. meeting in Wainwright, as a representative with ideas for Alberta's T&E building. N.G. Sis H. Skoberg reported that she had attended a meeting concerning community relations. It was agreed to send a donation to the United Nations 25th Anniversary For Youth.

Members are reminded that the insurance options are greater.

Under Good of the Order Sis V. Wallace gave a very vivid and enjoyable account of her visit to a lodge meeting in Ontario.

The Christmas party will be a major part of the first meeting in December.

Lodge closed in harmony. The lunch and social hour that followed were tremendous.

The lodge was especially delicious. In Kilian on November 6, 1979 a Communications and Community Relations seminar was presented to twenty-two Oddfellows and Rebekahs representing Lodges from Wainwright, Birch Lake, Kilian and Lougheed.

Sister Hawkins, past president, from Calgary outlined procedures to follow in developing good relations between the community and the Lodge at the local level.

Sister Moore, past president, from Lacombe, suggested a number of excellent ways of communicating with non-active members, with other organizations and with the community at large.

Each speaker asked interesting questions and involved the representatives in workshop activities such as writing reports on local events, writing newsletters and seminars. Many new ideas were presented concerning promotion of Oddfellowship by involvement in community projects. They also showed films which are available to Lodges free of charge for workshop activities locally.

The evening concluded with lunch and a social hour.

Hardisty Ladies Auxiliary

The Ladies Auxiliary to the Canadian Legion met on Monday evening in the Elks with 12 members present. The meeting opened as usual with the flag ceremony. Following roll call and the reading of the minutes, reports were received from the treasurer, the sick and visiting members, with other organizations and the banquet committee. Miss Matthews reported on the start made on the Hardisty history, asking for volunteers when the work starts.

It was arranged to serve both sandwiches and drinks following the November 11th service. Members were reminded of the pot luck family supper on December 2nd at 6 p.m., a Christmas party for men's and women's branches. It was decided to buy a turkey in addition to the pot luck food.

A nominating committee was appointed consisting of Miss Johnston, Matthews and Hoar. Election of officers will be held at the December meeting and Dist. Council, Miss Barton will be asked to install them in January, weather permitting.

It was reported that poppies were out in the places of business, and that ticket sales for the bookend reg were most satisfactory.

A lovely lunch was served, the birthday of the month being Mrs. Nettie Johnson, a lovely cake was cut for her while members sang Happy Birthday.

4-H CLUB ACTIVITIES

SPRINGLARK STITCHERS

Did you see those fantastic Glo-braters on November 10? The Springlark Stitchers went to the Elks and Glo-braters in Edmonton. They stayed at the fancy Edmonton Plaza.

Our club arrived in Edmonton at noon. They checked into their room at the Elks and went shopping. Everyone had fun when they went shopping.

Afterwards we went and saw our friend, Marlene Smith at the University Hospital in Edmonton.

Later we went back to the Hotel and went swimming. Everyone enjoyed swimming. After swimming we piled into one room to get ready for that night. There was 10 girls all trying to dry their hair, curl their hair, and get dressed at once. What a racket! That poor supervisor.

We ate at the Plaza and then took the Light Rail Transit to the collection. There we saw the Harlem Glo-braters. Everyone enjoyed the show. Many of us got autographs from the players.

The next day we went swimming early in the morning and later on we ate and went to the bus depot to get tickets home. On the way home everyone had fun except the supervisors. Everyone sang and fooled around.

No one in our club will ever forget the day. Satisfaction. Trainers nor those 2 wonderful days in Edmonton.

THE ELK OR WAPITI "White Rump" Giant

The second largest member of the deer family is the Elk or Wapiti - "white rump" in an Indian dialect. A fully grown male may weigh up to 800 kg. In winter, the Elk browns on "hugs" in summer.

It feeds in alpine pastures and meadow meadows. The Elk's coloring is a highly protective tawny brown. Watch for the Elk in Alberta's open areas.

THE BUMCHERRY

A fruit with no flavor? The Bumcherry, one of two species of Dogwood found in Alberta, is often called the Dwarf Dogwood. In fall, the plant's petal-like bracts fade to a brownish color and the tiny flowers form bright red berries - with no flavor! These berries are an important food for many birds, bees, deer and squirrels. Look for the Bumcherry in the cool, shady woods of the northern forests of Alberta.

Gretna Goodwill club report

Our regular meeting of this month was held November 18th at Helen Sutherland's home in Longbeach. In attendance were seven members, one silent sister, and two visitors Mrs. Benwick of Alliance (Ella's Mother) and Mrs. Helen White of Lougheed. The previous minutes were read and adopted and then the correspondence was read. We received a lovely card of thanks from Mr. and Mrs. H. Skoberg and family of Grimsby.

The Treasurer gave her report and all bills were paid and then she read a very interesting letter about all the poor, hungry and sick people in far countries. The card was reported on the many cards she had sent in the past month. We then all signed a card and sent it to Mrs. Zimmerman (Melba's Mom) in Camrose Hospital.

The show that is to be held at Bellhills November 30th for Green Severson was discussed and all final arrangements were made. We then started discussing our Christmas party and what a discussion that turned out. Either the place, or the people, are all booked up from now until Christmas, so guess what we had to put it off until December 30th at Bellhills Hall.

The December 12th meeting is to be at Melba Cameron's and Rita is co-hostess. The roll will be an exchange of Christmas gifts.

Christie read a reading "That caught our eye" parts of letters written by members and clipped out of the "Alberta Forester". They really were quite the letters called "Tummy Hiss."

The hostess and co-hostess served the most scrumptious lunch that you ever saw or tasted and served on "Old Country Bases" china just like the table top look beautiful.

Hedy Cameron was the hostess prime, but there was an extra one so Helen O'Reilly drew the lucky number and won it. It must have been her lucky day as she also won the Lucky Tea Cup Prize.

Well guess we again had a wonderful money day so we hope for another one in December. It is asking for too much?

Lougheed News Items

On Saturday, November 17th Mr. and Mrs. Danny Adamson and girls and Mrs. Christine Armstrong went to Lacombe to visit Christine's mother who is in the Nursing Home. Mrs. John Brown is 86 years young and still in very good health and remembers everyone yet in the Bellhills and Lougheed district.

Interest rates curb inflation

"In raising interest rates, the two primary objectives the Bank of Canada had in mind were to avoid excessive growth of the money supply and to avoid further sharp depreciation in the value of the Canadian dollar. Either or both together would increase the rate of inflation and in the end would result in even higher rates of interest."

"High interest rates counter inflation as they discourage excessive spending. As demand drops, businesses come under competitive pressure, and this helps to keep other costs and prices down."

"Further drops in the value of the dollar will increase inflation because it will raise the price on all imported goods and import replacement takes a period of time - a substantial period of time when domestic producers are already operating at capacity. Further increases in the money supply and most particularly the central bank's money supply will increase inflation."

STRAW then INNER SPRINGS WATER

Why Floatation Sleep?

Comfort the watched continues to your body with an pressure points to disburse your sleep.

Support the watched give you uniform support, and in the most effective way yet devised to support a reclining body.

Warmth Your watched will contribute to the deep relaxation of your body, and the warmth of your body.

Less Pressure The conventional mattress exerts pressure on the parts of the body it touches. This causes circulation and causes tension and turning (from 50 to 100 times per night) to relieve the pressure. But a straw mattress provides uniform support.

Firmness Flexibility You choose the firmness you want, with the turn of a tap.

ECONOMY Floatation sleep systems are priced from $12.95 to $149.95. When it comes time to replace your mattress 12 to 15 years from now, our mattress (which is all you need to do) is complete with mold wood frame. There is nothing to get happy or wear out.

Myths

There is no reason with the inner springs when they were introduced as well. People expected the springs to sink them as they sleep, as they were common with the inner springs.

Leakage is a problem, but it is not when used with a proper bed and safety line system, which is standard with all of our bed packages.

Weight is a very common myth. The potential of a waterbed is a very common myth. The potential of a waterbed is a very common myth. The potential of a waterbed is a very common myth.

Seasonal changes any person who climbs into a comfortable waterbed for the first time will notice a slight undulating motion, but this subsides in seconds. After a few minutes, and it takes some getting used to.

Why Waterbed Wonderland?

Selection We have complete stocks in a large variety of bedrooms, guest and simple solid wood bed frames and furniture, to cover all price points from $79 and up. (Queen or King)

Lougheed News Items

The weather man has given us another week of lovely weather. Can't seem to get into the Christmas spirit, which is only 3 weeks away.

Sympathy is extended to Mrs. Roland Vandewark and families. Roland passed away last week.

A lovely evening was had last Friday at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Schmidt and family. Friends and neighbors gathered to help them celebrate their wedding anniversary, also a house warming for their new home. A lovely evening was really enjoyed by all. It came to a close with a delicious mid-night supper, with lots of good eats. It was enjoyed by all.

Don't forget there is a L.C.W. inagurabon coming up on Monday night November 26 in the Lougheed Hall. Mr. and Mrs. Vernon Storkbaken invited to Dornes and picked up the Culhaws and went on to Grimsahw and visit ed with Mr. and Mrs. Harvey Storkbaken and family, then from there to visit relatives in Fort St. John recently.

Mr. and Mrs. Steve Piro of Bawil, Bob and Valda Piro of Edmonton were Wednesday supper guests of last week, also Molly Ferryhough at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Probst. Doug, Jason and Kreshka Nishawa were there also.

Quite a number of ladies attended the ladies wear fashions in the Flagstaff Lodge last Wednesday afternoon put on by the Lougheed Rebekah's Lodge. Quite a few ladies bought themselves new clothes for their winter wardrobe.

Mr. and Mrs. Andy Knapp are visiting with the James McClements and other friends. They are from Wetaskiwin.

Activities at Killam Agriplex

Swimming lessons for 1979 have all been completed. We would like to thank all the children and adults who participated in our five sessions of lessons throughout this past year. Hopefully the majority of these candidates have gained aquatic knowledge that will prove beneficial to them in the future and around the water. There is no substitute for water safety knowledge. All the instructors and water safety leaders on staff are to be commended for their teaching through these five sessions: Janet Borth, Susan Sparrow, Pat and John Brady (now living in Whitecourt), Barb Hayes (of Edmonton), Wendy Romanuk (Heider), Brenda Graham (Giroux), Irene Spiller, Allison Gausme (Killam) and George Pliska - a job well done.

Now that lessons are over there will be public swimming on Monday and Wednesday nights from 7 - 8 p.m. Monday from 8 - 9 p.m. is "Aquatic Games". Thanks to Greg Berg, the new bather at the Killam Co-op, we have a new and very interesting game to play at the pool. It is called underwater hockey and is played in the deepest of the pool. Players must wear a mask, snorkel and fins and be at least an intermediate level. Monday November 26 at 8:00 p.m. we hope to get a game organized as well as you have the equipment and are interested come down and join in on the fun.

nastics class on Wednesday November 21 at 8 p.m. Many thanks to the ladies who supported the class and we hope to see you and many more again in the spring. A very special thanks is extended to Janet Borth for all the time and effort she put forth in order to promote such an excellent exercise program.

In conjunction with the "Wind-Up Week" at the pool we will be holding several different types of aquatic games Monday November 26 and Wednesday November 28 for all ages and levels of swimmers. For more information on the games and relays please phone the Agriplex at 385-5817.

The finale of "Wind-Up Week" of course will be Sunday December 2 at 2:00 p.m. when we dump the fifty goldfish into the unchlorinated pool. Anyone who catches a fish can take them home.

Public swimming is from 2-4 p.m. Wednesdays, Saturdays, and Sundays and 7 - 9 p.m. nightly. Only two weeks left to enjoy the water so make an effort to bring the whole family down to the pool some night soon.

On November 30, December 1 and 2nd there will be a Junior Bonspiel at Killam. All risks are welcomed of the age 14 to 22. This is a 3 event bonspiel to get a game organized as well as you have the equipment and are interested come down and join in on the fun.

Something About Advertising: Something about advertising is a newsworthy item written by Doreen Olsen, DHE at Wetaskiwin.

Read the ads - they are aimed at you. Learn to be a analyzer of messages and sort out whether you are being given information or if your feelings are being hooked into buying something you hadn't thought of before. Advertisers have long been known as "merchants of discontent" and are not afraid to tell you that they want to appeal to your pride, your fears, your insecurity, your greed or your secret dream! Many ads are legitimate! They are a good way to convey information to you, to increase your awareness of new products and where they are sold, to help you know where the bargains are at and to improve the relationships between a business and the public.

You benefit from advertising. A producer is compelled to find out what consumers really want before he approaches the market. Also we can write a producer to compliment him or express displeasure at his advertisement. Often ads may influence our general public awareness by the kind of situations they present (i.e. insurance ads encourage the public to insure).

Written ads are often your best source of information because they give you specific information and give you a chance to sleep and compare. TV ads are usually designed to put a name in your head and keep it there until you buy. We have a right to depend on what the advertiser says, but we must be aware of those factors in an ad that we "assume", and then may be disastrous to us.

This is especially good advice right now, when Christmas toys are shown to be so exciting and desirable. Extra sound effects, single shots to make toys look bigger, lights to increase the glitter, feel all of us. Taking a child to a toy store to see the longest line, they give him a more realistic feeling about it.

Analyzing advertising, listening to the information given is an ad, disregarding these words designed to persuade us to buy, revealing our own goals may make adults more careful about separating out the facts and thinking about the alternatives we have in relation to a given product.

Hardisty couple wed

St. Paul's United Church, Hardisty was the scene of a beautiful summer wedding on July 21, 1979 when Diane Rose Metz, eldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Clair Metz was united in marriage to Richard Allan Wilson, youngest son of Mrs. Edith Wilson, all of Hardisty, with Rev. Jackson officiating.

The bride entered the church on the arm of her father to the wedding march played by Mrs. Marion Drager. The guests were ushered to their seats by Lorne Metz, brother of the bride and Doug Hagen brother-in-law of the groom.

The bride was radiant, dressed in a floor length gown with a flowing train of white polyester dress, sleeves and neckline had daisy lace trim. The veil was held in place by a headpiece covered with lace matching her dress. She carried a white Bible covered with red roses.

Attending the bride as matron of honour was her aunt, Connie Bolard and bridesmaid was Brenda Clouston, sister of the groom. The matron of honor wore a floor length dress of blue with a blue daisy bouquet. The bridesmaid wore a matching dress in tan with an apricot daisy bouquet.

The groom was dressed in a three piece suit of tan with a beige shirt and boutonniere of red roses.

Attending the groom were his brothers-in-law Ed Lowker and Raymond Clouston. They were both attired in three piece suits of blue with light blue shirts and blue daisy boutonnieres.

Darren Metz, cousin of the bride, sang "You Light Up My Life" during the signing of the register.

The bride's mother wore a floor length floral print gown in autumn colors with yellow rose corsage. The groom's mother wore a floor length gown of off white with a yellow rose corsage.

An open house and dance followed the reception with Sparky Hoffman's orchestra supplying the music. Even though the power was off for two hours everyone had an enjoyable time dancing by candle light.

For going away the bride changed into a black sundress with pink roses design with a pink corsage and pink rose corsage. The groom changed into a western shirt and jeans.

The happy couple are making their home in Loughheed, Alberta.

Mr. Lyle Metz, uncle of the bride, gave the toast to the bride, to which the groom capably responded.

Lori Metz, sister of the bride and Laura Bolard cousin of the bride, looked after the guest book. Out of town guests were from Redwater, Richmond, B.C., Wainwright, Sedgewick, Camrose, Edmonton, Red Deer, Alta., Stettler and Loom Lake Saskatchewan.

The happy couple are making their home in Loughheed, Alberta.

Mr. Lyle Metz, uncle of the bride, gave the toast to the bride, to which the groom capably responded.

Lori Metz, sister of the bride and Laura Boland cousin of the bride, looked after the guest book. Out of town guests were from Redwater, Richmond, B.C., Wainwright, Sedgewick, Camrose, Edmonton, Red Deer, Alta, Stettler and Loom Lake Saskatchewan.

As an open house and dance followed the reception with Sparky Hoffman's orchestra supplying the music. Even though the power was off for two hours everyone had an enjoyable time dancing by candle light.

For going away the bride changed into a black sundress with pink roses design with a pink carnation and pink rose corsage. The groom changed into a western shirt and jeans.

The happy couple are making their home in Loughheed, Alberta.

Hardisty couple wed

St. Paul's United Church, Hardisty was the scene of a beautiful summer wedding on July 21, 1979 when Diane Rose Metz, oldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Clair Metz was united in marriage to Richard Allan Wilson, youngest son of Mrs. Edith Wilson, all of Hardisty, with Rev. Jackson officiating. The bride entered the church on the arm of her father to the wedding march played by Mrs. Marion Draper. The guests were ushered to their seats by Larne Metz, brother of the

Cambridge Community Association reports

The October meeting of the Cambridge Community Association was held Tuesday afternoon, October 30, at the home of Irene Potter. Anyone entering the house prior to the meeting may have guessed that "Talloween" was certainly upon us a day early, judging from the display of costumes. However, this was only our roll call item, which was to wear something "old" or "fashion-of". Costumes ranged from an array of nightgowns, an old apron, a colonial dress and bonnet, even a "Cambridge" original sweater from the bell line, an old coat, hat and felt boots, etc. Indeed all very interesting. Two members were present, and we were happy to welcome three visitors: Genevieve Baston, Jerry Johnson and Ruth Potter plus two little visitors.

Our usual business was dealt with. A letter had been written to the Longwood Museum Association asking whether they would be interested in having our School Bell in the Museum, along with a write-up of the School history. They responded by gladly accepting it.

We then discussed some ideas for winter projects. It was moved we make another quilt, however the enthusiasm was not too great, so that was tabled, and we decided to think over some projects and bring our ideas to a Roll-call for the next meeting. The canvassing of the area for the CNIB is nearly completed, and the response, as usual, has been good.

Ideas donated to the Birthday Box this month. Our next meeting will be held at the home of Elaine Jenkins, and this will also include our Annual Meeting, and an election of officers for the next two years.

One of our visitors, Genevieve Baston, was the lucky winner of the raffle. The contest was very interesting. Irene showed us some slides, then asked questions about the contest. Genevieve and Elaine Black received the consolation prizes. Verona adjourned the meeting, then Irene and Verona served a delicious lunch.

KILLAM C. OF C. plans Christmas activities

A regular meeting of the Killam and District Chapter of Commerce was held November 6, with nine members present. The Christmas at the Crossroads program will be held December 13 to 15, with an excerpt in The Community Press in the December 13 issue containing all the specials available in Killam stores for the three days.

Most of the businesses in Killam observed Remembrance Day on Monday, November 12, instead of Sunday, November 11. The Chapter purchased a wreath for the town.

The workshop sponsored jointly by Killam and Sedgewick Chapter of Commerce was held November 6, with nine members present. The Christmas at the Crossroads program will be held December 13 to 15, with an excerpt in The Community Press in the December 13 issue containing all the specials available in Killam stores for the three days.

Bethania Lutheran ladies hold meeting

Following the theme, "Stewards of God's Gift", Bethania Ladies held their monthly meeting on Wednesday, November 14, at 7:30 p.m. The ladies discussed the "Gift of Resources" during their meeting. Not only did the ladies meet, but they also had a social time with refreshments.

Lola Marken, who led in the Bible study, also acted as President in the absence of Inga Johnson. Edith Oshack will again be Treasurer, and a Catering Committee was appointed, namely Joyce, Inga, and Mavis. Money was distributed to the various organizations in the church, including a gift to CLBI (Bible Institute for Ladies). Money was also given to the church, including a gift to CLBI (Bible Institute for Ladies).

Our next meeting is on December 4, 1979. A nominating committee will be formed so that elections can be held at the annual meeting.

News from the Anglican Church

On Sunday, December 2 at 7:30 p.m. at St. John's Anglican Church in Sedgewick Mr. Edw. Fox will present slides and give a talk entitled "A Visit To Another World." This is an account of his trip to Africa where his son, Rev. Richard Fox, is serving as a missionary pastor. All members please attend. This will be an inter-denominational service, and the public is cordially invited. The open offering will be given to Rev. Richard Fox to further his work in Africa.

On November 23 at 11 a.m. the initiation of servers and acolytes will take place at St. John's. Please try to stand and support our young people.

Consecrations to Dennis and Laura Jean Bergh who were married in Wainwright on Saturday.

Welcome to their new home in Sedgewick to Mr. and Mrs. Jack Shaw who have moved into the former Albrecht residence.

David and Wendy Edy of Edmonton and their dog, Benjie of Edmonton were weekend visitors at the Don Cookson farm. They arrived, delivering Christmas presents. Yes, I guess there isn't much time left before the big day. Donna and Margaret Martin also joined the Cookson gathering for the weekend, leaving Greg busily painting the new house.

The Anglican Community is asked to search their homes for dishes, pots and pans, linens, bedding and any other household goods, to be donated to the Vietnamese refugees family which is being sponsored by the Lutheran Church. The family is expected to arrive in December. If you have anything which you would like to donate, please leave it at St. John's Church or the rectory in Sedgewick or contact Rev. Conrad. The annual St. John's A.C.W. tea, bazaar and bake sale was held last Saturday, and it once again proved to be a tremendous success. Congratulations to Mr. William Cookson who was the best guessing contest and to Mrs. Margaret Culbert, whose name was drawn for the door prize. The ladies offer their sincere thanks to all those who participated in any way.

Uniform policy discussed

The delegates and their alternates for the Uniform convention in January were the only things finally decided at the Sedgewick Anglican Church on November 21.

Their alternates are Glen Roggenbuck, Rolf Jacobson, Peter Spadey and Carl Mallet. After the nominations there were two speakers from two Uniform commodity groups. Henry Hayes gave a report on the Alberta Child Commission and Ken Lohner spoke for the Northern Alberta Dairy Producers.

Ray Davidson, a board member of Women of Uniform presented the Age of Consent paper.

This is a proposal to lower the age of consent for medical procedures from 16 to 15. This includes all medical procedures except surgical sterilization.

The main reason for the forum was left to last.

Charlie Archibald, the vice-president of direct membership for Uniform chaired the meeting and brought up the Premier Peter Lougheed's third term in office has come to an end showing little evidence the government's grip on power has been loosened in any way.

Though the five-member Opposition has tried to make political hay of ministerial inattention and disregard for ethical standards, and NDP Leader Grant Noddy has seriously questioned the government's resource policies.

There is no sign these attacks have made any dents in the Tory armor.

Social Culture Minister Mary LaMacour appeared the Conservatives' biggest liability during the fall sitting when she was unable to provide either complete or consistent information on the purchase of the $545,000 Rolfey Bay photographic collection, on Alberta's 78th anniversary plans or on a Canadian encyclopedia project.

Only one piece of legislation appeared to get any response at all from the public at large, when a tightly-organized lobby of freighters daily cruised the assembly's public galleries to protest a bill that affected

Pool closes

Sunday, December 2 will be the last time you can make your last splash in the Killam Pool for about two and one half months. The "Wind-Up" our 1979 season of swimming is now shutting the chlorine off a few days early and on Sunday afternoon at 2:00 p.m. some fifty odd goldfish are going to go a swim (at least until the kids catch them).

December of 1978 the pool was closed until February in the first time since it had been opened in December 1972. The cost of heating the pool in these cold months is extremely high and comparatively, participation is very low. For example, one year the total number of people who came to the pool in December was thirty-one. Because the pool is closed for these winter months people can participate in other areas of recreation in our community such as, skating, hockey, curling and bowling.

During the shutdown, we hope to give the pool flyer and offer a bit of a face lift. In the (continued on Page 24)

Governments grip still tight

The first legislative session of Premier Peter Lougheed's third term in office has come to an end showing little evidence the government's grip on power has been loosened in any way.

Largely behind closed doors, the government conducted all price negotiations with Ottawa. And Noddy's arguments that oil companies, even at current prices, are siphoning off vast sums to U.S. shareholders, were generally ignored.

The government's decision to accept the recommendations of the three-member, citizens' committee headed by Minister Twiss Miller that M.L.A.'s salaries should be boosted by 47 per cent appeared to receive virtually no public opposition. So the M.L.A.s' salaries should be boosted by 47 per cent appeared to receive virtually no public opposition.

Only one piece of legislation appeared to get any response at all from the public at large, when a tightly-organized lobby of freighters daily cruised the assembly's public galleries to protest a bill that affected them directly.

At the bill, which would allow cities and towns to appoint two deputy fire chiefs instead of only one, was of limited interest to anyone except firemen, and the manner in which the government pushed the legislation through the House under the freighters' vehement opposition, is unlikely to have made any profound impact on public opinion about the government's performance.

It may be that only the owners of illegal taxicabs and snail cars with jacked-up rear ends will feel the effects of the law passed in the fall sitting in the House.

Within the next year muscle car owners must bring their car's bumpers down to a standard height and courts will have greater powers to order owners to illegal taxpayers to stop operating them.

But though the effects won't be felt immediately, the law appeared to get any response at all from the public at large, when a tightly-organized lobby of freighters daily cruised the assembly's public galleries to protest a bill that affected

by Francine

PHYSICAL THERAPY means a lot of things. It is an interesting little phrase, and it appeared in the news media a short time ago. It was related to the energy problems and that's the main thrust today apparently. The word thera is an interesting one, of course depending on how you are applying it, and flexing muscles is interesting too, again depending on why you are doing it. If it is being done to keep in physical condition the better to withstand the assaults of physical, it's good. If you are muscle flexing as a show of power or for the purpose of intimidation, you may find another with more muscle than you can do. That's the way we find it in energy muscle flexing. It almost reminds one of the boxing ring. For example, just imagine the following, continuing: (which by the way is a continuation of the recent round-table farce in Ottawa).

Oaks of Righteousness

Isaiah 61:3
The oak has its rise in a very small beginning. "Great oaks from little acorns grow." Just as an oak tree grows from a little acorn so does great character grow from a great many decisions that may at the time seem very minor. The more I read the New Testament, the words of Jesus, the more I come to see that he always defined the kingdom in terms of relatively minor things - giving a cup of cold water to a thirsty man, giving food to someone who is hungry, showing kindness to someone who was lonely, visiting someone who was sick or imprisoned. What I am saying is that men who can be called oaks of righteousness grow from small decisions about seemingly unimportant things, but together these things forge destiny. If a man is to become an oak of righteousness, he must feed his spirit upon the bread and the water of life and nourish his spirit upon the power of God. He must feed his spirit upon the Living Christ. He must sink his roots down deeply into faith. The making of a man is dependent not only upon what he does for himself and what others do for him, but also chiefly upon the work of God within him, the strength that faith and faith alone provides.

If a tree is to grow strong and straight and tall, spreading its branches far and wide, then it must not be too much protected; it must be set where the winds of life can blow upon it. It must little by little learn to take the storms of life.

So it is with people. People never grow strong and sturdy when and if they are sheltered, shielded, protected from all harm, danger temptation and difficulty.

A child does not mature, a lad does not grow up, a girl is not really protected with the only protection that counts, unless little by little they are allowed to make their own decisions - first in very minor and trivial matters later, in matters of a bit more importance. Finally they are able to decide matters of great importance.

Oak trees grow for a purpose. I suppose this purpose is usually multiple. That is, an oak can be used for shade, and oak reproduces itself, and oak is beautiful; and oak may be used eventually for lumber.

So our lives if they want to be called "oaks of righteousness" ought to fulfill a purpose. We were put into the world to serve the needs of mankind, God's children. We were put here to stand fast and steadfast against evil, sin, and every pressure that would take away from other people their God-given heritage.

Services for Darrell Herle

Darrell Joseph Herle was born in St. Joseph's Hospital, Gahad on May 16th, 1961 and passed away October 23, 1979 at the age of 18 years.

He received his education in the Gahad Public School and Foreburg High School. Having completed High School in June 1978, he had just started his apprenticeship as a mechanic at Pegasus Impelmets in Killam.

Darrell was an ambitious young man and respected by those who knew him. He was interested in many sports, curling being top priority. He also enjoyed skiing, shidolting and coached the Gahad 12 and under boys baseball team.

He served as an altar boy for many years in his church.

Leaving to cherish his memory are his loving parents Frank and Doreen, 1 brother Dennis, 2 sisters Katherine and Ellen, his maternal grandparents, Mrs. Mary Catherine Gamroth, and numerous aunts, uncles and cousins, as well as a host of friends.

Mass of Christian Burial will be held Saturday, October 27th at 10:00 a.m. in St. Donatus Roman Catholic Church with Father Henry Bess officiating assisted by Father Richard Thorpe of Carleton Place. After boys were Ken and Allan Gamroth, with Gerald Kuefer giving the Scripture readings. Hymns were sung by the Sisters of the Ursulines of Jesus from Edmonton. Pallbearers were Colin Gamroth, Ben Gamroth, Eldon Kuefer, Dale Oberg, Daniel Buehr, and Brian Dietz.

Interment was in the Gahad Cemetery with Holness Funeral Chapel in charge of arrangements.

Card of Thanks

We would like to express our sincere appreciation to our friends and relatives for their prayers, expressions of sympathy and their many acts of kindness at the time of the loss of our son and brother Darrell. Thank you for the spiritual offerings, cards, flowers, memorial donations to various charitable organizations, to those who sent food to the home and the ladies who prepared our meals.

A special thank you to Harshel and Ray Jackson, Aunt Mary Gamroth, Aunt Martha Buehr and Al and Angie Dietz for their kindness and help at the time of the accident.

Also thanks to Father Ben, Father Thorpe, the pallbearers, the Sisters from Edmon-ton, the C.W.L. for serving lunch after the funeral and to Shirley and Louise Holness for their help and understanding.

To each and everyone you kindness and thoughtfulness is deeply appreciated.

Frank, Doreen, Dennis, Ellen and Carolyn helpful ideas and hints. Marion Sommer and Maxine Buehr told the members what Doug Newman had to say in his Leadership Development Program that afternoon.

Next plans for the Christmas Party. They decided to exchange names and join the other four Heisler Clubs for one big Christmas Concert and party with parents and other members of the family invited. Our leader surprised everyone with a goody bag and as each member picked something out they had to talk about it or try and get everyone to want to buy an item like it. What entertainment.

While lunch was being prepared the Junior Members with the help of Tim and Lorraine made pop balloons. The perfect gift for a call for Christmas. They all left for home stuffed with food and making plans for the Christmas party.

DOOR PRIZE TRIP FOR 2 LAS VEGAS

Alberta Agriculture

THELMA TONKESHIP
By Dallas W. Schmidt
Alberta Minister of Agriculture

This week I intend to take a brief look at commissions and councils, and to review their relationship to Alberta's agricultural industry.

I think, to start off, we need to have a clear understanding of two terms in common use. Whenever we praise, criticize or even just talk about the various levels of public authority, the terms 'government' and 'civil service' frequently arise. Sometimes, their use can be misleading.

The two terms are not the same though both signify people. 'Government' implies that a group of people have the authority to enact laws, programs, policies. This capability belongs only to elected officials, such as M.L.A.s.

On the other hand, civil servants cannot make laws or change policy. While they can advise the government about making new laws or policies, they have absolutely no authority to implement such changes on their own. It's a clear difference.

However, among civil servants there is a group that do have important advisory powers. Many of these head Councils or Commissions. These are not regular organizations. They are formed and maintained either through the order of the Alberta Executive Council or at the pleasure of the Minister. Within agriculture such bodies can be in the form of all four roles: overseer of some part of our industry, Ministerial advisor on policy and programs, marketing agency, and as a 'referee' on matters strictly related to the relevant sector. Whatever the role, the agency will report directly to me as Minister.

The Alberta Agricultural Products Marketing Council is one example of this type of organization. As the general overseer of most marketing boards operating in the province, this body can adjudicate certain disputes, look after (in a broad sense) the interests of producers tied to a particular marketing board, and insure that any provincial board stick to the original authorized mission under which it was created.

A similar body filling completely different roles is the Alberta Grain Commission. Its most important function is to advise on the management of Alberta's grain industry. The Commission's other major duty is to maintain liaison between all segments of the grain industry. Under this heading would fall things such as its 24-hour commodity prices phone-in-service which gives producers up-to-date information on price trends in the grain trade.

The Irrigation Council is still a third agency with a different purpose. Its prime function is to offer sound management of our irrigation resources on a provincial basis. It also serves as one of the prime advisory bodies to the Minister.

A fourth body, one that I would like to examine in more detail, is the Alberta Forage Seed Council. Like the Forage Seed Council resulted from producer meetings held around Alberta during 1976 and 1977. These meetings led to a recommendation which the Honourable Marvin Moore, then Minister of Agriculture, acted on in early 1978.

Marcel Maisonneuve, a producer from Melman, Alberta, was appointed to head the new Council. Six other producers were appointed as members, along with representatives from the federal and provincial governments, the private sector and the Canadian Seed Growers Association.

The duties of this Council differ substantially from those of the other agencies I've discussed. Its major function is to supplement the activities of the private agencies involved in our forage seed trade. This has led to information distribution becoming one of its most important tasks. Along with a minor marketing role, this combination looks great promise.

Foreign buyers are often unaware that Alberta is Canada's major producer of grain and legume seeds. Since we depend heavily on export sales, we hope that wider acknowledgment of our product will provide greater producer returns. In line with this aim, the Council has already headed several foreign delegations, and it expects to expand information distribution to potential buyers in coming months.

Among its other duties, the Council also operates as an advisor on seed trade policy, as liaison between the various seed trade actors, and as a source of educational material for seed industry producers.

Like the Forage Seed Council, all the special agencies that report to me serve a needed function within our industry. Individual producers, private agencies, and my department personnel do their best to sponsor growth. And so do the councils and commissions associated with Alberta Agriculture. Each one has a unique function, yet their end purpose is the same - to make sure Alberta products get treated fairly, have the best

THE ENERGY WHEEL

As time goes by most of us put on a few more pounds. And over the years most of us also put more kilowatt hours - and dollars - on our electric bills.

It happens so gradually most of us aren't even aware of it... a new color TV here, a frost-free refrigerator there... and it adds up to fatter energy bills.

You can slim your energy bills with an ENERGY WHEEL, a quick reference for energy consumption and the cost of operating many common electrical appliances.

For your complimentary ENERGY WHEEL, write to: ENERGY MANAGEMENT SERVICES, Box 1900, Calgary, Alberta T2P 2M1.

Hardisty and District News

Mrs. Charlie Thibault has had her daughter Faye Hughes of Rainbow Lake visiting her for the last ten days but husband Dennis is coming for her soon to take her home again.

Virgil White was in town the other day. He had been in hospital as his mother Mrs. Eunice White took him to his new home in Orono, B.C. but was disappointed to find her hospital bed.

Ruth and Sam Miner attended the Assiniboia Market and saw a friend of some years who recognized them. It was Jean (Nutt) Jackson of Minburn who lived with her folks in Strong district for a few years.

Phoned to the home of Mrs. Shirley Hudson on Friday, and talked to Shirley's daughter Tammy as Shirley was not home. Her grandfather Abel Peterson is 92 years young now. He lives at St. Helen's. Oregon and the weather was nice and they were all well. Abel, as well as know is an uncle of Jim and Cliff Whitehead and a resident of Hardisty for some years.

We welcome Mr. Ray McDonald of Edmonton to the Forkland Manor. Mr. McDonald is father-in-law to John and Eve Skene daughter who is at present in Thunder Bay.

We were glad to see David Skene in Hardisty for the Armistice weekend. David is getting along very well after his serious accident resulting in a back injury.

Glad that Bev Pedlar made it back home again after her rush trip to Edmonton. Mr. and Mrs. Brad Bradbury of Calgary have been visiting friends around Hardisty. Among those visited were the Jimmys Bells.

Gilbert Tillman picked up Olaf Nelson at Flagstaff Lodge and he accompanied Gilbert when he was handling grain. A real nice change for Olaf.

Sorry that I did not get any news away for the week of the 21, but had an appointment with a retina specialist in Calgary in this category, so may be able to wear new glasses for a year then it will be a less transplant which appears to be very successful. Stayed with my sister Florence McCarty and her youngest son attended the Edmonton Calgary football game so came home with a long face because his favorite team had lost.

Gus and Virginia Johnson with sister Anna from Swiftsiders have returned from a very enjoyable trip to see sister Margaret on Manitoulin Island. They also visited to them, new places such as New Liskeard, Elliot Lake and Naranada, Quebec. The nice part was that sister Margaret returned home with them. They travelled by train both ways.

Was indeed shocked and saddened to learn on my return from Calgary that Roland Van Dewark had passed away. They had just returned from a trip to Vancouver, visiting Cathy's people and Roland went to hospital as he had found the travelling rather strenuous. Sympathy to the family from the community.

Roland was so interested in things of the past and especially various types of machinery, especially old tractors that he was first used in farming and enjoyed Pico-Era Days at Seakston when his health allowed. Margaret's driver was the lucky owner of the ceramic Christmas tree raffish by the Ceramic Club. It was a nice thing to win, so was setting it up.

We welcome Mrs. Fred Crane back to Parkland Manor. It was so nice to see Orval Probst, Clay Clark and Mrs. Richardson along with John Sherlocks and Vivian Robinson, enjoying a coffee break at the lake shop. Surely nice for people from Flagstaff Lodge to come down once in awhile.

Donald and Audrey Horn of Calgary have been visiting Mother Scott and Gerald in Hardisty and also attending the 25 wedding anniversary of Mr. and Mrs. Pat Horn of Hedgesden.

The Farmer's market and U.C.W. bazaar in Hedgesden was very well attended last Saturday. A great place to buy Christmas gifts.

It was sad to learn of the passing away of Richard Alan Groves in an accident. The funeral was in Hedgesden last Saturday when Rev. Jackson giving the service.

Although Richard was not known here his father Jack and Aunt Doris had gone to school in Hardisty while his grandmother Agnes Groves and your reporter had worked together in the old Crystal Grange.

Many friends from distant parts: Valleyview, Ponoka and members of the Centennial drill rig all attended. His parents Mr. and Mrs. Harry Groves had moved to Combert about the end of June.

Another funeral the day before in Camrose for an old-timer of the area, Clyde Brown, although they had moved away from there a few years ago. The service was performed by Rev. Jackson. The family had lived in the Kinsler area for awhile before moving to Camrose and then to Newell. Their son-in-law Patrick Brown played with the Hardisty Stampede some years ago.

It had been a very busy week for Rev. Jackson as he had attended a Conference in Drumheller during the early part of the week and had those two services to prepare for on his arrival home.

Received my first Christmas card last Saturday and it was a real pleasure to receive as it was from Sonia (Mason) Davis in New South Wales, Australia. Their summer is just nicely started. (Letter mailed October 19). It is very hot and very dry. Sonia is working part time in an orange juice factory but she is home when daughter Elona arrives home from school. Bruce her husband does plaster work and their State is on Daylight Saving but when he works in Queensland they do not have daylight saving. So nice to hear from other parts of the world.

Lougheed W.I. hold regular meeting

It was a beautiful Indian summer afternoon on November 13 when thirteen of the fifteen members of the Lougheed W.I. met at the home of Mrs. H. Swainson, Mrs. J. Johnson, the president, on opening the meeting, expressed her pleasure at the good attendance, and also welcomed one adult, and two young visitors. Following the reading of the Creed, the minutes and financial reports were given. No cards had been sent by the convenor, but visits had been made to the Flaxfield Lodge.

It was announced by the Book Committee, with great pleasure, that the last copy of "Verdant Valleys in and Around Lougheed" had been sold. All commented on the compiling, editing and promoting of this book deserve very great credit for having sold the 1250 books, which seemed a monumental task in the beginning.

Changing the library day from Saturday to Friday appears to have worked very well so far, and will continue. A letter was read from the Sedgewick branch of the Cancer Society announcing an evening program on Cancer on November 15. An "Over the Top" certificate of appreciation to the Lougheed W.I. for their part in the recent survey was received from the Red Cross Society.

The President had been to a supper meeting of the Battle River Tourist Association Planning Committee for "Homecoming '80". It was there, she said, that the emphasis should be put on "sipping up" present projects, not aiming for something new.

The letter from the Community Hall Building Fund Committee received last month and labeled, was reintroduced, and the motion made and carried that $2000 be donated. The President requested that all reports be ready for the annual meeting next month.

With regard to the "International Year of the Child", Mrs. Wm. Frost expressed the desire that financial help be contacted by the president to see if November 20 would be suitable for a demonstration of making Christmas gifts.

Volunteer leaders attend 4-H conference

Rose Barnes, Assistant Leader of the Battle River Beef Club, Hardisty, was one of five Alberta 4-H leaders who attended the National 4-H Volunteer Leaders Conference in Toronto.

The conference, co-ordinated by the Canadian 4-H Council, provided an opportunity for fifty 4-H leaders from across Canada, to share information on 4-H programs in their respective provinces. This information has proved valuable to the 4-H programs in each province as the delegates returned home to share their knowledge.

Through recognizing the valuable contributions volunteers make to the 4-H program, this Canadian 4-H Foundation-sponsored event allowed leaders to become part of the national 4-H scene. Guest Speakers, group discussions and social sessions enabled the leaders to become more aware of leadership techniques and skills that they can directly apply at the club level now that they have returned.

The 4-H club year has already started for the 1979-80 season. The leaders who attended the National Volunteer Leaders Conference have brought many new ideas.

Fashion shows successful

By L.J. Utas

Fashion for spring and fall 1980 were featured in a fashion show and luncheon at the Killam Co-op Thursday November 28.

It was the second of five shows to be held every Thursday until December 30.

We want to let people know what's in style, and to show them Co-op carries it," says Gerv Link, co-ordinator of the shows and manager of Co-op's family "fashion department."

"It's been very successful," says Link. "I think I'll make it a yearly event."

Ten local women, Angie George, Ruth Frederick, Lenora Nicholas, Lorna McNeil, Lori Gordash, Deb Martin, Colleen Ravich, June Gair and Darlene Kaleywsky modeled 23 outfits from such major dress houses as Fashions Past, The Jay and J-Gel.

The next show, on December 6, will feature modelling done by children.

There are 40 tickets available for each show. They can be bought at the Co-op cafeteria on Saturday.

Darlene Kaleywsky models a tunic top over slim leg pants (left) and a dress with an elasticated waist and full skirt.

Special section this week

This issue of the paper has a section announcing in advance Santa's annual visit to Sedgewick. In conjunction with his visit, 14 merchants are offering draws for turkeys in their stores. The draw will be made at 4:30 p.m., Saturday, December 15.

You are invited to clip the turkey forms from this paper and enter them in the various draws. Extra entries are available at participating merchants with every purchase. There are many special prizes in effect for December 12, 13, 14, and 15.

On Saturday there will be a free show including treats for the children and the arrival of Santa Claus.

Christmas Greeting Deadline

The latest date on which Christmas greeting ads may be received is December 8. The Christmas issue will be distributed on December 19.

Advertising representatives will be calling on December 7, but to ensure a call, you can phone this newspaper at 354-3641.

years chamber activities and it was indeed impressive. In 1978 the Hardisty Chamber of Commerce was involved in the Christmas promotion; raising of the Getterson; distribution of Hospital questionnaires; sponsored the Beautiful Yards contest; worked in the Devlin Main Street program; Round-Up Days promotion; a welcome to Hardisty book; donated copies of Senator Hardisty's Prairie to Libraries; hosted a federal political forum; involved in Neighbourhood Watch; sent flowers to all grand openings of business; instrumental in location of new playground; lobbying for new hospital; hosted the Management Assistance Program for small businesses; installed new lawn bulletin board; involvement in Both Lakes project; carried on communications with dentists; sponsored a Logo, Slogan, Tourist Attraction contest; and regularly attended Town Council meetings to keep informed. Bogel caggy — Little being done on "thinking rooms"

Ombudsman Ronald Ivany's report on the use of solitary confinement at an Edmonton home for mentally disturbed children has failed to draw from the government a commitment to spend the money Ivany feels is needed to improve care at the centre.

In the wake of allegations made last summer about abuse of so-called "thinking rooms" at the Westfield Centre, the government limited the duration of a child's confinement in solitary to a maximum of 94 hours.

And later, after Ivany released his report, Social Services Minister Bob Bogel promised to keep a close watch on the home's activities.

But Bogel has been unwilling to indicate whether the government will spend any money to hire more staff or improve staff salaries, training or experience levels at the home—the key factors, in Ivany's opinion, that led to the frequent use of lock-ups to control Westfield's most difficult cases.

Now Ivany has continued the debate over the home by chronicling to make his plea for more funding directly to the cabinet if Bogel won't make a commitment to increase spending there.

Ivany's report substantiates charges that children at the centre were confined for lengthy periods in bare, unventilated rooms with only milk cartons to use as toilets.

In the period covered by Ivany's investigation, five of the home's youths were locked in solitary a combined total of 98 times for periods ranging from 15 minutes to 46 hours.

Following what he described as the most comprehensive investigation the Ombudsman's office has ever conducted, Ivany said he personally believed solitary confinement should be eliminated altogether.

But with a grudging acknowledgement of those child care specialists who believe "time out" can have a therapeutic effect on particularly hostile kids, Ivany formally recommended that the time spent in "thinking rooms" be limited to a maximum of 45 minutes.

These rooms should at least have a bed and the child confined must have access to proper toilet facilities at all times.

For Ivany, the theories behind how to treat children who demonstrate anti-social and desperate behavior is only now beginning to emerge from the dark ages. And he expressed the hope that his report would further the process toward more enlightened approaches to dealing with disturbed juveniles.

But Bogel's statements heralded no dramatic shifts in government attitudes or policies.

The minister would only lament "that we've failed in our jobs as parents. We're not doing our job as a community... If the community would respond (with efforts to help disturbed kids) there wouldn't be a need for these institutions."

Live longer, drive safely

December 1 to December 7 will be "Safe Driving Week". The Canada Safety Council has, as usual, prepared an extensive campaign. It's called "Safety: The Positive Choice", and it's designed to show most automobile accidents are preventable if drivers decide to prevent them.

The campaign's a good one. But, except for one week in the year, all its wonderful information and advice will be ignored.

In the routine of daily living, "thinking safe" while driving simply isn't thought of.

Sure, we know seat belts are lifesavers. We know it's "bad" to drink and drive. We know drugs and driving don't mix. But there we go happily driving off, killing more and more every day.

The adage "It's not going to happen to me" is taken too seriously by too many drivers. They're fools.

The statistics show one out of every two people will be involved in a traffic accident in his lifetime. Often the result is a crippling injury, or death.

Sad, isn't it. Fifty per cent of us out there on our roadways, often killing or being killed. Sad, isn't it. So many of these often tragic accidents could have been prevented.

It seems Canadians just don't care enough to change the deadly statistics.

We'd rather ignore the danger, and forget those lying hurt or dead in our wake.

During the upcoming holidays, many of us will be engulfed in parties. We'll probably forget "Safe Driving Week" as soon as it's over. Too bad. If we could just care enough to take those few necessary precautions, a few of us might have a better chance of seeing the new year.

C.N.

Happy birthday?

What are you doing to celebrate Alberta's 75th anniversary? Were you planning to do anything at all? Or are you just going to let the year go by like it was any other year?

Don't ignore our province's big birthday. We won't have another one worth celebrating until 2005 and some of us will be too dead to sing "Happy Birthday" by then.

According to culture minister Mary Lemesurier, Albertans are enthusiastic about participating in the anniversary celebrations. But, that's right now. The question is all we still be as enthusiastic when the day comes to get out and celebrate or will a raging epidemic of acute apathy strike us down just before party time?

Look what happened in Edmonton. That city turned 75 this year and no one really cared. Sure, they celebrated, but not very much. Do you want that to happen province-wide?

Shall 1980 go down in history as the year Alberta gave a party and nobody came? Can you imagine the embarrassment? We'd be the laughingstock of the country.

We can't let that happen and it's up to us to make sure it doesn't.

We've got to get out there and do something, do anything, to commemorate this occasion. Have a parade, or carnival, travel Alberta on your vacation, give birth to a girl and name her Alberta, but do something!

Don't just plan to participate-participate. Enjoy it, be happy, have fun, celebrate.

Start those anti-apathy treatment now!

L.U.

What Others Say

Not hockey

Hockey - the great Canadian game, so we are told - is fast becoming a sport which Canadians should be ashamed of. The recent brawl in Alberta junior leagues certainly haven't done anything to improve the game's image. In one instance the brawling started even before the game got underway.

In the heat of fierce competition perhaps there might be an excuse for tempers flaring and the odd "D" shot, but brawling even before can only mean that our young hockey players have blossomed forth as common thugs.

It is past time that hockey associations and leagues started cleaning up their act. Automatic lifetime suspensions for such behavior might help to straighten things out. These suspensions should also apply to coaches and team owners also if they counsel their players into starting a fight or brawl.

At one time hockey was enjoyable to watch - but not any more. Boxing matches and wrestling matches are fine, but most hockey players haven't got a clue as to the finer points of either, and all too many of them don't really know the finer points of hockey either.

SELF-DESTRUCTION

YOU PROBABLY RECALL the modern epic, spicing suspense drama that had its heyday not long ago. You know, the one where that mysterious character was directed to some isolated spot, there to listen to a recording of some sinister and threatening plot with national and international implications; there to receive details of the threat to humanity, sometimes who was involved, and instructions on how to deal with the situation. Always with a lead to give the "destroyer" a base from which to start. Always at the end of the recording we heard "This tape will self-destruct in five seconds". And so it would. With a small puff of smoke the whole thing disappeared into thin air, leaving no usable evidence to fall into enemy hands. The show was called Mission Impossible.

TO THE CONTEMPORARY mind, which excludes librettists, there is evidence abundant to indicate that internationally, nationally, provincially and individually we are pursuing objectives which are pregnant with undesirable consequences over the long term future. Yet we continue to give priority to the immediate, letting our lust and greed take front and centre over our basic sensibility. It is fearsome, sometimes, to contemplate the future when we assess the conceptions of nations and those charged with leadership in the world scene. And it is entirely conceivable that without change, without responsible foresight and a change of direction, many of the areas of the world are certainly headed for Self-Destruction. History records that this very thing has happened to more grand, materially rich and culturally vibrant nations of the past, either through self-destruction, insurrection or intangible forces.

THE UNIVERSAL SCENE is changing. Once economically depressed, financially strapped and politically impotent countries are assertively emerging and declaring the right to share equally in world assets. They are no longer standing still for exploitation with no voice in the strange meat of human affairs. The two score unaligned, third-world countries carry a dust that is disturbing the equanimity of old-line nations and equalizing the delicate balance of diplomatic strength and political pressure. The regions of the world are lining up and the deviation is forcing a re-evaluation of the past and the present. Without this the future of the world indicates a continuation of the same unsatisfactory, manipulated and unacceptable situations which are presently forcing the world into a new revaluation.

THE GREAT BIG WORLD away from there is something in itself more and more and it is also inserting itself on the Canadian scene, some by the acceptable channels of diplomatic persuasion. Others making use of repugnant, pogromic and law-flouting gestures of flexing their newly discovered muscles; all of which forces changes in the Canadian scenario and its international stance, making way for changing attitudes of acceptance or rejection, either designed to enhance the Canadian image abroad, or establish solidity of principles, and humanitarianism. Canada cannot afford the cut-walking, push-button luxury of pacification, neither can it live to the rapacious demands of the unscrupulous.

THE PASSING AND emerging scene of events will be reflected by the attitudes and co-operative spirit of the far-flung regions of this great and growing Constellation of Canada. And the most important ingredient is an acceptable result are the constituents. YOU and I. What we do or do not do is reflected in higher places and has the power to bring about attitudinal reverses, with enough resulting repercussion to shake the foundations of the past.

SELF-DESTRUCTION WITH UNIFORMITY NEVER IN THE HISTORY of Canada has a Prime Minister been cut as often and as deeply, as Pierre Trudeau. He was a man who loved devotedly or hated passionately. Well, he's gone from the scene now, and the lay-surgeons across the Nile can put aside their scalpels and sharpen them for the next victim. Who do you think it will be?

Fall courses finish

Hi Folks!

Isn't it exciting-wondering what will happen next in Adult Education? Flaggstaff Further Education is fortunate to have terrific contacts working many volunteer hours in your community, setting up courses as they see the need and according to your feedback.

Are you one of the guilty ones who has failed to express your wishes for future courses in your area? Remember, the contact staff work effectively without your support. After a slack period in the fall session for the Dayland area, due to many spring cancellations, Gail Benfield, working with Jo McCarroll, has set up eleven courses. Putting courses together is no five minute task. It entails a great deal of work and a lot of call-backs. Please compliment these volunteers when you see them. It will help to make their day, as well as encourage them in their work with Adult Education.

Watch for our brochure for further details-January 3, 1980 is the date the brochure will be released. Many of the fall courses are coming to a close. Evaluations have been exceptionally good, and also give some good direction to the contact staff for future courses. "Chocolate Making" by Verma Cookson held in different areas has been a popular choice of many at this time of year. "Dance" in Sedgewick and Hardisty seem to have been a real enjoyable activity. "Hers D'escurves and Canapes" over-subscribed in Sedgewick, which was also filled to overflowing. I am sorry but a third one cannot be offered at this time. This course was well received in Hardisty also. It is very disappointing to see so many requests come in for all types of sewing, yet when they are set up people fail to register. This means that people aren't reading their local paper, where we advertise all courses. Granted we can't afford a large block ad, but do try to catch the eye on the Notice Board or Coming Events. Check your weekly paper-The Community Press and Use Enterprise. People should also realize that you must register right away, because there to have eight registered prior to the course results in cancellation.

KALEIDOSCOPE

By Elaine Barrow, THE

Have you ever made fifty legs to give you brightly colored flames in your fireplace during the Christmas season?

Alberta Agriculture's district home economists at the home economics laboratory suggest that you use 2 pounds of coarse salt; 2 ounces each of one or all the coloring salts: strontium chloride (red), calcium chloride (orange), potassium nitrate (violet), borax (green), and copper sulphate (blue); 5 pounds of bluestone and paraffin wax.

Combine the bluestone, coarse salt and the desired coloring salts in a cardboard box such as an oatmeal carton. Then, using a wooden spoon, put a small portion of the mixture into colored paper baking cups. Do not fill the cups more than two-thirds full. Melt the paraffin wax (old candle ends can be used) over hot water. Cool it to lukewarm, then pour a layer of about a quarter-of-an-inch thick over the contents in each cup. If the wax is too hot when you pour it into the cups, it will spilt their shape. The above ingredients make about 80 fifty yule logs. An alternative way of making colored flames is to pour a small time of most recover (available from many hardware stores for cleaning chimneys) over the wood or coal in your fireplace.

Sound fishy?

This year we decided to close the pool in style, "fishing style," this is Sunday, December 2nd, was the last day of public swimming for two and a half months. Approximately 100 kids lined up at the pool door impatiently waiting to get in and catch the goldfish.

However, to make it fair for everyone we explained to the eager bums that before entering the water, all the swimmers were to be on deck. Casino was also advised in the manner that the kids caught the fish. Nets were awarded or else bare hands. The goldfish were dumped into the unchlorinated, but clear water, and pandemonium struck.

Within 25 minutes all 60 goldfish were caught and put in bags of fresh water. Some kids caught more than one fish but over the limit was one fish per person so they put them back to let someone else try.

It was a rare and marvelous sight to see the kids in the pool but I think the swimmers and spectators enjoyed the action. If any of the fish die, it is probably from shock.

Killam School Notes

There were lots of oohs and aahs on Saturday, November 1 when the Killam boys' basketball team lost by one point to Foreburg in the finals and the score was 21-22. Killam boys made it to the finals by beating the against Daysland boys on Wednesday evening. Heister Junior high hosted the final games. Although Killam girls weren't in the finals most of the girls went on the bus to cheer them on. Thank-you to the teachers and parents who chaperoned us and thanks to Mr. Spornitz for coaching the boys right up to the finals. Now basketball is over we are picking partners for badminton.

Another big event on Saturday, was the wedding of one of our teachers and coach for the cheerleaders, Miss Geraldine Farrell married Mr. Perry Blasser. Congratulations from junior high and we will have a remember to say Mrs. Blasser now. The drama class is practicing for the school Christmas concert only 2 1/2 weeks away, so learn those parts.

RITERS RAMBLINGS

By Dianne & Davey Johns

"Herry, Where's The Liquid Herry?"

Does your family nominate you for the Nobel Peace Prize for Humanity when you serve "Stove-top Stuffing" instead of potatoes? In your marriage threatened when you go against your husband's wishes and serve something else other than rice? If so, you are not alone. There are many of you who are tormented by the commercials that never die!

Deadlier than radiation, more powerful than nuclear war, these blarney lads at the un-suspecting to deliver their consciences deliciously chattering.

"Who wants gum? I do, I do!"

All across the country, people are raising their hands in thanks to the "I Can't Believe It's A Girlie" and "New Super Absorbent J Cloths" "cause they really know how to suck it in. But wait, is it a boy? Is it a plane? No, it's "Chococated", the smoothest chocolate towns coming to loosen the confusion of irregularity.

Al, you, these are the commercials that have been gilded on the boob tube as saviors among such immoral as the "Man from Snow White" "Morris the Cat." But have you

News from Daysland

The Daysland Agriculture Society meeting was held on Tuesday with President Nickerson presiding. A discussion to have a representative on the Hinton Association was tabled until after the annual meeting.

It was decided to have representatives from the hall board, curling club and Arena Association at the Agriculture Society meetings and they will have voting privileges also.

A letter was received confirming the appearance of Bono the Buffalo at the 1980 fair. There was some discussion as to rodeo dates but no date was decided on.

A fair grant of $2500.00 for Class C fair was also received. A grant of $11,000.00 was received for the Arena. This will help the Arena to keep operating.

A form from the Recreation Board was received asking the Agriculture Society to match a Community Assistance grant assigned for the Arena in the amount of $6400.00. It was decided to do this.

The Suburban Club met November 28th in the Daysland Hall with 35 members present. There were 8 tables of what played and three people played. The high score went to Mrs. Laura Cambridge and now to Mrs. Theresa Schmitt. The next party on December 12 will be our Christmas party for the members. Began will start at 2 p.m. with supper following.

with one-third real beer...but don't drink it! Do you want to know why? Aside from it not tasting so hot, it makes you feel like you just had an enemy with one part water and nine parts nitro-glycerine. Then there's "Lactaid", the conqueror of grease and not. We all know the story about the little boy who drank it and when asked by Saint Peter how he got to the Pearly Gates, the boy choraled, "It's so easy when you use Lactaid!"

The insight of the obvious danger, some commercials are based on "do or die" situations. For example, take off to Betty White, her husband will leave her if she doesn't serve him. Betty is lucky. She has found the secret to eternal happiness. After all marriage is binding, but so is rice! If that doesn't work, you have an alibi motive. How many of you husbands rise in the morning with a "Mornin' Breeze"? This is the sensation that during the night you sucked on a buffer of Mornin' Breeze! For now there's a morning, while attempting to kiss your wife and children, she vomits and they faint. Don't despair! For now there's "Scope", which alleviates Morning Breath and Morning Nausea!

Try as we might, this civilised world continues to preserve with the products from General Foods, Pabst and the Jolly Green Giant...but, you can put and end to all this television propaganda. Just tell two friends and they'll tell two friends, and so on, and so on, and so on...

Even though some commercials are aimed at people with as little as a little boob tube, there are some that make an honest effort at protecting the consumer from the potential dangers that might arise from the use or misuse of a particular product. Such is the case with "Body on Tap." It is made

"1980 is your year to celebrate!"

1980 marks more than the start of a new decade. It signifies 75 years since Alberta became a province and member of the Canadian Confederation. Since the proclamation of 1905, we've come a long way.

1980 will be a year of celebration. Right now communities, businesses and individuals are planning their special way to salute the pioneers of the past and look to a future that is sure to be just as exciting. It is time to rediscover Alberta!

Do you know what is happening where you live? Now is the time to find out and get involved. Already scores of municipalities have set up regional committees to co-ordinate local and regional activities. Contact the representative in your area. Whether you play a leading role or participate in a small way, you'll help to make the year an historic occasion.

Make it a great year. A time to thank a nation, a province, and its people. A time to remember the pioneers of the past and look to a future that will be truly great. Make 1980 a year to remember!

Alberta Agriculture

TODAY & TOMORROW
By Donna W. Schmidt
Alberta Minister of Agriculture

As most producers are aware, the Alberta Agricultural Development Corporation (ADC), as a lender of last resort, has several major loan and loan-guarantee programs available to Alberta producers.

There are various qualifications and benefits attached to these programs which aid farmers when other sources of credit get tight. These I'll review in another article. However, in this column I would like to discuss those times when a producer is named down by an ADC loan officer.

If this happens, there are various options open to farmers which include attempting to get the loan officer to reconsider the application. Sometimes it works. If it doesn't, then one of the best alternate routes to follow is to request a meeting with the members of the local Agricultural Development (AD) Committee. It will listen to your appeal, and if it is approved, the Committee can have the Corporation reconsider the loan application.

It's proven to be a pretty fair system. People may complain about the Corporation being staffed by 'laymen', but if a group of producers turns down a producer application, then, could one ask for any more than to have been judged by his own peers?

Though they do not have a high profile, Alberta's 60 AD Committees are influential cogs in the sphere of agricultural policy. Authorized to exist under the Alberta Department of Agriculture Act, the Committees' stated purpose is to advise the Government of Alberta in "matters relating to programs of agricultural credit, public land disposition, rural development and other programs and services as may be required."

These "required" programs and services can cover any agricultural problem. Each year local farmers approach the committees with concerns that range from easements to interest rates, dairy quotas and predator control. Some of these do fall under existing guidelines such as public land disposition; regardless, all are reviewed, and if it is necessary, the committee can contact the relevant government agency.

That responsibility is spelled out under the published operating procedures for Agricultural Development Committees. Under the section describing committee minutes, "Committees should advise by (a) memo accompanying (b) minutes, if specific information or action is required." And, referring to federal and municipal government recommendations, "In matters of policy or projects, committees should advise directly with those departments." On a provincial scale, there is a note at the end of one section that states "First attempt at communication should be directed to the branch level."

I think those extracts demonstrate the responsibility delegated to these committees. Their absolute power is and should be limited, but their advisory capability is very, very broad. They can contact any agency, at even the highest echelons of government, to see that a specific problem is recognized and corrected as soon as possible.

In another sense, these committees also reflect local concerns. Under the official guidelines, "Committees will be appointed by the Alberta Minister of Agriculture." I also know that the people selected, whether I know them personally or via recommendation, are public leaders who are tuned in to the varying needs of their local communities.

The composition of these committees is an interesting mix. By regulation, they include up to three farmer representatives, plus one non-farmer representative, a representative from Alberta Agriculture, a representative from another appropriate department, such as Alberta Energy and Natural Resources, and representatives from the local municipal authority.

Notice — only three of the seven members are actual on-farm people. But, four of the seven are associated with the agriculture industry. Every major sector is represented. Farmers do not form a majority, but agriculture has the upper hand. It would seem to be as fair a system as you could get.

That is particularly important when you get down to some specific cases. One of the specified duties of a Committee is to "Act in an advisory capacity with regard to credit and rural development." It is specifically authorized to serve "As an appeal board for Agricultural Development Corporation loan applications." When sitting as an appeal board, the finely tuned membership means that a single farmer, having getting a loan application accepted, should get a just hearing.

When the rules and guidelines for Agricultural Development Committees were designed, every allowance was made for their having the greatest possible farm representation. This had to be balanced against a Committee bias which might overly highlight agriculture in the context of natural development in any given region or district.

Kroeger blasts federal Tories

"Something serious is happening," Minister of Transportation and Chisholm M.L.A. Henry Kroeger warned during his opening remarks at the Coronation Chamber of Commerce dinner meeting on Friday, Nov. 23.

The speech which followed demonstrated that the battle lines are clearly drawn between our two Conservative governments in Edmonton and Ottawa.

Henry Kroeger noted that Prime Minister Joe Clark is already helping the rest of Canada. Also noted was that our oil supply, of the profitable kind, will last for only another 7 to 10 years. Mr. Kroeger stressed that Ottawa... plans to take a royal order, and good government or through the power given in a bill that allows the federal government to legislate such matters.

"If the federal government passes the law to legislate jurisdiction, you must decide which side you're on," Mr. Kroeger stated.

"I am putting you on the alert. Inform yourselves so you're ready to respond." Justification for the Alberta position included a review of the specific ways Alberta is already helping the rest of Canada. Also noted was that our oil supply, of the profitable kind, will last for only another 7 to 10 years. Mr. Kroeger stressed that Ottawa... plans to take a royal order, and good government or through the power given in a bill that allows the federal government to legislate such matters.

One questioner, while agreeing with the Alberta stance, stated, "I am a little disgusted at the way we get the benefits in Alberta." He quoted gas pump prices as one example.

The speaker countered, "We are held to an agreement to sell oil and natural gas at the same price as in the rest of Canada." He went on to list low profile ways Albertans are benefiting.

To the question, "Is oil being used as leverage for review of freight rates," the response was, "No. We are involved in it as a separate issue." Questions regarding transportation were few in number. The transportation minister had made it clear at the beginning that he wished to spend his time on the energy issue.

Telephone interview reveals Malone stand on oil pricing situation

In a phone interview on Monday, Nov. 26, Arnold Malone, M.P. for Crowfoot, commented on his oil pricing stand.

The federal position, he noted is that oil prices must rise and we must try to supply Canada's needs from our own sources if we wish to have a continual oil flow.

As prices rise, however, there are certain regions of Canada that would be almost crushed if not helped in some other way. Mr. Malone gave, as an example, the situation of some in PEI who already pay more for energy than mortgage payments. A monthly electricity bill can be over $800.00, he noted.

For self sufficiency, programs are required. Construction of the Q & M pipeline was one example Mr. Malone promoted. This would provide a 8-way flow of oil between the Atlantic provinces and Montreal. The ultimate aim is a pipeline reaching from the West to the Eastern Coast.

For the self sufficiency and shelter programs, extra money is needed. For these purposes, Arnold Malone clearly felt that the federal government had a right to share increased oil revenues. "But we increased oil revenues," he said, "in a way that is constitutional. It is not true that we are trying to get in on provincial rights," he stressed, noting that his government's approach has been negotiation.

Several possibilities have been suggested to Alberta. When they said no, another suggestion was given.

Mr. Malone commented that Ottawa's proposal, rejected as unconstitutional by Alberta because it was a royal in their opinion, was labelled a "tax" by the federal government's legal advisers. Alberta's proposal that profits be taxed was rejected by the federal government because the companies can find too many tax shelters.

Would you support the prime minister if he legislated oil pricing through the Petroleum Regulation Act? The M.P. was asked.

"I would be of the same mind," he acknowledged. He stressed, however, that the bill in question only as a last resort. "We very much don't want to use it," he repeated, noting that it could result in an election on the issue of oil pricing.

When asked how his constituents, who appear to support the Alberta stand, would react to his position on this bill, Mr. Malone responded that he reassured the problem but as a federal M.P. he had to look at the total Canadian situation, repeating the need of certain parts for some form of shelter. He also wondered if there has been some distortion of the Ottawa position.

The two governments are very close to an agreement, according to Mr. Malone. Only one stumbling block remains in the federal government's most recent proposal.

Couple exchange vows

On Saturday, September 29, 1979 the Poonks, Trish and Len, exchanged vows in a lovely fall wedding when Janice Lynn, daughter of Millie and Albert Potter of Poonks exchanged vows with Walter Norman, son of Arthur and Sherrill Potter, uncle of the bride, to which the groom shyly responded.

The Groom Book was taken care of by Sandy Kokochi, niece of the bride, and Cheryl Furber, niece of the groom.

Following the ceremony a reception and dance was held at the Legion Hall. Klaus Neff, friend of the groom, very capably performed the duties of Master of Ceremonies. Toast to the bride was given by George Potter, uncle of the bride, and by a friend of the family, Holy Lohrman, and carried a bouquet of orchids, stephanotis, and ivy.

Attending the bride as Maid of Honour was Mrs. Joyce Kokochi, sister of the bride. Peggy Ann Potter, sister of the bride, was bridesmaid and Tammy Kokochi, niece of the bride was flower girl. All were wearing floral dresses made by Joyce Kokochi and carried bouquets of white carnations and tropicals.

Attending the groom as best men were Mel Lenz and Rob Lenz, brothers of the groom. Janice and Walt have made their home in Edmonton.

CHRISTIAN HOLINESS

1 Peter 1:15-16
Holiness of living is not before every Christian, not simply as a goal or an ideal, but as an obligation.
The meaning of holiness. Holiness is spiritual health, spiritual wholeness, and the lack of it is spiritual sickness. Holiness is his children were the object of Christ's atonement. This life of God, Christlikeness, is to permeate all of the Christian's being and doing. Apart from the theology of holiness or the theory of holiness is practical. Three practical characteristics of holiness are purity of life, faithfulness to duty, and kindness of spirit. "Be holy in every department of your life."

The motive of holiness. God himself is the model for the Christian's life of holiness, and he is also the motive. We are to be holy not only like as he is but because he is holy. We are made in his image, a spiritual image. Because of man's nature it is possible for him to resemble God. The fact that we have his offspring indicates that there is some hope of our having the capacity to resemble him.

The method of holiness. Every Christian is called to be temperate to a life's pleasure. Verse 13 of this passage says we are to be sober or to be temperate. This means that the Christian is to practice moderation, self-restraint and prudence, "firm self-control" is another translation of the word "sober".
We are to be diligent to life's problems. "Gird up the loins of your mind," Peter says. In Eastern countries they were long, flowing robes. When seated at rest in the home, the girls were loosened. When action was demanded, they were to draw up tightly the girdle. They were to be prepared and ready for action. Peter is saying the Christian is to look upon life as requiring diligence and attention to duties and problems. It is fine to wear a long flowing robe when relaxed, but there is work to do.
The Christian is to be hopeful as to life's problems. "Fit your minds to the gift of grace which is yours in Jesus Christ." This is the certain, enduring, purifying hope of the Christian. It is a hope that is steadfast and sure.

Call Care After Weaning:
The last few weeks I mentioned a few weaning and weaning tips. Now we'll cover some points concerning care of the calves after weaning.

Water:
Once the calves are in the pen and eat out the most important factor is water. A water bowl or trough is a strange thing to a pasture calf that has been drinking from creeks and sloughs. Wet the area around the water bowl to simulate the wet of a slough. This will draw the calf to the actual bowl itself.

An alternative, when calves are walking the feedline, is to place a water trough jutting from the fence. This way the calf is forced to walk around the trough and increases its chances of finding water. Careful attention is needed to insure that every calf has found the water.

Feed:
To insure that every calf is eating, they should be hand fed twice a day. Feed only roughage for the first day or two, to calves that have not been creep fed and therefore aren't used to grain. Hay should be fed to start calves off, even if you have to buy it. The idea is not to give a drastic change in feed and to minimize stress. The important thing to remember is palatability-giving the calves something familiar which smells and tastes good. For this reason don't start calves on silage, because silage is a totally unfamiliar feed. Calves can't eat enough silage to satisfy their calorie needs, because of the high moisture content. Also this high moisture content can lead to digestive upset and possible diarrhea and scour.

Feed:
Feed grain carefully. One pound of whole oats per day is enough until the calves get settled in. Don't try to start calves on grain too fast, as it better to take longer getting them on feed than to feed too much and have them go off feed. Feed only what they will clean up in a few minutes and increase the amount next feeding.

Salt:
If calves haven't had salt on pastures, regulate the salt intake. Some calves may be salt hungry and consume lots of salt, then lack of water resulting in diarrhea.

Bedding and Shelter:
Straw is cheap, so don't spare the straw for bedding. The sooner a manure pack is started the sooner it will start giving off heat. A shed or any type of roof is a definite advantage.

Observation:
Spend some time with your calves - at least two hours per day per hundred calves, observing weaned calves for any signs of sickness. Watch for things like:

- running or dry noses
- are calves actually using check their manure - too loose means too much grain and too hard means too much hay
- blood in manure can indicate an irritation if your feeding whole oats or an infection of the mouth

- calves that are slow in coming to feed, or stand off by themselves or kick at their belly with a hindfoot
- drooping ears and dull eyes
- any indicate onset of sickness
- a long dry haircoat may indicate a Vitamin or Mineral deficiency
- any sort of coughing should be investigated.

A handy thing to have around at weaning is a thermometer. If you have an animal you're doubtful of take its temperature. Normal temperature for calves is 101-102.5 degrees F. Most illnesses have an elevated temperature. A poorly looking calf with an infection could have a temperature of 104 degrees F. If the temperature is 102 degrees F check later and keep a close watch, but if it goes to 104 degrees F you know for sure you have a problem.

Doing a few things like these will help get your calves through the critical weaning and post weaning periods in fine shape to put on heavy gain.

Social Club

The November meeting of the Social Club was held on November 27 at 8 o'clock with President Mary Goodrich in the chair. The minutes of the previous meeting were read and approved and a very satisfactory financial report was given by Treasurer Vera Hendricks.

Due to the rising cost of hall age it was decided to abandon the winter paper project and to return the grant received for that purpose.

The application for the Facility grant has been sent in.

Vera Hendricks and Vivian Robinson were appointed to attend a seminar in Edmonton on Exercises for Seniors, and hope to start classes in the New Year.

It was decided to organize more social gatherings through the winter.

The Christmas party will be held on December 8th, with gift exchange and entertainment.

A generous donation from the Strong Ladies Club was received and the suggestion made that a new vacuum be purchased.

Due to the Christmas season, the next meeting will be held on January 8 at 8:30, with the annual meeting on January 22 at 8:30.

Junior High Happenings

To begin with, I would like to apologize for being so long in telling you about the past and future events within the school. I truly am sorry, but I hope to make up for it with this article.

On Nov. 28 there was a basketball game in Loughhead. The results were fantastic for Sedgewick. The girls team won 24-22. The boys did even better with a score of 48-19. Congratulations teams, you did just wonderful.

Parent/teacher interviews were held on Nov. 28 at the school; therefore, there was no school for the elementary or Jr. High. It was refreshing to have a three day weekend.

A basketball tournament was held in Dayland on Nov. 24. Our teams didn't do so well, as lost their games. Just the same, there is a bright side to every story, and this was no exception. At the tournament they had competitions for the cheerleaders. Sedgewick's cheerleaders won. Congratulations girls you did just great! Nov. 29 Sedgewick and Hardy boys played in Sedgewick. Our team won 31-25. Good going guys!

On the afternoon of Nov. 30, there was an assembly in the gym. Mr. Affolder presented the trophy to the cheerleaders, and congratulated them. Jaymi Armistage said "thank you" to the coaches of the girls team - Miss House and Liz. Then Ron Caruth gave thanks to the boys coach, Mr. Deboch. Jaymi and Ron, of course, were representing the teams when they said their thanks to the coaches.

Containing the excitement that afternoon there was a basketball game between the teachers and the Jr. High teams. Three elementary teachers posed as cheerleaders for the teachers. Boy, was that over a laugh. They really were cute in their little skirts and outfits. I'm unaware of the score; however, it was fun and it got the teachers and students together on the same level of authority. I'm sure everyone enjoyed that.

On Dec. 1 there was a tournament held in Haiser. Our boys team went but they lost their games. Just the same they tried hard.

The Christmas dance will be held on Dec. 7. Music will be supplied by Super Soul (Bob Conrad and Bonnie Stevens). The music will play from 8 p.m. to midnight. The dance is semi-formal (no T-shirts or jeans).

Keeping in Touch

by Arnold Malone

Canada has the resources, both physical and human, to become the most favoured nation in the world. The fact that we do not enjoy that privilege is because we have become ridden with debt and have wasted opportunities in establishing a favourable balance of trade.

In 1973 Canada had a surplus in current account; by 1974 and every year thereafter the current account deficit was around $4 billion or higher. The most recent statistics reveal that the deficit is likely to climb to about $7 billion in 1979.

I wish to quote Mr. D. Peters, Chief Economist, writing for the Canadian Institute for Economic Policy: "As the Canadian dollar declined steadily through 1978, the federal government announced both new borrowings and new bond issues, the proceeds of which were to be used to replenish exchange reserves to support the faltering external value of the Canadian currency."

The obvious anomaly of these announced borrowings was that they were to be used to support a weakening dollar when the cause of that weakness was too much borrowing in foreign markets over the previous four years.

"Canada seems caught in a spiral of rising external debt and in rising interest payments abroad causing further debt and it appears almost incapable of catching up to these rising payments with an improving net trade position. The international borrowings of the Canadian provincial governments, the federal government, corporations, and municipalities produced, in 1978, an outflow of interest payments in excess of $3 billion. In 1979 interest payments abroad will be close to $4 billion and in 1980, unless a major adjustment takes place, the total could be over $5 billion. As well, Canada must allow for other major service account payments such as dividends and its traditional deficit on tourist trade. The above items, taken with minor accounts, totalled a balance of payments current account deficit of $6.7 billion in 1978, and will lead to an estimated services deficit of as much as $9.5 billion in 1979."

The obvious fact is that Canadians, both public and private, have got to reduce the extent that we live on borrowed funds. It is going to hurt.

Hardisty News

Evetya and Dwayne Berick and 3 little daughters of Wapiti spent a weekend recently with the Durrri Bransens.

Freda and Durrri and girls have moved into their new home and we welcome Grace Kels and girls to Hardisty as they have moved into the house vacated by the Bransens, greenhouse and all.

The Hardisty U.C.W. had a beautiful day for their Christmas tea and bazaar with the result that many attended to view and buy all the lovely hand made articles of which there was a great variety. The hosts table too held lots of goodies and the white elephant table had a great assortment of everything.

Caught a glimpse of Helen Morrison of Alderis attending the tea with her brother Walter Kolkman. Visitors from Sedgewick also were there.

Sympathy from the community to the Rose Hickey on the sudden passing away of Pae's mother, Mrs. Mayne of Sedgewick.

Received my glasses and it is a treat to look around the hall and be able to recognise people again. T.V. too is so much clearer too and I can read again.

Let's Talk It Over — With Gordon

Within the Ross Constituency there are a large number of self-help groups that rely to a degree for provincial funding to carry out their function and when one looks at the sweat equity or volunteer time that these organizations have donated to their communities, your Government grants look small indeed. However it was kind of a nice feeling to send me to our office on behalf of the various departments the following grants: To Margaret Manning, Secretary of Kilham and District Public Library, an annual grant of $900.00, and to his Worship Len Dutton of Kilham a cheque in the amount of $86,600 as provided by Alberta Transportation Street Assistance Program. And under the Canada-Alberta Subsidary Agreement on native processing assistance for 80% of the grant $9,896 to the Kilham Strome Cooperative to assist them in their mini-bakery. And almost forgot, from the Department of Culture, okaying funding to the Kilham Senior Citizens club for the amount of $1750.

And over in Forestburg for Merton Shilling and his hard working Forestburg Baptist Cemetery Association final payment of $1235 and by the way, last summer at Forestburg's homecoming, Arnold Malone M.P. and myself unveiled a plaque at the cemetery honoring a district pioneer. This cemetery, a few years ago had kind of a run down appearance, but you should see it now.

In 1974 the Department of Transportation implemented a program for Alberta cities without public transportation systems to be used for public transit and nothing else. It not used, the yearly grant had to be banked by the city. In the case of Camrose, this money has not been used and now amounts to a quarter of a million dollars. I have in the past, had second thoughts to the wisdom of city council not using some of these funds to finance the purchase and operation of the Handicap bus, which because of the overwhelming need in Camrose was picked up by the generosity of Camrostrans through the Camrose Lions Club. This mis-heritage fund is sitting in a corperation would not plan in a half mile of telephone cable to the Calvary Church paragonage in the Malmo district when their crews were working within a mile of the church because the application for service had come in late and also a flat refusal from A.G.T. for the congregation to put up their own telephone poles and line for service until next spring. So under rth threats, by your M.L.A. to the office of the Associate Minister of Telephony, to organize a mutual telephone company to service the paragonage and later to sell this mutual to Bell Telephones of Canada, a show was brought in from Edmonton and the paragonage had their phone in a matter of a couple of days.

4-H CLUB ACTIVITIES

SPRINGLAKE STITCHERS
Tuesday is here and along with Tuesday comes a 4-H meeting.

On the 20th of November the Springlake Stitches held their 3rd meeting of the year at Heister School.

The meeting started off by Nancy Weller singing "O Canada" and Elaine Zimmer saying the Pledge.

We discussed our cookbook and decided to meet on December 6 to type out the recipes. The committee will then finish the project. For Christmas our club decided to do a concert with other Heister clubs. We also picked names.

Judy Roth did a demonstration on bound buttonholes. Our guest speaker was Sandy McGiv. She demonstrated sewing on knicks, needles and leathers.

We all went home with points on sewing and 4-H. Our meeting was a success. Elaine Zimmer

Price hikes great for provincial treasury

Consumers may be annoyed with the prospect of $2 per gallon gasoline, but crude oil price hikes of at least $4 per barrel for the next four years will be a bonanza for the provincial treasury.

By 1984, the Alberta Heritage Savings Trust Fund will have grown to $20 billion from its current size of roughly $6 billion.

And if the province does not start putting more than 30 per cent of its non-renewable resource revenues into the Heritage Fund, Alberta will also have a massive general revenue surplus.

The current surplus is $2 billion, bringing Alberta's total accumulated surplus in the four years since the Heritage Fund was set up to roughly $8 billion.

Awesome as a $20 billion Heritage Fund may seem, there are still a couple of other factors which will open the floodgates to the province's coffers even wider than crude oil price hikes already promise.

If Ottawa approves the export to the United States of some 15.5 billion cubic metres of natural gas per year, Alberta would realize another $4.5 billion in revenues between 1981 and 1984.

And extension of natural gas pipelines to Quebec and the Maritimes will also produce for the province an increase in royalties even though the gas will be sold to the Utilities planning the project at a cut rate.

It is difficult to predict whether sales of oil and gas exploration leases will continue to provide significant sums to the treasury, but in the first nine months of the current fiscal year, the government received $900 million from these sales.

That figure represents an all-time high; last year the province collected about $700 million over the entire twelve months.

The reason for this massive agglomeration of wealth of course is to help diversify the economy and serve as a saving account to help Alberta through the dry periods after the oil and gas run out.

Economic diversification has taken a back seat to savings, however, in recent statements by Premier Peter Lougheed and his senior ministers.

But the latest step toward what the government calls diversification was Energy Minister Merv Leitch's government announcement that the government will become a full business partner in the $6 billion Alameda and Cold Lake oilfields projects, the latest non-conventional oil ventures on the drawing boards.

Hospital Auxiliary plans new purchases

set is now in place in the children's ward, much to the delight of the small patients.

Continuing on with regular business, a letter from the Heart Fund stated that they do not wish us to become involved in a joint canvas. A report on our fall bazaar showed it had been very successful. Volunteer Service chairman, Phyllis Manning displayed a lovely baby quilt, made and donated by Marion Elie for the show-case, while Doris Yoshiv had donated some greeting cards. Jeanette Cross has found a supplier for tray favors and was instructed to place an order for them for special occasions next year. The Volunteer graduations was set for Sunday, December 9 at 7 p.m. in the Catholic Church Hall, and Erna Mathews was appointed as our delegate to the annual Alberta Hospital Auxiliaries Convention in Calgary.

Czar and Provost hold joint Uniform meeting

Twenty-four Uniform members attended a joint meeting of Czar Local 7320 and Provost District #73 at the home of Mrs. Ed Hill.

Following a short meeting of Czar Local with Provost, Albert Remya in the chair, the meeting was turned over to Mr. Jack Lefebvre, chairman of District #73.

A motion was presented regarding the inclusion of dental services in Health Insurance coverage.

Two representatives from the Department of Agriculture, Messrs Brian Lang and Dwayne Campbell, spoke on farm computers and other subjects.

It was drawn to the attention of members that there are many resource people in Government and elsewhere who would welcome the opportunity to come out and meet groups of farmers, listen to their opinions and take back their ideas.

The date for the annual meeting of Provost District #73 was set for January 28 at 7:30 p.m. in the Legion Hall in Hughenden. All Uniform members and anyone else interested in attending is invited to be there. Following the business meeting there will be a walk-in drive for all who like to play whist.

Delegates appointed to go to the convention in Edmonton are Art Beck, Paul Masure, Jack Lefebvre with Dennis Manning alternate delegate. Delegates will give their convention reports at the meeting on January 28.

Due to the January meeting date of Czar Uniform coinciding with the Provincial convention it was decided to waive a January meeting. The next meeting will be February 8 at the Art Beck home in Camrose. Following adjournment of the District meeting Mrs. Evelyn Southcott served a tasty lunch.

Beetles have been found in carloads of Alberta grain. These pesky insects are back at it again - reducing grades and cutting into farmer's profits.

The most common insects are the rusty grain beetle and red flour beetle. These enter the bin before storage of grain.

Schools finish basketball schedule

In September the Sports Council divided the Junior High basketball teams into three divisions. Teams within each division met each other twice for a total of four games each.

The East Division included Hardisty, Lougheed, and Sedgewick. When the scheduled games were finished, Hardisty girls were undefeated. Hardisty boys and Sedgewick boys were tied for first place, winning three games each. A tie-breaking game was held which Sedgewick won 31-25.

Killam, Strome, and Daysland played in the West Division. Strome and Daysland girls each won three games. Strome girls won the tie-breaking game by a score of 18-14 in overtime. Killam boys tied Daysland boys with three wins apiece. Killam won the tie-breaking game 25-25.

The South Division included Heister, Forestburg, and Alliance. Heister girls were first in this league with three wins. Forestburg boys and Heister boys were tied with three wins each.

By Sports Council Resolution in September, the school hosting the final tournament was given the opportunity of seeding both the boys and girls teams to the competition. This year that meant that both Heister and the next highest team in the South Division were represented.

Teams advancing to the Final Tournament were Hardisty, Strome, Heister and Alliance girls, and Sedgewick, Camrose, and Forestburg boys.

Lewis Falls is a dreamer. He's a man who can study today's situation and prepare for tomorrow.

Looking ahead, Falls, 60 recently installed a feed pellet operation to complement his feed grinding mill in Forestburg.

Since there isn't room for two operations in the area, Falls "planned it well ahead and hoped no one else got the same idea until he was established."

His reasons for making this venture are few, but well considered. Falls feeds farming in the area will become more intensified. That is, he believes farmers will become specialized; involved solely with dairy, hog, or poultry farming. This reflects the rising cost of land and inflation in general, Falls believes.

"There's a tremendous hardship on a farmer if he doesn't intensify, unless he's heading into a rich family business."

For this type of farming efficient feeding is essential. The advantages of feed pellets are: Pellets are clean, dust free and chewy.

Pelletizing improves palatability.

Pellets reduce waste in crops and self feeders.

Pelletizing improves the feed value of the grain portion of the feed.

"Pelletizing increases total feed consumption."

"You can't obtain their business unless you can offer them a pellet in feed," says Falls.

Indeed, reaction from farmers has been very good. "Probably 80% of our customers are new," says Falls.

A second reason for Falls' expansion is his son Terry, 24, who is in business with him. "Making sure his future is secure is very important to me."

The final push was Falls' qualification for a government grant-District Regional Economic Expansion (DREX). With a DREX the federal and provincial governments both help the businessman.

"The information they gave me was very helpful," says Falls.

He concludes, "The political climate is right for expansion of industry. The government of Alberta is pushing manufacturing and decentralization."

After beginning trials around the first of May, Falls pellet making operation is now fully operational. Installing it cost Falls Feeds approximately $250,000.

In pelletizing, "We purchase supplementation from Camrose and Edmonton and do custom work with farmers."

In other words, Falls grinds the farmers' grain and adds supplements to it. "We operate differently than some pelletizing operations because we have a second mill that does grinding and pressing," says Falls.

His reason for putting his pelleting into a second building is because "it's really a separate business."

The construction of the new mill is modular, using steel and cement wherever possible to cut down the fire hazard.

Falls devised his own plans from which Walter Jahn, from Forestburg, built it.

Although the mill can easily handle the areas' needs, Falls says "We're small in comparison to the new mills." The mill usually puts out about three tons of pellets per hour, and has produced as much as ten tons per hour. Bigger mills in places like Edmonton or Lethbridge can produce 15 to 20 tons per hour.

But, there is an advantage from these mills.

"Big organizations are becoming very efficient, and their machinery that was new ten years ago is now obsolete," says Falls. "So small businesses can obtain their old equipment cheaply."

Falls also has an advantage in freight rates, he says.

"Trucks going to Lethbridge full of rapeseed are coming back empty, so I give them a back-haul at reduced freight rates."

Another advantage for Falls, perhaps his largest, is his family.

The Falls family together devotes much of their time and energy to the business. With Falls and his son managing the mill, is Falls' wife Beulah, who does the synoptic and general ledger.

"Big businesses can't compete with family businesses because families can work longer and harder hours, giving extra service," says Falls.

Operations such as seed cleaning or meat packing plants also benefit from the pellet making industry. Their bi-products compose many of the supplements added to the grain. Instead of throwing these bi-products away, they can now market them.

Falls believes "If products are used right, there is no wastage."

And thanks to his new mill, wastage of labor, or unemployment in the area is cut down.

His new mill has produced one part-time and three full time jobs, "I think there will be more," he says.

In conclusion, Lewis Falls says, "I'm very optimistic about the future of the new back-haul at reduced freight rates." The future picture of the food industry itself is very bright."

Insulation — Choose with care

By Paul Mills

The Canadian Home Insulation Program has become one of the best consumer assistance programs around. It seems however, that consumers will have to buy with care if they want to take full advantage of the program.

Here's why. It seems that a number of consumers who are applying for these grants are paying more than they need to for the insulation they purchase for their homes. Although the CHIP program offers a grant for payment of materials and labour to homeowners wishing to re-insulate older homes there is a maximum ceiling on how much the program grants.

Therefore, as with any consumer purchase, it's up to the consumer to shop around and get the best buy in insulation in terms of price and quality. The insulation industry is a very competitive one, and as a result, most companies charge similar prices for materials.

There are however, companies that wish to charge high prices, which of course is their choice but who then must rely on very skilled and presumably well trained sales people to sell a product to consumers before the consumer has a chance to shop around.

Although several types of insulation qualify for use under the CHIP program — the problem of highly priced products seems to be associated with Cellulose Fibre Insulation.

After shopping around, consumers will find that most companies are charging between 85-90 cents per square foot for labour and materials. However, there are people selling the same product, and doing well at it, for somewhere in the neighbourhood of 60 cents a square foot. Now that's a big difference. Of course — salesmen selling the product at these prices will stress the advantages of their company's guarantee — but careful investigation will prove that many reputable insulation contractors offer a similar, very sound, guarantee on both product and workmanship.

So — Consumer — if you are thinking about taking advantage of the Canadian Home Insulation Program and you decide on Cellulose Fibre Insulation in particular — shop around.

Here's how:

Before you start — get your CHIP application form and find out what material quality for the grant.

Check prices for several companies.

Clarify what type of guarantee the company will offer on both product and workmanship. Ask the company for some references — people they have done work for and you can call for comments on their work.

And lastly — before you sign — check the company out with the Better Business Bureau. If they have had complaints, they will tell you.

Helsler Hemmers locked out

Have you ever been locked out? Well, this is what happened to some of our members on December 5 at our 4-H meeting. When they finally got in the school our meeting started. We made the pledge and sang O'Canada.

We then discussed what we were going to do at the Christmas concert with the other 4-H clubs.

Later we listened to the speeches and impromptus.

The meeting was adjourned and we had great fun singing out the 4-H song books our leader passed out.

On December 1 Heisler School hosted the 1979 Junior High County Basketball Final Tournament. Eight teams, winners of their leagues, were represented in this event. When the day was over, both the girls' and boys' County championship trophies had been awarded to Heisler.

The first game saw Heisler girls defeat Hardisty girls 27-13. Then the Heisler boys beat Sedgewick boys 26-24. Alliance girls proceeded to play Strome girls and won 17-15. Forestburg boys beat Killam boys 22-31.

Heisler girls met Killam girls in the final game and Heisler won 22-10. Heisler points were made by Karen Heisler (20), Noreen Volk (6), Joan Vos (3), Kelly Smith (2), and Cheryl Zimmer (2). Alliance points came from Lorraine Bureau (8) and Tereva Miller (4).

Hardisty Happenings

A short meeting of the History Book committee was held in the Drop-In-Centre on Tuesday afternoon. The proofs of the brochure had been received and were approved. There will be ready for sending out early in the New Year, at which time volunteers will be called for to help address them. Another reminder - say names and addresses of old timers and their families should be turned in to Mary Goodrich, Vivian Robinson, Berle Matthews or any other member of the Club. The next regular meeting will be January 8 at 2 p.m. The minor holiday badge was very well attended last Monday in the Elks hall. Among people recognized in the large crowd were some from Carr, Hughesden, Amisk, Loughheed, Sedgewick and a double winner from Wainwright. Congratulations to Martha Kanton winning the blackout turkey. The Royal Women of Uniform held a very good bake sale and bazaar accompanied by a very successful tea. A cake in the form of Santa Claus was raffled and congratulations to the winner who was June Crook. The Christmas party and card party at the Drop-In Centre was well attended Saturday night. Many tables of cards were played and the winners were ladies first Rita Hays of Amisk, low Mrs. Abbott also of Amisk. High seats Ruth Longman and low Gus Johnson.

It was nice to see more men than usual there as we hope that they will be able to attend more often.

After cards a song song followed, led by Doris Powell and accompanied on the piano by Dorothy Kromer.

Lunch then followed consisting of many Christmas treats. The Afghan pot together by the ladies ladies then was drawn for by Mr. Jack Mawer and went to Deanna Schenk of Hinton.

We think it is nice that a sister of Ruth Longman and Eleanor Moody, Mrs. Dempsey, has taken up residence in Amisk, close to her brother Art Woyan.

Born to Mr. and Mrs. Rick Sontjea a young son on December 6. His name is Jay Brandon. Congratulations.

Also a little son arrived with Gary and Dorothy Chomysen as parents on December 2. It will be nice for Dorothy to be home again.

The closing ceremony was then held, followed by lunch.

Ladies Auxiliary elect new officers

The Ladies Auxiliary, Royal Canadian Legion, held their regular December meeting in the Hut on Monday evening, with 54 members present. The meeting opened as usual with the flag ceremony.

Roll call and reading and approval of the minutes followed. The treasurer's report was given and approved. Greetings were read from Provincial Command.

The raffie committee reported a most satisfactory sum raised on the hand-booked rag, which was won by Mrs. Ivy May. Proceeds from this go to donations to the Hardisty Library, the Toddler's Inn and Provincial Hospital Fund, as well as paying for the new cupboard in the kitchen, also a donation to the Therapy Unit in Killeen.

Discussion was then held on articles for a spring raffie and it was decided to have a 2-draw raffie, with articles of bedding to be chosen by the committee.

Following adjournment Pres. Mawer thanked the slate presented by the nominating committee, with the treasurers being nominated from the floor. Officers for 1980 are as follows: President - Mrs. MaryAnn Thompson, 1st Vice President - Miss Lil Granger, 2nd Vice President - Mrs. Doris Yankin; Secretary - Mrs. Florence Van Koughen; Treasurer - Miss

Sedgewick Junior High plans for Christmas

Our Christmas dance on December 17th was a big success. I think I may speak for the entire group in saying that it was most enjoyable. The decorations that the students put up were fascinating as well as the lunch they provided.

Once again I would like to say "thank you" on behalf of the Sedgewick Junior High, to all the parents and teachers who cheered them on. If it hadn't been for you, we would never have been able to have the dance. Your help was greatly appreciated.

On December 8th we had another fun day at school. Cited on Wheels, which is a travelling theatrical group, visited our school. They put on three separate shows for the elementary, junior high and high school. The shows were put on in the gymnasium. Schools, other than Sedgewick, were here to see them, they were fantastic.

For the past couple of weeks the junior high section of the school has been rather busy. We've been getting our classrooms and bathrooms painted. So far it looks rather nice. The Christmas concert is being held on December 15th at 8:30 a.m. Everyone is welcome to come and we truly hope you enjoy it.

That is about all that is happening in the school for awhile, until the sports start up again in January.

Until next time... Bye from,
Debbie Stevens

And in Sedgewick --

Mr. and Mrs. Dennis Chave and Devon spent the first weekend in December in Edmonton visiting with Mrs. Chave's brother, Mr. Michael O'Hanley and her cousin, Mr. Freddie Gillis.

At the Senior Citizens Wednesday afternoon card party eight tables of players enjoyed their whist playing. Mrs. Ida Black and Mr. David Davidson won prizes for the highest scores. Consolation awards went to Mrs. Mary Cameron and Mr. Bill Russell. At the Norwegian whist on Friday evening at the Drop-in Centre there were six tables of players. Mrs. Hazel MacKinnon and Mr. Gudmund Eriksson received prizes for the highest scores.

Mrs. Betty Walsh and Mr. Gunnar Hope (who was tied with Mr. Ed Sarasin but won the cut of the cards) were awarded consolation prizes.

Mr. and Mrs. Cory (nee Holly Moulder) of Calgary were weekend guests at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Archie Moulder.

Mr. and Mrs. Don MacKinnon and children spent the weekend at the home of the Greg Millers in Calgary.

The U.C.W. Ice, Bazaar and bake sale in the United Church hall on Saturday afternoon was well attended.

Mrs. Tess Hahoney and Mr. Porter O'Reilly were the winners in the Senior Citizens' shuffleboard tournament. There was a three way tie for second place between Mrs. Gladys Hope and Mr. Gudmund Eriksson; Mrs. Beaulé Russell and Mr. Ed Sarasin; and Mrs. Ida May Black and Mr. Dave Davidson. In the playoffs Mrs. Gladys Hope and Mr. Gudmund Eriksson won to take second place. Mrs. Dorothy Lane and Mr. Bill Russell were awarded the consolation prize. Another tournament is being planned for the New Year.

Mr. and Mrs. Jim Walsh spent a few hours at the Grant Hansen home at Heister on Monday.

Congratulations to Mr. and Mrs. Murray Moulder of Kilham on the birth of a baby boy on Sunday, December 9.

The Legion held a very successful supper meeting at the Legion Hut on Tuesday December 4th. After a delicious meal and social time the meeting and election of officers for 1980 took place.

Congratulations to Mr. and Mrs. Gregory Martin (nee Donna Cookson) on the birth of a 7 lb 11 oz son, James David Gregory arrived on Tuesday December 4th. Mr. and Mrs. Ken Martin of Penhold spent the weekend here to visit their new grandson. Granddaughter Margaret returned to Penhold with them to spend a week there. The Greg Martins are now in their new home in the subdivision. That's really doing good, a new son and a new home all in the same month.

Mr. and Mrs. H.L. Beirsto took grandson, Max Beirsto along with them to spend the weekend in Calgary at the home of Mr. and Mrs. K. Hansen (nee Janet Beirsto) and family.

Mr. and Mrs. Dick Erickson and Mr. and Mrs. Wayne Barker were in Edmonton on Tuesday.

The slippery conditions underfoot have resulted in several accidents with cars and trucks in the district. On Saturday afternoon a collision between two cars at the intersection by Dr. Moore's office resulted in damage to the cars but I understand no injuries to the occupants.

Get well wishes to Mr. Andy Cameron who is a patient in the University Hospital. He was coming home from Forestburg with a load of concentrate in his three ton truck when he skidded on black ice. In spite of his efforts to right the truck it rolled and he was pinned in the cab. His rescuers had to cut him out and he was taken to Galeland Hospital and transferred to Edmonton the next day. His wife Melba is in Edmonton with him while he is still undergoing tests to determine the extent of his injuries. Hope you've well and home again soon, Andy.

Alberta Agriculture

During the most recent sitting of the Legislature, I had the honor to table Alberta Agriculture's 1978-79 Annual Report. Immersed in its 34 pages are many facts, figures and statements that I think demonstrate my department's effectiveness in dealing with such as the immediate problems and everyday needs of our agriculture industry.

Off the top let me describe an annual report. In our case it highlights some of the year's major events and reaffirms the underlying aims or objectives of our various branches and programs.

It's quite an undertaking. A department of this size produces so many projects and administrators so many programs that just the basic of the basic can be published.

Here's the task. As of March 31, Alberta Agriculture was composed of 27 major bodies. Many produce their own annual report. This year Plant Industry Division's is 150 pages long. Even if our department's annual report discussed each division for only one-third of that length, the potential exists for a volume of 1,350 pages. The mere thought is enough to make you wince.

Regardless, some of the facts contained in this year's report are very interesting. For example, as of the end of last March, there were 1,467 permanent employees in Alberta Agriculture. These were spread among 14 divisions and 13 other agencies such as the International Marketing Group, the Office of the Farmer's Advocate, plus three boards, two councils, two secretariats, two corporations and one commission.

The largest single entity was the extension division (the district agriculturalists and support services) which numbered 250 personnel. Plant Industry Division was second with 194. Five other segments each had more than 100 staff. Just under half of all staff were considered professionals while about 30 percent were listed in the clerical sector.

In the area of spending Alberta Agriculture is fairly thrift. Our total budget for 1978-79 was modest at about $64.5 million. Staff salaries accounted for almost half. Another 32 percent (just over $20 million) went toward grants for such things as irrigation projects, assistance to agricultural societies and various marketing and service programs.

To us through the major activities of each sector would be too lengthy, instead I think I will mention a few I find noteworthy. For instance, the Communications Branch maintained a heavy information output. Our weekly news package, Agri-News, released 500 articles to 187 media sources. "Call of the Land" continued its daily schedule airing 262 10-minute radio programs. The TV Show FACT aired 39 half-hour programs on seven stations across Alberta. The publications office distributed more than three-quarters of a million copies of the 800 publications it had on hand. The output from our print shop numbered in the 10's of millions. A fairly impressive performance.

The Agricultural Development Corporation made progress in meeting producer needs by modifying the Beginning Farmer and Dairy Development Programs. The Farm Income Package was introduced and the interest rate of the Financial Restructuring Program was reduced to the direct loan preferred rate.

Our extension services had an inspiring year. District agriculturalists just missed reaching the quarter-million mark (244,000) in client contacts. By the way, crops were the most popular topic discussed with almost 65,000 contacts. Livestock was second at 41,000 and horticultural crops and acreages were a close third.

The Home Economics Branch was also busy with more than 100,000 client contacts. Overall, our extension staff amassed more than one-third of a million contact hours over the year.

During 1978-79 irrigation expansion continued at a brisk pace with Alberta's total assessed irrigation acreage topping the million mark. The Canada-Alberta Agreement on Nutrient Processing Assistance supplied Alberta processors with approximately $1.8 million in grants last year. Over its four-year history, the program has disbursed $3.7 million to 53 projects creating an estimated 331 new jobs.

Marketing services also improved. The number of farmers markets leapt upward, from 53 in 1977 to 65 in 1978. The Food Laboratory Service Branch also reached a milestone output. Our weekly news package, Agri-News, released 500 articles to 187 media sources. "Call of the Land" continued its daily schedule airing 262 10-minute radio programs. The TV Show FACT aired 39 half-hour programs on seven stations across Alberta. The publications office distributed more than three-quarters of a million copies of the 800 publications it had on hand. The output from our print shop numbered in the 10's of millions. A fairly impressive performance.

Our International Marketing Group continued to identify potential markets, such as Eastern Europe, Southeast Asia and the Western United States, for Alberta food product sales and livestock sales. Production sector projects, such as livestock and plant product improvement programs, also moved forward.

Finally, the Hail and Crop Insurance Corporation had a good year. Indemnity payouts totalled only $14.1 million dollars in 1978-79, almost 60 percent less than the payouts made in 1977.

COME ALIVE

By Rev. R. Chappell

HOW PATIENT DOES GOD EXPECT US TO BE?

Only recently have I come to realize how serious it is to be a very impatient person.

Impatience has destroyed many families and marriages... ruined beautiful friendships; caused accidents, and even destroyed human life... both physically and spiritually.

And so, today, I urge you, as I did to take a good look at yourself and consider how you rate as a patient person. Can we really say, that, regardless of persons or circumstances, "I am a very patient person." We may be very patient in some ways, yet, in other ways, we could be very impatient. And, so it is important that when we begin to take a measure of our patience that we look to a standard higher than our own.

Real Patience is a by-product of love-God's love.

Patience has been described as love under pressure... or love that suffers long. 1 Corinthians 13, explains the qualities of love. First the words of the fourth verse: "Love suffers long" or as another translation puts it, "Love is patient." We are not born with patience and in our own strength, we cannot attain that quality of patience that continues to love people regardless of who they are or what they may do.

Patience is needed in 3 main areas of life, namely: Patience with ourselves; patience with God; and patience with others.

Patience with ourselves because each one of us are imperfect human beings who God is trying to shape into His own perfect likeness; and though God knows our every weakness, He still showers us with His patient love. If, therefore, God is so patient with us, we ought also to be patient with ourselves, so that our mistakes will not be a hindrance to victory in daily life.

Patience with God because, though His answers may not agree with our prayers, His wisdom is beyond the wisdom of men. He is the Lord and Creator of all and cannot be manipulated by the will of man. Psalm 81: 9 and 7 says it all. "Commit your way to the Lord, trust in Him, and He will act. Be still before the Lord and wait patiently for Him." It is through prayer that we communicate with God, and discover 'is will and patiently submit ourselves to live in harmony with His will.

Patience with others because others, including our families... also need that same patient love which can help us all to cope with our trials and problems. Therefore, let us all seek to be as patient with others as we would have them be with us. Through a loving patience, right relationships with other people becomes a daily fact of life and we discover more joy in our work, our home and everywhere we go. May God help us all to be more patient!

RITERS RAMBLINGS

By Doris M. Saunders

SNOW VEHICLES NEW AND THEN

Two sleek and powerful snowmobiles streaked across our TV screen driven by well dressed fan seekers. I brought back memories of other snowmobiles I had seen.

Every winter the young and the not-so-young had roared up and down the coast to the south of us. Others had raced around the sportground much to the chagrin and anger of the TV watchers who lived close by.

Some snowmobiles pulled toboggans with riders while others towed skiers. It all looked like great fun.

The day came when my son-in-law coaxed me to try it.

"It's easy," he said. "You just have to squeeze this, indicating the throttle, and steer. It's just remember to lean into your turn when you want to turn sharply. Squeeze with your left hand when you want to apply the brake."

I was game to try anything once so I clambered aboard and gently squeezed. I was off. As I gained confidence I squeezed harder. I was going great. I had the whole field to myself but wouldn't you know when I attempted to turn the bend around it dumped me in a snow drift. Muttering unprintables I picked myself up and cautiously aimed the snowmobile in the direction of the yard. That ride was enough for me. But perhaps I was lucky.

When a cousin was riding on it the throttle froze and the snowmobile wouldn't stop. Frantically trying to steer it around things she headed for an old building. She threw herself off just before it knocked a hole in the wall. Several cats straggled through the window as the snowmobile came to rest inside against the opposite wall.

But these are modern snowmobiles compared to the first motorized snow vehicle I had ever seen. It was nearly thirty-five years ago in the Peace River country that Rudolph, the grageman, made it.

It was a huge in comparison. It must have been fifteen feet long. It's white body was shaped something like an airplane but the large propeller that drove it was at the rear and. It was powered by an airplane engine and when it started off it blew up a snowstorm and roared so loudly that everyone in town knew it was about to take off. Four passengers could ride in it and often did as Rudolph used it for business and merry trips. It was a real beauty to the district as it could navigate the more choked roads. Only the main roads were plowed in those days and often they were ditched in for a week at a time.

I can remember one cold blizzard night when roads were impassable a pregnant woman went into labor. The husband appealed to Rudolph to try and get her to the hospital a few miles away.

Rudolph warned up the machine amid a flurry of snow and was almost ready to pull out when a friend of the woman hauled down in front of the machine to pray for a safe journey. He could have run over her had he not caught a glimpse of her in the probing headlights. I'm afraid she would have been much distressed at Rudolph's explosive language when he saw her kneeling there.

Very late that night the snowplow roared back into town and we were very glad to know he had made it.

Pregnant women were not the only passengers as other seriously ill or injured were often crammed to the hospital for medical aid. The police, too, hired Rudolph to take them where they otherwise couldn't go.

But all that happened long ago and I can't imagine a pregnant woman in labor or a seriously ill person being transported on the modern snowmobile.

It was believed that if a man carried a confessor in his pocket and it didn't melt, he would marry his current sweetheart.

The Northern Pipeline

This is the pipeline that will. It will bring needed energy to Southern Canada and the United States. It will strengthen our balance of payments, it will provide a stimulus for manufacturing and employment, and it will add tax revenues. We all stand to benefit. The Alaska Highway Pipeline is estimated to increase tax revenues by $9 billion. Of that amount, $2.7 billion would be federal, $5 billion proportionally shared with the provinces of Alberta and British Columbia and $1 billion to the Yukon Territories.

Importantly, the Alaska Highway pipeline will significantly aid Canada's depressed balance of payments. If the National Energy Board, which will rule some, finds that Canada has a surplus of natural gas then a "Free-Build" of the pipeline is likely. The pre-building would allow Alberta gas to be sold to the United States for consideration of an opportunity to acquire Alaska gas in kind at a later date. The pre-building project could improve Canada's balance of payments by $2 to $3 billion per year between 1983 and 1988.

The effect of an improved balance of payments would likely have an upward pressure on the value of the Canadian dollar.

A joint Canada-United States project will foster nervousness in some, fearing that our country will not reap the benefits of manufacturing and employment. Such a position is absolutely false. The facts are, this pipeline will generate industrial activity and employment in virtually all regions of Canada. There will be an increase in productivity at the mines in Northern Ontario, the steel mills in Southern Ontario and in the technological laboratories of Canada's industrial heartland.

Throughout the Canadian route, $1.4 billion of large diameter and heavy wall pipe will be required, 90 per cent of which will be Canadian content.

In addition we will require $24 million of other pipe, 90 per cent of which will be Canadian content. This pipe must be sealed and treated and another $40 million of internal and external coatings will be applied, 90 per cent will be Canadian content. Valves and pipe fittings will add another $70 million and 90 per cent will be Canadian content. Likewise, compression equipment, 70 per cent Canadian content, will be required in the amount of $235 million. Pressure vessels, 90 per cent of which is Canadian content, will total $34 million. Another $24 million, of which 75 per cent will be Canadian content, will be contributed to welding equipment. Prefabricated buildings for housing personnel and equipment will cost another $42 million, 92 per cent of which is Canadian content. Eighty-six million will be spent on catering supplies and services, 97 per cent of which will be Canadian content. Another $800 million for investment equipment and transportation charges will be incurred: 90 per cent Canadian content. And finally, project management and supervision will cost $230 million which will be 100 per cent Canadian content. Note that the amounts of the above are calculated at 1978 dollar values.

In short, this project extends tremendous hope for Canadian citizens in its potential for supplying needed energy, stimulus to employment and manufacturing, improving our balance of payments, reducing our federal deficit, and in general improving the psychological condition of our nation. Confronted with the need to understand that this is the largest, single project ever undertaken by Canadians. To put it into perspective, it is much larger than the St. Lawrence Seaway project both in real dollar value and in dollars adjusted to inflation.

This major undertaking is an excellent way for Canadians to keep in touch with the enormous potential of our nation.

"A hurricane can raise a town but can't unseat a letter or open a knot."

N.D.P. admits taking illegal contributions

The New Democratic Party's connection with organized labor has become an embarrassment in the case of the Alberta Union of Provincial Employees (AUPE).

The union which represents 40,000 provincial government employees, has admitted to making as much as $5,270 in under-the-table campaign contributions to NDP candidates for the March 14 election.

The donations were improper because they contravened the province's new political contributions and disclosure law that declares any donation to a party of more than $250 to be made known to the chief electoral officer.

The purpose of the law is to identify to the public at large who the principal sponsors of a political party are. Through the disclosures the public is able to assess whether a party is acting in the interests of the public at large or doing the bidding of a

The AUPE made its contribution to NDP candidates by means of expense advances to These advances were routinely written off by the union's secretary-treasurer once the funds had been placed in the candidate's hands.

This method of funding was revealed after St. Albert NDP the electoral officer by the September 15 deadline.

hand $500 to Borreson for his commission.

And the NDP candidate for Edmonton, Ron Hodgins, who is himself an AUPE employee, has admitted to using a $1,500 expense advance while campaigning in the west-central Alberta riding.

Chief electoral officer, Ken Wark, is conducting an investigation into the affair and is expected to produce a report before the end of the year.

Wark has promised a public inquiry that would give him the right to summon witnesses and documents and order testimony if he finds the under-the-table contributions represent more than an isolated instance.

The union, which has offered to open its books to Wark, said it used the method it did to make its contributions to the NDP because it was afraid that many of its members would not agree to help the social-democratic party.

Hardisty Auxiliary press for new hospital

As is customary it was business before pleasure, so the business meeting preceded the party. President Erna Mathews gave an excellent report on her attendance at the Alberta Hospital Auxiliaries Conference held in Calgary. It was brought to our attention by Secretary Hilary Gray that the Hospital Board Chairman from Nettie Johnson and a lovely crocheted baby blanket made by Gertrude Turry. These items, all so patiently hand made by these ladies are most gratefully received for sale in our showcases. June Cronie was appointed to purchase two poinsettia plants for the hospital staff and patients for Christmas.

George Mathews had obtained a tape recording of Hospital Minister Dave Russell's address to the Alberta Hospital Convention held in conjunction with the Auxiliary Convention. The Auxiliary intends to sponsor an open meeting sometime in January so people can hear this address, and perhaps to decisions regarding the construction of new hospital facilities. Please watch for ads and posters advising of the date and place.

Treasurer Charlotte Gelka reported receiving two generous donations, one from the Hamwood Good Deed Club and one from the disbanded Strong Ladies Club. These contributions are very much appreciated.

The Volunteer Graduation, held this past Sunday was reported to have gone smoothly. Volunteer Service Chairman stated she had been in receipt of three pairs of slippers made by Brenda Lokken, and displayed a beautiful blue baby set

Editorially

No, Christmas Isn't Anymore

December 25 is the culmination of weeks of happy preparation, joyful anticipation, and gleeful speculation. It is also a farce.

Amidst all the hurried gift buying, and hearty partying reigns a confusion that rules too many of us—What is Christmas?

Priorities have become so scattered that the mention of Jesus Christ during the season seems almost out of place. A chubby little legend called Santa Claus has swept God's Son off His throne and replaced Him with a jolly laugh, a sleigh full of toys, and eight tiny reindeer.

But alas—even Saint Nick is being left behind as an almighty power known as progressive commercialization takes over.

Christmas, turned Clausmas, is now a scramble to the stores to buy all those gifts, all that booze, that you really can't afford anyway.

It's sad. This rush to spend as much money as possible as quickly as possible has made many of us forget Jesus Christ—the real reason for the celebration.

G.N.

Smokers Unite!

Our right to puff where we please is being stolen from us. The country is no longer free, the non-smokers are taking over.

We are discriminated against in stores, hospitals, schools, restaurants, buses and many other places too numerous and painful to mention.

And what are we doing about it? Nothing.

We're just sitting back and taking it while one of our basic freedoms is violated by a bunch of health fanatics who think clean air is everything.

Now really, who are they to tell us where we can smoke? What do they know? They don't care about us at all, all they care about is their own health. Well, if they don't like it they can leave. No one is forcing them to hang around.

Just because they don't smoke it doesn't give them the right to inflict their lifestyle on us. We don't force them to smoke so they shouldn't force us not to.

Freedom of choice is at stake here and if we give in to the non-smokers we are giving up that right.

If we start giving up rights and freedoms like this then Communism will have no trouble taking us over!

Smokers, I beg you, I implore you, don't give in. Exercise your right to smoke while you still can. It's the only way to keep it.

Do your patriotic duty, save Canada from Communism, if you love your country—SMOKE!

NOTE — The editorial columns of The Community Press for the past three weeks have carried the writing of two journalism students. These students are on a three week field placement from Grant MacEwan College in Edmonton.

As well as editorials the girls carried out news writing, interviews, some with photos and were involved in the everyday activities of this newspaper. Some articles that have been written will be carried in later issues.

What Others Say The "happy hour"

Carrie Nation and her little band of "boos busters" with their hatchets would have a field day in this age where whole consumption is filling the government coffers like grain from a spout, and the treatment centres like casualties from the front line. . . the merry-go-round never ceases.

On the one hand we sell the stuff, and at the other end of the line we again fork taxpayers' dollars to cure those whom we admonish for over-drinking.

So far along the road has the habit (social or physical) become by way of drinking that a "happy hour" is necessary to precede anything from a three-man meeting to one of corporate magnitude. It must prove one thing that in our society we aren't really that happy with anything unless it is induced with a slug of "hard-stuff" or a bottle of beer and even a glass of wine. Those who say "kissage and better with coke" are only kidding themselves. . . you've got to have the "real thing" and by that we mean some form of alcohol.

Richard Needham, writing in the Toronto Globe and Mail refers to cocktail parties, and we include the "happy hour," as places where you'll find people who are talking so much they can't drink and people who are drinking so much they can't talk. If Carrie Nation thought she had a problem, she should have been around soon, and we'd love to see her walk in on a "happy hour."

— Hanna Herald.

The Third Column

by Truncate
"I WRITE AS I PLEASE"

THE LIGHT of Christmas. Light has always been prominent in connection with Christmas. In our homes we put lights upon our Christmas trees or set candles around the house. Suspended over our streets and business places there are often festoons of gaily coloured lights. In our Christmas worship services many candles shine out upon the worshippers with a mystic glow and glory to remind us that Christmas is a festival of light. Why is all this light associated with Christmas? It is not merely for decorative purposes, for then we would use more lights in decorating for other festivals as well. Transcending all reasons which might be given for the use of so much light in connection with our observance of Christmas, there stands the all important truth that Christmas commemorates the coming of Light into the life of man. One cannot read the Christmas text in the Gospel of John without being impressed with the promise of the word Light, for it occurs six times within the space of a few verses.

LONG BEFORE John wrote this account of the Incarnation and linked it so profoundly with Light, we find that in the Old Testament that Isaiah had prophesied the coming of the Messiah, and he too associated this coming with the thought of Light. He said, "The people who walked in darkness have seen a great Light; those who dwelt in the land of great darkness, on them has Light shined. God made this promise to Isaiah: 'I will give you a Light to the nations, that my salvation may reach to the end of the earth.' To solidify the fact, Christ confirmed these insights when he made the assertion, 'I am the Light of the world; he who follows me will not walk in darkness' but will have the Light of life."

AND EVER SINCE Christian people have found these words to be true. Perhaps instead of reading "The Light shineth in the darkness" it would be more forceful to translate it "The Light is still shining in the darkness" for even though it is night we do not sit in darkness.

THERE IS MUCH DARKNESS in the world but Christmas comes to remind us that there is still a Light shining. Man oft finds himself baffled and defeated, tempted to doubt that existence has meaning or goal. And then Christmas comes each year with a Light that dispels the darkness. All these lights which contribute to the beauty of the season of Christmas are in reality symbols of him who is the true Light. The Light of God.

NOT ONLY is the LIGHT of Christmas the Light of God but it is the Light of Life. Light is healing, and we think naturally of our Christmas meals and the war of tuberculosis; and there are many who have been healed of various maladies by means of other kinds of light rays—infra-red, ultra violet, X-ray, and the Lordly Light to heal us of sin.

LIGHT IS STIMULATING. We awaken from sleep when the light shines upon us. Flowers open to the sun's rays, fruit comes to ripeness under the warmth of the sun's rays. So is the life of man stimulated to the higher levels of living under the influence of the Christ of Light. Vice and crime thrive in the darkness, but virtue is stimulated by the Light.

LIGHT GIVES SECURITY. We are apt to fear for our life at night; a hunter in the wilds keeps awake at bay with a blazing campfire. If the fire dies the beasts creep in. When the Light disappears from our lives we are in danger and life becomes a precious thing. When the Light shines forth manaces fears retreat defeated before the Light. The light of Christmas is not only the Light of God, and the Light of life, but the Light of truth. "The true light enlightens every man was coming into the world."

WE ARE ALSO TOLD that "The Truth of God and Truth." Truth is not always pleasant. Sometimes it is like the words of a Doctor when he has to tell a patient that he is suffering from a serious ailment. Sometimes it is like a lightning-bolt warning of rocks that will wreck and ruin our lives. But truth is also pleasant. Light is the medium in which things take on meaning. In the darkness there is a little difference between a diamond and a piece of glass. Light is necessary to enable us to get a proper sense of value. That is what the real Light does, and even suffering and disappointment can take on meaning.

ANOTHER TRUTH about Light is that it cannot be put out, for "darkness has not overpowered it." We think this is the kind of message we need in these times. It gives courage in our hearts, it enables us to see the rainbow while the storm is still raging. To know that amid darkness, depravity, and despair of this earth, the Light of Christmas can never be extinguished. That is something to be grateful for. All the eternal realities of life, love, truth, beauty and hope are embodied in the Light and can never be annihilated by dictators, war, pessimistic philosophies or anything else.

Rebekah's fund realized

Killam Hospital's new traction bed for the treatment of some forms of lower limb arthritis, neck arthritis and some disc problems.

lems of the neck and back. Picture two—Unidentified journalism student demonstrates the cervical traction side of the traction bed.

The county-wide financial support to purchase therapy equipment for the therapy room at the Killam Hospital has now totalled $8,439,000. David Handley, physiotherapist, is still in a state of disbelief over the generosity that has been shown. An ultra-sound machine and also a lumbar traction machine with hydraulic traction planks were purchased.

The Sisters of the Loughheed Rebekah Lodge spearheaded the fund-drive for the new equipment, approaching many service clubs, companies and individuals. The support given was overwhelming for which the Rebekah Lodge is very grateful.

Killam Rebekah Lodge

The members of Killam Rebekah Lodge met at the home of Phyllis Lawson. Even though the weather was cold and misty, there was a good attendance. Members reported visiting in the hospital.

There was quite a lot of correspondence to be dealt with and insurance forms to be filled in.

Donations were made to the crippled children's fund and to the United Nations Pilgrimage for Youth. Christmas gifts to be bought for our senior members in the Flagstaff and Provost Lodges.

An invitation was received from the Killam Oddfellows' Lodge, to their card party December 18th.

Under Good of the Order, Noble Grand, Sis Brodie, reported that Sis Lawson, Sis Feigley and herself had attended the funeral of Lillian Parker in Camrose, and that they had visited with several of the Camrose Rebekahs after the funeral.

Lodge closed with prayer.

A delicious lunch of Christmas goodies was served by the hostesses, followed by an exchange of gifts, and a social half hour.

Making Old Fashioned, Spicy Gingerbread Men Cookies...

One of the special and most delicious customs at Christmas is making gingerbread men cookies. Since the whole family loves them, why not have the whole family join together in a happy baking spree? Here's our quick & easy recipe:

Gingerbread Cookies:
1 cup packed brown sugar
3 eggs
1 cup margarine or butter, softened
1 1/4 cups molasses
1 teaspoon salt
1 tablespoon baking soda
1 teaspoon ground cinnamon
1 teaspoon ground allspice
1 teaspoon ground cloves
1 teaspoon ground ginger
3 cups all-purpose flour plus
5-6 cups (to be used later)
1/2 cup of water
1/2 cup of milk
Early in day: In a large bowl with mixer at low speed, beat first 11 ingredients until just mixed, constantly scraping bowl with rubber spatula. Increasing speed to medium, beat 2 more minutes. Scrape occasionally. Using a wooden spoon, stir additional 5 1/2 cups of flour into dough, to make it stiff. Divide dough in half and wrap in plastic wrap. Dough can be used immediately or refrigerated for up to two days.

Preheat oven to 350° F. On a lightly floured surface roll half the dough with a lightly floured rolling pin, until 1/4" thick. With gingerbread man cookie cutter, cut as many cookies as possible. Using a pancake turner, arrange cookies on lightly greased cookie sheet, handling carefully. Bake 12 minutes until cookie edges are firm; loosen cookies from sheet and remove to wire rack to cool.

Roll scraps and using remaining dough, repeat. Using white frosting, prepared or your own home made favorite, and raisins, decorate gingerbread men. Recipe makes about 2 dozen cookies.

Discarding your Christmas tree — a happy ending

Wondering if there is any tradition concerned with when a Christmas tree should be discarded and taken down? January 6th, Epiphany or Twelfth Night, marks the traditional end of the holiday and used to be observed by the burning of the tree and greens.

However there can be a happier end for your tree... one you will enjoy and find rewarding. Setting your tree up outdoors and hanging it with popcorn strings and suet makes a beautiful, natural bird feeder. Think of the fun you'll have observing your lively feathered friends through the months to follow!

Silent Night

With a deep feeling of gratitude we pray that the holiday's most precious gifts will be yours.

Killam Auxillary '79 report

We held ten meetings during the year with an average attendance of 17.1 people. This is the highest average we've had in years. The per capita tax was paid on 51 members. Seven of these were new recruits.

The custom cart visited throughout the Hospital Complex each week of the year except one week during the Christmas holidays. The visits to short-ten and the sick report were 1230. Many more unreported visits were made but not reported. There were 65 pairs of slippers and 30 hats cut out and sewn.

The Brovies made favors for all the patients' trays at Christmas. The Sisters were given a cheque and a flowering plant last Christmas and a floral centre piece purchased for the table in May. We provided the rewards and served at this time, also selling raffle tickets. Twenty or more ladies helped set tables and serve at the Hospital staff dinner party.

Five of our members attended the East Central Regional meeting in Consort last May. Gifts were donated and others bought with tax money and also from a donation given by Mrs. Frances Kueber. Fifty-five gifts were presented to the patients on their actual birthday with members taking a month at a time during the year.

A new portable colored TV was purchased for the General Hospital to which we contributed a large cheque.

On April 15th a work shop on "Visiting and Communicating with the Aged" with Mrs. Mary Davis as speaker. She is a senior citizen and a retired social worker. She told us that only 1% of people over 65 need intensive long term hospital care—but social needs remain the same: for love, recognition, friendship and a sense of security. As a follow up of this work shop Laverne Booth from our PSS office summarized the high-lives of this workshop and sent typed copies to Services and Church groups inviting them to bring 2 volunteer visitors to the June meeting. This meeting was quite well attended.

There was a short program of music and singing, a short skit on visiting the ill and aged which was a real lesson on how not to visit. Continuing the idea of visiting on a one to one basis, we now have a coordinator for this volunteer program in the person of Sharon Rander. She has been working hard to find a visitor on a regular basis for each person in the Auxiliary Hospital. Some of our volunteers have taken residents of the Auxiliary out shopping, car riding, and night seeing, especially Christmas week to see the lights.

It is almost impossible to record the volunteer hours given by our group, however when you consider the idea of speed, programming, organizing, soliciting, sewing, selling tickets, reporting and visiting etc., you can realize we do into several hundreds of hours.

I'm sure it was a most successful year for our group. Thanksgiving Meeting
At the December meeting of the Hospital Auxiliary there were 17 members and Sister

Rose Ellen present. The meeting opened with the Auxiliary prayer. Minutes were read and approved. Treasurer's report and custom cart report were given by Therese Spiller. On the cart for the month of December is Gertrude Brodie and Ruth Granger.

At this time we were favored with a solo by Colleen Wilson singing "I'm a Big Bundle of Possibilities" with Mrs. Glenys Rott at the piano. This was most enjoyable.

The annual reports were given. President Mrs. Abel gave a special thank you for all the kindness and consideration shown her making her to do her job well.

Nominating committee Clara Schaeffer and Gertrude Brodie presented the slate of officers for 1980. These are: President - Mrs. Sophie Abel; 1st Vice-president - Marie Murre; 2nd Vice-president - Marion Brown; Secretary - Emma George; Treasurer - Ruby Stalsharpe; Canteen Cart - Therese Spiller; Press-reporter - Laura Collier.

CHRISTMAS POEMS

CHRISTMAS GIVING

Will the presents we offer
please Jesus today?
As the Christmas lights flicker and burn,
Are we giving to those who can never repay
Or to those who will give in haste?
I think of the millions who suffer alone.
Who haven't a Christmas tree
I think of the millions who sit and grieve,
From far too much to eat.

Surely the judge of all the earth,
Shall render a fitting reward
To those who would celebrate Jesus birth
In a way to dishonor the Lord.

May we see in the hungry, and those who have need and poor
Let our giving this Christmas be Christ like indeed
And we will have Christmas for sure.

Who gives a little of his wages
From off a loaded shelf Shows God how little that he care
How much he loves himself.

Tom McCracken

Reflections at Christmas

As Christmas time is drawing near,

And Celebrations are at hand Folks to some things that's mighty queer.
I find them hard to understand.

'Twas peace on earth, the angelic song
As Christ was born 'neath yonder star,
New nations hurry on headlong Into preparations for war.

What is our festive ritual world?
How low are mortal morals sunk?
Men celebrate the Savior's birth
By going out and getting drunk.

Our Christmas trees are loaded down
With lovely gifts both great and small.
But in our hearts we fail to crowd,
The greatest gift of them all.

God was the giver, Christ the gift,
That night in far off Bethlehem.
There born to die that He could.

Tom McCracken

Men from the sin destroying

near,
No greater gift was ever given
No one can estimate His worth God's only Son, the best in heaven.
A ransom for the worst on earth.

Then thanks to God for Him
we say,
The greatest gift that ever was,
And may our theme on Christmas day,
Be Christ and not just Santa Claus.

Tom McCracken

HOLY MEANING OF CHRISTMAS

The English word for Christmas comes from Cristes Masses, which means "the Mass of Christ." Most nations derive their term for Christmas from the lengthy Latin name
Festum Nativitatis Domini Nostri Jesu Christi (The Feast of the Nativity of Our Lord Jesus Christ) or the shorter form Dies Natalis Domini (The Birthday of Our Lord). In Spain Christmas is called No-che Navidad, in Portugal, Natal, and in Italy, Il Natale. Chris-mas is called Rochester in Russia, and the German word for Christmas, Weihnachten stands for Holy Night or Blessed Night, referring to the Nativity only by implication.

News from Galahad Missionary Church

The Community choir presented the Cantata "Born a King" in the Missionary church on December 14th. The worshipers were very much interested in the fine production. Gene Whitehead was choir director. Mrs. Patsy Truss presided at the piano, and narration was by Glee Carley.

Members of the group were from the Meras, Forestburg and Galahad district.

Everyone greatly appreciated this excellent presentation of the old, yet ever-new story of the Christ child and the shepherds, and the angels, singing glory and praise to the one who was born a King. It was a joy to hear this story as the cantata told it, in music and song and the spoken word.

Following the program lunch was served.

Sunday School Program
The Missionary Church Sunday school Christmas program was held on Sunday evening with a good crowd in attendance. The children did very well. The lay ones knew their parts and were full of enthusiasm. As well as the songs and verses there were several good readings by some of the youth group.

The Pastor and superintendent expressed thanks to the teachers, children and parents for their good work. Candy bags were distributed to the children. A time of food and fellowship followed. The congregation also presented a Food Shower to our Pastor and wife.

Missionary Church W.M.S.
The Missionary church W.M.S. held their December meeting on Wednesday afternoon with thirteen ladies present. A small quilt was used. The devotional period opened with Silent Night played by a lovely music box in the shape of a church. A skit "Ten Little Christians" was done by Ethel Black and Carol Jackson.

Pastor - Gene Whitehead brought a message on the theme of talents and abilities which each person has been given. Not all have the same talents but each has her part to do to complete the task. He encouraged all to share their gifts and talents working together in love to serve the Lord. He closed with prayer.

The business was conducted by President Anna Whitehead. The financial statement was read by treasurer, Mrs. Scott. She also brought a proposed budget for 1980. It will be discussed and voted on at the January meeting.

Election of officers was conducted by the Pastor as follows: President - Mrs. Anna Whitehead; Vice-president - Mrs. Maggie Feldon; Secretary - Mrs. Pat Wetmore; Treasurer - Mrs. Marguerite Scott; Deacons - Ethel Black and Maggie Feldon.

It was reported that the W.M.S. party was a success with about fifty people present. Lunch conveners were Ethel Black, Ethel McGowan and Carrie Bowles. The ladies sang "Happy Birthday" to Pat Wetmore.

Merry Christmas

The Christmas I remember most as a kid, it seems a long time ago, but one that had many a laugh. On the Christmas tree was a note, your girls are in the barn. Out to the barn Myrt, Helen and I ran and saw hangers were 3 new sets of pajamas. At that time the barn was full of horses and cows. We couldn't wear our new p.j.'s that night, not until they were washed and aired.

Will correct a mistake made in last week's paper. It should be read Mr. and Mrs. Maurine Hart and Mr. Reg Hart of Calgary visited in Edmonton.

Get well wishes to our dear Eliza Pederson who is in hospital in Edmonton and has been seriously ill. We hope you are home real soon Eliza.

Deepest sympathy goes out to the family of Mrs. Roy Park, who passed away at a large hall in Camrose hospital. Mr. and Mrs. Parker, Arlene and Audrey spent a number of years in our community.

Around 30 people enjoyed a turkey supper at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Young, honoring them on their 37th anniversary on Friday December 14. Debra Deryn Dabbs cooked a most delicious supper. Congratulations Lloyd and Esther, Mr. and Mrs. Al Hewes of High River visited Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Young.

mother Mrs. Lund and Mr. and Mrs. Jim Weeks.
Mr. and Mrs. Morris Posen and Mr. and Mrs. Merin Forter and family of Forestburg were visitors with Mrs. Ted Erickson.

Loto Canada takes new name

Canada's $10 lottery takes on a new name — SUPER LOTO.

The game, previously under the jurisdiction of the federal Government, will continue in 1980 administered through the Interprovincial Lottery Corporation. The regional organization in Western Canada is the Western Canada Lottery Foundation.

SUPER LOTO, in many ways, remains unchanged. The prize stays at $10, tickets will be pooled, instant prizes will be available and the grand prize will still be a million dollars.

Every $10 SUPER LOTO ticket gives you 10 chances at one million dollars and all ten numbers drawn allow for subsidary prize paying from $80 to $10,000. Instant prizes will be available too, ranging from $50 to $10,000, or a house ticket.

SUPER LOTO offers 6 main draws per year, with a preview draw as a special feature. One of the few changes to the $10 lottery is the draw method. SUPER LOTO numbers will be generated by the Baco-Casino machine, familiar to Western Canadians as those used in the PROVINCIAL and Western EXPRESS lotteries.

Revenues from the sale of SUPER LOTO tickets is realized by each province in proportion to sales, thus supporting a variety of local community programs.

Dental services to be expanded

Dental services to outlying communities in the province will be expanded, Bob Bogie, minister of Alberta social services and community health announced today.

The program includes the expansion of the highly successful outreach program operated by the Faculty of Dentistry, University of Alberta and funded by the provincial government," said Mr. Bogie.

Two new mobile dental clinics will be provided to serve more communities. These are in addition to the existing mobile clinic which has been serving communities for the past four years and is currently operated in High Level. Dental students and dental hygiene students will serve in these new clinics under the supervision of dentists.

A service which provides newly-graduated dentists with the opportunity to work on a fee-for-service basis in another phase and is known as the extern program provided by Mr. Bogie's department for the use of dentists who will spend two or three months in communities lacking a dentist.

"This aspect of the program will be assured of continuity through the dental graduates each year. It will also introduce them to these isolated areas and condition rural communities to paying for care on the regular patient pay basis," said Mr. Bogie.

A third phase of the expansion will be the provision of portable equipment to facilitate a visiting dentist program, beginning this fall. This will enable private dentists to visit in those areas, the high decay rate and lack of fluoridated water many surveys are being conducted to determine the possibility of being included in the program.

Any personal feedback that the public would like to contribute pertaining to the dental needs of their area, can be sent to the Health Unit Office.

Natural trees safety problem

Natural Christmas trees can become a serious fire hazard, warns the Home Safety Committee of the Alberta Safety Council. Many individuals are under the mistaken impression that solutions of water-dissolved chemicals, such as borax-and-borax acid, diammonium phosphate, or ammonium sulphate will make the tree flame retardant. Christmas trees will not absorb these solutions; therefore they are completely and emphatically useless!

Only a fresh tree (more than 80 per cent moisture content), left standing in water for as short a time as possible, is safe. Christmas trees become extremely flammable when cut.

Some of the outlying areas of the Alberta East Central Health Unit are being considered for this program. Due to minimal number of dentists in these areas, the high decay rate and lack of fluoridated water many surveys are being conducted to determine the possibility of being included in the program.

Any personal feedback that the public would like to contribute pertaining to the dental needs of their area, can be sent to the Health Unit Office.

The Government of Alberta has introduced a new program to assure a guaranteed level of income for Alberta's severely handicapped.

The maximum level of benefit per month as of December 1, 1979 is $370. A modified handicap benefit will be available to severely handicapped persons living in designated facilities such as nursing homes or auxiliary hospitals. In addition to financial benefits, recipients, their spouses and dependent children will be covered for Alberta Health Care Insurance Plan, drugs, optical and dental care.

You may be eligible if:

- your condition is permanent and one for which there is no remedial therapy available in Alberta;
- you are 18 years of age or more;
- you are not eligible to receive benefits under the Old Age Security Act;
- you are at your maximum employment potential and have fully utilized all rehabilitative resources available within the province of Alberta.

Income of an applicant and spouse is taken into consideration in determining eligibility and level of benefits. Assets do not determine eligibility or level of benefits.

The new program came into effect December 1, 1979. To apply for benefits, you must have an application completed by a social worker and have a medical report completed by a physician.

Provincial lottery under new jurisdiction

Come January, when advertising invites Western Canadians to "Play the New Provincial", the emphasis on "Play" will indeed be deserved.

The $6 game, drawn each month, offering 15 grand prizes including 3 of $1 million will underline the fun aspect of participation.

The Western Canada Lottery Foundation, by moving their administrative jurisdiction on the nationally known $100 lottery, now to be called SUPER LOTTO, also released prize details on the new PROVINCIAL. While SUPER LOTTO remains much the same, the design of the PROVINCIAL changes dramatically.

The popular Scratch 'N' Win feature, offering instant prizes from a free ticket to $1,000 remains, but after that a whole new lottery game. Each ticket will show a four-digit green number designated by the letter "A", followed by a three-digit red number adjacent to letter "B", and finally, a three-digit blue number identified by the letter "C".

Simply match colour sets of numbers on your tickets to those drawn and you win, from the thousands of prizes of $25 and $100 to the 13 prizes of $100,000, the 3 sets of $1/4 million, or the 3 of $1 million.

First draw of the new PROVINCIAL takes place Sunday, Jan. 27, 1980.

Of course, revenue realized by sales of the PROVINCIAL in each province, remains in that province to benefit a wide variety of worthwhile community programs.

Horner still undecided on whether he will run

Former Liberal MP for Crowfoot, Jack Horner, isn't committing himself to his possible candidacy in the forthcoming Federal election. In a phone interview Monday evening, his response to a query on that possibility was less than enthusiastic. "I've taken three holidays, of one week each, in the last three years," he noted. "I am almost a planned trip to Australia in February and expanded reaching operations to bring another son into the business as reasons against his candidacy."

On the other hand, to the comment that sounded like he could be convinced to run his response was only, "There is a Liberal executive meeting this week end, of course, I will attend." There he would find out the Liberal's current attitude. He added that naturally after 21 years in Ottawa, he had access to pertinent information on such matters as the oil situation, the immigration situation, and that he wouldn't make lightly a decision that could hit his party down.

Horner indicated no opinion on Liberal chances in Alberta, though he did think their standings would improve. "Certainly the Liberal party will do better, because Clark has failed in so many ways."

The energy aspect of the budget received Horner's strongest criticism. The government committed itself, by Jan. 1, 1984, to raising oil prices to 80 per cent of the international price as based in Chicago. "In essence, they are saying we will let the Arabs dictate our prices." Horner agreed that oil prices should go up but contended that its price should be based on the cost of producing that oil. Utilities get a 17 per cent return on their money, he noted. Perhaps the oil companies could be given a 30 per cent return.

The Conservatives' plans would give the Federal government $17.5 billion from the oil industry by 1984. In Horner's opinion, if Ottawa wants that money, it would be better to go the income tax route.

"There is no increase in cost to those who don't have it," he also noted that to increase oil prices will only increase inflation. Figures show that "prices don't really discourage consumption that much."

Alternately, if energy is to be taxed, the energy sources which Canada has in surplus should receive that taxing, namely hydro electric, natural gas, and nuclear power.

Horner stated that he didn't want a winter election, but Clark seemed to want one. He pointed out that often a budget is debated several days after it is presented to the Commons. Clark could have postponed the debate, allowing time to negotiate with the Social Crediters and to await the return of his absent members.

When it was noted that the timing didn't seem very appropriate for the Liberals, Horner agreed. This also figured in Clark's plans, he continued. "Clark is afraid of a new leader."

Vows exchanged in summer wedding

A pretty summer wedding took place August 6th, 1979, when Penny Lee Rose became the bride of Fred Watkins. The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Norm Rose of Sedgewick and the groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Edgar Watkins of Hardsisty.

The wedding took place in St. John's Anglican Church, with Rev. Richard Conrad officiating at the double ring ceremony. A reception for the newlyweds was held at the Killam Ellis Hall, followed by a dance in Sedgewick Community Hall. Mr. and Mrs. Watkins are making their home in Sedgewick.

Albertans urged to drive decent

Even the most experienced drivers are susceptible to traffic mishaps - all the more reason to drive with extra caution during the upcoming holiday season, says transportation minister, Henry Kroeger.

"Albertans should strive to make sure this is an accident-free holiday," Mr. Kroeger said.

Last year, 10 people were killed on Alberta's roadways over the December 20-26 holiday week. During 1977, 21 people were killed in traffic accidents over the same period.

Weather and road conditions often contribute to hazardous driving conditions at this time of year. Heavy traffic also creates a hazard on city streets and highways as motorists rush to visit family and friends, and finish Christmas shopping.

While many accidents are caused by fatigue or impairment, an alarming number are alcohol-related. Statistics released by the transportation safety branch show that alcohol was a factor in 19 per cent of fatal accidents in 1978.

"Winter driving poses a problem for even the experienced courteous, alert and sober driver. These conditions are disastrous for the fatigued or impaired driver," Mr. Kroeger said.

Mr. Kroeger urges Albertans not to drive after drinking or when tired. And when driving, buckle-up and drive with extra caution, especially during the busy holiday season.

"Let us not welcome the New Year with a tragic traffic accident," Mr. Kroeger said.

Congratulations to Mr. and Mrs. Claude McArthur on the birth of an 8 pound 11 ounce son. Jason Alan was born on Thursday December 18th at the Camrose Hospital.

The Sedgewick C.G.I.T. held their Vesper Service at 7 p.m. at the United Church on Monday December 17th. It was a pity there were so few people present to see these young ladies present an excellent service and then to enjoy a generous lunch with them.

Mr. and Mrs. Ed Stoyke and sons of St. Albert were weekend guests at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Eldon Fennas.

Congratulations and best wishes to Mr. and Mrs. Laurie Anderson (nee Betty Jean Bonsett) who were married at 3 p.m. at the Anglican Church by the Rev. R. Courad on Saturday December 15th. A good crowd of friends and relatives attended the open house and dance in the Elks Hall in Killam.

Mrs. Edna Reid of High Level spent four days last week at the home of her parents Mr. and Mrs. Steve Potage. She was able to bring her mother, Mrs. Bonnie Potage who resides in the Auxiliary at Killam, home each day to spend the time with them.

Don't break his spirit

A little brown and cold met me one spring morning as I walked out to the pasture to check whether my mare was having difficulty with her pregnancy. This little fellow was to teach me a particularly personal lesson in facing life.

When he came to the age to be tamed and broken for halter and later for bridle and saddle, I received many opinions and criticisms in doing this job from people much more experienced than I. Out of the mass of communication one statement wedged its way into my mind and later into my heart.

Don't break his spirit. A study of the word spirit in the Greek and Hebrew languages reveals the thought of breath, to breathe or to blow. When this is found in context, we discover the properties of character, moral qualities and activities and particularly the ability for man to commune with God, to be evident of man's spirit.

Loosing spirit or loosing the above qualities is much like running out of breath. Every muscle is straining to do the activity and yet there is a shortage of oxygen, so important to it's function. If this condition continues there will be a point where the lungs cannot supply enough oxygen and the whole body ends up forcing us to take either a period of rest or possibly the more serious result of hospitalization.

A lot of people have run out of breath. They have come to the end of their emotional, mental and physical possibilities in showing love and have failed. This in turn causes sorrow and heart-breaking pain in their families.

It is God's purpose and desire for you to live in peace, joy, happiness and excitement. This can only be accomplished the same way as Jesus Christ was able to after his birth in Bethlehem.

This Son through-out his life learned obedience to the divine call of righteousness and holiness by the many trials, troubles and tears that he wept. That spirit of righteousness and holiness in the final stages (although no compromising on standards) comes to life in the attribute of love. For God (being holy and right) gave His only Son (holy and right) to die so that we may be holy and right and full of love. You may give 200, 500, or 1000 dollars in gifts this Christmas and still deny giving real love.

Love is really wrapped up in the gift of loggins, being gentle, being kind, being joyful, being at peace with yourself and others and having total control of your life, not just at Christmas but all year long.

Jesus learned these by being obedient to His father and we must take the same road. God demands a submission to his ways and then there will be love. Out of God proceeds love and therefore his ways are love. If your spirit is broken, let God restore, revitalize and give a new lease on life. If it isn't, then make sure at this Christmas time your spirit is not broken by wrong motives in giving, wrong attitudes in relationships and wrong desires in your commitment to your Heavenly Father.

May you have a Christ-centered Christmas and a God-centered New Year.

It is more blessed to give

On Christmas Eve a lively little girl couldn't wait to be dressed in her new dress. "Because then I can wake up and open all my Christmas presents!"

Isn't that a typical childish response? Of course, now that we are older and wiser we realize that there is more to the festive season than opening presents. After all, doesn't the Bible say, "It is more blessed to give than to receive?" Yes, giving is what Christmas is all about. God Himself initiated the spirit of Christmas when he "so loved the world that he gave His one and only Son" (John 3:16). But that's not all. The Bible further states, "To all who receive him (Jesus), to those who believed in His name, he has the right to become child-

The world is our guide

By Allen Sovarom
Bethany Hansen and Hospital, Camrose, Alberta
At Christmas time our memories go back to our childhood. We have many happy memories of celebrating our Lord's birth and seeing Christ-ness through the eyes of a child.

In our home, Christmas Eve was observed as a family festival. For Christmas Eve my parents would invite Rudy and Mary to have Christmas eve supper and spend the evening with us. They were a brother and sister who had lost their hearing and speech in early childhood. They lived in a house on their brother's farm, just east of our farm.

One of my earliest memories of Christmas is seeing the light of the lantern coming across the field as Rudy and Mary walked over to our home for supper.

The lantern served to guide their steps lest they stumble along the way. I suppose it was a similar experience that caused the Psalmist to declare, "The word is a lamp unto my feet and a light unto my path."

As the lantern lit the way for Rudy and Mary so the word of God is our guide in our journey through life. It shows us the way to go lest we stumble and fall. The Bible points us to Christ and in Him we experience salvation. May our observance of our Lord's birth be grounded in the scriptures, and may this word be our light as we journey into the New Year.

run of God" (John 1:12).

Just imagine the gift of a Saviour and Friend, along with the gift of membership in the family of God - a double gift to all who will receive it!

For us, giving can and ought to be meaningful. There is so much need to give ourselves to our friends, our children, our spouses, to give ourselves and our resources to those who we come into contact with. That kind of giving exhibits the real spirit of Christmas.

May you have a blessed and happy Christmas.

Yours in Christ,

Kilham A.C.W. meets

The A.C.W. met at the home of Mrs. Lily Stewart on Dec. 18. Mrs. Bonnie Brodie reported that along with cards sent to the sick, two baby gifts have been given to the babies of our church and a going away gift was given to Elaine Polak.

It was decided to join the Bible-a-Month Club with the Canadian Bible Society as well as our usual donations to the United Thank Offering, the Diocese Thank Offering and the Extra Cent. A Day Fund. Four surplus have been purchased for the young servers of the church. Samples of material for the new red lectionary were shown and preferences stated. As a result of donations towards the cost of the lectionary, was received by Isabel Hoyland.

Officers elected for the new year are: President-Dorothy Bridger; Vice-President-Margaret Collins; Secretary-Treasurer-Dorothy Polak.

A delicious lunch was served by Mrs. Stewart and a social half hour over tea was enjoyed by all. The January meeting will be held at the home of Beulah Struth.

RITERS RAMBLINGS

By Elaine Marie DeLoach

Mary's son

The back of a donkey is hard by the place for a woman to bring the end of her pregnancy but Mary bore the discomfort of the long and dusty journey without complaint. By nature a quiet, thoughtful girl, she did her best to ignore the present state by recalling the events of the past months. After all, hers had been far from a normal pregnancy.

She remembered so very clearly the day that the angel had appeared before her bringing the news that she, a virgin, was to bear a son and that he would be the messiah whose arrival her people had been awaiting for generations. How confused and frightened she had felt she knew that she had no choice but to obey her God and accept this great honor but she knew too the problems that her untimely pregnancy were likely to cause.

Just a few months before she had been engaged to Joseph, the village carpenter. How excited and proud she had felt when she learned that he wanted her for his wife and when her father agreed to the match.

As was the custom of their people they had exchanged marriage vows at the time of their betrothal and so were legally bound though custom decreed that an interval of about a year should pass before she could leave her father's house and take up residence with Joseph and before their marriage could be consummated. How could she possibly tell him of her pregnancy and expect him to believe that she had been faithful to him? She knew that he would likely divorce her and could, in fact, demand the full punishment of death.

As the first days of his life passed and strange visitors arrived bearing gifts and telling of how his birth had been heralded by angels and the appearance of a new star in the sky Mary was filled with joy. She marvelled at that which had happened and wondered about the life that her son would lead and the influence he would have.

Perhaps she knew that almost two thousand years later people the world over would still celebrate the day of his birth. I wonder how she would have felt, however, if she had known that millions would celebrate it by overeating, overdrinking and overindulging without giving any thought to the reason for their celebrations? This Christmas let us pause for at least a few moments to remember Mary and her son.

A True Christmas

What does Christmas mean to you? Is it just a time for the giving and receiving of gifts, the big promotional sales pitch, the joining together of families from all parts of the country, a time of parties or a winter vacation?

For unto you is born this day in the city of David a Saviour, which is Christ the Lord." Luke 2:11.

The real meaning of Christmas is Jesus Christ the Son of God. He was God's Love Gift to all mankind.

When we are given a gift from someone, unless we take it, open and use it, it is of no value to us whatsoever.

Just like the gifts we receive from each other, so it is with God's Gift. If we do not receive Christ as Saviour and Lord of our life, He can do nothing for us. Jesus came to set men free from the bondage of sin - to reconcile sinful man to Holy God and it is at this time of year we celebrate the birth of this Saviour. Without Christ Christmas means nothing.

Only as we allow Christ to have complete control can we experience the true and beautiful meaning of Christmas for this is the purpose for which He came.

Christmas Message

Jesus, the Son of God, "was made flesh and dwelt among us." John 1:14.

At this time of the year all people regardless of race or creed, suddenly seem to receive an impulse from God. Walls that divide people seem to disappear. Everyone responds more favorably to visits of the angels of goodness, mercy, justice and kindness. It is the season when hatred goes down the drain. Charity, sympathy and kindness become the dominant attributes. God hovers over the family table, in the office, in the shop and in the marketplace. The heart impulses in us sink to a new low. There is peace instead of disquiet, love instead of hate. Violence and distrust of others are far removed from us amidst Christmas actions and attitudes. We resolve never to go back to hating and hurting and live forever in love, goodwill and peace.

In a world of violence, distrust and uncertainty, why these seemingly sudden changes in our everyday attitudes and actions? It is because at this season of the year we commemorate the coming to earth in human form of Jesus, the Son of God, whose coming effected the wonderful changes. Surely we must omit that it is He who makes possible these profound changes, as we taste of His love, goodness, and kindness. May you experience this dynamic change in your heart and life this Christmas as you invite Him to be your Saviour.

"For unto you is born this day in the city of David a Saviour which is Christ the Lord."

Alberta Minister of Agriculture

And there were in the same country shepherds abiding in the field, keeping watch over their flock by night.

And, lo, the angel of the Lord came upon them, and the glory of the Lord shone about them: and they were sore afraid.

And the angel said unto them, Fear not: for behold, I bring you good tidings of great joy, which shall be to all people.

For unto you is born this day in the city of David a Saviour, which is Christ the Lord.

And this shall be a sign unto you: Ye shall find the babe wrapped in swaddling clothes, lying in a manger.

And suddenly there was with the angel a multitude of the heavenly host, praising God, and saying:

Glory to God in the highest, and on earth peace, good will toward men.

Luke 11, 8-14.

The Biblical description of the Christmas story reflects the good tidings and eternal hope brought to mankind nearly 2,000 years ago. The language might be antiquated, but the message still rings true.

It's a story which evokes personal thoughts. To me, it reveals a feeling of peace, and above all, a recognition of my own good fortune over the years.

I feel fortunate, and pleased, that my first Christmas as Alberta's Minister of Agriculture is here; fortunate and gratified that our farmers performed so well; fortunate that our harvest, on average, was wrapped up early, and fortunate that our plans for the coming years are proceeding on schedule.

Fortunate—in some ways that describes the condition of most Albertans as we anticipate the coming decade. From a "have not" province of 40 years ago, we've become just about the biggest "have" in Canada. Oil has headed the way, but agriculture has supplied the backbone, supporting the great advance with strong, progressive strides in cattle, grain, oilseed and forage crops and food processing industries.

When we think about it, Alberta really is unique. Our good attitude toward work plus the imagination of our researchers and the conviction of our leaders have been real strengths. In some ways we are poor—we have a harsh, sometimes unforgiving climate many areas of semi-arid soils and a western perimeter of forbidding mountains.

Yet, look how we've surmounted these obstacles. Just 40 years ago many prairie farmers were scraping out a meager existence. Today we've developed our strengths to become one of the most diverse sified food producers in Canada, supplying almost 50 percent of all consumables with barely eight per cent of the nation's population.

Small population, large food supply—Alberta farmers have needed to rely on foreign lands to move their vast production—whether it be grain, cattle or even a specially crop like potatoes. And in the process, these exports have profited all Albertans and buoyed the Canadian economy as well.

Our farmers deserve credit. From year to year our production has fluctuated, but over the long run—it's been one steady upward line on the graph. You might say we've been fortunate—fortunate through hard work, initiative and sacrifice.

Christmas is here, and as the pace slows down for a bit, let's remember yesterday's labor which I trust, has produced for today's Albertans one of the most relaxing, prosperous and happy Yuletide Seasons they've ever known.

And as Christmas runs into New Year's, and thoughts turn to the months ahead, those memories of the past will surely dim—but not too much, I hope, because in the past lie the seeds of perseverance and imagination which can lead us to new advances in the next decade. I wish to extend to each Albertan my personal wishes for the very best holiday season.

A Christmas Message

"Thanks be unto God for His unspeakable gift."

David Hill was a missionary to China. His father, bearing of the desperate need of a church building, sent David a large gift of money sufficient to cover the cost of the structure. One day a friend was visiting Mr. Hill Sr. and remarked, "That was a very generous gift you gave for the new church building in China," to which he replied, "The greatest gift I ever gave to China was David himself. Everything after that was easy."

We enjoy today many good gifts from God, but St. Paul reminds us of "that gift of gifts" and refers to it as God's unspeakable gift. The Bible tells us that "the Father sent the Son to be the Saviour of the world," and when the shepherds long ago came into the town of Bethlehem they saw the "baby wrapped in strips of cloth and lying in a manger."

God's gift! The angels said to the shepherds, "Today... a Saviour has been born to you: He is Christ the Lord." (Luke 2:11-12) Have we received God's gift Phillip Brooks, in his well known and loved Christmas carol "O Little Town of Bethlehem," expresses it well.

"How silently, how silently, the wondrous gift is given! So God imports to human hearts the blessing of His peace."

No ear may hear His coming, But in this world of sin, Where meek souls will receive His still, the dear Christ enters in."

Mr. and Mrs. Bill Wise and Mrs. Joanne Jackson were Forestburg visitors on Monday evening attending the regular meeting of the O.E.S. Mrs. Jackson was installed as Marshal and Mr. Wise was installed as Worthy Patron. Mrs. Connie Jacobson was the Installing Officer. Mrs. Lorne Thursday of Grand Cache was present and installed the Worthy Matron Mrs. Alice Parker.

Mr. and Mrs. J. Merchant and family were Spruce Grove visitors last weekend visiting the George McFaul family.

Miss Donna Brausen spent the weekend with her mother Mrs. Lela Brausen.

Mr. Herman Borgel of Whitehorse and his daughter Angela of Edmonton visited his mother and her grandmother Mrs. Rosie Borgel last week.

Mr. and Mrs. Larry Brault of Irvine and Brian Badry of Coleman and Miss Cindy Ostad of Edberg were guests of their grandmother Mrs. Martha Badry.

Mr. and Mrs. Albert Staub of Red Deer are visiting their brother Mrs. Teddy Meckler. They also will be visiting Mr. Mike Meckler who is in Darnley Hospital. The Peter Millers were weekend visitors in Edmonton.

For the past ten days we have been at the business of making those scattered pages of history, that we gathered from the four winds, into the history book Golden Echoes. One lesson of the many that we have learned in the process is how easy it is to make a mistake. We'll never grumble again at Monte, and his crew, when a word or line is missing in the Enterprise, cause we have walked a mile in their muk laka.

Gl and Pat Belota spent last weekend in Edmonton battling the ice and snow drifts. They enjoyed it so much that they brought it to Galahad with them.

Shopping & Shopping
In Scandinavian countries, the custom is to place everybody's wooden shoes in a row outside the door on Christmas Eve. It signifies everyone's resolve that during the coming year they will do their best to live together in peace and harmony.

People in other countries substituted stockings for shoes. Presents in the shoe or stocking are a reminder of the legend that kindly St. Nicholas provided doornails for the three daughters of a nobleman who lost his fortune in business ventures. As the saint threw each one of the person, or bags of gold into the house, it fell into a stocking that had been hung near the chimney to dry.

Christmas Wishes
A postal clerk, Elmer Holwell of Denmark, in 1906 had the first Christmas seals printed and sold at regular post offices in Denmark. These special stamps were printed for the many tuberculosis sufferers who needed hospital treatment.

Reading Day
The medieval habit was to leave out a box or "thrill jar" in houses where there were servants; gift money was put into them. Presumably they were unboxed and the contents distributed on the day after the Christmas dinner had been served to satisfaction. December 26 became and remained Boxing Day.

A Christmas Wish
From the staff at Alberta Agriculture, may each of you have a safe and happy Christmas.

Will someone's sheep or chairman's white fall in it's prime? Their concerned beauty did beneath the thinnest gently hushes have a meteorological look.

Nowhere rude and drop. And who but they've served their time in the sun?

Pray, all who enter the season's forest gaze with Christmas hushed in snowy carpet know it is the satisfaction of the Lord. No show but the wind stage here. We set but their silent nature scene. Plunk not this fir from this hallowed spot for centuries during the stillness of the silent night the north star route awaits also its sign. This truly is a Christmas tree. No festive limiting it's beauty.

A Christmas Message

In our day many find it hard to find any meaning in life, especially on Christmas. But the message of Christmas is that life does have meaning, that our God is not a God that has withdrawn and distant, but that God is with us.

"God with us" means incarnation. The word "incarnation" means to take flesh. This word sums up the meaning of the event we celebrate at Christmas. God has expressed himself in Jesus, a flesh and blood human being. No longer are we limited to abstract ideas about God. No longer is God confined to us only as a philosophical concept.

God has made a unique entrance into our world in human form, as much of God as can be contained in a human personality. God in flesh and God in Christ... incarnation... is the central message of Christmas.

"God with us" means revelation. In Jesus, God has made known his nature and his will to us. The eternal question is, What is God like? What is the nature of ultimate reality? The Christmas faith affirms that in Christ God has broken into human history with the revelation that God is love.

When we see Jesus washing his disciples feet, when we see Jesus teaching a leper to make him well, when we see Jesus eating dinner with Zacchaeus and enabling that man to find himself and salvation, when we see Jesus forgiving an adulteress, when we see Jesus gathering children around him with patience and concern, when we see Jesus receiving Nicodemus at midnight and showing him the way to a radically new life, when we see Jesus with a cup and a loaf saying, "This is my body... this is my blood," when we see Jesus stretched out on a Roman cross... in all these scenes we see the love of God. In his life, death, and resurrection we behold how much God loves us.

"God with us" means reconciliation. This means the re-establishment of friendship where friendship had been destroyed. This is the good news of Christmas: God is our friend. Jesus reveals that God is not the arbitrary lawgiver dwelling far away from us in some heaven, but is better described as a friend in our midst.

Reconciliation means sin is forgiven, guilt is removed, alienation is overcome, and fellowship restored. The Christmas message from God to us is: accept my forgiveness, accept my love, and accept my acceptance of you, for I am your friend.

I would like to take this occasion to wish all the readers of the Community Press a very Joyous and Happy Christmas season, and may the love of God as revealed in Jesus Christ rest in each one of your hearts.

Lougheed and District News

Christmas is closer every day. I'm wishing you all happiness of the holiday season. Hoping all the ones that are coming a distance and going a long way, safe travelling to you all. From your repurser Molly Ferryhough.

Winter arrived with a blizzard condition on Thursday and Friday. Visibility was poor and highways and roads were not good to be out on. Let's hope it will not last too long.

Robert Burdick of Killam spent a couple of days with his grandmother Margaret Dabhan and visited with the Blumhagen family in Galsbad.

I forgot to mention how attractive the lights were on main street, with all the Christmas decorations that are going up in business places and homes. It looks like Christmas is right here now. Thanks to all that are doing the hard work to make Lougheed look like Christmas.

Supper guests last Thursday at the Hunter White's home were Mr. and Mrs. Ed Swainson and Grace, Mr. and Mrs. Wayne Schaeppinger who are holidaying from Burnside and Mr. and Mrs. Lonsdale Mayne.

Mr. and Mrs. Doug Williams and Kneha were supper guests at the home of Doug's parents Mr. and Mrs. Mike Nisham of Camrose last Sunday.

Get well wishes to Mrs. Jennie Swanson in Killam hospital also Jim Quast and others who are in hospital. Hope you all can be home for Christmas. Senior Citizens at the Welfare Club held their Christmas Drive December 15 with 5/4 tables played. Winners were: First - Esther Cameron; Partner O'Reilly; Sweep - Kay Leroy; John Brunner; Mystery - Ramona Kinghorn; John Black; Consolation - Roberta Riddell - John Hallman; Travelling - Kay Cox - Harold Hansen.

St. Andrew's U.C.W. held their December meeting and Christmas party at the home of Mrs. Helen White with 12

The usual business was discussed and instead of exchanging gifts with each other, it was decided to send gifts to the Stowell Centre for distribution in Christmas hampers, over and above the White gift Sunday donations.

Later in the afternoon Bob Chappell joined the group for a lovely lunch provided by all the ladies.

Lougheed W.I. meet

The regular meeting of Lougheed Women's Institute was held on December 11 at the home of Miss Molly Ferryhough with 12 members present. The President, Mrs. J. Johnson, welcomed the members and opened the meeting with all repeating the Creed. After the minutes were read it was reported that an enjoyable afternoon took place on November 20 when Pat McKinnon held a showing of handicrafts at the Welfare Club. She demonstrated some items and was given a vote of thanks for providing some new and interesting ideas.

Reports of committees were given. For the Library, Mrs. V. Storbacken reported that some new books have been ordered. Also, the library will be open only one day each week before and after Christmas, that is December 21 and 28. There was length correspondence and a number of Christmas cards. A decision will be made to the Salvation Army. There was a discussion regarding visiting the Flagstaff Lodge and the Auxiliary Hospital. Plans were made to visit the Auxiliary as a group, when convenient, possibly some time in March.

The annual meeting was then called. The President, Mrs. J. Johnson, volunteered to carry on for another year. She thanked the members for support and co-operation during the past year. Reports were given by the secretary, the committee, book and visiting committees.

Officers for 1980 are as follows: President - Mrs. J. Johnson; Secretary - Mrs. Eber Walter; Treasurer - Mrs. V. Storbacken; First Vice-president - Mrs. G. Ooster; 2nd Vice-president - Mrs. H. Probst; President of Library Board - Mrs. D. McClements; Directors - Mrs. W. Paterson, Mrs. J. McClements and Mrs. P. Sutherland.

The Director's meeting will be held at the Welfare Club on January 7, 1980 at 2 p.m.

Mrs. W. Paterson moved a vote of thanks to all officers. The Roll call was answered by paying membership fees which are now $6 per year.

Lunch consisted of a variety of delicious goodies provided by the members and served by the hostesses who had made a tasty strawberry punch.

An exchange of gifts brought a busy and enjoyable meeting to a close. The business part was won by Mrs. V. Storbacken

Miss Florry Barton passes at 91 years

Miss Florry Barton, former long-time resident of Loughheed, Alberta, passed away at the Rosehaven home in Camrose on November 22, 1979 at the age of 91 years.

Miss Barton was born in Northwick, Cheshire, England, on October 21, 1888. She arrived in Canada along with her parents, two sisters and three brothers in the spring of 1911. Her father settled the family on a farm in Greenvalley south of Loughheed, where Flo was to spend a great part of her life.

After Mrs. Barton's death in 1918, Flo remained at home where she cared for the family, and her father, until he died in 1943. She stayed on the farm until 1954, when she then moved into the home of Loughheed, and in 1976 went to Sedgewick, to make her home in the Flagstaff Lodge. In the 1978 it health caused her to move to Rosehaven, in Camrose.

Flo was a keen gardener and did much needle-work in her younger days, which made her an active and lifetime member of the Loughheed Fair Society, from its very beginning. She was also a long-time member of All Saint's Anglican Church and the Loughheed Women's Institute.

She leaves to mourn her loss, one brother, Harry, of Camrose and one sister May, of Winnipeg, Manitoba, and many nieces and nephews. She was predeceased by her parents, three sisters and four brothers.

Funeral services will be conducted from All Saint's Anglican Church in Loughheed with Rev. Richard Conrad officiating, followed by cremation. Mrs. Kay Routledge was the organist.

Lougheed Rebekah Lodge reports

Nineteen Rebekah Lodge members met for their regular meeting on Wednesday December 12. N.G. Sin H. Skobberg was in the chair.

Visits had been made to Flag staff Lodge and local hospital. It was noted that there was an increase in lodge dues.

It was agreed to make a donation to the Salvation Army.

Under Good of the Order it was the member's pleasure to serenade Sisters Roggenack, Marlow and Pope for having so successfully passed another milestone.

Lodge closed in harmony, when the members met about celebrating the holiday season. Can you envision nineteen young, and not so young, playing musical chairs to the tune of Sin. Ida Mac's mouth organ? They did. Not one, but three prize winners stepped forward at the conclusion of a Name the Carol contest conducted by Sis.

The Barton Family

Jerry Johnson, Sis. J. Johnson favored the members with a reading related to a hospital visit for tests. Sis Jerry's costume and rendition were hilarious. The applause scale measured "over the top."

The members gathered around a table loaded with goodies where each one ate and ate. The lunch committee gained themselves a red ribbon for excellence.

Santa paid her visit complete with back pack. Tremendous! The members shouted "Happy Christmas" and set out for home.

The gifts we give to ourselves

Have you ever passed to consider that many of the gifts that you select for others are going to be the gifts that you receive. In other words, many of the things that you give to others are going to come back to you in a different form perhaps, but they will be gifts that you will be delighted to receive.

Let me explain further by quoting from Dr. Paul Tourner's little book entitled "The Meaning of Gifts". In that book Tourner writes: "I would always like to be presenting gifts to everybody, as well as to myself, but in this because I want to make others happy, or it is possible that I want to give to others because of the deep pleasure and satisfaction I obtain from giving? When a parent sees a child playing happily with a gift which he or she has received, it is not true that in a way the child is also giving to his or her parents the beautiful gift of joy?

It seems to me that when someone really appreciates a gift that I give to them, then that same person presents me with a greater gift of pleasure and satisfaction. In fact, as I consider the aspect of giving, it almost seems impossible to me to give without receiving more in return. On those unforgettable occasions when the Lord has granted me the incredible privilege of using me as an instrument of His healing and redeeming love, and I have reached out in love to help someone, then I discover that I always receive far more than I was able to give. The joy that surges through me when I see someone touched in such a beautiful way by the love of God, is a happiness that is far too deep for words to describe or express. Whatever gift is given in love, always seems to return changed and more beautiful than when it was first given. Therefore, you see, when you are selecting those gifts in this festive season of celebration, in a strange way you are selecting gifts for yourself, for there is great happiness in giving. Remember that also when you receive a gift, for in the receiving you can make someone very happy, and that is important.

There is, of course, so much that can be written about the giving of gifts. I must therefore, confine my thoughts to the fact that what I am able to give as an expression of my love, always returns to me transformed and more beautiful than when it was first given. There is great power and beauty in the giving, and in the receiving of gifts.

Oh yes, and there is something else that I must add, and that is, of course, that the most beautiful gift of all is not a thing but a person, the wonderful unique person of Jesus. When you accept this most treasured of gifts, then you make your Heavenly Father very happy. You see, there is great joy in heaven, over the one sinner who repents. If you have accepted God's gift of His only beloved son, then let me assure you that you have made the very heavens vibrate with rejoicing, for you have made God very happy indeed. To Him, you have in fact become a gift that He delights in. In this beautiful season of Christmas, remember that the gifts you give to the Lord, will be transformed and will return to you more beautiful than you first gave them.

Seasons Greetings to one and all.

If Christ had not been born - what?

By Pastor Stewart M. Abel
Church of the Nazarene
"For unto you is born this day in the city of David, a Saviour, which is Christ the Lord." Luke 2:11

If Christ had not been born—what? It would be interesting to go through the Bible and see how often this little word "if" occurs. "If thou wilt," "If I be lifted up," "If I go not away," "If Christ be not risen," "If in this life only we have hope," "If everywhere like stars in a dark night of uncertainty, like cases in a wilderness desert of death. That little word takes you up Himilayas of hope, but it leads you also, if you thwart the will of God, through Sahara of despair.

How we ought to thank God for our wonderful text! "For unto you is born this day in the city of David, a Saviour, which is Christ the Lord."

What if Christ had never been born? If Christ had never been born all the promises given by God of a coming Redeemer would have been broken. All the prophecies that told the glad event would have faded, and all the bright hopes of ages would have been blasted. Also, if Christ had not been born, we would never have known the real character of God. It took Christ to reveal the Father. Jesus said, "He that hath seen me hath seen the Father." It is only through Christ, we understand the human race and what a message to a broken heart that love is.

But the greatest calamity of all, if Christ had not been born, would be, the world still waiting, but waiting in vain for a Saviour, and you and I would be as all others, "without hope and without God in the world."

Yes, He came, and with a mighty purpose! He came to redeem man from sin's dominion over to God's love. The angel said to Joseph, "Thou shalt call his name Jesus for He shall save His people from their sins." Praise God He came! The world is a better place. Man-kind has hope.

unchanging and cherished traditions of the holiday and your everlasting friendship.

Birthday activities start

In September of 1979, the President of the Sedgewick and District Agriculture Society had the privilege of talking to Mr. Ron Galt of the Province of Saskatchewan on a 75th Anniversary project which our two provinces will be celebrating in 1980.

This project is for our two communities and would consist of total involvement of them, as twins. There would be an exchange of hockey games (all levels) curling, football, baseball as well as exchange of ideas and participation in Community events. This would include all organizations and groups within the Sedgewick area.

On Saturday, January 12, 1980 a group of 40 interested residents of the Province of Saskatchewan and district will be arriving in Sedgewick to meet and talk with us about the events which will be happening in 1980.

The events scheduled for January 12 are:
2:30 p.m. - 4:30 p.m. - Get acquainted with the Province
4:30 - 6 p.m. - Happy Hour
6 p.m. - Buffet Supper, social and dance to follow.

Everyone interested in the 75th Anniversary planning are invited to attend. Please contact Carol Arlman at 384-2190 or 384-3751 before January 9, 1980. We would like as many of our Community as possible to meet and get acquainted with our twin.

Some changes needed for election

Over 15 million cards-called Notices of Enumeration—will go into the mails to Canadian voters this January.

The massive mailing is a key procedure in preparing for the 32nd federal general election to be held on February 18.

The cards will be mailed no later than January 11.

They will go out to all those whose names were on the final, official voters' list that was used in the last general election on May 22, 1979.

The card will confirm that the voter's name appears on the list of electors for the polling division in which he or she was ordinarily residing at the time of the May 22nd, 1979 general election. It will identify the voter's electoral district, polling division number, the location of the polling station and the date and hours of voting.

This is a change from the usual procedure of compiling the preliminary voters' list. The list in past elections was prepared as a result of a door-to-door canvass by enumerators, then was revised into an official list. There will be no enumeration for this election.

In other respects, the process for this election will not differ in any major way.

An eligible voter who does not receive an enumeration card in the mail can still get his or her name on the revised, official voters' list. But the voter must take the necessary action to get on the revised list.

A person who is eligible to vote but does not receive a card should contact the Returning Officer of his or her electoral district after January 15 and before February 4.

One of the entries in the Sedgewick Kinette Carol Festival was the Key West band. The lower picture shows Mr. Norris, band leader with some band members in the background and the top picture has the rest of the group.

Band members come from a variety of points in the area such as Brownfield, Viking, Sedgewick and Forestburg. The band meets in Sedgewick and needs new members.

Government problems for 75th

The past year was not a good one for Culture Minister Mary Lemmieux even though she was one of only two freshman MLAs to be given cabinet posts after last winter's provincial election.

The culture department's decision to spend $645,000 on the Roloff Beny photographic collection leveled such a storm of controversy that the province was eventually forced to re-consider the deal.

And in the dying days of 1979, no one was sure what Alberta's plans for its 75th anniversary in 1980 would be, as the anniversary commission responsible to Lemmieux scrambled to put together the new year's commemorative agenda.

With the Beny and diamond jubilee plans still up in the air, the culture minister was still under considerable pressure to deal effectively with both matters as she welcomed the new year at her cottage at Lac St. Anne.

The government's decision to re-consider the Beny purchase was made public by Attorney-General Neil Crawford late in December.

Crawford said the government had hired a lawyer to review the whole matter. And if the lawyer determined that the purchase of 80,000 color negatives, 22,000 black-and-white negatives and an array of books and papers from the world-famous, Medicine Hat-born photographer wasn't worth $645,000, he could recommend that the government cancel the deal.

The attorney general noted

there had been a great deal of hostile public reaction to the acquisition and the manner in which it had been handled. He refused to comment when the province's ill-preparedness for its diamond jubilee.

The province's towns, villages, cities and counties only found out in mid-December they would be eligible for $80-per-capita grants from the government to support local 75th anniversary celebrations.

Although local governments and organizations had been anxious to hear about provincial support for the celebrations for some time, the announcement of the per capita grants and the anniversary's close to $75 million budget only came after the details were leaked to an Edmonton newspaper.

Lemmieux and the 75th anniversary commission, Bob Dowling, have been taking a great deal of heat over the province's ill-preparedness for its diamond jubilee.

Saskatchewan, with a much smaller budget, had most of its anniversary plans already arranged well in advance of the new year. But even as late as December, the Alberta commission was still hiring staff to run the commemorative extravaganza.

A list of approved projects to receive funds directly from the province only became available in the final week of 1979.

As a rookie minister who has undergone a baptism by fire, Lemmieux can only be hoping that 1980 is easier on her.

1980 Election

Again we are on the campaign trail East and west and back again. These guys must like the snow and the rain. Mixed with meetings to make their gain.

Joe set out with his aim set high. To blast that Broadbent to the sky. Broadbent says that jungling Joe. Might just end up shovelling snow.

Pierre Trudeau who we thought was gone. Came back to remedy the things gone wrong. After ten long years and very little done. The Liberals should take a shot in the bum.

The Crosby budget was right to the point. If we do not have something we fall out of joint. The money that's loaned by those guys overseas. Could very well pull us right down to our knees.

To look down on cities in this fair land. And see gas guzzlers with such a demand. Our drivers will have to go deeper we know. In our gas wells now that are covered with snow.

We will have to cut our driving miles. And make our wallets give us our smiles. And when that day of election comes around. Hope that no one will be snow bound.

The Third Column

by Trinitate

ANOTHER BRAND NEW Year has surreptitiously crept up on us and we are face to face with the 80th year of the present 20th Century. We have seen much, encountered much and learned much during the past 12 months, just how much we have absorbed and will put to us for some good purpose to be seen. The year just ended means that we have spent 12 months doing whatever it is we do, 32 weeks being divided between the necessary and the unnecessary, 365 days spent almost equally between work and the pursuit of whatever comes next, 8,760 hours, each of which completed for our attention and time, 525,600 minutes making up the hours which dragged or sped depending on the intensity and satisfaction of what we were doing, 31,536,000 seconds, each one of which ticked off more quickly as the year advanced. Time! Time! We know that it waits for no person. Tick! Tick! Tick! Oh she goes, allowing the time tick of time to be the and the incident. We should look carefully then how we proceed, not as we move but as we make, the most of our time because the days will not last forever. Time marshes on and we cannot obviate its intrusion in our lives. OLD FATHER TIME, as we familiarly know him, has a kind of attractive and mellow name, but the picture he presents to us is quite unattractive. A thin, bony, bent-over old man with a squinty beard and the inevitable scythe slung over his shoulder, you know, that sharp instrument with the long curved blade and crooked handle, which the old boy uses to mow down the days and the years and with them much of which we value in life. This sinister old figure has been the subject of many comments by various writers over the years, each as: "I have long had a quarrel with time because he robs me. Every day of his time was wrestled from me after his scythe." "Time you thief." "Time like an ever flowing stream, bears all our sins away." Well, I guess there is some sense in which the old boy with a scythe is a fearful figure. BUT THERE ARE OTHERS who take a more kindly view of time. Almost every country seems to have some proverb about it. "Time is the comforter and healer when the heart has bled." "Time cures more than the Doctor." "So the words run. It tries and tests all things. New things, new friends, new ideas and truths — are they good or bad? Time will tell. Old things are best, if they have stood the test of time. It is a rich possession if it is converted into good habits, deeds and character.

Time is a many-sided thing. It is a destroyer and a lifer in one sense, it is a preserver and a seeker in another sense. We can never measure time by the clock or the calendar. It passes quickly for some and drags slowly on for others. If the year which has just closed its doors has been a happy one, and busy with its new adventures and pleasures, it has gone all too quickly on swift wings. If it has brought its unhappy experiences, and perhaps its sorrows, it has been extremely long. Time, you know, is a trickster. It's always doing strange things to us, as we ourselves are doing strange things with time.

ARNOLD BENNETT, a writer, some years ago wrote

a little book called, "How to live on twenty-four hours a day." We all have read the book, but I cannot recall some of its quotes. The writer unfolded his own philosophy of successful living based on the use of his own time to all of us who wake up in the morning, and in, your purse is magically filled with these hours of unmanufactured tissue of your life. No one can take this treasure from you, it is neither more nor less than you receive. Out of it you have to spin health, pleasure, money, respect, and the growth of your immortal soul. Its right use is a matter of highest urgency. Your happiness, the elusive prize that you all are clutching for, depends on this. We have, for we have always had all the time there is. In answer to the question, "Where do you find the time for so many interests?" Bennett's reply was that he didn't find the time, he budgeted the daily hours as they came and spent them without waste. That is the secret of every wisely-used life.

AS FAR AS WE ARE concerned this is good practical counsel for the better life of today. Many privileges come for the enrichment of life, many chances for the display of Spirit, many places for speaking kindly and helpful words and doing generous acts. Life, after all, is a succession of opportunities which may either be bought up for our profit, or let slip by our loss. The sorry thing is that, once they pass, they can never be recalled.

May peace and contentment be your lot during the year which we have now entered.

War, being a consequence of the disregard of God, is not inevitable of man will turn to him in repentance and obey his law. There is, then, no irresistible tide that is carrying man to destruction. Nothing is impossible with God.

News from St. Paul's United Church

December 28 was the pre-Christmas service held in St. Paul's United Church with a service by Rev. Jackson.

Both Schmidt gave a reading entitled "The Little Angel" enjoyed by all.

A special trio consisting of Lawrence Kells, Sharon and Karvo Cressy accompanied on the piano by Grace Kells was very nice and later three girls sang again only were accompanied on the piano by Lynn Kells.

The lesson, the Christmas Story, was given by John Mitchell.

Two solos by Rev. Rithaler and accompanied by her grandmother Mrs. Maryon Drager were beautiful, "O Little Town of Bethlehem" and "Hear the Bells."

Trish Rithaler accompanied by her sister Bev sang "Away in a Manger."

A pantomime given by the Sunday school girls at their program was very pretty and titled "Christmas."

Rev. and Mrs. Gravelle Zwicker sent greetings to all from Bramsville, Ontario.

The church was full with many coming home for Christmas and enjoying the service.

COME ALIVE

Thomas McLaughlin

On this, the first week of a New Year it is my privilege and pleasure to extend my personal best wishes to you for a happy and full 1968. I also have the opportunity through this column to share with you some spiritual thoughts for this coming month. To begin with I want to speak about "A New Year's Resolution", which was composed by an unknown author. I believe that this writer has a message for us. He writes:

It's an old tradition...making promises to yourself by New Year's resolutions. They can cover anything: time and money, food and fantasy, sex and religion.

Yet even as you make a resolve you have a suspicion you may not keep it. So why get into that guilt trip again? A biblical life-style suggests the very reverse. Instead of making fluffy promises to yourself, it recommends reliance on the sure promises of God—promises He keeps.

The model is Adam whose call to a new venture was accompanied by promises of bliss both to himself and others. His descendants entered in Egypt were promised deliverance; and their leader Moses, who felt he couldn't make promises, was assured that he would be given right words for the right time. Again, Jeremiah, who recoiled from the awesome political duties required of him, was told that he would be given power to both destroy and to build.

It just seems to be God's way with people. His pointing to the future is accompanied by supportive promises.

When God became fleshed out in human form as Jesus the Christ, his disciples experienced the same kind of promise. "Go into all the world," he had said, "and I am with you always." That's a responsible promise if there ever was one.

So for you at the turn of the year, instead of dreading up some private resolve, allow yourself to rely on the promises of God when they speak to the place where you are. Then indeed:

"The Lord will keep your going out and your coming in from this time forth." Psalm 121:1.

May the warmth and love of God be with you now and always.

Merry Christmas. This is what was said many times on December 17 when the five 4-H clubs held a Christmas concert in the Hattings' Hall for the first time. The five clubs in the time were Hattings North Dairy, Hattings South Dairy, Hattings Stampede, Hattings Hammers and Springlake Bitters.

It was lots of fun. Each club put on a separate play and then we had fun helping Santa Claus pass out the gifts. Then a delicious lunch was served. We all went home tired and stuffed.

Alberto Agriculture

TODAY & TOMORROW
By Dallas W. Schmidt
Alberta Minister of Agriculture

Approximately five months ago I wrote an article on the Crow Rate in which I raised some of the issues surrounding this historical grain rate structure.

To be honest — that article was intended as a general "questioning" of the effectiveness and usefulness of our current grain rate system. Let me mention several points I discussed.

One — considering only grain movement, the railways are not making a profit on that part of their operations. Since it is now apparent money is lost on every additional bushel carried, our system clearly has built-in disincentives for railways to provide adequate grain transport service to farmers.

On this point I prefer not to hear such standard rebuttals as "Railways should be good corporate citizens" or "They owe it to the country" or even "But, they're making a bundle on the rest of their operations".

If a grain farmer lost money on every bushel he grew, he wouldn't stay in business. Similarly, if a railway farmer made money on grain yet lost it on livestock, then he should eliminate the unprofitable operation.

Believe me, I've yet to see any producer continue to lose money just because "it's for the good of the country". In anything we do, there has to be some reasonable level of current or expected profit.

However, the railways can't simply stop transporting grain. Every day one farm or another goes out of production without major impact to our industry. But loss of one railway — that would be disaster.

Two — nagging problems, indirectly associated with the Crow Rate, have been created or continued due to our limited ability to move grain. In particular, I refer to quotas which exist to assure equitable producer access to a limited marketing capacity. The key word is "limited". Quotas would be 90% unnecessary if our transport capacity were adequate.

Three — there are problems, which I call "compounding factors", which tend to multiply obstacles in the system. In this class I would place things like multiple grades which tie-up space from the country elevator to the major West Coast or Lakehead terminals. Marginal terminal capacity also falls into this category. (Prince Rupert should help in this regard).

That's a very brief overview. However, let's consider. Are there solutions? Yes. Some have suggested doing away with the present rate structure and letting free market forces take over. Others have suggested adopting a type of sliding rate scale based on such factors as grain prices, yields and sales.

Regarding participation by the railways, government and producers, this proposal would at least lower rail losses. It's an interesting concept. Still others, myself included, say we have a problem. Let's ask producers for possible solutions. The only condition on which I am firm is that all solutions retain the producer Crow Benefit.

All-in-all it's a fairly negative picture, and it has led to considerable controversy, including opposition from some farmer organizations who don't want freight rates altered yet demand better service from the railways.

I don't want to quarrel with that position. According to a member of one organization, who writes in an Alberta weekly editor, "The answer is... more control by government".

To some extent federal government involvement has created problems. I really don't want to see more rules and more regulations. I'd much rather see fewer that could be more efficiently handled and effectively enforced, if necessary.

I also disagree with those who say the railways must, under Section 262 of the Railway Act, supply every grain elevator with a rail car. It's a valid point to that Section; however, it must be used as a club to force railways into providing services without a just return.

In our society everyone has the right to drop any activity which doesn't provide a fair return. If, in the opinion of our elected representatives, that activity is an essential service, then society must provide a fair return for making that service permanent.

Nevertheless, those opposed to changes in the Crow Rate have aired some valid concerns including, "Higher rates in no way (guarantee) better service."

That's true. Until now the principle that higher freight rates will result in better service has often been accepted without debate. Unless producers make sure they are protected before the Crow Rate issue is solved, they have no guarantee service will improve.

And here we have one more question. What is "better service"? Do you think we should have an ideal situation where anyone can ship whatever he wants whenever he wants? That might be unrealistic; certainly, the investment required would be enormous.

Definitely, we do need to increase overall throughput. In turn, this should reduce to an acceptable level the backlogs which create such costly problems throughout the system.

We now come to the bottom line — will higher rates mean better service? I would say, yes, if a new or revised grain rate structure, which seems at this time to be almost inevitable, contains built-in producer protection.

Possible ways of ensuring this might be tying rates to some railway performance standard. This was suggested in a consultant's report recently released by Alberta Economic Development.

Such a plan could reflect improved grain movement based on historical data. It might even be broken down so that rates are tied to regional improvements, such as by shipping block. Producers in an improved service area would then pay for the improvement, while farmers in a problem area would not pay higher rates for nothing.

It's an interesting thought. Our economic system generally works on the principle that greater efficiency reduces costs. In this case that won't happen until the basic returns equal the basic costs. In any event, wary producers should demand that some protective mechanism is included in any revised grain rate structure.

Dear friends — Catch the beat and feel the excitement of the joyous New Year about to unfold!

News from Galahad and District

Christmas and New Year's Day will both be past history when you read this column. Alta and I both completely forgot that we would have no paper on Christmas week. Alta will have a good excuse. She and Gladys McMahon are proof reading the Galahad History. I've an excuse. I was busy that came my way. Any way friends and neighbours we both hope your Christmas was joyous occasion and that 1980 will be a special one. Alberta's 75 birthday, Galahad's Homecoming and we shall have the History book finished!

Mr. Pete Willis went up to Wainwright to visit Mr. and Mrs. Ken Warner and "look after those cows again."

Mr. and Mrs. Bill Wise were Stettin visitors doing some Christmas shopping and visiting some old Hand Hill neighbours Mrs. Elsie Holderness and her daughter and grandson.

Mr. Joe Willis spent Christmas day visiting his two daughters and two granddaughters who reside in Tofield.

Santa Claus visited Alta Willis and Anne Wise on Friday.

The Galahad Lions Club held a party for the children of the village. A film called The Bush Baby was enjoyed. Santa Claus came and visited the children even asked the "old children" what they wanted for Christmas. Gifts and candy bags were distributed and Santa left town on the back of a truck. He told me his reindeer were busy getting strength for their trip around the world.

Removing Candle Wax:

Washable Fabrics: Harden wax by rubbing with ice cubes. Remove excess with dull knife. If safe for fabric, pour boiling water through wrong side or place stain on reverse side with blotchers (or several layers of facial tissue or paper towels). Press with warm iron. Dye stains may be removed with alcohol or bleach. Launder.

Unwashable Fabrics: Harden wax on canvas or leather with remove excess. Sponge remaining traces with cleaning fluid. To remove dye stains, sponge with alcohol (dilute with 9 parts water for acetate; test for colorfastness).

Waxing Paper

Did you know the average Canadian eats 2 pounds of sugar every week? The way? I say, "I don't even take sugar in my coffee." You'd be surprised and shocked at all the sugar and lard in many of the prepared foods we eat regularly.

We've been taught to read labels for food we buy. (Remember, ingredients are listed in order of their amount in the product; so whatever is first on the list is what there is most of.) The tricky thing about sugar is that it's not always called sugar. Anything ending in "ose" is a form of sugar. Example: dextrose, lactose, fructose, sucrose.

In a recent column in the Alberta Consumer, Paddy Mills listed some common food products and their surprising sugar content.

Product	% Sugar Content
Coffee	8.8%
Coca Cola	8.8%
Delmonte Kernel Corn	10.7%
Slippy Peanut Butter	9.0%
Hamburger Meat	32.9%
Cool Whip Topping	21.0%
Ritz Crackers	11.8%
Jell-O Jiggly in Marshmallows	32.6%
Heinz Ketchup	28.9%
Shake n Bake (for Pork)	14.7%
Shake n Bake Barbecue	50.9%

Sugar does provide energy but little else. No form of sugar including honey has any nutritional value. It's extra calories is linked to tooth decay.

We do rely on some sugar to sweeten and improve flavor of some foods. But you can cut down on sugar intake by: developing a taste for less sweet desserts. Serve fruits and cheese. -don't fry cakes and squares. -remove 1 tsp. sugar in desert recipes. -don't add sugar to coffee.

-use leftover syrup from canned fruits as part of the sweetener and liquid in sauces, cold drinks or on cereal. -taste before you automatically sweeten. Fruit dishes especially, often don't need any additional sweetening. (information from Betty Breh, DHE at Stettler).

Watch for him coming in the New Year. Diet Deceive is a chance for you to have your diet analyzed at no cost by a computer. The computer will point out nutrients lacking in your diet and, where there are excesses. Watch this column for more information.

Answer: The home economist from Whittier position explain that the finish of the porcelain enamel on a continuous process and keep the ovens in a presentably clean condition.

The finish of the porcelain enamel on self-cleaning ovens is smooth. To clean the ovens, you heat the oven cavity to a high temperature (around 850 to 875 degrees). This decomposes the soil to a white ash. When the oven is cool, the ash can be wiped out with a damp cloth or paper towel.

RITERS RAMBLINGS

By Elaine Marie Delbeck

LANT REQUESTERS

When my heart stops and the last breath escapes from my dying body please don't throw away the old worldly possessions that I have clung to since the moment of my birth - my body. Let it be my last gift to the living. It has been my dwelling place for many a year and has served me well. I have done my best to take care of it and keep it running well so do not throw it into the ground to rot or into a fire to burn.

Use my eyes to help a blind child see the light of day or a young mother the face of her child. Use my organs to replace those of people who know nothing but endless days of pain and anxiety. Use my blood to restore the crushed body of one dragged from the wreckage of a car or plane. Use my bones and my muscles to try to find a way to rebuild the crippled body of a child. Study my brain to find help for those whose own brains have never functioned normally. Or give my entire body to an enthusiastic young medical student whose head is filled with dreams of miracles and unknown cures. Let him cut it up in little pieces and examine every part so that when the time comes for him to operate on the living he will be ready.

The funeral is said to be a necessary part of the grieving and recovery process for the friends and family of one who dies so have a memorial service if you must, but don't display my body in an expensive casket and fill the church with costly flowers. Use the money instead to feed a hungry child or educate a young person whose

THIS NOW

The way we deal with waste has improved considerably over the years.

THEN: From early times right up to the last century, people threw their household refuse out the cave mouth, doorway, window or whatever they had. In colonial times, pigs roamed the streets of America's towns, feeding on garbage.

NOW: People are reducing litter and solid waste while earning money. For each pound of aluminum (about 33 cans) taken to any of Reynolds Aluminum Recycling Company's 850 collection points across the country, they can get 20 cents. A leader in recycling, Reynolds has made more than $100,000,000 for need aluminum.

Hardisty District News

Your reporter was fortunate to be able to accompany the Gilbert-Tilman family to the "Flag staff Lodge on December 18. That was a nice time to go as the Rhythm Kings from Longhouse were entertaining the guests.

The Rhythm Kings consist of Mel Larson, violin; Connie Lagvaldon playing drums; Ray Kelenyuk played the accordion and the other two were Joe Ingvigstad and Allen Cockson. Ray was the main soloist and their music was lovely and the items chosen were very popular with the Lodge members. The Strong Ladies Club brought up two boxes of Japanese oranges for the Lodge members and former Hardisty residents, Mrs. McClements, Mrs. Wilkie, Mrs. Brown and Olga Nelson were remembered with treats as they were all former residents here.

The community was saddened by the passing away of Mrs. Tom Gathorne just before Christmas. Her funeral was December 24, and a time indeed for the family. Raymond lives in Fort St. John and Betty Ann lives in Kamloops. Debbie (Gathorne) granddaughter who married name I do not know, was there with her little daughter, Sandra November, who is about a month old.

Services held for Otto Sorenson

Otto George Sorenson died suddenly at home on Friday, December 14, 1979. He was 63 years old. He had lived all his life on this same family farm near Viking where he had been born on January 6, 1916, the son of Ole and Martha Sorenson. He was baptised in Golden Valley Lutheran Church on February 9, 1918.

Otto was educated at Poplar Hill School and at the age of fifteen left school and began farming on the family farm. He has farmed ever since and took joy this year in finishing the last of the combining himself.

On December 9, 1968 Otto married Thelma Severest and together they have made a home and raised a family, three sons and one daughter. Otto loved his family and his joy in being a husband and father.

He celebrated family life and rejoiced at Leonard and his wedding and at the engagement of Alvin and Lois.

Otto's interests and affairs have been simple ones—family life, his family, his home and his work. He enjoyed his work and did it well. Recreation and he had the pleasure of watching his sons take over and expand the work of the farm.

Otto was a Christian and he lived his life under the sign of the cross and in sure hope of the resurrection from the dead. God's Word and his hearing, reading, and study were as natural to him as breathing. He provided the opportunity and encouragement for his family to attend Bible School and be grounded in God's Word. He served his Lord in the Church and sincerely desired the health, strength, and unity of the Church in every way.

Otto was predeceased by his father in 1962 and mother in 1960 and by two brothers in childhood.

Rejoicing in the memory of his life and love are his family: Thelma, his wife; his sons, Leonard, Alvin, and Gordon; and his daughter, Marie. His brother Carl, and his sister Myrtle Arntsen, one son, Sule Sorenson, one niece, Evelyn Bradley, and three nephews, Austin, Raymond, and Martin Arntsen. His cousin here in Canada include Stan Sorenson, Karen Cottrell, Lillian Pitmanville, Olaf Sorenson, Melvin Williams, and Nellie Cummins. He also has a number of cousins both in Norway and in the United States.

The funeral service for Otto Sorenson was held on Tuesday, December 18, 1979, at Golden Valley Lutheran Church in Viking, with Pastor Tim Johnson officiating. Each of his sons participated by reading a lesson and giving a greeting to the congregation. Also taking part were Pastor Dave Larsen, soloist Stan Sorenson, and organist, Ilse Sorenson. Favorite hymns of strength and faith included "A Mighty Fortress is Our God," "Joy to the World," and "On Our Way Rejoicing."

Active pallbearers were nephews Austin, Martin and Raymond Arntsen, Ed Dipe, Don Litwin, Will Leidl, John McIntosh, Harry Rasmus, Bob Stevens, and Elmer Thompson.

Blessed be his memory among us.

Same three opponents

By Kerry Anderson
Incumbent Arnold Malone will be seeking another nomination from the Progressive Conservatives in the Crowfoot Riding, while his opponents will probably remain the same being: Liberal, Jack Horner; and NDP Roger Milbrant.

Malone won the position of MP for the Crowfoot Riding in the May, 1979 election by a landslide with 29,293 votes, more than tripling all opposition votes.

Crowfoot PC nomination meeting will be on January 13.

Horner, on the other hand, is hoping stage will change. The former MP, and Liberal Minister of Industry, Trade and Commerce said that he will put aside his personal plans and go on the Political Campaign trail once again.

Horner said that he would be using this campaign to tell Albertans what the Conservative budget means to the Liberals and to explain why he feels it is bad for Canada.

Menu for your cattle

By Roger Andrews, D.A.
In any dry or beef operation, you want to maximize your efficiency and profits. An important thing needed to get the maximum dollar return is to meet your animal's nutritional requirements. The Alberta Cattle Nutrition Home Study Course can help you plan a menu for your cattle, in order to get the most from your available feed. Rations can be planned around climate and economic conditions too.

Here is a short outline of the course material:

Lesson 1: Introductory Nutrition and Physiology; a discussion of the basic concepts of ruminant nutrition and their particular digestive systems; the components of food and the main units of energy.

Lesson 2: Energy and Protein; a discussion of the energy and protein requirements and deficiencies of cattle.

Lesson 3: Major Minerals; a discussion of the major minerals with a focus on Calcium, Phosphorus and Magnesium.

Lesson 4: Trace Minerals; a discussion of functions, requirements and deficiency symptoms of many trace minerals.

Lesson 5: What's in a Feed? a discussion of various feed types, characteristics and nutritional values; factors affecting quality.

New writer on staff

The Community Press in created its staff to eight Wednesday with the addition of a reporter, Kerry Anderson from Calgary.

Kerry completed a two-year journalism program at the Southern Alberta Institute of Technology in Calgary in June, 1979. The following six months before moving to Sedgewick, he worked on The Claresholm Local Press.

Editorially

Our correspondents

As The Community Press nears seventy-one years of service to this district it seems an opportune time to pay a well-merited tribute to the faithful reporters who send in news of their districts regularly.

Many of these correspondents have served loyally over a period of many years. At the same time they have rendered a valuable service to their respective communities in publicizing the activities of organizations and recording community progress. Actually, this constitutes a historical record of the development of many enterprising communities, one that is of great value. A rural correspondent in many areas renders a service to her community that could not otherwise be obtained.

The task of being a correspondent is no sinecure, as it involves considerable phoning and interviewing in gathering the news and preparing it in the form of copy for the typesetter. You, who live in these centres could render a much appreciated service to your particular correspondent by phoning your news to him or her, instead of making her phone you. Also bear in mind that the country correspondent is the backbone of most weekly newspapers, for many native sons and daughters of the surrounding districts now living in various parts of the globe, pay the rural reporters the compliment that: "The paper is like a letter from home."

Weekly newspapers are placed in the top category of personal journalism because they contain in every issue personal items about people our readers know. The Community Press has been fortunate in winning awards in the Alberta field in past years and also in the Canadian Newspaper Competitions. This would not have been possible except for the support of our many regular contributors.

"WHITE AS A SHEET"

NOT ONLY has a new year started but also a venture into a new decade, and frankly the prospects for peace on Earth and Goodwill Toward Men looks a bit grim.

DISPARITY is often the instigator on internal dissatisfaction, and when combined with poverty ignites the fuse for a civil explosion. Sadly enough such outbursts are not contained within the confines of the disturbed nation, but overflow its boundaries, involving others. There are always those who seek to profit from anguish and cannot constrain themselves from selling arms to aid and abet, sometimes going to the extreme of exporting troops, essentially with a view of spreading its philosophy and enlarging its sphere of influence. It is then such concentrations spread to the point of engaging other innocent peoples who likewise wish to protect their investments.

IT WAS JUST to restrain such activities that the League of Nations was formed shortly after the First World War; a League which for the most part proved ineffective simply because the co-operation of nations so necessary to allow it to function adequately, was lacking. You can only control the actions of nations if they are willing to see the wisdom of decisions, and acknowledge that while they may be presently rearmament, they have a long-term benefit. When this fails to be the case, the usefulness of an organization is redundant. Thus for the most part the League of Nations became almost useless and closed its activities on failure to achieve its goals.

PRESENTLY the League has been replaced by the United Nations, a title which has turned out to be almost as ineffective. Its members are not united and never will be. Its very set-up and constitution lends any degree of union, except that half of its members are

"Ladies and gentlemen . . ."

Diagi Diagi Round two is about to start.

After the preliminary round of feeble sparring the boxers, Joe, Pierre, Ed and Fabien, retired to their respective corners for a Christmas break. They are returning now to the ring having had a whiff of smelling salts and stuffed with turkey (come with crowl).

The public is the poor referee caught in the middle as the four finalists swing and try to knock out everyone in sight, or at least dance a little with their well choreographed foot work. Be prepared to be pummeled about the ears and spending the next 47 days suffering from a numb brain.

The first polls are out and the heavy favorite is an aging former champion Pierre "Smells like a rose" Trudeau who has come out of a recent retirement to try and win back the title. There is some discussion in his dressing room. Some think he might end up knocking himself out flat on the mat.

Another competitor has tried to knock himself out several times, even when not in the ring. Joe "Who" Clark is a relative newcomer who managed to steal the crown from Trudeau the last time they fought it out but many think he failed to keep in training over the summer and fall. The odds makers say he will have to work hard before going into the ring on February 18 if he expects to emerge the victor.

A steady swinger is Ed "The King

toppler" Broadbent who helped Trudeau beat up on Clark in a dark alley last month. He has been steadily plugging away but lacks support in his own corner and has to carry his own waterbucket and towels sometimes. Some better put Broadbent ahead of Clark if he had the right trainers.

While Trudeau and Broadbent were ganging up on Clark the fourth man in the ring, Fabien Roy sat quietly watching. Those in the know expect that if Fabien is to succeed he is hampered by Roy's attempts and he is expected to lose quite a few rounds. He can be disqualified early for lack of aggressiveness.

So grab a big bag of popcorn or peanuts and sit back and watch the action. Keep your scorecard handy and be ready to total up the points on February 18.

Oh heck, it's Monday

Our congratulations to the people of Nevis. They don't want cars speeding through their hamlet on orders from Hon. Henry Kroeger's Alberta Transportation. Hence their open letter this week against raising the speed limit, which they have presented to County of Stettler Council. The people of Nevis and Erskine are still smarting from Mr. Kroeger's remarks about the insignificance of their towns when he picked up a speeding ticket in Erskine.

The absence of this column in the past few weeks definitely does not mean that none of us did anything noteworthy. In fact, none of us were just too busy making news to find the time to write it for the paper. It is amazing how a new house and a new baby, arriving simultaneously, can spend our time. But, having begun a new year and a new routine, here I am searching again for news. Please call me at 388-8888.

The vases and candles were dedicated in memory of Mr. Lloyd Tanton by his wife, Sheila, and the children. After the service, the Tanton and Rawluk families gathered for a large family dinner at Thelma's.

Strome, Killam, Patterson, Church of Canada.

In his letter to the church at Rome, Paul writes that he is eager to preach the gospel to them.

The apostle Paul, who has preached in synagogues, has preached and shared his faith in many of the churches which meet in the homes of individual believers.

He has shared his faith with religious leaders and political leaders, and he has also shared his faith with the "average man" on the street.

Paul had also, however, lived for a considerable length of time outside of the gospel, outside of an intimate relationship with Jesus the Christ. He knew by experience what it means to be "on the other side" of the gospel. He knew the gospel with the heart and freedom and power that comes into lives with meeting Jesus as Lord, and he would others to experience that too. So he preached and

It now appears that more than 770 Alberta farmers can receive about $820,000 in compensation for damage caused by this perennial problem - "migratory waterfowl".

Of course, I'm referring to the recently completed negotiations on the Canada Alberta of the Crop Damage Compensation and Prevention Program. Handed on behalf of the province by the Honorable Bill Vander, Alberta's Minister of Agriculture, and the Honorable J. A. McLeod, Minister of the Environment, the agreement obliges the federal government to contribute, to a maximum of $800,000, half of a possible $1.6 million in compensation fund. The provincial portion of the program is funded on about a 50/50 basis by Alberta and Alberta farmers.

These money are now being applied against claims submitted for destruction of certain unharvested grain in 1979. Whether the grain was trampled or eaten, the damage must have been caused by migratory waterfowl such as ducks, geese and cranes.

In light of the problems we experienced in years past, the recent negotiations went relatively smoothly. As part of the total package, funding for the Waterfowl Crop Damage Prevention Program for 1979-80 was also decided in Alberta. The federal and provincial support for the Prevention Program could total up to $200,000 with the federal government and the province sharing the cost on a 50/50 basis.

I'd like to discuss the compensation program in a little more detail. The program is a benefit to both the farmer and the environment. Beginning farmers, some of whom have never before been affected by the problem, are now national boundaries, they often conduct what you might call "border" flights. Therefore, control of migratory waterfowl is a joint responsibility. For this reason they can be justifiably shared. For most of the century they have been protected by an agreement between the United States, Canada and Mexico which governs migratory land management over North America.

However, these ducks, geese and cranes also cause major grain losses on their annual migrations. Along the route they often pass by a lot of a farmer's, and this "migratory time" often results in acres of crop being trampled to the ground leaving the grain in no time to be harvested. To the waterfowl it may be just a bit of a lark, but to the farmer it has in the past meant millions of dollars in lost sales.

Recognizing that waterfowl grain damage was becoming a problem in Alberta, the federal and provincial governments decided to share the cost of a cost-sharing compensation and prevention programs in 1972.

As part of this deal the governments provide good information and education. The provinces handle most of the administrative work, paperwork and promote prevention by having provincial and Prevention Agreements were developed as temporary solutions. Yet, compensation has seemed to be common, unfortunately, a perennial stop-gap solution. When it began, programs were limited to $25 per acre. That remained unchanged until May 1979, when the federal government agreed to double the maximum per acre claim to $50. Unfortunately, they did not provide for a corresponding increase in total funding. Alberta's total claim for 1979 was about $1.6 million. The most recent average claim of $33.90 per acre makes that

Less than 12 months later, we have a totally different situation. 1979 was relatively good, and that reality is what we want. Therefore, the total funds available, $1.6 million, are more than enough to cover all acres (125,000) for which damages are being claimed. The average per acre claim ($33.90) is also well under the set maximum.

I'd like to emphasize that the program is not a handout. It is meant to be a temporary measure, designed to spare farmers from a problem over which they have little control.

To ensure proper participation, all damaged acres must be inspected by an official of the Alberta and Crop Insurance Corporation which handles all compensation claims on behalf of the province.

Farmers making claims must pay an inspection fee. Even then, the $50 per acre maximum is not assured. The most recent average claim of $33.90 per acre makes that

Killam gymnastics club registers 55

Approximately fifty-five boys and girls were registered for the first session of classes held at the Gymnastics Club in Killam. The session was a great success.

Every one learned a great deal and had a good time. Four girls from the advanced class presented a gymnastics dance and tumbling routines at the Killam Hospital Christmas Show and were very well received.

Parents were invited to the last class of the session where the children displayed the skills they acquired during the previous eight weeks.

The club is now preparing for its second session of the season which will begin on Thursday January 17. This session also promises to be most exciting. As well as the regular Thursday evening classes we plan to offer two weekend clinics. The first of these clinics will be co-sponsored by the Club and the Alberta Winter Games Association. This clinic will be for coaches and those interested in learning gymnastics coaching skills as well as for gymnasts and is tentatively scheduled for some time in February. The second clinic which will be a Club sponsored clinic will focus mainly on the dance aspects of gymnastics. In form, balance, grace, leaps and movements, and will feature a professional ballet dance instructor as our guest instructor. No date has been set for this clinic as yet.

The coming season will begin on January 17 and will continue every Thursday for fifteen weeks thereafter. Registrations for the session will be taken on January 14 at 7:00 p.m. at the Killam Agriles. If you have any questions about the registrations, the club, the classes, or the clinic please call the coach, Cynthia Bujold, at 385-3022.

Gretna Good Will Club

The Gretna Good Will Club met at Melba Cameron's on December 18th with six members and one visitor in attendance.

The previous minutes were read and adopted. Our Christmas party was discussed and all plans were finalized for a party at Bell-Hill Hall on December 29th.

A pot luck supper, followed by games and Christmas carols.

The treasurer gave her report and due to the absence of our card reporter we didn't know how many cards were sent in November and December.

The next meeting is to be held at the home of Cherie Armstrong on January 9th with Mary Albert as co-hostess.

The meeting adjourned and then we had our Christmas exchange of gifts. These gifts were placed under Melba's beautiful decorated Christmas tree. With this Christmas surrounding it made us all feel very happy and grateful that we are so fortunate.

Our gifts were all so very pretty and such a variety, it sure shows that all great minds don't think alike, but we all had the Christmas Spirit.

The hostess had us seated at her dining room table for our beautiful Christmas lunch. Melba was assisted by Etta as co-hostess and they served us such a wonderful Christmas assortment of calorie loaded goodness. Christie was the lucky winner to have the lucky tea cup, and Helen O'Reilly won the hottest prize. Weather wise and the roads were both okay so with every gift going our way we all enjoyed a very Merry Christmas meeting.

Gretna Good Will hold Christmas party

The annual Christmas party was held at Bell-Hill Hall December 29th. This year we had a pot luck supper, and what a supper. We served turkey and the trimmings. I think all the ladies that brought food must have known what good cheer was bringing because there was every kind of vegetable, salads, pies, cakes and coffee plus ice cream, tea, coffee and Tang. You name it and we had it.

Followed by this beautiful supper was a grand assortment of games, guessing contests, real active games, about ten games of board and vegetable Bingo. We then sang lots of Christmas Carols. After this program we had ten hands of "Big Whist". Everyone seemed to have had a very enjoyable evening and "thankful" us so much for the sociable time.

There were 42 persons who signed the guest book. Thank you one and all for coming and all the best for 1986.

Gretna Goodwill Club

The annual meeting of the Gretna Goodwill Club was held at the home of Christine Armstrong on Wednesday afternoon, January 9th, with 5 members and 2 silent sisters present. Minutes of the last meeting were read and approved of also last year's annual meeting. Old business was attended to and outstanding bills for the Christmas party were paid up with cash on hand, as Rita the Treasurer was unable to be at the meeting mostly due to the cold weather.

Helen Sutherland gave her report on cards sent to the sick and shut-in etc. and there had been a goodly number of greetings sent out during the year.

Marlene Simpson, as past president, then opened the meeting for the election of officers. This gave us the following slate of officers: President - Christine Armstrong; Vice-president - Marlene Simpson; Secretary - Helen O'Sullivan; Card Convener - Helen Sutherland; Reporter - Mary Albrecht.

Next came the guessing of who was whose "Silent Sister." This proved very amusing and interesting and grateful for the Club as only 4 out of 10 members guessed correctly. The rest had to put their dollar in. After everyone had looked at their farewell gifts and the excitement had died down a bit, we drew new members for the coming year. Better luck at guessing next time Sister!

The February meeting is to be held at Marlene Simpson's on the 15th with Helen Sutherland as co-hostess. Roll call is to be home made valentine cards.

Our visit to the Flaxstaff Lodge was mentioned again and we decided to take in a lunch and a few guessing games and play some bingo. Helen Sutherland is to make inquiries as to what day would be most convenient for the Lodge to have us go in - preferably the latter part of the month.

A lovely lunch was served by Christine and Mary and the Lucky Tea Cup winner was Fay Davidson and Christine got the Hostess prize. See you all at Marlene's next month.

December 17 Meeting

Patty brought the meeting to order. Joanne led the pledge and Tracy with O'Canada.

"What do you want for Christmas?" was asked for roll call.

The secretary's report was read and adopted, seconded by Cheryl. The treasurer's report was read and adopted, seconded by Cathy. We made $91.80 on the bake sale and now have $387.90 in the bank.

Patty adjourned the meeting. Mrs. Arntsen suggested that we have points for a prepared speech for next meeting.

We then had some names and drew for the gifts.

The Christmas party was enjoyed by all.

January 14 Meeting

This meeting was held on January 14 as it was too cold to go out.

Patty brought the meeting to order. Susan led the pledge and Cathy led the O'Canada and Cathy led the pledge.

"What winter sport do you like?" was asked for roll call.

The secretary's report was read and seconded by Cheryl. The treasurer's report was read and seconded by Joanne.

Mrs. Arntsen was not there this meeting so there was no public leaves, she turns and looks back at her busy family and all the things that had done some good to the new members and their mothers.

Patty adjourned the meeting and we went to our units. Lunch was served to close the evening.

COME ALIVE

Rev. Robert Chappell

"DOES ANYONE BELIEVE THE VALUES OF LIFE?"

At this time, I would like to share with you some of the thoughts and feelings that are expressed in beautiful poetry in Thornton Wilder's play called "Our Town."

In this play, Emily, a young lady who died in her early years, was permitted to return to her home in Grover's Corners, and to live for one day with her family. For that one day, Emily chose to return on her 18th birthday.

On returning to earth that day, she discovers that all the members of her family are so frantically busy for each other, she wishes with her mother, "Mum, Mum, just look at me for a moment, just stop and look at me if you really see me."

But the ceaseless activities of the family continued. Eventually Emily cries out, "I cannot take any more! I don't know so quickly, and we do not even have the time to really see each other. When I was on earth, I never realized that."

Emily then requested that she be taken back, but was not public leaves, she turns and looks back at her busy family and all the things that had done some good to the new members and their mothers.

Patty adjourned the meeting and we went to our units. Lunch was served to close the evening.

Further Education Activities

During 1979, the members of the Council of J.F. staff Further Education offered 84 courses to a total of 897 adult students in the County of Flagstaff, with only 30 courses cancelled due to lack of eight adults registered.

Volunteer contacts are doing a terrific job in all areas of the county. Your volunteer is an important person and very concerned about adult education - why not give her a ring?

Registration of courses in many areas seems to indicate we are meeting some of the needs of Adult Education in this county.

There is no limit to what Lakeland College can offer us - but lack of interested people seems to force cancellation.

Besides the courses offered by Flagstaff Further Education the District Agricultural and Home Economist have conducted a number of courses through the Department of Agriculture funding programs, as well as Lakeland College opportunities. Our geographical location make expertise costly to import, however, we like to think almost anything is possible, so try us.

A qualified, Deductive Driving instructor is available to teach in our area. Express your interest to your local contact.

Federated Mechanics at Killam - A basic course in mechanics - requires moving students or cancellation is a must. Young ladies doing a lot of driving alone would find this course most helpful.

Christmas party for Clothing Club

On December 13th the Daysland 4-H clothing club held their Christmas party in the United Church basement. The party was lots of fun. First we played many different games and then we had a delicious lunch. Everyone hurried through lunch because the opening of gifts was next. Each member of the club brought a gift and put it under the tree. Then each one went up and chose a gift. After everyone was finished opening their gifts we all picked up and helped clean up.

Winter Wonderland

These two photographs illustrate the beautiful scenic winters in the County of Flagstaff. Both were taken after a powdery snow fall on this wintry region of Alberta. The upper left, taken at the residence of Harry Munro in Killam shows how frost can glorify even the most exquisite of Weeping Birch trees. The upper right reveals the elegance of the park on the north end of Main Street in Sedgewick.

Energy - first issue in election

Peter Loughheed is off enjoying a warm winter holiday and avoiding a cold federal election—but the Alberta share of oil revenues of the national political parties are making sure Alberta oil stays front and centre in the February 18 campaign.

With serious campaigning hardly underway, all three parties say that energy policy is the first issue on the order paper.

"The Conservatives, by defending the budget that defeated them, certainly offer the best deal from the Alberta treasury's point of view, although voters across the country who will loat the bill may feel differently come election time. Under the Tories' plan, Alberta's share of oil revenues would remain almost constant (in the 40 to 45 per cent range). Perhaps more important, the Conservative policy calls for prices to quickly rise to 85 per cent of world levels and then stay there."

The Tories would grab more money than Ottawa currently gets, both through an expanded excise tax at the gasoline pump and through changes in other taxes. These would be used to finance an energy self-sufficiency bank.

The Liberals, in Pierre

Trudeau's first policy statement, were vague on details promising only that "fairer" would be found to deal with increased energy needs.

Trudeau pledged there would be an increase in the excise tax at a Liberal administration takes office. Past experience shows the Liberals would likely opt for a more gradual increase in oil prices and might well hold out for a higher federal share of revenues generated from the oil.

The NDP wants Ottawa to end up with 65-per-cent of the increased oil take and cut the industry share substantially.

Loughheed, Bill Davis of Ontario and the multinational oil companies.

The Clark plan, led by Ed Broadbent, says would give Alberta $75 billion in petroleum dollars by the year 2000, causing "not only more injustice but also greater tension within the west."

Alberta Agriculture

From time to time in this column, you've seen me discuss research and its importance to our industry. Usually, it's been consigned to some announcement regarding our Farming for the Future program.

Administered by the Agricultural Research Council of Alberta, Farming for the Future is an important five-year effort that has introduced a new emphasis to our agricultural research sector through a judicious injection of $10 million in new funding. Because this program has already fostered some interesting and rather high-profile projects, it has received a great deal of publicity. But, in-house, Alberta Agriculture also conducts a wide array of research projects that continue to seek out needed information and technology. In this column I would like to concentrate on one of these — the Alberta Agriculture Food Grain Research Program.

Located at Lacombe under department's Field Crops Branch, this project has been in place for some 15 years. In these eight years has become one of Canada's major barley breeding programs. In case was innocent enough — a simple request from one of the province's producer marketing organizations.

In 1972, Edmonton Producers Marketing Board asked the government to conduct research into a better quality, winter-balanced barley variety. To conduct this research, Dr. Jim Hahn was assigned to the project. The assignment has been difficult, because the barley industry is so large and diverse. However, the project has been successful in many ways.

It is no wonder research is so important to our industry. Unfortunately, research takes time. We mustn't expect returns overnight. Our barley breeding program is just starting to give results after eight years. We expect more from this area.

I have other concerns. They come from the impact of our research manpower to the limit. Having a small population of researchers, like most researchers, many good ones will soon be retiring. One thing we must do is encourage talented young people to continue their education and assume a role in the critical field of agricultural research.

Another problem is, for lack of a better term, money. Researchers, like most of us, tend to be most effective at problem-solving when they are not concentrating on a specific area. If we had a larger pool of researchers, maybe we could cover all the aspects. Our small supply of personnel means we may be overlooking alternate ways of handling critical problems.

Some changes in current thinking patterns are necessary. Just as we producers find it tough to give up a farming practice when the industry was "tired and true", so researchers must continue to look at new methods of problem-solving. Just maybe, there is a better way to get the job done.

It's worth thinking about, especially if we are to make effective use of the technology that is definitely coming our way in the future.

THE GREAT HORNED OWL

As you prepare to see a large owl with prominent hoots, let me tell you the owl, then you are fortunate enough to see the Great Horned Owl. Although Great Horned Owls are plentiful in Alberta, they are often difficult to see because, even in winter, their colour and form blend into the surrounding landscape.

The Great Horned Owl breeds through the Peace Provinces, west into the Rocky Mountains, and south into the prairies. They can be found in both deserts and coniferous forests varying from extensive heavy forests, to scattered groups, scattered owl and their relatives.

Unlike most birds, the Great Horned Owl does not build a nest but rather is a nomadic bird, moving from place to place, in a cavity of a tree, or even in a cliff ledge.

During the day the Great Horned Owl sits motionless near the trunk of a tree, watchful of movement and prey that are always ready to make a dash. Once spotted, it will fly and when it flies, it is very silent. It can fly over a tree and make a sound which tells you it is coming without making a sound as it is in the vicinity. Once quickly gathered around the clearing and, depending on how it is, it will either fly away or stay. The owl then makes out, and it is closely followed by the noisy tomorrow.

At night, hungry and alert, the Great Horned Owl flies silently through the woods in search of food. It is a fierce hunter capable of killing grouse, ducks, rabbits and even skunk and porcupine. The indolent hares, fox and badgers are regarded as pests, as is usual in all cases.

Although Great Horned Owls are fascinating to observe, they are capable of harming humans or human structures. No great care should be taken not to disturb their nesting sites.

No other birds escape perhaps the Canada Jay, nest as early in February or early March than the other. When nesting calls can be heard through the forest. Usually only 2-3 eggs are laid, and incubation time is one month. By the time the first signs of spring appear, the young owls are already learning to hunt for themselves. And, well, well, well, well, well.

The true magnificent appearance of the owl makes its selection as our provincial bird emblem in 1977 a pleasant choice.

WATCH NEXT WEEKS PAPER FOR DETAILS OF EVENTS

Lougheed News

Mr. and Mrs. Jackie Johnson and Brandon accompanied the weekend in Edmonton guests of Mr. and Mrs. D. Chanda.

I wonder how many people read the Editorial in last week's paper. There is truth in that write up. May be it is hard to get the reporters by phone, there is always pen or pencil and paper to write on and if you go to the Post Office or even a store, they will get it to their reporters. So many people far away enjoy the news from their home towns in the local newspapers.

Mr. and Mrs. Bill Rostledge have returned home from 3 weeks holiday in Victoria. Ron, June and Bradley Rostledge returned from Nelson, B.C. to spend Christmas with them.

Carol Marschal and her Aunt spent a few days with her sister in Sherwood Park. They returned on Thursday.

The Lougheed Women's Institute Library Committee has been working in the library building in the books. While doing this they have discovered that there are quite a number of books out and some overdue quite awhile. So look around your home and see if there are some of these books. We would like to have them returned to the Library.

Welcome to Miss Ellen Anderson. Ellen has taken up residence in the Verdant Valley Villa in Lougheed. Mr. and Mrs. John Ramsden of Dauphin Manitoba and Jim Ramsden of White River Yukon spent the New Years holidays with the Jack Ramsdens here.

Latest news has been received that Dora Ness, Michael Krotzsch and Vern on Seethers are on holidays in British Columbia. They put on skits and plays which were very enjoyable. The letters put on a skit enjoyed by all.

Santa arrived after the concert and gifts were exchanged followed by lunch.

On December 17 all 5 clubs from Heister put on a Christmas concert. They put on skits and plays which were very enjoyable. The letters put on a skit enjoyed by all.

News from Hardisty District

Congratulations to the winner of the $80 voucher won by Mrs. Lynne Ross and donated by W.S. Pedlar Agency.

Sympathy to Mrs. Marg-aret Cherran and the other Cherran relatives on the sudden passing away of Gordon age 58. It is a real shock to the community as Gordon was depended on so much by his family. Very fortunate that brother Keith from Maple Creek, Saskatchewan was there visiting.

Another shock to the sudden passing away of Mrs. Esther Melumstrand. She will be sadly missed by her husband Ingrid and her family, also her sisters and other relatives.

Each year the first white baby born at Aniak 70 years ago saw many changes in that community through the years. Being very gifted as a writer of articles, news items, etc. and a very active member of the community she will be sadly missed by many. Her daughter Renee worked in the Hardisty Bank for some time quite a few years ago.

Her sister Alma Wallsten taught at St. John's school 1940-1945 and worked for the bank for some time.

Constitutional change

Quebec Liberal leader Claude Ryan's proposals for constitutional change in Canada have drawn early guarded approval from the Lougheed administration.

While Ryan's blueprint for change in the country is aimed mainly at supplying a federalist alternative to the Parti Quebecois independent strategy, it has attracted interest across the country as an indication of what kind of changes they have to be made to keep Canada together.

Liberal MNAs from Quebec discussed the paper's contents in advance of its release with all other provincial governments. It is generally acceptable, Alberta Intergovernmental Affairs Minister Dick Johnston says. "We are allied in the sense that we are pursuing constitutional change."

Alberta has some concerns over Ryan's ideas of control over resource development. Claude Forget, the MNA who discussed the paper with Johnston, said the Liberal leader's idea was that federal intervention in any provincial energy jurisdiction would take place only in the event of "extreme crisis."

Ryan would replace the Senate - it would have both federal and provincial representatives but the federal people would have no vote.

Johnston said Alberta feels the current first ministers' conferences already serve the purpose of the federal council. Alberta believes that the division of powers between federal and provincial powers should be clear, rather than setting up some intermediate body.

He said he also doubts that any body such as the council would serve to eliminate regional differences in the country: "I don't think you can reduce the rivalry and competition between the provinces by providing a mechanism to resolve their disputes."

One area where Alberta and Quebec are heading in the same direction concerns the naming of Supreme Court of Canada judges. Premier Peter Lougheed has long argued that the provinces should have some input in determining who sits on the nation's highest court because of its role in settling constitutional issues.

Ryan's proposal would see all Supreme Court appointments - as well as those of chief officers of Crown corporations - subject to approval by a Federal Council that would be controlled by the provinces.

Alberta disagrees with the idea of the Federal Council itself, however. The council as envisaged by Another area where Ryan's proposals would win general agreement from Alberta would be the proposed expansion of provincial jurisdiction into areas such as communication, manpower and culture.

Flagstaff Further Education Activities

Further Education activities throughout the county seem to be getting people involved in the "Learning Field".

While some courses only attract the required number of eight students, we find it necessary to cut-off registration in others. The Craft course in Sedgewick has 14 students participating, with some turned away.

Though the course has two instructors, they could hardly handle more than the 14. More courses of this type could be arranged if the resource people in the various areas would come forth to teach. Instructor fees are paid by Further Education and courses can be set up through your local contact, but we must have the persons willing to teach. This Craft course includes knitting, crocheting, needlepoint, tatting, petit point, crewel embroidery.

Conversational Norwegian has been well accepted by 14 students with Thordis Taylor as instructor. This group meets weekly at Sedgewick Central High School.

Swedish dance in Killam got off to a good start during the past week, while folk in the Hardisty area are getting excited about cross country ski on February 23 and 24 (weekend).

Keith Smith of Sedgewick High School Staff as the instructor.

An evening workshop on "Income Tax" for individuals is planned for January 30, at Sedgewick High School, from 7:00-10:00 p.m. A fee of $2.00, with pre-registration encouraged. Leave your fees at Sedgewick Fashion.

The ladies (with men welcome) are looking forward to Yoga in Heister, thanks to the efforts of Rose Weller, also Macrae is scheduled for January 28th. Get in touch with Rose if you have some other ideas for further education for the folks in the Heister area.

Hopefully, next week I'll get more news to report on courses in other points in the county. Jean Johnson.

Midnight shopping

Cumberland's Menwear of Sedgewick was robbed on the weekend on January 12 of clothing valued between $500 - $600.

The intruder took clothes of only one size. "There was money to take," said store owner Colin Cumberland, but he didn't touch it. Entry was through the back door. RCMP are still investigating the case.

Yellowknife team to play Sedgewick

Yellowknife Marauders will travel to Sedgewick to play hockey against Sedgewick Sabres and the all-star rec team at the Sedgewick Rec. Centre on Friday and Saturday.

The Marauders are in first place in an eight-team senior league up north. Their record is a very respectable 14 wins, four losses, and one tie for 33 points.

Yellowknife will play the Sabres on Friday at 8:00 p.m. and the Rec. All-Stars at 3:00 p.m. on Saturday. The All-Stars will be a mixture of players from Sedgewick, Killam, and Gord Smith of Lloydminster. Coaching will be the organizer of the affair, David Muirhead.

The Liberals though, were split apart during World War I due to Laurier's objection to conscription. Most French Canadians were behind his disbelief, but many leading Anglo-Saxons left Laurier and entered a coalition government headed by the Conservatives.

William Lyon Mackenzie King ingeniously guided the Liberals out of the wartime mess by gaining the parties leadership in 1919, and becoming Prime Minister in 1921. King kept his party in power almost constantly from this time until his retirement in 1948, by constituting a middle-of-the-road social welfare state.

During this span, he accumulated quite a reputation and holds the record for maintaining the office of Prime Minister, 21 years and five months.

Replacing King was Louis St. Laurent, who tried to follow in King's footsteps by maintaining the same policies while moving ahead in time. These aging policies caught up with the Liberals leaving them less susceptible to change.

The Conservatives under the leadership of John Diefenbaker took advantage of the Liberal problem and won the 1956 election by seven seats to capture a minority government. The 1959 election proved even more disastrous for the Liberals and leader Lester B. Pearson, who gained leadership after St. Laurent's retirement, as they managed to gain only 49 seats.

The Liberals changed many of their policies and bounced back winning a minority government in 1963 and again in 1965.

A new Liberal leader was chosen in 1968, Pierre Elliott Trudeau. He was able to combine his personal appeal with the gaining of urban, middle class support. He managed to secure the Liberals a majority in 1968. (Continued on Page 2)

Editorially

Rehatching memories

Well, on February 18 we go to the polls once more, but this time with a different attitude that we went with last May.

The majority of Canadians, according to the last Gallup Poll, seem to want Pierre Trudeau to lead this land into the water, a task he had not quite completed during his last 11-years in office.

Like the children following the pied piper, we succeeded a group of Liberals whose lackluster governing and arrogant leader knocked us to the canvas.

Sure, we saw the right-cross coming and countered with the Progressive Conservatives, but we were off-guard and knocked-down with a flurry in the form of a non-confidence vote.

It has been estimated that it takes a new government four-months to get organized when taking office. Considering the mess the PCs walked into, they should have been given more than seven. That is what I call hanging men without a trial.

The NDPs and Liberals showed their thirst for power in the aggressive action. Sure they are thirsty, but is there any reason to put their party before their country? I should say not, after all, their political goal is supposed to be for the betterment of the country. I hazard to believe that leaving the country unstable and taking another $600 million from Canadian's pockets is not showing good faith.

Anyway, now that Trudeau is ahead once more, he is keeping a low-profile so as not to rehash any memories in the minds of Canadians. If he just stays out of the spotlight until February 18, it looks like he will probably be our Prime Minister once again.

The charismatic one will again put the flute to his lips, and we will follow in a trance. Whether the full term or not is irrelevant, for it seems the majority of us wish to hear his music once more.

The Third Column

BY TRUNCATE
"I WRITE AS I PLEASE"

REFUSING TO TALK about an unpleasant situation, hoping it will go away if not mentioned, is tantamount to sweeping the dirt under the rug. If it can't be seen, it isn't there. That may be the surrounding logic, but it is not the logic of the Third Column. Nothing less will ever convince.

YET WE CONTINUE our ineffective, half-hearted attempts to be tough. We threaten sanctions but, we talk Embargoism. But, we propose that we suggest action. But, all of which does nothing to frighten, does nothing to convince and does nothing to elevate. Talking tough about the social development of a big dog does nothing to eliminate the fact; it only arouses animosity. Continuing a situation here in the office for the only means of possible eradication of a potentially dangerous and damaging affair.

IF YOU HAVE never read any of the official releases on communism, if you have never been interested in such or heard of it, perhaps you should enlighten yourself on the subject. It is not a big deal, outlined in such releases as the Communist Manifesto and other pro-communist propaganda. It would summarize the whole thing by saying on the one hand, to condemn the entire universe, and say devices means adopted to accomplish the goal of the Communist. It is every ready to take two steps backward to give one step forward. It is a policy of integrity, love, fair play and humanitarian instincts are signs of weakness and one who exposes the soft underbelly of weakness look for an attack. Such is their policy and such they continue to do and we ignore it at our peril. Yet we continue to expose our weakness, to rationalize, to retreat, to forgive and we ignore it at our peril. Yet we continue to expose our weakness, to rationalize, to retreat, to forgive and we ignore it at our peril.

Our basketball teams had a very busy week. On Wednesday, January 16, the teams played in Hugenheim with the boys winning their game and the girls losing by a score of 25-23. On Thursday the teams motored to Provost where both teams won. On Friday and Saturday the girls participated in a tournament in Provost. They defeated Provost 35-18 and then lost to Swift 33-30 and then lost to Hugenheim 38-33. During the past weekend Garnet Eckstrand and three former Central students, Don Jack, Rudy Rasmussen and Geoff Fry participated in the Northern Alberta Junior Men's Basketball Tournament. They defeated a risk from Kilolety in their first game and then lost to Grande Centre in an extra end and lost their final game to Darren Pelt, a former Canadian champion. These games are curling at a very competitive level and are to be congratulated for their success.

Our efforts at fund raising for cross country are getting more and more successful. Brad Lewis, Jeff Collins and Marvin LaFayette, who collected bottles in Kilolety, we can now purchase our first set of skis.

Mastered Jeagwin Principal

but was reduced to a mere shadow in 1972. In 1974 he regained a majority Liberal government.

With the increasing isolation in the 70's, and a sinking Canadian dollar from 1974 on, Trudeau was under considerable onerousness. The Liberal government seemed somewhat, what, meekness. In the 1970's the Liberals were leading the Conservatives in probability of winning the February 18, 1980 election.

Following Mass on Saturday evening, relatives gathered at the Mel Proctor home for a surprise party to celebrate Mel and Jennie's 35th wedding anniversary.

There was dancing! Pat Louch (Jennie's sister) and the anniversary wait for Jennie and Mel to start followed by their former students. Henry Nielsen, Jennie's brother and Marge Simons (Mel's sister) were also present. There was lots of singing! With the singing of "May the Good Lord Bless and Keep You" the family made a presentation to the parents of matching dinner rings with topaz stones. Anne Manning (Jennie's daughter) gave a recitation.

Relatives from out of town were Lloyd and Vicki Proctor from Rocky Mountain House, Joe and Mary Proctor from Red Deer, Pat and Gilbert Nielsen from Camrose and Marge Simons from Edmonton. The community extends its congratulations to Mel and Jennie.

There was a weekend of curling at the Strone Curling rink with four risks entered in the Senior Men's Curling League on Saturday. From Camrose, Swift, Bruce and Strone were entered. The Strone rink consisting of Mel Proctor, lead; Cliff Robbins, second; Gordon Leck, third; and Bruce Leck, fourth, defeated the Brian Doran rink of Grace in the final game. The heck risk is now entering the Northern Alberta playoffs to be held in Edmonton.

Dot and Sig Johnson visited Jack Alexander in the Killoch hospital and also Mesdames Serrard, Grand, Somers and Mr. Haugen Star in the Auxiliary.

Poor turnout at parent-teacher meeting

Are you concerned what your child does now - hours for 197 days of the year? It was hard to see the concern when only seven families were represented out of a possible 104 at the parent-teacher meeting held at Killoch Public School on Monday, January 21, for which teachers outnumbered parents. We would like to thank the few teachers who showed their interest in our children as to attend the meeting.

Our most meeting is tentatively set for March 24, to see a better turnout of parents - if the teachers show concern - surely we as parents can make an effort.

It has been quiet at Killoch Public since the last

Mr. Tiffen distributed the results of the questionnaire which had been sent to parents prior to parent-teacher interview. 64 questionnaires were returned with some of the most interesting - it was felt that the questionnaire had been well received - adding in parent-teacher communication.

Informal discussion followed on some of the questions and Mr. Tiffen explained the requirements of pupil promotion for Grade 9 to high school.

Mr. Borth asked for the parents and teachers assistance in viewing their children as a questionnaire, concerning the structure of

A question of national will

By Jean Lachance.
The "accident" which plunged Canada into another election a few weeks ago could never be called a victory for the Canadian people or a progressive step in the handling of the nation's affairs. Not by a long shot.

In addition to the $50-60 million the new election will cost, Canadian voters are being asked to settle the same difficult question they faced last May: who is better equipped to handle the responsibilities of government?

It is more of a dilemma than a question. The real choice is between the erratic and sometimes inept Conservatives and the worn out, dedicated Liberals, although the NDP could spoil either scenario.

Recent political history in Canada tells us that a potential backlash against those who provoked yet another election might result in an overwhelming mandate for the Conservatives. When this last happened in 1965, parliamentary opposition virtually ceased to exist in this country. On the other hand, the Canadian voter may well confirm last May's verdict and perpetuate the existing instability at the federal level at a time when the nation, with 25% of Canada's population, is preparing to choose its own political destiny.

There is no doubt that issues such as leadership, the Conservative budget, and the voter's appreciation

News from Central Hill

We have just learned that two of our students-Francis Nielsen and Karen Miller have been selected to attend the sessions of the Forum for Young Albertans. The girls will each spend one week in Edmonton and Calgary hearing first hand about the operations of the federal and provincial governments. The tuition fee for the program is $100.00. The school will be canvassing local organizations to assist the girls in this very worthwhile program.

Our basketball teams had a very busy week. On Wednesday, January 16, the teams played in Hugenheim with the boys winning their game and the girls losing by a score of 25-23. On Thursday the teams motored to Provost where both teams won. On Friday and Saturday the girls participated in a tournament in Provost. They defeated Provost 35-18 and then lost to Swift 33-30 and then lost to Hugenheim 38-33.

During the past weekend Garnet Eckstrand and three former Central students, Don Jack, Rudy Rasmussen and Geoff Fry participated in the Northern Alberta Junior Men's Basketball Tournament. They defeated a risk from Kilolety in their first game and then lost to Grande Centre in an extra end and lost their final game to Darren Pelt, a former Canadian champion. These games are curling at a very competitive level and are to be congratulated for their success.

Our efforts at fund raising for cross country are getting more and more successful. Brad Lewis, Jeff Collins and Marvin LaFayette, who collected bottles in Killoch, we can now purchase our first set of skis.

With the increasing isolation in the 70's, and a sinking Canadian dollar from 1974 on, Trudeau was under considerable onerousness. The Liberal government seemed somewhat, what, meekness. In the 1970's the Liberals were leading the Conservatives in probability of winning the February 18, 1980 election.

The regular meeting of the Senior Citizens was held January 16. After the regular routine of business a letter was read from the Minister of Culture regarding our application for a government grant for the building of a plan for the senior citizens lounge which met with approval and cheque enclosed. A committee was appointed to inquire about prices on used or new pianos. The annual reports followed. M. Gibb the recording secretary outlined all activities of the year. There were 12 meetings held. Membership of 86, $80 visits to sick and shut-ins reported got well and sympathy cards sent and 3 memorials given, purchased kitchen cupboards and 100 cup coffee maker, 10 decks of cards and a scrabble board.

We had several guest speakers. Mrs. Johnson spoke on adult education. Brian Baulo on programs at the Agriples and Paul Bujold from PSC. We had a pot luck supper, a picnic at the Ball Park with other senior groups invited. Several bus tour slides, demonstration of smoke detectors from Anway. Served pacanaka breakfast for rodeo in Jan. Members cleaned and weeded the town parks. Also cleaned and filled and planted the flower boxes on main street. Two bus tours were organized, one to Portland, Oregon and one to Yellowknife. Majestic Tours appointed Amy Robinson as tour agent for this district with profits being turned over to Killam Senior Citizens.

The treasurer's report by Laura Cotton showed a good amount of money handled with membership dues. Quilting $155.00, card games $180.00, paper salvage $308.00 (Killam's share). Made donation of $300.00 towards equipment for the hospital, $300.00 to Elks to be applied on fire insurance and $100.00 to Killam Appleplex. Reports were given by the lunch committee, phoning and card party and prom reporting. The entertainment committee put on a Christmas party for patients in the hospital with a program of music. Tina Blumhagen, Annie Bev, Ruth Granger, Lawrence Hoffman and Ed North with their instruments provided the music. Ed North was called on to give extra number on his violin. WATCH FOR FUTURE SURPRISES!

Look At The Fix We're In

Clark proposes a study on a fair split of resource revenue.

- 1) If Clark wins this election he then will believe that he has a mandate to take more resource revenue away from Alberta and give it to Eastern Canada.
- 2) If the Liberals win the election and Alberta votes solidly P.C., Trudeau will assume that Alberta has voted for a more equitable split in resource revenue.

The only way Albertans can protect their Heritage Fund is to reject Clark and his proposals, vote Liberal, and thus deliver to Ottawa a message to keep their hands off our Heritage Fund.

KALEIDOSCOPE

By Elaine Stewart, DHE

68% of Canadians are too fat.

This was a headline which appeared in an October 1978 issue of the weekend magazine "The Alberta".

The Week-end took a poll in 22 Canadian urban centers and came up with the following results. 68% of Canadians believe society discriminates against fat people and 70% feel that overweight members of the opposite sex are unattractive.

41% of the people polled said they were overweight and 24% were on a diet. An interesting fact was that of the people who felt they were just right, 18% were on a diet. (Here's where we can see its important to maintain our correct weight once we do get it down to where we want it.)

It seems more women are overweight than men, but when men are overweight, they are really overweight. Here's how they break it down:

Miss Women
Av. wt. 187 lbs 133 lbs.
Ov.wt. 36% 47%
Av. Surplus 29 lbs. 15 lbs.
Dieting 36% 43%

Of the people polled, 50% of those in the Eastern provinces were overweight, 27% in Quebec and 35% of those on the Prairies. (Does that fit in with our long, lean cowboy image?)

live in a "thin is beautiful" society.

(Information written by Betty Breh, DHE at Diet-ter).

For as cool the Diet Detective computer will analyze your diet. It will give you an indication of what nutrients you are eating in excess and which ones you are lacking.

Lets Talk It Over - With Gordon

My shopping list for 1980. For Jack Cookson, Minister of the Environment, more studies of the Battle River Basin let's get a pipeline started from the North Saskatchewan to Battle Lake.

If we get two dry years back to back I doubt if we're going to have enough water at Gwynne and Dried Meat Lake to supply the cities of Camrose and Wataskewan. From Alberta Power at Fortuworth, plus all the water that is being injected at the Hardisty and Coronation Oil fields.

Now that Imperial Oil has an application to use Department to remove millions of gallons of water from Coal Lake, Dried Meat Lake's side of farmers depending on Battle River for stock watering. Also our department handles the Heritage reclamation fund of some 2 1/2 million for reclamation of abandoned coal mines and gravel pits. How about a few dollars to restore our local historic site, Dried Meat Mine?

My fishing partner, Tom Chambers, Minister of Public Works, some say self-contained, calls for Stroma, Hay Lakes, Dried Meat and Rosedale. How about a Provincial Building for Killam and Camrose? They are badly needed, especially in Killam.

Henry Kruger, you're a good man to know. Your budget isn't astronomical yet, but thanks for the consulting and building a park from the Heritage fund. It should be along the line of the 27 million dollar Fish Creek Park in Calgary or the 41 million dollar Capital City.

For my neighbor to the west, Dallas Schmidt, Minister of Agriculture, please bring in a new policy of leadership for the Agricultural Development Corporation in Camrose, especially as it pertains to beginning farmers.

Education, you're doing a heck of a good job. Thanks for visiting Camrose this coming February 27, and by the way, we will be asking your support them for a Kearns-Wagner type of school for Camrose and central Alberta.

Nell Webber, Associate Minister of Telephones, your patience is unlimited. I bet there are times you wish you could have thrown me out of your office, but Nell I'm grateful for your help and co-operation in helping my constituents deal with A.O.T. Also for the new plant in east Camrose and for the new exchange that will be going up in February 13 along with a delegation of A.O.T. subscribers from south of Hiley who not only want, but need direct dialing service to Camrose.

Peter Trychly, Minister of Parks and Recreation, I need your help to convince our town, the Premier, that we should be developing and funding a park from the Heritage fund. It should be along the line of the 27 million dollar Fish Creek Park in Calgary or the 41 million dollar Capital City.

BATTLE RIVER BEEF
"Deck the halls with boughs of holly." This is what everyone heard on December 22nd as the Battle River Beef Club went Christmas caroling.

They had a very nice time around Alliance. They then went out to Harold Spinks and had a delicious supper. Everyone was excited as the girls were handed out and opened. After the excitement of the evening had died down, everyone went home.

Whist drive held at Bellshill School

Old man winter snow gave us a bit of snow last night. People that were out in it said it was snow and was very hard to travel in it on the highways and by roads. Some school buses didn't get to every farm to pick up the children.

There was no wind and we still hope some will come until this snow gets settled.

Mr. and Mrs. Porter O'Nally of Sedgewick and Mr. and Mrs. Hank White were Monday night, January 14th supper guests at Mrs. Margaret Charan of Hardisty. Margaret's sister Julia Trice of B.C. was also there for supper.

Teddy and Dianne Drager of Wataskewan and a friend from Wataskewan were on their way through a snow in Sedgewick, called in to

Anglican Church

Mr. Ned Butcher and Mrs. Bonnie Brodie are patients in Dayland Hospital, and Mrs. Doris Brunetti is entering University Hospital in Edmonton. Hope to see them all home soon.

Mr. Alvin Gonsky of Longford reports that he is now comfortably established in his own home. Alvin is now busy studying the art of housekeeping, to add to his farming and musical talents.

Baby James Martin made his first bus trip to Edmonton last week, accompanied by his parents, Greg and Donna. He found it to be enjoyable, if exhausting experience.

Mrs. Mary Russell and daughter Colleen of Sedgewick were Edmonton visitors for a few days last week. The rector reports some notable absences from church on Sunday. It seems that some fortunate parishioners were enjoying the Ice Capades in Edmonton.

Miss Margaret Martin is back home after a few days stay with the Coburn grandparents at Longford. If you are between the ages of 8 and 14, why not join the Rector Training group at the Sedgewick Parish Hall on Tuesday evenings at 7:30. Contact Rev. Courten for information.

Our sympathy is extended to the family of Mrs. Lily Stewart of Killam. Funeral services for Mrs. Stewart were held from the L.L. Hall in Killam last Monday.

Get well wishes to Mrs. McElenrich of Flagstaff Lodge, who is now a patient in Hardisty Hospital.

AN OPEN LETTER FROM THE PREMIER OF ALBERTA

Within the next few months, the citizens of Quebec will be asked to make a decision about their role in Canada's future. Quebec is an integral part of Canada and all of us wish it to remain so.

Albertans will be asked shortly to sign a "people to people" petition addressed to all Quebecers, urging them to remain Canadian and to continue building with us this vast nation of ours. This petition is a unique opportunity to speak to our fellow Canadians in Quebec, and it has my full support.

To highlight our province's commitment to Canada, the Alberta Government has declared the week of February 3 - 9 as Canadian Unity Week. As one who is proud of his Canadian heritage and who cherishes the enriching presence of a variety of cultures within our country, I ask each Albertan to do his or her part to keep this land strong and united.

Yours sincerely,

Robert F. Pickard

Hardisty overpass may be a reality

The overpass is not going to be built overnight, said Hardisty Town Council's Secretary Treasurer, Wes Pedler, Friday at the town office.

"We've been working on it for 20-years and finally it has received some attention," he added, in speaking about the proposal for an overpass above the dangerous railroad crossing on the east end of town which was discussed at the last council meeting.

The crossing is downhill from the road and allows a limited time for cars and trucks to stop. Trains leave their propane tanks by the intersection to enable themselves to get another group of tanks from the Titan Oil Liquid Propane Plant south of town. The trains then lead the tanks in Hardisty before going on their way.

Adding to the problem; seven school buses cross the intersection twice a day, tanker trucks cross it with oil from Hardisty, and the crossing separates one of the main routes from Hardisty to Wainwright.

Of the proposals for solutions, two seem most likely; building the overpass further south with the addition of a new road to the intersection line which runs into highway 18, or building the overpass south with a road going directly from it to highway 13.

Although the overpass is the one that has ever been realistic, it still must be given the go ahead. "It still must be approved by the provincial government, the railroad, and from the transportation commission," said Pedler, "and costs haven't even entered into it yet."

Sedgewick skaters do well in test competition at Stettler

On Sunday January 20, six teen loads of skaters and parents, left Sedgewick early arriving in Stettler for the third class of the program. It was a very full day for the skaters as well as their teacher Mrs. Janice Arntsen.

At noon the ice was a very colorful array with a parade of the 19 clubs in club colors. There was a total of about 300 skaters on the ice at this time. Sedgewick showed very colorful in their red and white colors complemented by two Canadian flags. Rocky Mountain House took the prize for the parade with a very attractive group dressed in white and burgundy.

The afternoon was very fruitful for Sedgewick with Kathy Whitten placing the judges by taking first place in the Red Ribbon category. Girls Beginners, which consisted of 33 skaters placing 23rd, being her first place in this strong competitive class of skaters. Congratulations girls. Our juvenile with 30 skaters saw the girls Denise Hagen and Dorothy Dje stand in 11th and 16th respectively, showing well in this strong competitive class of skaters. Congratulations girls.

The Dutch Wals was won by Angie Blaser and Kathy Whitten with Denise Hagen and Dorothy Dje coming up with a sixth out of 30 pairs of skaters.

At the end of the day saw the girls very tired but very happy as they failed very well for the first competition for most of them.

A lot of the success can be attributed to hard work on the girls part, more so the credit should go to their teacher Janice as she worked very hard to get the girls prepared for Stettler.

Thanks to Janice for the excellent job she did with the skaters also to the mothers and fathers for their time and co-operation as well as support to the girls.

With Tracy placing 10th, Shanna Stueberg competed in the Girls Bantam along with 35 competitors. She placed 9th in this class. Congratulations Shanna.

Lougheed receives grant

A $4,500 cheque will soon be received by the Village of Lougheed from the Alberta 75th Anniversary Commission to be used to commemorate Alberta's anniversary.
An Anniversary Committee will be organized by Lougheed to decide which proposals to accept in spending the money. Serious consideration will be given to those projects that provide lasting benefits and are designed with Alberta's 75th Anniversary in mind.
Subcommittees are invited by both individuals and groups to be given to the Village Office. Specific indications should be given as to how the money should be distributed.

Forechecking boosts Sabres

A nine-goal second period outburst due to solid forechecking lifted Sedgewick Sabres to a 13-4 victory over Yellowknife Marauders in an exhibition senior hockey game at the Sedgewick Rec Centre, Friday.
Sabres were guided to the win by Tom Watkins who scored six goals, four in the second period and two in the third.
"We played heads-up hockey in the second and third," said Watkins, "we had lots of chances, but I've had the first period but just couldn't click."

Yellowknife scored the three goals in the first period, playing good defensive hockey and capitalizing on its scoring opportunities. They backed-up their first period but just couldn't click.

the lead away from Marauders, with a goal from George Lepard, two from Bill Rose, and another by Rich Berghuis.
From this point, Watkins took over, scoring the winning goal at the six-minute and 49-second mark in the second period, and adding the other five by the end of the game. Rounding out Sabres scoring was Lester Golder with one in both the second and third periods.
Part of the Marauders' problem was that they were missing a couple of key players and were a little bit disorganized.
Weaver was one of a few Yellowknife players who performed well. Getting two goals and one assist, he was a main reason the Marauders weren't shut out. Others were Lyle Beason and Gary Sibbald who added a goal, with defencemen Jerry Hauka and forward, Dave Walker, also playing well.

A third period check against the boards caused Marauders, Dallas Weaver to break a tackle. Weaver flew from Mexico, where he was vacationing, to Edmonton, where he missed the team van ride to the game. He took a cab from there to Sedgewick, costing him $100. "I had taken the Greyhound I wouldn't have made it in time for the game," said Weaver.
With the Sabres' efforts taken into consideration, and the whole team for that matter, organizer and player, Dallas Weaver wonders why only about 35 spectators made it to the game. The Yellowknife team travelled 1100 miles to play in Sedgewick. It must be disappointing to them when only a few people came to watch."

The party of course, is Alberta 75 - a celebration of the 75th anniversary of the province's entry into Canada. The budget is $14.8 million, which could make it the most expensive celebration the country has ever known. Saskatchewan, which is also celebrating its 75th anniversary this year, is spending $6.6 million. When Canada celebrated its centenary in 1967, the federal government's budget was only $37.7 million.
Bob Dowling, the former cabinet minister who heads up the birthday commission, rejects criticism that the heavy budget is "flaunting" Alberta's current wealth. "The dollars are being returned to the people of Alberta."

The biggest share of the budget - $41.3 million - is going straight into the hands of local government at the rate of $30 for every person in their unit. The money goes to the city councils, municipal districts, counties, even Indian bands, for spending as they see fit - although most are opting for the provincial suggestion that it be spent on lasting capital projects.
The provincial government has opted to stay away from the "big single project, such as the Northern and Southern Alberta Jubilee Auditoriums that were built to mark the province's 50th birthday.
Major direct provincial investments include an Alberta-produced Canadian encyclopedia ($4 million) that will be sent to every school in the country. Almost $4.6 million is also being spent on the Homecoming Program urging former Albertans to return to the province for a visit. The biggest headache has been the private projects sector where $8.5 million has been set aside for projects selected by private organizations.
Confusion has been rampant here. One kennel club, for example, discovered it was an approved project after merely making an inquiry while another that had been in regular communication didn't make the list.
Funding has also been approved for a wide variety of conferences ranging from national engineering meetings to a group called Cerebral Unimpaired - a group nobody has yet been able to locate.

Yellowknife goalie, Dennis Roy comes up with this one.

Canadian unity?

Although the issue which was indeed major during the May election, Canadian Unity, has been practically ignored by politicians thus far in the upcoming election, it has apparently not been forgotten by Canadians.

February 3-9 has been proclaimed "Canada Unity Week" in Alberta by Premier Peter Lougheed. A petition has been sent to The Community Press to get signatures to be presented to the people of Quebec, from people from all parts of Canada. The petition asks Quebecers to remain in Canada, for they are a large part of Canada's success and future.

The petition was organized in Charlotte-town, P.E.I., where confederation was conceived and will be distributed throughout the country. It will be presented to Quebecers from fellow Canadians in late spring prior to the referendum.

Mayors have been asked to make sure that someone or some group will organize a local campaign. The Community Press invites all local people who recognize the problem to come and sign our petition.

We are presently living in a divided country, which is trying to gain some national identity. When Canada was formed 113-years ago, both English and French-speaking Canadians agreed to accept each other's rights, dignities and symbols of paranthood. These rights have been neglected and offended, and the only way we can solve them is to understand and accept the French with a fair exchange of cultural benefits.

The 1867 Confederation was designed to let French-Canadians develop in accordance with their own culture. After over a century, they have become aware of three major things that discredit that Confederation.

First, whenever other French-Canadians, living in other provinces that Quebec, have sought equal rights to those of English-speaking Canadians, the 1867 Constitution has proved to be powerless. Thus, they have been pushed back to within the boundaries of Quebec, where their rights apply.

The lack of provincial action for equal rights proves to be point two. Although it was assigned to the provinces in the Confederation of 1867, their lack of action has prompted the federal government to step in and undertake the situation. Any provincial government wishing to employ actions after this, must follow suit or lose major financial advantages.

Thirdly, fast growing government interventions in formerly local or private initiatives no longer allows the French-Canadians to develop as well as they wish. Education in 1867 was a vital instrument for the self-expression of the French in Canada. With federal activities becoming more intricate, the French-Canadians want to keep control over such areas because their survival will depend on it.

With the vast intrusion by Americans with such potent means as transportation, cinema, radio and television, French-Canadians have become aware that, although they hold a strong minority of about 30 per cent in Canada, they constitute a tiny group in comparison with the English-speaking community in North America.

Canada could give hope to a world looking on, which is troubled severely with these same divisions. Canada would prove that peoples can live together within a common border although having differences, but solving them, or at least coming to a mutual agreement that both would be satisfied with.

Solution, there is none in sight, at least none that French-Canadians can induce themselves. The problem now rests in the hands of the remainder of Canadians. We must try to understand the problem and act on it, and the people to people petition for Canadian unity is a step in the right direction.

The Third Column

BY TRINACRE
"WHITE AS I PLEASE"

AN ACCLADE TO Steve Strome's proposal that the Federal Minister in charge of sports, along with other sports, a gold engraved Canadian Maple Leaf as a tangible reward for courage and valour. Of course Patrick's rich doesn't go along with that. Patrick O'Callaghan that is publisher of the Edmonton Journal. You see Steve and Patrick are coming to know up a mess of potshots that will be tasty to some and unavary to others.

MINISTER STEVE has placed his side eleven bragues squarely in the centre of the front page of the Journal, and stopped the press, something you don't do without causing consternation in the front office.

THE JOURNAL is currently publishing an International Indoor Track and Field Meet which it considers the biggest thing since the fall of Afghanistan, and right in the middle of its glowing palaver Steve kicks in the glass door of its proceedings and says "Non. Mon Ami, no Muskies at the Games." Let them go home and beat their swords into plowshares. It raised the hackles of Patrick's pride and he proceeded to brand Steve as "Cynical"—in other words, "attempting to build up the Games." What else? Perhaps our Patrick should seek himself in his private life and not so openly justify his naivete. He may justify his being gored, but that is no excuse for ignoring all the going on out elsewhere. His statement that Russian athletes from the games will not "chase the Russian flag" is one that didn't need attesting, for Steve, or any other else for that matter, fully realizes that fact. Yet it is just another step among the growing movements about at Strome to chip away at letting Moscow know we don't wish to have any "russ" trade" has as long as she persists in pursuing her present ways. A student of the Strome constant chipping away is the only way to split and shape a stone. He may deliver 90 paces without result, but the 100th does the trick. But don't underestimate the value of the 99 blows which paved the way. I SUSPECT that Patrick is a member of that diminishing number of individuals who believe politics should not enter sports, that the two do not mix. At least not congenially. But they are being mixed, and that's a fact. Water and gas don't mix either, at least not satisfactorily, but there's still water there.

EVER SINCE THE DAY away back when the Greeks laid aside their two-legged and spent the day with their two-track only long enough to play the games, politics has been a part of the whole affair. Remember back in 1888 when Hitler took down the Olympic Flag and re-party for Dorothy. The ladies brought dinner with them and presented Dorothy with a gift. The sympathy of the town and district is extended to Mr. and Mrs. John Nehaus and family in the loss of their son, George in B.C.

Mabel Robson and Dorothy Sprague drove to Wetaskiwin to visit and have dinner with their cousin Anne Frank and Owen Angus. While there they gave some assistance to the ladies who are compiling a book on the Angus Ridge district.

James Gordon visited at the parental home this past weekend. Joanne and Harvey Hosen and Jerry and Marilyn Lawson will on Thursday for a brief holiday in Las Vegas. A meeting of about 75 Strome and district residents was held in the Community Hall on Saturday night, January 26th for information and clarification of rumors concerning a proposed Group Home for Wayward Boys (ages 12-16) for the Village of Strome. Pastor Tom McLaughlin acted as chairman.

Present were representatives from the Village Council, Pastor Tom, P.E.S. Director, Gordon Strome, M.P. for the area; Doug Munro, Principal of Strome school. Also present were: James Allen, Bob Carpenter and Ken Ward - youth workers.

Questions were asked by concerned individuals and they were politely answered. Though the concept of a group home is favorable and the need for one in this area is a possibility, no necessary steps have been taken to ensure that one will be placed in Strome. Coffee

Made in Canada?

The Trudeau Liberals say that, before February 16, they will announce "a made-in-Canada (oil) price that is fair to all Canadians. . . . How can they? Don't the Liberals know that Alberta Premier Peter Lougheed is one of the country until mid-February?

Of course they know, but they don't think it necessary to consult with Alberta on a national energy policy. They don't take the constitution seriously when it says provinces enjoy ownership over natural resources. If they did, they wouldn't promise to act unilaterally on the major and sensitive issue of energy: a classic federal-provincial issue.

As much as it tries to hide its wrinkles, this is the same old Liberal party, hopelessly out of touch with Canadian realities and famously opportunistic in the pursuit of political power. Not even Liberal intentions to keep election promises vague conceal their contempt for proper consultation in governing the country. They will announce the crucial details of a "national" energy policy as though Alberta didn't exist.

It doesn't exist, the constitution exists, and the Liberals simply must come to recognize these facts. The only promises worth serious attention last weekend were Mr. Trudeau's commitment to abolish to Tories' 16-cent excise tax on gasoline and the Tories' home mortgage tax credit plan.

The Liberal platform emerges, vague and arrogant at the same time. Where is the effort to win the West?

Letters to the Editor

Dear Editor,

I wish to comment on the past weekend being Minor Hockey Week. Many thanks and our love go off to the coach and assistance coach of the Sedgewick Foxes. Mr. Hill Innes and Mr. Terry Robson coach these boys and took it upon themselves to make the most of Minor Hockey Week by asking business' in Sedgewick to donate six hockey sticks and awarding these to the three outstanding players at Saturday and Sunday's games. Of our local Saturday's stars were first: Gailie, Darren Lewis and second Captain Larry Ness and on Sunday third Assistant Captain Perry Sparrow.

Also the players lined up at centre ice to be introduced.

OH, IT WOULD BE beautiful if we could all live together in peace and harmony, in perfect union and concord, but I am "Cynical" enough to believe that we have not reached the stage in the affairs of men when such is about to take place. It's just too idealistic. All we can do is be realistic enough to realize the facts, while being willing to bring something better about. But without cooperation from others it cannot happen. To engage an old adage once again, "It takes two to Tango."

Kinzer fills the net

Kerry Anderson
Blake Kinzer scored 10 goals as the Rec. All-Stars demolished Yellowknife Marauders 24-9 in an exhibition Recreational Hockey game Saturday at the Sedgewick Rec. Centre.
Garlan Poyser opened the rout with an early first-period breakaway goal as a pass from Rick Truss. Yellowknife tied the game soon after, on a shot from in front by Captain, Bob Weaver.
All-Stars regained the lead with a shot from the slot by Kinzer, and added another on a wrist-shot from the left-wing by Reg Grant giving Rec. a 3-1 lead.
Marauders tightened the game to 3-2 still early in the first-period on a goal by Dave Walker from in front. That was as close as Yellowknife was to come back on the All-Star's though, as the Rec team chalked up four more points in the first, which ended 7-2.

Kinzer, from Killam Rec. team, scored most of his goals from in front of the Marauder goal. Being allowed to move around in the slot, he didn't hesitate to put the rebounds into the net.

Although the Marauder defense played poor, the All-Star's forwards played excellent, with the end result, Yellowknife goals. Jenna Roy spent most of the game scooping the puck from the mouth to centre line. Although Roy played poorly himself, he must have wondered if the All-Stars had an all-game powerplay, for the puck seemed almost constantly in or around his goal.

The main reason Rec. All-Stars even gave up nine goals was because every member of the team was trying to score, and score, and score. The defense seemed to break-down with every point they used to raise up the score.

Bob Weaver again played exceptional for the Marauders, scoring three goals and assisting on four more. Weaver was almost the entire scoring punch for Yellowknife, and when he got off the ice, the team couldn't get anything organized.

Rebounding out the scoring for Marauders was Dave Walker and Lyle Reason with two, Jerry Hutsuka and Stu Bremner added singles with memorable mention going to Bud Weaver with two assists.

Also scoring for Rec. All-Stars, here we go, was Garlan Poyser, with four more, Merlin Arntsen with three, Glenn Poyser scored two, with singles scored by Kevin Kinzer, Rick Truss, and Collin Kinzer.

Another "large" crowd of about 15 interested fans "crowded" into the arena to watch the teams play. Throughout the two game days by Yellowknife Marauders, they handled the defunct like gentlemen before, during and after the games.

Covering Grains in Transit
Do you use a tarpaulin when you haul your grain? Research studies have shown that at today's grain prices you can save enough wheat in a three-ton load to pay for the tarpaulin.
For example, the Manitoba Department of Agriculture reports that 17 bushels of wheat were lost from an uncovered three-ton truck travelling at 30 miles an hour over eight miles in an 18-mile an hour wind. At today's seed wheat prices this represents a loss of $61.20.
Alberta Agriculture carried out tests on oats, barley and rye, and reported, based on an uncovered truck, a truck with wind baffles and a truck covered with a tarpaulin. The truck carried a three-ton load over a distance of six miles at an average speed of 50 miles an hour in a wind velocity of five miles an hour. The following table shows the results.

Grain	Cover over box Net Loss (lbs)	Net Loss ($)
Oats	Level box with no cover	58.3 $88.64
	Level box with wind baffles	3.0 $ 4.35
	Level box with tarp	Nil Nil
Barley	Level box with no cover	17.3 $36.70
	Level box with wind baffles	2.0 $ 4.35
	Level box with tarp	Nil Nil
Rape	Level box with no cover	22.5 $26.36
	Level box with wind baffles	3.2 $ 2.36
	Level box with tarp	Nil Nil

To calculate the net loss ($), the following prices were used:
Oats - per bushel $1.45
Barley - per bushel $2.25
Rape - per bushel $7.50
Apart from the fact that the Alberta Seed Control Act states that "No person shall move or cause to be moved any machine or vehicle if such machine is likely to cause the spread of noxious weeds or seed seeds," it would certainly be very difficult to justify hauling an uncovered load of grain today when a good tarpaulin costs only about $75.00.

Alberta Minister of Agriculture

Alberta Agriculture

Everyday, land, prime agricultural land, is being lost to non-agricultural uses. This is a fact no one will question. This issue has even led some to suggest that some form of public authority be established to guard against loss of prime farmland. The idea has not gone unchallenged. Often, it is farmers who profit from any initial loss of farmland. Owners of wooded land, again farmers in many cases, argue they have the right, subject to local authority, to dispose of their property as they see fit.

Since we live in a free society, we cannot ignore what is an established right. It is a right this government supports. And if things were to be changed, then we must be prepared to compensate farmers for the potential loss of capital gain.

I realize my comments are general. But so things now stand, the issue is still being discussed. We also need more information.

For instance, we know Alberta's total land area is about 660,000 square kilometers. Of this, about 10 per cent is under cultivation. However, a key area where we need information is in the conversion rate of good farmland into non-agricultural uses.

Many agencies are involved, each being responsible for a specific sector. Unfortunately, many are not obliged to keep the specific information we need. If we do, few are required to give the data to us. Sometimes it is also difficult to obtain co-operation from agencies that may oppose each other in the business arena.

Still, efforts are being made to improve co-operation among the agencies involved. I have little doubt that the requisite information will be forthcoming in the next few years.

This government is now concerned about land use. On many occasions, I mentioned rights — the rights of a landowner to sell whatever he or she wishes, and the rights of a farmer to farm his or her land. And just as we seek today to protect energy sources for following generations, so too farmers' children also need to have available suitable land for farming.

Unfortunately, some of this will come from the large bank of Crown Land the government currently holds. About 62% of the land in Alberta is Crown Land.

Large tracts of either natural or by future technology held potential as farmland. Through legislation the government can ensure this land remains in agriculture.

The situation with wooded land is slightly different. Even now, with prices skyrocketing, farmers are being lured to sell their wooded land. If prices continue to rise, farmers will find it difficult to find the capital funds to replace their operations. If prices continue to rise, farmers will find it difficult to find the capital funds to replace their operations.

When we talk about the disappearance of prime farmland, how do we define "prime"? Around that definition involves the issue. At this time we use the Canadian Land Inventory soil capability ratings, which have many classes based on soil and climatic conditions. When we use the term "prime", we generally refer to Class 1, 2, 3, 4, 5, 6, 7, 8, 9, 10, 11, 12, 13, 14, 15, 16, 17, 18, 19, 20, 21, 22, 23, 24, 25, 26, 27, 28, 29, 30, 31, 32, 33, 34, 35, 36, 37, 38, 39, 40, 41, 42, 43, 44, 45, 46, 47, 48, 49, 50, 51, 52, 53, 54, 55, 56, 57, 58, 59, 60, 61, 62, 63, 64, 65, 66, 67, 68, 69, 70, 71, 72, 73, 74, 75, 76, 77, 78, 79, 80, 81, 82, 83, 84, 85, 86, 87, 88, 89, 90, 91, 92, 93, 94, 95, 96, 97, 98, 99, 100, 101, 102, 103, 104, 105, 106, 107, 108, 109, 110, 111, 112, 113, 114, 115, 116, 117, 118, 119, 120, 121, 122, 123, 124, 125, 126, 127, 128, 129, 130, 131, 132, 133, 134, 135, 136, 137, 138, 139, 140, 141, 142, 143, 144, 145, 146, 147, 148, 149, 150, 151, 152, 153, 154, 155, 156, 157, 158, 159, 160, 161, 162, 163, 164, 165, 166, 167, 168, 169, 170, 171, 172, 173, 174, 175, 176, 177, 178, 179, 180, 181, 182, 183, 184, 185, 186, 187, 188, 189, 190, 191, 192, 193, 194, 195, 196, 197, 198, 199, 200, 201, 202, 203, 204, 205, 206, 207, 208, 209, 210, 211, 212, 213, 214, 215, 216, 217, 218, 219, 220, 221, 222, 223, 224, 225, 226, 227, 228, 229, 230, 231, 232, 233, 234, 235, 236, 237, 238, 239, 240, 241, 242, 243, 244, 245, 246, 247, 248, 249, 250, 251, 252, 253, 254, 255, 256, 257, 258, 259, 260, 261, 262, 263, 264, 265, 266, 267, 268, 269, 270, 271, 272, 273, 274, 275, 276, 277, 278, 279, 280, 281, 282, 283, 284, 285, 286, 287, 288, 289, 290, 291, 292, 293, 294, 295, 296, 297, 298, 299, 300, 301, 302, 303, 304, 305, 306, 307, 308, 309, 310, 311, 312, 313, 314, 315, 316, 317, 318, 319, 320, 321, 322, 323, 324, 325, 326, 327, 328, 329, 330, 331, 332, 333, 334, 335, 336, 337, 338, 339, 340, 341, 342, 343, 344, 345, 346, 347, 348, 349, 350, 351, 352, 353, 354, 355, 356, 357, 358, 359, 360, 361, 362, 363, 364, 365, 366, 367, 368, 369, 370, 371, 372, 373, 374, 375, 376, 377, 378, 379, 380, 381, 382, 383, 384, 385, 386, 387, 388, 389, 390, 391, 392, 393, 394, 395, 396, 397, 398, 399, 400, 401, 402, 403, 404, 405, 406, 407, 408, 409, 410, 411, 412, 413, 414, 415, 416, 417, 418, 419, 420, 421, 422, 423, 424, 425, 426, 427, 428, 429, 430, 431, 432, 433, 434, 435, 436, 437, 438, 439, 440, 441, 442, 443, 444, 445, 446, 447, 448, 449, 450, 451, 452, 453, 454, 455, 456, 457, 458, 459, 460, 461, 462, 463, 464, 465, 466, 467, 468, 469, 470, 471, 472, 473, 474, 475, 476, 477, 478, 479, 480, 481, 482, 483, 484, 485, 486, 487, 488, 489, 490, 491, 492, 493, 494, 495, 496, 497, 498, 499, 500, 501, 502, 503, 504, 505, 506, 507, 508, 509, 510, 511, 512, 513, 514, 515, 516, 517, 518, 519, 520, 521, 522, 523, 524, 525, 526, 527, 528, 529, 530, 531, 532, 533, 534, 535, 536, 537, 538, 539, 540, 541, 542, 543, 544, 545, 546, 547, 548, 549, 550, 551, 552, 553, 554, 555, 556, 557, 558, 559, 560, 561, 562, 563, 564, 565, 566, 567, 568, 569, 570, 571, 572, 573, 574, 575, 576, 577, 578, 579, 580, 581, 582, 583, 584, 585, 586, 587, 588, 589, 590, 591, 592, 593, 594, 595, 596, 597, 598, 599, 600, 601, 602, 603, 604, 605, 606, 607, 608, 609, 610, 611, 612, 613, 614, 615, 616, 617, 618, 619, 620, 621, 622, 623, 624, 625, 626, 627, 628, 629, 630, 631, 632, 633, 634, 635, 636, 637, 638, 639, 640, 641, 642, 643, 644, 645, 646, 647, 648, 649, 650, 651, 652, 653, 654, 655, 656, 657, 658, 659, 660, 661, 662, 663, 664, 665, 666, 667, 668, 669, 670, 671, 672, 673, 674, 675, 676, 677, 678, 679, 680, 681, 682, 683, 684, 685, 686, 687, 688, 689, 690, 691, 692, 693, 694, 695, 696, 697, 698, 699, 700, 701, 702, 703, 704, 705, 706, 707, 708, 709, 710, 711, 712, 713, 714, 715, 716, 717, 718, 719, 720, 721, 722, 723, 724, 725, 726, 727, 728, 729, 730, 731, 732, 733, 734, 735, 736, 737, 738, 739, 740, 741, 742, 743, 744, 745, 746, 747, 748, 749, 750, 751, 752, 753, 754, 755, 756, 757, 758, 759, 760, 761, 762, 763, 764, 765, 766, 767, 768, 769, 770, 771, 772, 773, 774, 775, 776, 777, 778, 779, 780, 781, 782, 783, 784, 785, 786, 787, 788, 789, 790, 791, 792, 793, 794, 795, 796, 797, 798, 799, 800, 801, 802, 803, 804, 805, 806, 807, 808, 809, 810, 811, 812, 813, 814, 815, 816, 817, 818, 819, 820, 821, 822, 823, 824, 825, 826, 827, 828, 829, 830, 831, 832, 833, 834, 835, 836, 837, 838, 839, 840, 841, 842, 843, 844, 845, 846, 847, 848, 849, 850, 851, 852, 853, 854, 855, 856, 857, 858, 859, 860, 861, 862, 863, 864, 865, 866, 867, 868, 869, 870, 871, 872, 873, 874, 875, 876, 877, 878, 879, 880, 881, 882, 883, 884, 885, 886, 887, 888, 889, 890, 891, 892, 893, 894, 895, 896, 897, 898, 899, 900, 901, 902, 903, 904, 905, 906, 907, 908, 909, 910, 911, 912, 913, 914, 915, 916, 917, 918, 919, 920, 921, 922, 923, 924, 925, 926, 927, 928, 929, 930, 931, 932, 933, 934, 935, 936, 937, 938, 939, 940, 941, 942, 943, 944, 945, 946, 947, 948, 949, 950, 951, 952, 953, 954, 955, 956, 957, 958, 959, 960, 961, 962, 963, 964, 965, 966, 967, 968, 969, 970, 971, 972, 973, 974, 975, 976, 977, 978, 979, 980, 981, 982, 983, 984, 985, 986, 987, 988, 989, 990, 991, 992, 993, 994, 995, 996, 997, 998, 999, 1000.

Finally, when we talk about the disappearance of prime farmland, how do we define "prime"? Around that definition involves the issue. At this time we use the Canadian Land Inventory soil capability ratings, which have many classes based on soil and climatic conditions. Flagstaff District Guiders attend rally

The towns of Alliance, Forestburg, Sedgewick, Holden, Viking, and Rylee from Flagstaff District Guiding attended a Division Guide Rally held in Telford Community Centre on Saturday, Jan. 25, 1980.

About 100 Guiders and their leaders met at Telford on a very cold day to enjoy the sports of curling, bow tie, tobogganing, and ice skating. Despite the cold, the girls walked the blocks to the arena and curling rink from downtown to be part of the day's fun activities.

The afternoon was partly taken up by the teaching of new Guide songs by Eileen Stannard of Sherwood Park, Music Advisor for new five years; and Soja Frank of Forestburg, new Music Advisor for Flagstaff District and Manitow Division.

The girls especially enjoyed renewing friendships made in the past years through Guiding Rallies and Camps.

Century 21 Thor Agencies Ltd. would like to announce that Doug McDougall will be serving Highway 13.

Killam Skating Club

The Killam Skating Club held a meeting on January 23 with 7 members out of 31 present. After a long discussion it was motioned that instead of a carnival we have a Fun Day on March 2 at 3 o'clock. The terms of the present executive will end this year as a new executive must be nominated before March to meet with Rec Board for future planning. Since there are no volunteers to attend Arena Upgrading Committee meeting the president and secretary will attend until new executive are elected.

LET'S COMPARE Government Spending & Deficits

Liberals

- 1) 1977-78 saw an increase of 7.1% in government expenditures and a 8.7% increase was recorded in 1978-79.
- 2) 1989 expenditures by the government were $11 billion and the ten years to 1979 expenditures had increased to $50 billion.
- 3) The Balance of Payment deficit was $5.3 billion in 1978-79.
- 4) Debt should be related to Canada's gross revenue and in 1978-79 government outlay was 20% of GNP.

Conservatives

- 1) The budget for 1980-81 shows a growth of government expenditures of 11.3%.
- 2) Crosbie's budget states that government expenditures are expected to grow from $50 billion to $79 billion by 1983-84.
- 3) The 1979-80 Balance of Payment deficit is predicted to be nearly $7 billion.
- 4) Debt should be related to Canada's gross revenues and government outlays are expected to be 18.9% by 1983.

Everyone should see from reading the above that Crosbie's budget in no way changes the spending habits in Ottawa. For sound representation —

No Hardisty C. of C. president

How does an organization operate without a President? That was the question facing the membership of the Hardisty Chapter of Commerce at the first meeting of 1980, on Wednesday, January 23 at the Parkland Manor. Past President Jim Thompson had kindly consented to continue in office up to this meeting to enable the nominating committee to find a replacement. Unfortunately the committee has exhausted all avenues and came up empty handed. Many suggestions were entertained but no firm solution was reached, however John Skene stated that he will consider the presidency and will make a decision before next meeting, while Doug Drever consented to the appointment as 2nd Vice-President, so along with last Vice-President Louis Johnson, perhaps a type of triumvirate might be accomplished and hopefully would work well. Undoubtedly everything will reach a successful conclusion before the February meeting.

Two other committees had been appointed at the annual meeting. These also were discussed with the results that Jim Thompson and Linda Drever will head up the Beautiful Yards Committee, while Gordy Britz, Rose Marie Thompson, Hugh Duncan and Joyce Harrison will form the nucleus of the Slogan, Logo, Tourist Attraction Committee. Much discussion took place regarding this new committee and the various ideas were discussed. If anyone has any photos or information regarding the double-decker, originally located behind the present Drug Store, would you please contact one of the committee members. All members were urged to attend the meeting of the 75th Anniversary Committee which will be held Friday night. Battle River Tourist Association representative Joyce Harrison reported on the 75th Anniversary of the Battle River and the Fish Lake Park and also informed us of a Fleet Building Seminar to be held in Lacombe. Rose Marie Thompson reported for the Devonian Foundation and on Publicity. Hugh Duncan stated that the Neighborhood Watch program was now centered on the scraggs around

Simons - Halseth vows pledged

Knox United Church, Foreburg was the scene of the afternoon ceremony August 4th, 1979 uniting Denise Gail Halseth and William Ovis Simons. The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Marvin Halseth of Foreburg and the groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Simons of Sedgewick.

Church decorations included two baskets of flowers at the altar and yellow ribbon markers. The Rev. David Edwards performed the ceremony. Wedding music was played by Allison Favon with a solo by Joyce Goodie. The bride, who was given in marriage by her father, wore an empire silhouette gown of tulle and polyester with silk Venetian lace. The fall flowing skirt had a triple flounced hemline with attached chapel train. A flounced neck gave a soft chapel look. A few strands of blonde hair were hung from her high crown headpiece. She carried a bouquet of yellow roses and wore a silver beaded necklace and earrings.

Negative election advertising

I have been badly interrupted from my weekly television schedule to find ignorant, say-nothing advertising before, but never as much as the ones prior to the February 18 election.

Three different advertisers are the major reason for my after supper indigestion, and its the same three that have caused stomach displeasure many times before.

You guessed it, the Liberals, Conservatives and NDP.

In showing photographs of the worst expressions Joe Clark could ever come up with, the Liberals in advertising for themselves, call our Prime Minister stupid, and a man with no backbone, who is unable to lead the country. In addition, they use their national time slot to inform us of Clark's broken promises.

The Conservatives take another stand with their commercials. They tell us of the mess the Liberals have gotten us in to begin with, and how nobody gave them a chance.

Meanwhile, the NDP let the two giants battle it out while they fire their little slingshot at the both of them. Going to the polls in their commercials, the NDP lets the public explain what they dislike about Clark and Trudeau.

Of the three kinds of advertising by these parties, the only one it is assisting is the NDP, which is asking to be given a chance.

As for the other two, if the public really thinks about it, they are telling us that the last 12-years of governing has been horrible, or at least lousy. The Liberals should especially not participate in the name calling since they are responsible for over 11-years of country leadership.

The thing missing from the whole Canadian political scene anymore is any kind of positive attitude. They should boast about what they have done or will do for the country instead of debating about which party did the most damage. A negative attitude like this really leaves the Canadians wondering whom not to vote for.

This likewise, leaves Canadians with little respect for their politicians. Before the public can respect them, they must respect each other to a certain degree.

The whole problem is that the Canadian public has already known the inability of each party for quite some time. For the country to prosper, we must learn what they can do, and until that time I'd rather watch advertisements on the topic of ring around the collar.

CONSTANT HUMAN INEQUITY, the desire to improve standards, the insatiable inventive instincts and probably the desire for distinction and recognition, tend to mention the probability of fortune, all have combined to permit man to produce many works of art which have attracted the admiration of all ages, and upon which the utmost exertions of human genius have been employed. I would find it impossible to cover the full scope of human endeavors in this respect unless I were to compile a many-volume encyclopedia (a task for which I have no inclination). So will have to confine myself to the space allotted and I will confine this also to mechanical devices.

WE HAVE unnamed space and time which circle the globe keeping a watchful eye on the activities of all nations, changing the weather, uncovering mineral deposits and a dozen other useful chores.

BECAUSE OF MAN'S over present passion for mobility and speed, we have stretch above us which shatter the solid barrier to his destination faster than he ever dreamed possible.

WE even have motor vehicles in which madmen try to break the speed of sound, and break his neck at the same time.

ADVENTUROUS MAN'S ever contrived to construct a machine which defies the law of gravity and has allowed man to step on the moon. The necessary requirements for this machine have resulted in a spin-off of advanced gadgets beyond imagination, not to speak of mechanical machines in the fields of technology and computerization, all of which has assisted mankind in accomplishing more in less time.

LONG CONVINCED that beneath the world's oceans lie a wealth of mineral riches and food, man's genius has given us underwater craft which can prove the depths for weeks at a time.

Lilly Stewart passes

Mrs. Lilly Pearl Stewart, well-known Kilham resident, passed away at the University Hospital in Edmonton, on January 11, at the age of 80 years. Mrs. Stewart was born February 14, 1894 at Crestview, Ontario to Mr. and Mrs. John H. Stewart and was the second youngest of nine children.

After attending Albert College in Belleville, Ontario, she came west at the age of 18 to make her home with her uncle, P.E. Nisbet and work in his general store in Kilham. She also attended Old Agricultural School, in 1920 she married George Stewart, son of Ben, and Mrs. Charles Stewart and they formed half a mile north of Kilham until 1966. At this time they retired and moved to Stewart Manor in Kilham. Mr. Stewart passed away in October 1968 and Mrs. Stewart remained in their apartment until her passing.

Mrs. Stewart always had a great interest in the affairs of the community and her church, St. George's Anglican. She was a life member of A.C.W., on the vestry committee for 28 years and church council for four and a half years. She often represented Kilham at the Diocesan meetings.

She was a life member of the Kilham Chapter of the Order of Eastern Star, serving as Worlthy Matron many times during the more than 50 years she belonged. She also was an honorary member of the Forestry Chapter.

Mrs. Stewart was a charter member of the Imperial Order Daughters of the Empire, Kilham Chapter, and remained active until the chapter disbanded. She had the honor many times of laying the wreath at the Cenotaph during Armistice Parades on behalf of the I.O.D.E. In her later years she continued to take part in this ceremony representing mothers of servicemen. In November of last year, the Kilham Legion honored Mrs. Stewart for her many years of participation.

Surviving her are her sister Lillian June as the only surviving chapter member of their organization. Mrs. Stewart is survived by four sons and their wives: Charles and George of Vancouver, and Allen, Doug and Doris of Edmonton, Rod and Pat of Calgary, daughter-in-law Mary Margaret, nine grandchildren, three great-grandchildren, her sister Edna Armstrong of Toronto, and numerous nieces and nephews. She was predeceased by her son Lloyd in January 1970.

A private service was held in St. George's Anglican Church on Sunday, January 22 and funeral service in the Legion Hall in Kilham on Monday, January 23, with Rev. Richard Carson officiating at both. Mrs. Sheila Clark accompanied Ken Grant as he sang "Take My Hand, Lead Me Home". The pallbearers were six grandsons, Rob and Gary of Vancouver, Russell and Greg of Calgary, and Lionel and Jim of Edmonton. Interment took place in Kilham Cemetery with Pae and Sons in charge of all arrangements.

Soft water swimming

The Kilham Swimming Pool will install a water softener this year, delaying the time of opening.

Contrary to the previously announced opening date of February 8, the pool will remain closed until February 15.

The extra week will be used for the installation of the softener and filling of the pool. The soft water can not be filled as quickly as if it had a hard water inlet.

What Others Say

A new decade begins

A new decade has begun and it is difficult to be terribly optimistic about the coming 10 years.

We in Canada and much of the rest of the world face a battery of special problems that will require special and not very easy solutions.

War in Afghanistan threatens the sanctity of global peace. World peace has been much talked about but is seemingly as elusive as getting Alberta and Ontario to agree on a new price structure for Canadian oil.

Acts of aggression and war are no strangers to the recent world scene. Since the Second World War, according to a report in the January 7 issue of Maclean's, there have been 135 wars fought in 80 countries that have taken the lives of 25 million people. The Afghanistan invasion by the Soviet Union could draw the other superpower into direct conflict and drag other nations into the fray.

The Iranian hostage crisis also refuses to go away and neatly resolve itself, thus causing understandable tensions.

The United Nations seems to be powerless to affect any resolution of these conflicts, as with so many others since its inception.

On the domestic scene we face the major problem of energy self-sufficiency and an ever escalating world price for oil. These two inevitable higher prices we will have to pay for energy may slow down an already sluggish and beleaguered Canadian economy.

Unemployment remains high and shows a great regional disparity and inflation is nearing the double digit mark.

While energy on one hand is an immediate problem, Canada, we are told more than any other western industrialized nation, is in a favored position of having vast reserves and the potential of energy self-sufficiency.

This potential may be realized providing technological advances and capital funding of new projects can be supplied. It seems that the future promise of a stronger, independent economy, not subject to the whims of OPEC energy prices and debt delivery, depends on realizing our national potential.

- Brooks Bulletin.

Letters

Dear Sir,
January 28, 1989

I have often wondered why certain public areas are not open to the general public. I give for example the Golf Course area at Sedgewick.

This area is town property according to the certificate of title and is listed as a community property for tax purposes, and it is located after and supported by a large number of people and businesses from the area. But could this area or building be used for other groups in the off season to greater advantage for all.

It would certainly be put to good use as a ski area or have a snow machine area for club use. In this way another group could use the area and still maintain it.

COME ALIVE

Rev. Robert Chappell

It's a plain and simple fact of life. If Jesus is not the center of our life or the center of the congregation life, then Jesus said, "He that is not for me is against me" (Matt. 10:26). "To be for" is to be with one in identity. In other words, I identify with Jesus Christ. I find the meaning and direction in my life totally in Jesus. Jesus is my master. I find my priority in my life. In Him I see the greatness of the Lord and His love for us in and through Jesus Christ. This is true in the life and work of a congregation. The church is not a mere meeting of people in Jesus Christ.

"To be against" Jesus is to be "for" Jesus. But we may say that "I believe in Jesus" but...and then you add all your excuses why He is not number one in your life. If such is the case in your life, then you are really against Jesus. There is no sitting on the fence with Jesus. Remember that not to decide in to decide, not to decide for Jesus is to decide against Him.

It took a long time for me to discover this reality. I had all the right arguments which were only excuses. When I heard the Word of God in Revelation 5:15, I had to take personal stock of myself and my commitment to Jesus Christ. "You are neither cold nor hot. Would that you were cold or hot! So, because you are lukewarm, and neither cold nor hot, I will spew you out of my mouth (and neither cold nor hot)." That used to be me. I was lukewarm. I did not want to "get too religious." I did not realize that in my fear of getting too much into Jesus, I was really not in Him at all.

The Christian faith stands for Jesus in the centre of life. It is to be a Christian to have Jesus in the center of life. I must keep my eyes on Jesus. Once I take my eyes off Jesus, I am in deep trouble. Trouble! And Satan is just waiting for you and me to sit on the fence with Jesus. He can start playing his devilish tricks with us. And that spells trouble. "Be sober! Be watchful!"

4-H District Fun Days

The 15th annual Flagstaff District Fun Days were organized by the Flagstaff 4H Council, was held on Saturday with 80 children representing 12 different clubs at the Sedgewick Rec Centre.

Parents brought their children in the events which consisted of curling, bowling and skating. The adults were members of clubs throughout the county and participation was by 12 of these 18 county organizations.

When the group arrived, children were broken into teams for their chosen activity by having their names drawn out of a hat. The purpose is for them to meet new kids right across the county," said 4H Council President, Arnold Gensforth. Winners of the events were: curling, the Ralph Davidson rink; boys' bowling, Colin Newton; and girls' bowling, Roseann Zimmer.

Nazarene News

About 70 people held down to a "Nazarene Banquet" at the "Farmer's Banquet" held in the church basement Feb. 1. Emma was Dick White who called on Pastor Abel to my grace. Frank Roth played a trumpet solo, a humorous song by Larry Harding, and a sing-a-long led by Jeanne White made up the program before the introduction of the guest speaker, Wayne Hammer, a farmer in the Olds district. Mr. Hammer gave testimony to the change in his life as farmer, husband, and father since he committed his life to Christ. Mrs. Hammer also spoke underlining the difference it makes when Christ is head of the home.

The evening closed with prayer by Louis Swanson and the singing of "Blessed be the Tie That Binds."

Thank you to Stockman's Stall and local implement dealers who helped furnish the decorations.

We are happy to welcome Miss Barbara Kirby to the community. She is staying with her brother Tim and family and attending Central High.

Friday evening some of our youth attended the Pentecostal Church to hear guest singer Heidi Erisman. The Action (Active Christian) Teachers in our Neighbourhood enjoyed a sleigh ride, tobogganing, and a scrumptious meal at the home of Carol and Fred Wilson. Thanks for such a good time.

Spoilage of stored grain

Cultivation of plants by man is thought to have begun somewhere between 8,000-10,000 B.C. It is reasonable to assume that in order to deal with surplus and prepare for shortages, storage of grain started shortly afterwards. Spoilage of stored grain by microorganisms was certainly the next step in the sequence and is still a major concern today.

Once grain is placed into storage it forms its own ecosystem — a dynamic environment where the abiotic (non-living) factors of temperature and moisture interact with the biotic (living) factors which include the grain itself and the fungi, bacteria, insects, and mites. It is this interaction that can result in spoilage of stored grain.

Temperature and moisture are major factors directly affecting the presence of different organisms and their rate of growth. Both the upper and lower limits beyond which the organisms will not survive. For example, fungi, insects, and insects generally do not develop below 0 degrees C, five degrees C respectively, and 15 degrees C respectively.

Temperature can also directly lead to pockets of higher moisture in grain. Where differences in temperature between different parts of the grain bulk exist, the transfer of moisture occurs from the warmer to the cooler regions. As the temperature decreases in fall and winter, warm air migrates from the centre of the grain bulk to the surface where it condenses. This results in a surface layer of grain with a higher moisture content which provides conditions conducive for microorganism growth. The initial phase of microbial growth on stored grain is colonization by storage fungi. Each different species of fungi has its own specific requirements. Atmospheric, moisture, and temperature requirements. Because the temperature and moisture content of the storage environment affects a succession of different organisms can predominate at different times. While moisture content is usually the critical factor, the rate of storage fungi development can also be influenced by temperature, and the presence of insects and mites.

As with all living organisms, storage fungi require energy. The energy is derived from a process called respiration and is in the form of heat. Respiration involves the degradation of fuel (e.g. carbohydrates), and in the presence of oxygen, yields carbon dioxide, water, and heat. As the storage fungi proliferate, their respiratory rate increases and is accompanied by a rise in temperature and moisture content of the grain. Once the moisture content reaches the minimum level required for growth by another fungus species, that species begins to grow rapidly — increasing the temperature and moisture content still further. Ultimately, hot spots develop in the grain at these sites of intense biological activity and "heating" occurs.

If moisture and temperature permit, mites and insects thrive and multiply — raising the temperature and moisture content of the grain even more rapidly. If free water becomes available, the terminal stage of spoilage can be reached with the increase of bacteria.

The Canadian Grain Act specified the maximum moisture content permissible for each different grain. For example, 12.5% for wheat, 14.5% for barley, and 14.5% for corn. However, these maximums do not necessarily indicate safe storage unless the temperature is low for fungi to grow. It is therefore of prime importance to make periodic checks of any grain in storage to determine if a problem exists early enough to correct it.

Political parties in review

(This article will be run for the remaining weeks prior to the federal election. The weeks and order of parties were totally drawn from the 1974 election.)

Of the five parties attempting to form a federal government on February 18, the Social Credit and Communist Parties have had the least success in recent years. Although the Social Credit has enjoyed success in Canada, the party's popularity seems to be dwindling. In 1955 it was elected to run Alberta's provincial government, with leader William Aberhart as Premier. It was the first Social Credit government ever elected in Canada.

It's being elected in Alberta came at a time when the party was doing poorly everywhere else. With Alberta suffering economically, the Social Credit used unorthodox monetary ways and stirred up strong emotional and religious support. The party elected 17 members to Parliament from Alberta and Saskatchewan that year and reached a high point of 19 in 1967. The next year the Social Credit were extinguished in both provinces due to a Conservative landslide.

In 1962 the Social Credit gained great support from Quebec, getting 28 of the party's 30 MPs from that province. By the next election the SC's total was cut down to five, and by 1968 only 1 to nothing.

During the 70s the Social Credit haven't received their number of MPs very successfully, and lack of funding keeps them in the limbo.

The Communist Party in Canada is now almost nonexistent. Formerly called the Labour Progressive Party, the Communists have never had much success in Canada.

It has elected, on only one occasion, a federal member of Parliament, and his career ended abruptly when convicted of conspiracy to overthrow the government.

Secrets to Russia during wartime. This act seemed to prove to the Canadian people that the Communist party was more interested in serving the Kremlin than Canada.

The party has since been on a constant decline in both membership and votes. In 1974 the 68 Communist candidates received only about 12,000 votes, less than two-tenths of one percent of the total Canadian vote cast.

Letters

The following letter was submitted to the Community Press from Barbara Biddle of Longbeed. It does not necessarily agree with the views of the paper but is accepted editorially.

The Honorable Mr. Peter Lougheed, Premier, Province of Alberta, Legislative Bldg., Edmonton, Alberta.

Dear Sir,

This letter is to register my protest against metric conversion.

Nether the Federal Government, the Government of Alberta nor the Metric Commission have presented any sound, practical reasons as to the need for this conversion.

As a citizen of this province I prefer to not permit myself to be inconvenienced, confused and economically disadvantaged to satisfy the unpredictable whims of bureaucracy.

A prompt and positive reply to this letter is requested.

Yours truly,

4-H CLUB Activities

MERINA MULTI CLUB
Snowy, but pleasant, January 30th eve, brought the Merina Multi Club together at club member, Richard Wetmore's home.

The meeting was brought to order at 8 p.m. by President Fred Wiegman. We recited the 4-H pledges and Secretary Anne Christensen read last meeting's minutes to 12 out of her 14 members.

We talked about the individual projects: beef, leather, pleasant, and sewing. Leather will start February 6, 1986. Beef and sewing are already in progress. Pleasant won't start until spring.

It was announced that February 10, 1986 would be another 4-H Fun Day, to be held at Stettler.

After our trip to Medicine Hat last summer, there was some discussion where we should go this year.

The meeting was adjourned.

After our meeting Mrs. Wetmore served a lovely lunch which drifted into a little "pool" playing downstairs.

On February 2, 1986, a fair number from our club attended the 4-H Fun Day in Sedgewick. Fun was had by all in bowling, skating and curling.

We would like to thank the club leader, Carole Bonhoeffer, for giving us the souvenir pens from Hawaii, from a recent holiday.

Let's Talk It Over — With Gordon

In the good old days, there was a time when your representative in the Legislature would have time to write this column weekly without a min. They also used to get a day or two off for fishing, but bearing in mind that politicians are pretty good at making excuses and before you start believing, where is the M.L.A. haven't seen him since the election. Following is a partial list of meetings and events that I've been asked to attend during the month of January. Those meetings take up about one-third of my time and personal constituency problems account for about two-thirds of time spent. Constituency problems are never dull and are as varied as a request to find a wife for a lonely farmer from Haliburton to a constituent spending two years less a day at one of the provincial correctional institutions. The rest of my time is usually spent on caucus committee.

However, January 8 and 9 were spent in Lacombe and Edmonton as a director on the Alberta Hall and Crop Insurance Commission. I also was at a meeting with our Board and the P.C. Agricultural Caucus Committee. An afternoon and evening at the Uniform Convention, January 10, an airport development committee. January 11, with the County of Camrose and the Minister of Education, Dave King. January 16, with the mayor of Killam at Flagstaff Preventive Services meeting. January 24 drove to Sedgewick with the councillors of the County of Flagstaff and by the way, two other M.L.A.s chicken out of that meeting. On January 25, a delegation from Killam to the meeting with the Rehab Service Board to discuss funding for a group home for children that are wards of the province and later a public meeting in Strathmore where the proposed group home was explained. January 28 with three other M.L.A.s, met the directors of Zone 4 of Alberta School Trustees Association at Lacombe. January 29, a complete tour of the Provincial Jail at Fort Saskatchewan. You know, some people have indicated to me that our jills are becoming like hotels and that open to question. But 60% of the inmates at the Fort are of Indian ancestry which has to indicate something out of week.

I was with Ardell at the Annual Chamber of Commerce meeting in Camrose, January 31, an all day session in Edmonton and that evening with the directors of the Ankerston Gas Co-op. Also helped Mr. and Mrs. Clifford McKay of Bawlf, celebrate their 50th Wedding Anniversary.

Gordon Stromberg, M.L.A.

HEINLEN SOUTH DAIRY AND BEEF 4-H CLUB

Are you going to District Fun Days on February 23 in Sedgewick? That was the big question at the January 21 club meeting.

Many animal sounds filled the meeting room as the roll call was asked. Plans were made for debating Killam 4-H Club for the Henderson Challenge Cup. The topic for the debate is "Should Alberta share their oil". Everyone agreed on having Mrs. Dorcas Hill as guest speaker in February her topic being "Public Speaking".

Our final business "Fun Days." Everyone planned to go to Sedgewick on February 23 with "Congdon's and Lusk's" driving.

A Matter of Life and Death

Farming is one of the nations most hazardous occupations. One member of every fourth farm family in Canada is involved in an accident. Also, scary as it may seem, one out of every thirty farm accidents is fatal.

Every accident means a loss of time, medical bills and a great deal of hardship and suffering for the farm family.

These facts are becoming brutally apparent. Here are a few statistics to show the extent of farm accidents. On a national average, one out of twenty-five of the farm population was involved in an accident. Of those injured, fifty percent were hospitalized.

The farmyard was found to be the major danger zone with 39 percent of farm accidents occurring here. The next most dangerous area was the field with 28 percent of accidents occurring here. Shockingly, 11 percent of farm accidents occur in the farm home.

The major culprit of farm accidents is farm machinery, accounting for a whopping 40 percent of farm accidents.

These figures point out the grave situation of our farm accidents. One way to get these glaring statistics down to is learn more about

RITERS RAMBLINGS

WINTER REFLECTION
By Rose Marie Bee

'North crossed caverns of fallen snow
Entrenched in wintry evergreen glow
Moulded and fashioned in capes of white Winter's magic of frosted delight.

Myriad flakes of whited, light snow
Enriching alabaster, puffly mounds grow;
Thick white armour gleams all Pence past swathed, standing tall.

Chill north winds, biting, slicing
Brumming sifted white snow icing:
Wrapped in coverings all around Swirling fluff flakes around.

Mother Earth's blankets lovingly knit Tenderly o'er hills and valley fit
Woolly sprays, Decey and warm Embracing winter's outstretched arm.

Beneath thick ice bed in rippling glaze
Ducked on slides by hovering trees;
Oblivious in the scene below
Quiet creek bed waters flow.

In comforters so feathery light
Heating beneath a quilt of winter:
Earth's bosom sheltered from harsh storm
Awaiting spring to be newly born.

News from Central High

We wish the ten students who left our school at the end of the first semester great success in their future endeavors. We welcome to Central, Barbara Kirby, Gail Marlow, Peter DeKock, David Weatherly, Dale Peiser, and Dale Stoeber.

We also welcome Miss Fran Anderson, who will be teaching Typing and shorthand while Mrs. McLean is on maternity leave. Mrs. Hobbs, who has been our secretary for the past year and a half has transferred to Raynald School where is now school secretary. We all wish her best in her new position. Mrs. Marilyn Newbury has taken over Central's secretarial duties until a permanent secretary is hired. Sherri Mayne has replaced Mrs. Ann Bilyk as Library Clerk. Ann will be a full-time mother.

Mr. Smith now has sufficient money in our cross-country ski fund to purchase three sets of ski equipment. A special "thank you" to Larry and Helen Nelson (Miss Uryhn) for their generous donation. If the news stays with is a while longer some of our students will make use of these kits in their Physical Education classes this year.

We would like to thank the spectators who supported the basketball teams when the Harlem Kings and Harlem Chic's entertained on Saturday evening. The Central High team will be hosting a basketball tournament on the weekend of February 13.

Our new attendance policy came into effect at the beginning of the second semester. Students are required to bring a note or else are requested to have parents phone, explaining their absence. The cooperation on the first morning was very good. A number of parents have phoned about the policy and to this point we have had overwhelming support. Our absence list was half as long on Monday morning as it was previous to this policy's introduction.

If you have any questions please contact the School at 824-2817.

Diet Detective: Why Weight?

Overweight people run a greater risk of serious illness than those who maintain desirable weight. Excess pounds put extra strains on the heart and circulatory system.

For many of us, the truth is that we eat more and exercise less than required with the result that approximately half the adults in Canada are overweight. Optimum weight is usually reached by age 25. After that time the need for calories decreases.

Diet

Dieting does not mean skipping meals. It does not mean going on a crash weight loss program or spending money on special products. First, consult a physician and/or a dietitian to set a weight goal.

In order to get the 50 essential nutrients, it is necessary to eat a variety of foods. Do not eliminate any of the nutrients the body needs. Just decrease amounts.

Canada's Food Guide provides an excellent base to start a diet. The Guide states the minimum number and size of servings for each food group that must be eaten daily in order to meet the body's needs. About 1,000 to 1,500 calories are provided by the minimum number of servings suggested. For additional calories, increase the number and size of servings from each food group. Food Guides are available from your local Public Health Unit or Alberta Agriculture Office.

Canada's Food Guide

The Milk Group includes milk, cheese, yogurt and ice cream. Adults should have two servings from this group per day. To keep calories low, choose low fat products, such as skim milk, low fat cheese and low milk.

Three servings from the Bread and Cereal Group (enriched or whole grain products) should be eaten daily. Four servings of fresh, unseasoned, canned or frozen fruits or vegetables are recommended.

Low calorie choices from the Meat Group would include lean meat, fish, poultry, eggs and legumes. Two servings daily are required from this group.

Illness

1. To control weight a conscious effort to increase activity through exercise is a must.

2. Use a smaller plate, then your usual dinner plate. A smaller plate will appear fuller.

3. Don't skip meals. You are bound to make up for it sooner or later and eat more than you should.

4. Learn new eating habits - try eating slower, do less tasting while cooking, take a book to bed instead of a snack.

Sensible eating and exercise are the keys to success in losing weight or maintaining present weight.

Comedy Kings steal show

Harlem Comedy Kings defeated Central High School Rams 74-35 while it's war-up act, Harlem Chics beat CHS Lams 40-32 in an entertaining basketball show at CHS in Sedgewick on Saturday.

Kings, a spin-off of the world famous Globetrotters was formed in 1968. It's players are mostly ex-college basketballers from the U.S. who turned to strictly entertainment instead of the National Basketball Association.

Manager-player, and oldest member of the team, Rip Collins began his career with the Kings in 1968.

Collins went to school in Los Angeles and spent four years at North Carolina University. From 1948-44 he played on the Globetrotters before joining other such teams until his association with the Kings.

Kings tour all of North America, and in 1978 visited virtually every province in Canada.

In the first game, Chics overpowered Rams enroute to it's victory. Certainly not spectacular, Chics, a newly formed team, will have to develop more skill to be considered an attraction.

On the other hand,

Comedy Kings were no disappointment. The team's skill and antics totally intimidated the senior boys and overwhelped the crowd of close to 100 spectators.

The Central High Rams found it difficult to defend against the Blues of Comedy King' Lou Robinson in last Saturday's game.

LET'S COMPARE

How Does Agriculture Fare

Liberals

- 1) 7¢ Excise Tax on gasoline, but no tax on farm fuel including diesel.
- 2) No capital gains tax on the farm passed down through the family.
- 3) Beef imports in the two years 1978 and 1979 were allowed to increase by only 7 million pounds.
- 4) 1978 was a difficult year to harvest good quality grain, which made marketing more difficult.

Conservatives

- 1) 25¢ Excise Tax on gasoline and a 15¢ tax on gasoline and diesel for farm use.
- 2) $100,000 of taxable capital gain goes into a R.R.S.P., which will only return 6% and on which income tax must be paid when money is taken out.
- 3) An increase of over 12 million pounds of Australian and New Zealand beef was permitted in one year, when in fact we had a surplus of supply in 1979.
- 4) This year we are still behind the 1977 marketing rate even with additional elevator storage coming on stream in Vancouver.

In reading the above one can readily see that the Clark Government has actually been working against the interest of agriculture.

Thursday visitors at the Barney Matthews home were Mr. and Mrs. Ray Sanders of New Norway, Mrs. Laura Hutchinson of Camrose, and Mr. and Mrs. Laurie Bladen of Okotoks. Social Club Notes

There were 17 members present at the Annual meeting of the Social Club in the Drop-In Centre on January 22, at 2:30. As the December meeting had been cancelled, business from the November meeting was reported on first. The generous gift from the Strong Ladies Club is being used for a vacuum cleaner for the hall.

Vera Hendricks and Vivian Robinson reported that they had attended the Red Cross course in exercises for seniors, and will arrange for classes in these. Word was received from the New Horizons group approving the grant for the History Book Committee, though the cheque had not yet come through.

It was decided to accept the complete cleanup job again this year, as it proved a very pleasant way of adding to our finances.

The yearly financial report showed a satisfactory balance. As it had been decided last year that officers hold office for two years and no election was necessary, present officers are: President, Mary Goodrich; Corresponding Secretary, Erna Matthews; Recording Secretary, Barbara Hays; Treasurer, Vera Hendricks.

The Social Committee was appointed as follows: Marguerite Tinkhorn, Beanie Mansure, Olive Sinks and Orna Thorp. It was decided to plan a Fun Day in the near future, with games and contests for all. Card parties will continue every second Saturday, with potluck supper on the last party of the month. February parties will be the 9th and 23rd.

The Joint Campaign Committee met in the Drop-In Centre on Thursday evening. Representatives of the four groups are OWL, Carol Bourque, Arthritis Fund, Royal Purple, Vera Hendricks, Red Cross, Legion Auxiliary, Barbe Matthews, Cancer Campaign, Hospital Auxiliary, Nettie Johnston, Heart Fund.

It was decided to hold the campaign during the first two weeks in May. Each group will take a section of the town and separate receipts will be issued, as this is a "Donor's Choice" campaign. It is felt that the concept of one canvasser call a year will appeal to most, and with advance notice one can be prepared to make all four donations at once.

Volunteer canvassers will be well welcome if interested contact any of the committee members.

History book brochures mailed

The Committee met on Wednesday afternoon at the Drop-In Centre with Mr. Al Granger of Pines printers. Some 300 brochures have been mailed out to date, with more names being received and contacted. The New Horizons Grant will provide a filing cabinet and folders which have been ordered. A few stories have been received and many others promised, so work will be in full swing in the near future. Mr. Granger gave some helpful pointers, and will visit again in March.

By the time this is printed Adrienne and Bessie Gilbert will be home again from their trip to Australia.

A card received from the travellers stated that all the farmers are harvesting like mad. They felt that a lot more time was needed to see most of Australia and Adrienne was happy to see her Aunt whom she had not seen for 32 years.

It was time to see Daisy Chomyns around on Wednesday after a lengthy stay in hospital. When released the leg bag caught her so back to the hospital she went again. We surely hope that she will be able to keep out of the hospital and soon be like new again.

Lorne Cook from the Alberta Liquor Board is being transferred to Edmonton so we all wish him well in his new location.

The John Hansen is planning to move into the house where Lorne vacated. They are feeling more like residents now, as they have done quite a bit of house hunting already.

With all the bad mists and other ailments, the hospital has been overcrowding. What on earth would we do without our good and without Dr. Cahill, who if the day had 48 hours instead of 24, he would be on call just the same.

KILLAM KINGS

REC HOCKEY TOURNAMENT

3 Days - 5 Teams. Games start Saturday, 9:30 a.m. in Killam Memorial Arena.

FEBRUARY 9 & 10

Bigfoot, the 3,500 ton dragline at the mine south of the Battle River scoops the overburden from the coal power plant.

He's big. He takes a seven foot step whenever he lowers one of his 12 by 70 foot "chams." His travelling speed is about .17 mph. He cost $55 million to build.

He's Bigfoot, the 18 month-old 3,500 ton dragline that scoops the overburden from the coal at the mine south of the Battle River power plant.

Bigfoot's bucket holds 85 yards and "30 or 40 people could stand in the bucket."

says Roger Stewart, site supervisor co-ordinator at the Power Plant. It takes 50 megawatts of power to run the dragline and one operator and one or two others to maintain it while it's running.

Bigfoot's power comes through an electrical cable four inches in diameter which can be extended from 1,000 to 5,000 feet. It is plugged into a movable switch-house which is connected to a distribution line. This line runs to the Bigfoot substation.

Inside the dragline two 3,000 hp motors convert ac to dc to run a series of motors.

Four motors drive each of the hoist and drag spools. Four motors cause Bigfoot's body to swivel and two other motors drive each of the chams.

Right now Bigfoot is doing all the work himself, but that's going to change. In February work starts on another dragline of similar size so Bigfoot won't be alone much longer.

Minor hockey fees high

The executive and coaches met with a number of interested parents on January 25, 1989.

Many parents expressed concern at the price of time that minor hockey had assumed for the year. The executive explained that even with the high fees this money collected covered only about two-thirds of the rental agreement with the Agricultural Society for this season.

Minor Hockey's policy on gate money is that referees are paid from the gate, and the remainder is turned into the Secretary-treasurer.

The skate sharpening that has been sitting idle was sold.

It was agreed that Recreation Hockey have a tournament in February.

Junior High Report

Since you last heard from me, there have been a lot of exciting events taking place at school. There are also some future events being planned.

During the last two weeks we have been selling school T-shirts. They are yellow with a green crest on the upper left of the front.

On Monday, January 21, the grade eight and nine students went to the school assembly. It was a wonderful time. A lot of the students said it was the best school day they had ever had.

Lately in gym and option classes, the Junior high have been curling at the Rec. Centre, and from what I have heard, the students have been enjoying it quite a bit. As one girl said, "I never really saw any point in throwing a rock down a sheet of ice, I actually thought that the people who did this were crazy!"

When I tried it in school, I found that I really enjoyed the sport! Now she has been curling in a few boys' teams for ladies. So, you may see, this has opened a lot of new horizons for kids, and many of the kids I have spoken to, now want to curl

Horner in Hardisty Polling day

There are three major issues of concern in this election, said Jack Horner, Liberal candidate in the riding of St. John's. The first is Canada's debt in relation to the United States. "The debt is costing us less than the amount of production it's allowing us to gain."

The second point, Horner explains, is government spending. "Ten years ago $10 billion was spent by the government, and now it's about $80 billion, but it's worth it."

"38% of what comes in, goes out to pensioners, 16% is for defense, 16% for the government debt, and 34% for crown corporations. That is 84% that has already been spent." Sure Clark and Crosbie may get it down to 87% but there's really nothing to do about it.

The Conservative energy budget, issue number three is designed to make use of self-sufficiency and the 10 cents a gallon is not going to go to finding new oil.

Clark and Crosbie say that we will be at the world price by January, 1984, well nobody knows what the price will be in 1984.

The Liberal party says the price of oil should be set by Canada. "It should be priced in terms of replacing that oil," he pointed out.

Horner had come from Hanna to make the lengthy coffee stop in Hardisty, and visited other small communities on the weekend.

Before the election was announced, Horner and his wife were planning a vacation in Australia. "My wife has had a pet from Australia since she was 12. She has been close to seeing us, but haven't."

Horner and his wife had plans of meeting in Australia. But due to the election he is postponing the meeting.

Polling day

The Polls will open from 9 a.m. to 3 p.m. local time Monday, February 13th for Canada's 32nd federal general election.

More than 15 million Canadians are eligible to vote in the country's 282 electoral districts. A total of 11,337,000 votes were cast in the last general election May 22nd, 1979 - about 70 per cent of the 15.5 million voters whose names were on the final voters' lists.

The electoral districts are divided into some 60,000 polling divisions, each with a polling station or place to vote. The Returning Officer of each district appoints a deputy and a polling clerk for each polling station.

If you live in an urban area, your name must be on the final list of voters in order to cast a ballot. But if you are a rural voter, you may vote even if your name is not on the list provided by another elector whose name is on the voters' list of your polling division. Generally, a polling division is considered "rural" if it is a locality of fewer than 5,000 people.

Killam's Chamber president, Reg Fee

If we are going to have a chamber, we've got to have some input, said Reg Fee, newly elected President of the Killam Chamber of Commerce at the Roman Catholic Church hall in Killam February 5.

Former President, Greg Barnes conducted the meeting which was the first for the 1980 year. After dinner he began the agenda by discussing the larger Commerce happenings of 1979. "Probably our biggest event of last year was the Rodeo Day Parade," said Barnes to a small dinner gathering of 82.

All positions are open on the executive this year," he later added.

The election was then underway with the results: Fee was the position of President, with Vice President going to Clarence Rott. Directors are Ken Towars, Frank Rott, Greg Barnes, Myron Worswick, John Pajasta, and Robert Bort.

Replaced were last year's executive which included: Barnes as President; First Vice-President, Reg Fee; and second Vice-President, Clarence Rott, aided by another six directors.

Chu's win $1,000

Jim and Julia Chu were presented a cheque for $1,000 from Sedgewick Legion on W's last Bonanza Draw of 1979, last Wednesday, February 6.

"This is my favorite birthday present," said Jim Chu after receiving the prize. Apparently it was his birthday the previous day, the same day as the draw.

Chu, managers of the Esso Highway Restaurant just outside of Sedgewick, are planning to put the money back into the restaurant business.

A maximum of 200 tickets were sold for the draw at a price of $100 per ticket. All the Legion earnings from the draw will go to the building of a new Legion in Sedgewick.

Presenting the cheque to the couple was newly installed President Nelson Bergum. A long-time Legionary was given the presidential honor the same night as the draw.

The 1980 Bonanza Draw is being planned for the near future.

Not enough seats

A lack of a more even distribution of seats in the House of Commons causes a lack of campaigning in counties throughout Canada such as the County of Flaxstaff.

As we approach the February 18 election the people in the county are really still blind when it comes to insight on campaigners. The only way we can choose the candidate to vote for is through the media, but not through personal contact or questioning.

All of the campaigners in the riding are doing their canvassing in Camrose, the largest city in the constituency. This is, of course, the proper strategy for them, for they must reach the greatest number of people as possible in a short time with sometimes a limited amount of money.

Rural communities are the ones losing out, because often they cast their ballot for a candidate they know nothing about and have never seen or heard in person.

This ignorance is not a fault of their own, nor is it the fault of the canvassers, but one of the voting system. Alberta is only given a mere 21 seats, and other than the major or even minor cities, the province is poorly represented.

The public in these areas are forced to vote for a particular party instead of the candidate, and the result in many cases is inadequate representation.

The distribution of seats at the present time is on the basis of the number of people in a certain area, whether it be one square mile or 100. This should be changed so that there is some balance between the people and the area they live in.

Maybe if it was, people in the wealthiest province in the country, Alberta, could make a dent in political outcomes. As it is, we in Alberta represent less than eight percent of those in the House of Commons.

Alberta is basically an evenly proportioned province without vast metropolises, and because of our lack of seats, we remain standing in the dark.

What Others Say

Election thoughts

It's difficult to arouse excitement over the February 18 federal election.

Across the nation, people are uneasy about being faced with another expensive round of political one-upmanship, especially in the dead of winter and only nine months after the last one.

But for Lacombe and area residents in the Wetaskiwin riding, the apathy is even more evident. Since we were jugged from the Red Deer Constituency to Wetaskiwin before the May 22 election, we have become almost a lost entity. While the candidates focus the attention of their campaigns towards the more densely populated areas south of Edmonton and around Wetaskiwin, Lacombe and area, the new acquisitions in the constituency, seem to be forgotten.

Some of the party offices seemed almost surprised, when, before the last election, requests came from The Globe for information concerning their candidates.

There was, finally, a political forum four days before the election. But the date was so late that it was impossible for the weekly newspaper media to report the candidates' platforms and comments before election day.

And when Mr. Schellenberger was, finally elected, he seemed to forget Lacombe. A common practice among members of parliament is to send community newspapers a weekly "report" from Parliament Hill, a column relating the activities in Ottawa which are of interest to the constituents.

Although it is not the policy of this newspaper to use these columns on a strictly regular basis, when space permits or when the columns are of particular interest, they are published. The MP from Crowfoot, Arnold Malone, has been sending his column, "Keeping in Touch", for years and our former member, Gordon Towers from Red Deer, was never remiss. But Mr. Schellenberger had to be reminded, with a phone call from this office, that Lacombe is, indeed, in his constituency and a column published in the local paper, even occasionally, may inform area residents and assist him, politically.

We realize that the typical Alberta winter and the lack of time available are not conducive to a well-travelled campaign trail, but we do hope that Lacombe and area residents will be as well-informed as those constituents more centrally located.

WHATRE YA DOIN' PUA?
The diplomatic game of chess presently being waged between Canada and Russia has but one aim in mind, and that is to checkmate each other. To avoid that possibility, each side is met with a counter-move. It's simply a matter of outmanoeuvring the opponent, a tactic which not only involves patience but ability to read the minds of others. After a series of games this becomes a natural ability for by his moves the enemy reveals his accustomed method of deployment.

When Canada's Minister of External Affairs eliminated three Russian Pawns, she weakened the opponent's defences but at the same time forced him into a counter move to avoid being check-mated. Two things were predictable out of the original move: Russia would deny the charge of "bypassing" and would make a retaliatory move. If our Minister was unable to evaluate it that way, her lack of astuteness left her vulnerable and pointed up her inability to deal with high diplomatic matters.

Russia's predictable move of expelling a Canadian military attaché, while certainly a move of revenge, may have more merit to it than appears at first glance. The Russians were "kicked out" of Canada for alleged spying, or extra-curricular "intelligence" activities. To counter the move Russia "kicked out" a Canadian attaché for reasons of "intelligence" activities. It is a matter of opinion but certainly a reasonable assumption that none, if not all foreign embassies engage in matters of "intelligence surveillance" for that is a part of the game, and to deny it would be tantamount to vacating reality.

That is part of the reason why more and more embassies throughout the world are flooding themselves with spies. Our Minister is going to counter the latest Russian move by expelling "at least one"

Soviet diplomat, as a retaliatory move. Her warning that any counter move by Russia with be responded to in kind was the empty gesture of the age for it showed her lack of knowledge in the way the Russian hierarchy thinks. Her statement that "it may seem petty, but it's not that way" indicates, to me at least, that she entertained the thought that this was what we might think. If that is not so, why mention the fact at all?

OF COURSE this is no way is an attempt to absolve Russia from its foreign activities, for the entire world has become convinced that she carries on the "hot" plots of spying known to the world. It simply implies that present trends predict that the whole policy and method of diplomatic relations are going to undergo a dramatic change and its vital activities curtailed. We cannot forever tolerate the high cost of building, maintaining, staffing and operation of foreign embassies and at the same time endure the trauma of a constant state of violence at the least provocation, resulting in nuclear, chemical and biological warfare. The amalgamation of some embassies could reduce expenditures without the loss of prestige, some could even be closed with little side effects. In any case the entire situation is going to have to be reviewed with the aim of re-establishing the balance of diplomatic relations. But this is never going to be accomplished by making retaliatory moves whose primary object is to earn the disdain of clear thinking nations and the revulsion of freedom loving people everywhere.

We've got to recognize that we are not working (primarily) for a peaceful world. Peace will be a by-product of something else. We are working for a new sense of justice and righteousness. Peace is a by-product of justice and mercy.

Philosophy for the Birds

It reads, "There lies before us, if we choose, optional progress in happiness, wisdom and knowledge. Shall we, instead, choose death, because we cannot forget our quarrels?"

We appeal, as human beings to human beings: remember your humanity and forget the rest. If you can do so, the way lies open to a new paradise; if you cannot, there lies before you the risk of universal death." - Rev. Gerald Zelizer (Rev. Zelizer was Pastor of Hardisty Pastoral Charge from 1963-68.)

Political parties in review

(This is the last of the series of articles on political parties. The results and order of parties were totally drawn at random, with the only intent to inform readers with a little history.)

Originating in Canada as an outgrowth of the British Tory Party, the Conservatives were loyal to the Crown in the pioneer days. The party's first great leader was Sir John A. Macdonald who directed the country's growth to country leadership and held the post of Prime Minister from 1867 almost continuously until his death in 1891.

The party incorporated some of the opinions of the Liberals and thought up a "National Policy" devised to the development of the country. They constructed transcontinental railways and supported an increase of urban industry.

The policies of the Conservatives caused a dislike that was traditional for years by farmers and French Canadian. Farmers felt that the party was only interested in "big business" and not agrarian concerns. French Canadians felt that the party was too pro-British, and was not concerned with their heritage.

Implementing universal military conscription during World War I hurt the Conservatives in Quebec even more because the French Canadians thought it was a "British War." The Conservatives from this point was almost a rebirth for the party that had almost been wiped out due to the long, long Liberal control.

Diefenbaker's popularity faded though, and in 1968 the party was decreased to a minority government, and defeated by the Liberals in 1968.

It was again another uphill climb for the Conservatives who under Robert Stanfield could just be a strong opposition party.

In the late 70s Stanfield was replaced by the youngest leader the party had ever followed, Joe Clark. His youth and ability to stand up to the aging Liberal leader, Pierre Trudeau, was himself the youngest Prime Minister in Canadian history, and the youngest to be defeated in a non-confidence vote in late 1979.

At 36, Clark was the youngest Prime Minister in Canadian history, and the youngest to be defeated in a non-confidence vote in late 1979.

Local people attend stock show in Denver

A down town Angus people took in the 74th Annual National Western Stock Show in Denver, Colorado in mid-January. The Denver Show is billed as the Nation's Largest Livestock Show and includes several breeds of cattle, as well as horses and sheep. Thirty three thousand people went through the gates on Monday, January 14. Many spectators enjoyed the Rodeo performance as well as commercial display and the live livestock. The weather was mild, with temperatures between 80 and 90 degrees F.

The popularity of the Aberdeen-Angus cattle was evident by the huge crowds attending the Angus show. Many Canadians were present, and some Alberta Angus breeders had entered cattle in various classes. "Black" was the word for the winners of the Star Show. A total of 213 market steers were entered in the Junior Livestock Show. The Grand Champion and Reserve Champion Steers were both from Angus cross-breeding, as were the two top steers in each of the four weight classes.

Riters Rambings

By Eva Coulson
Volunteers For A Liberated Lady

Volunteers for you, my love;
Rings to match your sparkling eyes.
A blue dropped in your very hair,
Bright ribbons for your hair.
I'd like to take you to a show;
Or maybe out to dance and dine,
Champagne and flowers for you today,
Sweet Queen of my Heart!

Volunteers for you, my love;
Toads to fit your shiny heels,
A barbell in your very hair,
I'd like to take you for a drink,
If you will clean those grubby hands.
And change those grubby pants.
I'd like to celebrate with you today;
But dear, you took my car apart!

Clark suggests changes

Sen. Credit leader Bob Clark wants the provincial government to invest $100,000 for a Toronto office that would explain Alberta's side of energy pricing.

The official suggestion was part of a five-point package that the Opposition leader outlined to the Edmonton Chamber of Commerce.

Clark's key suggestion is that Alberta should seek tradeoffs in other key economic areas in exchange for the continued selling of oil produced here at less than world prices.

"A fair deal" on freight rates should be the province's first priority for negotiations.

Even under the proposal worked out with the Conservative government before it was defeated, the Canadian price for oil would be tied to 85 per cent of the Chicago "blended" price level.

Clark said the Chicago blended price is currently about $27.50 while the Canadian wellhead price is $14.75.

"Even that the Chicago price or close to it) will provide a continuing subsidy to the rest of Canada," the Sen. leader said. "As such it should be part of a package including a fair deal for freight rates, then our domestic oil price should be tied in principle to the Chicago composite price and moved up that price in stages by adjusting the per cent of the discount."

Conservation also plays an important part in the Sen. leader's package. Highway speed limits should be reduced to 90 km per hour from 100 km per hour and business and property taxes should be adjusted to encourage building construction that would reduce energy loss.

Industry and government should co-operate to improve technology, Clark said, with the goal of increasing the recovery rate of oil in the ground from 60 per cent to 80 per cent.

Labor and management should be brought together to encourage disrupture construction and operation of oil sands plants, he said. Clark reported the notice of a labor-management secretariat that was recommended at a tripartite conference involving the Alberta Chamber of Commerce, Alberta unions and the government two years ago.

Clark said the province needs a definite oil sands policy that would schedule development of future oil sands plants at 30 month intervals. The Tory policy of considering each plant as a separate deal results in a disruption of the smooth flow of construction and can create manpower problems, the Seneca says.

Flagstaff Hobby Club

On Wednesday, January 19 the Assiniboian Hobbyists of Flagstaff met in the Sedgewick United Church Hall. Following a brief business meeting, Mr. Paul Vanderhorst showed a most interesting selection of holiday tree slides taken in Alberta, Saskatchewan and Manitoba. He also included slides of scenes in the French valley and around Sedgewick. Altogether it was a most enjoyable evening program. Lunch and social hour followed.

The next meeting of the Hobby Club will be on Wednesday, February 20 at 8 p.m. in the Sedgewick United Church Hall. Mr. Lorne French will be showing a selection of his holiday trips slides as we are looking forward to an interesting evening of entertainment. Everyone is welcome.

Read those contracts

Patricia Mills
Read any good contracts lately? Move to the point, did you understand what you read?

If you've ever bought a house or a car, borrowed money, applied for a credit card or purchased on the installment plan, you've signed a contract. How many times did you completely understand what you were signing?

Of course you know that signing your name would result in your obtaining the goods. You almost certainly knew how much the monthly payments were going to be.

It doesn't take all those paragraphs of three-spaced type, however, just to state the cost of the goods and the amount of each payment. The rest of that beast of legal jargon, with its strings of "hereinafter," "whereas" and "party-of-the-first-part," is not there merely to fill up the rest of the page. Your obligations to the vendor are being spelled out, and you'd better know exactly what they are or you could receive an unpleasant shock later on.

Practically everyone would agree that one should not sign a contract without reading it, yet it's amazing how many people do just that. Or they skip over the parts they don't understand, accepting the salesman's assurance that everything is fine.

Whenever you are presented to sign something you don't understand, you'll often experience a feeling of unease. Don't fight that feeling. It's your instinct for self-preservation talking, and it's giving you good advice.

Installation of Rt. Rev. E. Kent Clark

With three resounding knocks upon the west door of All Saint's Cathedral in Edmonton, the Right Reverend Edwin Kent Clark, former suffragan bishop of Niagara, announced his presence. The door was opened by the Dean of the Cathedral, and thus the impressive ceremony of the installation of Rt. Rev. E. Kent Clark as the seventh Bishop of the Anglican Diocese of Edmonton began. The cathedral was filled to capacity on the afternoon of the installation by clergy, visiting clergy, lay dignitaries and lay representatives of individual parishes throughout the Diocese. From the retired Bishop of the Diocese, Rt. Rev. John Langston, the new Bishop received the Diocesan Cross, and the Diocesan Pastoral Cross. Then, as Edmonton's new bishop, Rt. Rev. Clark addressed the congregation. Among those participating in the ceremony were the Rt. Hon. P. Layton, Sturgeon, Lieutenant Governor of Alberta, Edmonton Police Chief Robert Lemay, and R.C.M.P. Assistant Commissioner Peter Wright. Attending the service of installation from the new Bishop's Parish were Rev. Conrad and a full complement of lay representatives.

Battle River Hockey standings

Following are the standings in the B.R.H.L. after the weekend session.
Western Division Points
Viking Gas Kings 28
Dayland North Stars 26
Forewashed Flyers 27
Kilham Indians 29
Roanald A's 29
Eastern Division Points
Hardisty Stampede 21
Irma A's 21
Hugden Jets 16
Sedgewick Sabres 11
Loughheed Handymen 1

The longest leading Viking Gas Kings lost a close one at home to Dayland 5-2 when the puck dropped between the goalkeepers legs and settled about an inch over the goal line in the dying minutes of the third period. Viking took another set back on Sunday when Forewashed upset them 5-5 in the 'coal town'. The Gas Kings however retaliated on Monday night by doubling the Flyers 8-4 who had defeated Irma 9-3 on Saturday.

The hectic race for the third and fourth play-off spots in the Western division continued as the Kilham Indians improved their position with back to back victories over their neighbours to the east. The Indians easily defeated Loughheed on Saturday night with Wayne Grant coming up with four goals. On Monday it was Kilham 5 Sedgewick 4 in the county capital after the Sabres defeated Hugden 7-0 on Saturday.

Roanald meanwhile dropped two games, losing 5-3 to Hardisty and 6-3 to Dayland.

In other action on Monday it was Irma 7 Loughheed 2 and Hardisty over Hugden 9-5.

Joe Giller has taken over the lead in the Indians M.V.P. (Most Valuable Player) fan voting with Brian Borles, Ray Anderson and Michael Kusker close behind. The veterans continue to strengthen his performance as the play-offs draw nearer.

After Wednesdays home game against Irma, Killam will travel to Roanald on Friday night to complete their regular league schedule.

The Indians could slip into third spot with victories on Wednesday and Friday if they remain in fourth spot they will take on the Gas Kings starting Sunday, February 17th in Viking 2:30 p.m. The second game of the best of five divisional semifinal going in Killam Monday February 18 regardless of whether the Indians play Viking or Dayland in the semi. A third spot finish would put Killam against Dayland Saturday night in Dayland.

"A garbage disposal needs hot water to work right." No. Use cold water. Hot water liquefies grease, causing build-up in the pipes.

"Hot water has to be at least 71°C." A water temperature of 80°C is adequate for hot water equipment.

"All television sets use about the same amount of power." Wrong. Colour sets consume more electricity than black-and-white.

News from Central High Cancers annual meeting

The Minister of Education has commissioned a Task Force on School Counselling and Guidance to determine the adequacy and quality of existing school counselling and guidance programs in Alberta Schools. Our grade eleven English students, their parents and teachers were asked to fill out a questionnaire as one aspect of this Task Force's information gathering task. Dr. D. J. "Tom" Clark will present some of the findings of this questionnaire at the school's annual meeting.

Parents responses were very similar to student responses but parents rated the school's success in their efforts slightly higher than the students' rating.

Teachers recognize the problems that alcohol poses for some of our young people. With the assistance of the Alberta Alcohol and Drug Abuse Commission, which has recently opened an office in Camrose, we are attempting to introduce is-formation on alcohol and drug abuse into some of our existing courses. If you have any suggestions or comments about this matter please contact the school at 364-3817.

When entering a polling station you will give your name to the deputy returning officer who will check to see that your name is on the official voters' list. If so, you will receive a ballot for marking in a polling booth nearby.

On the ballot paper you will find the names of candidates, their political affiliation (if any) of each candidate printed under the name. You will vote for one candidate by marking an "X" in the circle beside his or her name. No ballot will be accepted which contains any mark that identifies the voter.

You will then re-fold the ballot and give it to the deputy returning officer who will deposit it into the ballot box.

After the closing of the poll, the ballot box will be opened in the presence of agents of the candidates.

The deputy returning officer will count the ballot, depositing votes for each candidate in separate envelopes, and will issue a statement giving the results of the poll. All documents will be put into the ballot box which will be sealed and taken to the returning officer.

Labour Minister Leo Young says he hopes to introduce amendments to the province's human rights legislation during the spring session of the legislature which begins March 20.

He now has before him the recommendations of the province's own Human Rights Commission as to what the commission believes the changes should be.

As its foremost priority, the commission has called for amendments to permit and encourage employers to implement affirmative action programs for the disadvantaged groups.

Commission chairman, Bob Loudergave, has described the inferior status of women and natives in the workforce as the single greatest problem facing human rights in the province today.

So he and his six commission colleagues would like employers to voluntarily start special programs aimed at the advancement of women and disadvantaged minorities to higher status jobs in the workforce.

Loudergave argues that amendments to the law that would prohibit discrimination on the basis of sexual orientation.

Although the human rights commission itself had once urged this measure upon the government, the present commission, composed of entirely different members, has refused to make a similar request.

One area where Young is almost certain to take action is that of homosexual rights.

Homosexual organizations have asked the minister to introduce amendments to the law that would prohibit discrimination on the basis of sexual orientation.

Liberal win Canada, Malone at home was honoured to serve my sixth month as Prime Minister, said Joe Clark at his headquarters in Bytown Grove after losing the leadership of the Canadian government on Monday.

Clark, the youngest man ever to lead the government of Canada was defeated to Pierre Trudeau and the Liberal Party.

"I constructed a national government and a national campaign for which I can be proud," said Clark in an after-election speech.

Clark later wished the Liberals good luck and admitted his defeat. "We who believe in democracy... naturally accept our defeat."

Handling himself with dignity he added, "We have now a parliament that we must make work."

Trudeau seemed overjoyed with the win, but set politics aside when speaking about Clark after the election in Montreal. "If you are like me, you have a grudging admiration for Mr. Clark. He showed stamina and courage in the face of adversity. Such warriors should not be counted out of the history of this parliament or indeed the history of Canada."

Trudeau added that what the Liberals want is world peace and hopes that Canadians will feel that the Liberals will put the good of Canadians before the party.

NDP leader, Ed Broadbent was happy with his party's showing in the election. "I am proud that we have won more seats and have the highest popularity vote in our history," Broadbent also wished Trudeau well in leading the country.

All other parties were totally wiped out, including the Social Credit who were hoping and expecting at least a minor representation.

In the Crawford riding, incumbent PC Arnold Malone won almost five times as many votes as second place Liberal, Jack Horner.

Malone accumulated 23,380 votes to only 4,702 for Horner. NDP, Roger Milbradt placed third with less than half as many as Horner, and Social Credit, Jim Green picked up the rear with a minor amount.

Malone will be paid just over 70% of the $20,000 people who cast their ballot. The Conservatives again, their fifth in a row, swept through Alberta, winning all 21 seats.

County teaching staff promotes school spirit

During the 1977 school year in an attempt to open the lines of communication between the various teaching staff in the County of Flagstaff, Killam and Sedgewick teachers took part in a flag football game for the Memorial Memento Trophy.

Since that time the schools in the county have participated in an evening of recreational sports and valedictory to share common teaching concerns.

Daysland school currently possesses this trophy and the Forestry Invitational (sent in by Daysland School) that appeared in last week's Community Press and Enterprise was merely an attempt to motivate Forestry school to invite Daysland to play their fair town to enjoy a few hours of recreational volleyball. If this has caused concerns or difficulties with the school and town of Forestry, this was not our intent.

Trudeaumania? Hardly

Well Pierre Trudeau and his Liberal Party won Monday's Federal Election with a majority that is but nine seats short of the number gathered in 1968 during the Trudeaumania campaign.

It's a little different this time though, for the simple reason that this time contrary to 1968, Canadians know what to expect. They can expect the same type of government that they shunned last May.

The sad thing is that one likes to believe that Canadians as a whole wanted Clark out, in favor of Trudeau. Not so, the Liberals did not win a seat west of Manitoba, and only two seats in Manitoba.

In all reality, the big winners of the election were the people of Quebec who elected Liberals in 73 out of their 74 seats. In fact, not including the province, the Conservatives won 102 seats compared to 78 for the Liberals, and 32 for the NDP.

The country is now more divided, with no representatives from the Liberals in the west, causing a regionally fragmented parliament.

French Canadians say that they want Canadian unity, but elected the party responsible for much of it's division.

Quebec also seems to forget Trudeau's past record which accounts for the deficit going up, quickly rising inflation, a large drop in the value of the Canadian dollar, and the list goes on.

Now lets have a look at why Clark was defeated. One reason is that the media made him look like a blundering idiot with every move he made. These were things that they would have ignored had he been another Prime Minister.

Clark made mistakes both internationally and nationally. These were mistakes that should have been seen as inexperience, but were not.

His final mistake though, was coming to the reality that Canadians should pay more for gas. He should have known that Canadians like to be fooled as they had come accustomed to during the Trudeau years.

Possibly the best way to prove this point is to look at the campaign. Trudeau proved virtually nothing, and talked on the issues even less. Clark, on the other hand, gave the country things to look forward to, and rarely failed to answer a question on issues. It can be derived from this that Canadians don't wish to act on their future or come to any realization that right now things aren't coming up roses. The fact is, Clark won the campaign but Trudeau won the election.

The troubles Clark and the Conservatives had are now gone, and they rest in the hands of Trudeau's Liberal government. They now have a maximum of five years to wipe their own slate, and get the country back on it's feet.

Everything that defeated the Clark government, Trudeau now faces, and his hard to believe these troubles can be solved by a man who said not long ago that he didn't want to be Prime Minister.

WHEN THE LAW apprehends thieves, those accused rarely "take off" with goods and chattels which don't belong to them, the culprits are locked up or hit with a fine, for the most part that is. There are technicalities in the system whereby innocence is proclaimed, and the guilty are not established beyond a doubt, or some intricate procedure was not followed, exactly to the letter.

CONVERSELY though the greatest thief of all time has never been "caught up to" during all times, and the chances of ever apprehending this arch-scoundrel has plagued mankind forevermore and bringing him before the bar of justice are as dim now as ever. The thief we are talking about is time.

What Others Say

Minister of Education

Last week some teachers were caught off guard by a wandering dignitary in their halls. On something of a surprise visit, Dave King, Minister of Education came out to have a look at the schools. He came he said to have a better understanding of the schools and spent the entire day going from one end of the county, Hinton, to the other end of the county, Ashmont. Admirable. How much did he see though?

When the rulers descend from their seats of power to get the feelings of the populace one thinks there must be a reason. In this case King was getting the whirl wind tour of St. Paul and St. Paul County schools and school boards, both of which have some problems which can not easily be assessed in a five minute walking tour of the school.

Some county schools would seem to need a serious upgrading of their physical plant. It is the obvious King would have seen. The not so obvious, takes time. And there the controversy arises.

King has said he would like to see more teachers be generalists. He seems to mean a teacher could teach a variety of subjects say Art, English, Social Studies. One thing he fails to see is the pressure such a program would place on teachers. But the comment seems to answer a question of more extra curricular activities in a rural area. If one can get some super teacher to teach a lot of subjects, well then the problem would be solved.

A teacher's reaction to the Minister's visit would not be very solicited. Many teachers feel that unless you have taught, you don't really know all the problems in the schools. It would be an interesting experiment to see what would happen if Ministers of Education, School Board members and who ever had to teach for a week. Would their attitudes toward education change? Perhaps King has taught but I am going on the assumption he hasn't.

What would be the rest of the public's view of King's trip to the school? I guess it is meant to make them feel their elected officials are on the job. And in many ways it does, but one can not forget the public relations motives of such tactics.

Parish hall dedicated

On February 3, 1980 the St. Joseph's Catholic Church held a dedication night in honor of Father McCarthy.

Well over 60 families from Killam and Strome gathered in the parish hall with a potluck supper at 6:00 p.m. Ralph Mann, chairman of the parish council, had the honour of dedicating the hall to a short program.

Two solos by Ray Fox accompanied by Helen King were enjoyed. A short film using the new video tape machine showing Archbishop Jordan's early years of priesthood. A short history of Father McCarthy was given by Gertrude Slavik, from the time he first served Killam, Strome and Hardisty.

Chairman Mann then called on Jim Slavik to make the presentation of a dedication plaque to Father McCarthy naming the parish hall after him.

A word of appreciation was given by Father Mc-Carthy. He thanked everyone who had helped in the dedication of the hall. He said that he was very proud to have the parish hall named after him. He said that he would continue to serve the parish with dedication and hard work.

Fathers night held at Hardisty Kindergarten

Fathers night before Christmas was a very enjoyable occasion. It gave the fathers a chance to see what goes on in a pre-school program and the children enjoyed their fathers' company on an excursion to the school.

We would like to extend a sincere welcome to Bill-Jo Drager who is our new volunteer. He will be going out to the community to visit the hospital and Post Office, etc. and hopes to join with our neighboring Kindergarten on excursions further afield.

If the second half of our program is as enjoyable as the first the year will pass very quickly.

$800 to Hardisty Auxiliary

The presentation of a cheque to the Hardisty Auxiliary by the Battle River Light Horse Association was the highlight of the February meeting held Tuesday, February 13 at the Hospital. Light Horse President Jim Brown presented Auxiliary Treasurer Charlotte Colton with a cheque for $800.

This generous donation is the largest single donation ever received by the Auxiliary, although it is not the first time that the Auxiliary has been a recipient of monies from the Light Horse Club. The support of this fine group of people as well as others in our area makes our work possible.

The heartfelt thanks of the Hospital Auxiliary goes out to each and every member of the Light Horse.

Continuing on the subject of generosity, the Auxiliary's new members, who arrived at their time and talents in the production of beautiful hand-made articles for sale. Volunteer chairman, Phyllis Manning reported she hardly has a chance to get the items into the showcase before they are sold.

Items received since last meeting were dollsies from Mrs. Gertrude Terry and Mrs. Barb Matthews, a white baby shawl from Mrs. Myrtle Richardson, six pairs of slippers from Mrs. Clara Wilder, assorted showcase items from Mrs. Eva Cookson, two baby sweaters from the U.C.W., a white baby set from Mrs. Donna Hols and a blue baby set from Mrs. Nettie Johnson. With a number of new arrivals the baby sets sell almost immediately. Phyllis has a large quantity of baby food in a variety of colors, available to anyone who would like to knit or crochet for us.

Heleen Gray reported that she has been in contact with the Child Protection Officer in Wainwright in regards to setting up a seminar on child abuse. At this point we are waiting for a date to be finalized. This public affairs seminar will probably be held some time in March.

Several letters were received regarding our new showcase. Mrs. Rasmussen, a letter from citizens to Premier Lougheed and Hospital Auxiliary. Mrs. Rasmussen's reply to our Auxiliary letter to Premier Lougheed was read, as well as a letter from Dave Reed being the names of the projects.

Lougheed Rebekah Valentine's meeting

March, mention was made of a second chance in eating accommodations.

There was a discussion pertaining to the wedding reception in June, for which the Rebekahs will cater.

Members were asked to leave their names if they wished to subscribe to "The International Rebekah".

Under, God of the Order, Sis Ida Mae Black read an interesting report from the Rebekah Lodge in Perlin, Saskatchewan. Sis Johnson read from the International Rebekah "Why I am a Rebekah."

Upon the closing of lodge, Sister Beaton and Black served a delicious lunch. The lunch committee for the next meeting is Butcher and Beaton. See you then - February 27.

FROM ALBERTA AGRICULTURE FLAGSTAFF NEWS

SEED TREATMENT

One of the most important steps in seed production is seed treatment. This involves treating the seeds with a fungicide to protect them from fungal diseases. This is especially important for seeds that are being planted in a field, as they are more susceptible to disease than seeds that are being planted in a greenhouse.

There are several methods of seed treatment, including chemical, biological, and physical. The most common method is chemical treatment, which involves treating the seeds with a fungicide. This can be done in a number of ways, including dipping the seeds in a solution of fungicide, spraying the seeds with a fungicide, or coating the seeds with a fungicide.

Diet Detective: What about Breakfast Cereals?

Back haul of grains is made up of bran (10%), germ (2.5%) and endosperm (87%). Both the bran and the germ contain B-vitamins and iron. The germ also has protein, vitamin E and zinc. All three parts of the kernel are used to make whole grain cereals and flour. These products are also a good source of fibre or roughage in the diet.

Refined cereals contain no bran or germ. The endosperm is all that is left, containing starch and protein, but no vitamins or minerals. To make these cereals nutritious, the government has passed laws requiring that the cereals be enriched by adding the B-vitamins and iron back to them. These cereals are nutritious, but are low in fibre. Some examples are Bran, Raisin Bran, Special K, and Cheerios.

Some examples of whole grains are: whole wheat, whole oatmeal, Red River, Sunny-Boy, Vita Wheat, All-Bran, Bran Buds, and All-Bran. According to study in the April 1979 Canadian Consumer, these high fibre cereals contain the least per serving, compared to other ready-to-eat cereals.

In some pre-sweetened cereals, sugar is the main ingredient, comprising more than half the volume by weight. You pay more for sugar than the cereal. Cereals which contain more than 15% sugar are unnecessarily sweet.

The label tells you a lot about the cereal. Ingredients will be listed from highest to lowest proportion. If sugar is first, then you know the cereal contains more sugar than any other ingredient.

Generally, the shorter the ingredient list, the better. Studies indicate that children and adults who do not eat breakfast have slower mental reactions, have increased muscular fatigue and have lower work output than persons eating an adequate breakfast.

Cereals or other grain products chosen for breakfast (or other meals) offer a significant contribution to your diet.

March 1 - 7 Home Safety Week

Kerry Anderson

The Alberta Safety Council announced that it's Home Safety Week will be from March 1-7, and hopes all of the public will recognize the hazards of the home.

Each year twice as many people suffer serious sustaining injuries in the home than in any other environment. Most points out the Home Safety Council of the Alberta Safety Council. Not only that, more than 2,000 people die in Canada from four major home accident categories: falls, fires, poison, and suffocation.

The first category, falls, can be avoided most easily by using common sense and setting safety measures.

Seven out of 10 fatal falls in the home occur to adults over the age of 65, and most of them happen on stairs due to tripping over obstacles. Good housekeeping is an easy solution to this problem, said the Committee.

Other causes of falls are water pipes that are not properly sealed, and spilled liquids. Simply wiping them up is suggested.

The best guard against falls on stairs and getting out of the bathtub is handrails. They should be secured on both sides of stairs, with one of the handrails in and out of the bathroom and in out of the bathroom.

Fires can be eliminated in many ways, such as by having a fire extinguisher in a handy place of the house. The number of fatal accidents caused by fires in 1978 is only out-numbered in Alberta by traffic deaths.

Matches are one of the commonest sources of ignition, warns the committee, keep matches away from children.

In 1978, 4,622 fires occurred in Alberta residential buildings, with damage estimated at exceeding $2.6 million. The committee states, do not smoke in bed or allow cigarettes, matches or stoves in a bedroom.

Fire accounts for over 600 deaths in Canada per year, and 60% of the deaths occur in the home. Remember this life-preserving procedure: If your clothing should catch on fire, stop, drop and roll.

Flagstaff Further Education

I have completed a recap of the Flagstaff Further Education courses, progressing in this country.

Since the first of January 1980, we have five courses finished at this time. There are 38 courses in progress, five have been cancelled due to lack of registration. There are 28 scheduled to start in the next weeks providing eight adults register.

Have you got your registration in?

Your contact is looking for suggestions for fall programs at this time. Have you been in touch with your local volunteer contact?

In Alliance to the friendly volunteer working in the Glendale area. In Fortburg call Faithful Fran, while in Hester Rose Walker is doing her thing for your area. Feel free to give these girls a ring soon.

KILLAM, ALBERTA

On the north line of the country, the folks of Dayland are fortunate to have two hard working gals, namely Gail Bendfield and Jo McCarroll. In Strome contact Dorothy Wineshorst, a very busy gal. Margaret Manning at Killam, slipped away for a much needed rest in the Caribbean, while Donna Martin in Sedgewick is anxious to hear from you, though her young family keeps her busy. She would like to aid her in putting the fall courses into action. Her folks appreciate the services of Lis Bouda, who would appreciate an assistant, though the Fabric Den are doing a terrific job of taking registrations, which is a big help for Lis. Bouda Bouda of Sedgewick has been looking for registrations for the Social Dances and Antiques shows. In there someone in the Lougheed area that will volunteer to set up some programs for that area?

A group of students at Central formed a Travel Club in the Fall. After a number of attempts at choosing a destination they finally settled on a ski week in Banff during the Spring break. Although the students held their meetings in the school and worked through the Students Union, the ski trip is not a part of the school's extra-curricular program and the school is not providing chaperones or transportation for this group. The executive of

The Travel Club has distributed information about their plans to parents and have indicated that the school is not involved in their undertaking and has also requested assistance in finding chaperones. I wish the Travel Club every success in their efforts because they really have worked hard.

If you have any questions about your child's program and school activities please contact the school at 364-8817. Maudie Jewson

South Hardisty couple return from Australia

Mr. and Mrs. Ben Gilbert have recently returned from their six week trip to Australia. They left December 14 stayed overnight in Vancouver. Next day left for Sydney, then had to wait in the morning to catch the train. They found that very interesting. This they was able to do in South Australia which is another strange area with many hotels and beautiful cities. They visited the Barossa Valley where they grow grapes and make wine. A very bad wind storm had gone through which uprooted trees and many houses had been damaged. They visited the city of Adelaide. It was a beautiful sight on coming in for a landing. All the houses had red roofs. There were many bush fires mostly man made. It was very hot and dry.

There are 185 miles of shoreline and 42 beautiful beaches in Sydney. They spent two nights there and had a Captain Cook luncheon and found the open house very nice. They went by Asset: Bus Lines to Camrose, the capital. It was in the closest, closest city to the world. You see all the Embassy and Government building, beautiful houses, shopping centers etc. Camrose was designed by Bury Griffith from Chicago, U.S.A.

Hockey action in Killam Volunteer graduation '79

Sunday, February 17 saw the Killam Minor Hockey teams hosting four teams from Two Hills in what has been an annual affair for the past several years.

Although the Two Hills Minors, Pee Wee and Bantams had fewer players in general than the well rounded Killam teams (thanks to players from Stroms, Longhead and Sedgewick) they seemed to have the definite edge.

The strong skating Killam Farm Equipment Flyers (Minors) again showed good potential, but due to missing the net and weak passing they were edged 8-7. Mark Wright led 6 goals for the Two Hills minis, Killam Minors are coached by Robert Borth and managed by Ray Stanser and Zeno Patten.

The Killam Pee Wee (coached by Brian Sorenson and managed by Ray Poo) were out played in the early part of the game and had to settle for a 1-0 defeat at the hands of the visitors.

The Killam U-18 Bantams (coached by Gary O'Connor and managed by Dave Prichard) suffered a similar fate losing 10-0 to the Two Hills U-18 Bantams. Ken Leung coached our Bantams in this game and Ray Poo played bravely in the net against the hard shooting Two Hills club.

The finale to a good day of hockey was provided in an excellent performance from the Sedgewick Midgets. This team carries players from Forestburg, Longhead, Alliance, Galsbad, Killam and of course Sedgewick. A fast and clever brand of hockey with some edge of good passing ended in a 7-1 victory over Two Hills. Ken Kowalski led his bid for the shutout with just 45 seconds left in the game. The team is coached by Don Clarke and managed by Rob Clarke. They will see Provincial action in April on Wednesday February 20 with the second tentatively set for Sedgewick on Friday night.

In other news on Friday, swimming and of course hockey action the annual Two Hills day ended. The players would like to thank the many thank convener, Davey Gammel and the gals girls. Also the officials, Greg Grant, Dennis Bues, Dan Lewis, Lloyd Prash, Blair Grant, Steve Lafon, Kaitie, John Stobie and Kevin Myers and Kevin Woodcock ably helped to make the day a success. Three star selections were made by Neil Sorkin, Glen Giesler and Dave Prichard.

The Killam Lions Jr. Killam action Saturday, February 16 in Killam against a short-handed and well disciplined Provost team. The score ended 19-9 for Provost. The Juveniles (coached by Ken Brust) will see provincial playoff action in Killam at 7:30 p.m., Friday February 22, facing Camrose.

From The Two Hills On Sunday, February 17 the Killam Indians travelled to the County of Beaver for the first game of the best of five B.R.L. divisional quarter final. The action was hot and heavy in the early stages but the heavy Gas Kings along with the hot bodied gradually wore down the Indians for a 9-3 Gas King victory.

The snowy, election night, return match in Killam saw a complete reversal as the home-town Indians lead by the teams, high-spirited, high-scoring Brian Bowles beat the Gas Kings 7-2.

Wednesday night, coach Russell Grant will take the "pride of Killam" into Vining with the fourth game set for Killam on Saturday, February 23. Indian manager, Shere Kabanowsky, along with President, Bill Giesler, are not committing themselves at this stage but they do admit to "thinking back" to last springs semi-final where they lost (not to mention the super performance of Del Bergum in the nets).

The Hardisty Hospital Auxiliary Volunteer Graduation took place at the Catholic Hall in Hardisty on December 9, 1979. Despite inclement weather conditions, there was a good turnout of parents to support and congratulate the girls who successfully undertook the Volunteer course.

Once again the girls were most ably instructed by Marilyn Manning who was assisted by Lynn Oyster. Marilyn complimented the girls on their attendance during the course and their success in the test. The Auxiliary would like to extend special thanks to Marilyn and Lynn for so willingly and capably offering their time and expertise.

Mr. Erna Mathews, President of the Hospital Auxiliary, was unable to attend, but in her absence, was still commended for her dedication and desire to serve her community in this way.

Both Mr. Mathews and Dr. Cahill spoke on the merits of the program for the hospital and the community, but also the girls themselves.

This point was endorsed by Liz Soaks who spoke on behalf of the parents. She pointed out that the program not only offers the girls a chance to work with in a hospital, but also helps to develop the maturity and character of the girls involved.

Now that the Volunteer program has been established for several years, there are a number of girls staying in the program after the first year. This year spouses were presented to the two, second year and two, third year girls, by Dr. Cahill and Mr. George Mathews, Chairman of the Playstaff, Hughenden Hospital Board. One fourth year girl, Lorretta Manning, was unable to attend, but in her absence, was still commended for her dedication and desire to serve her community in this way.

Mrs. Lole Erickson, Mrs. Christal Hagen and Aaron and Angie spent a couple of days in Edmonton last week.

At the Norwegian Whist party at the Senior Citizens Drop-In Centre on Friday evening Mrs. Jean Forrier and Mr. Nole Djevo won prizes for the highest scores. Mrs. Lillian Craig and Mr. Jack Shaw received consolation awards. There were seven tables of players.

Ardis Barclay, Lili McPherson, Helen Lamb and Marika Pope curled in the Ladies Boutsnel at Allamoon the weekend and won third or fourth prize in the Third event. The Boutsnel was over when they left so they have to wait to see just what they won. Congratulations ladies.

The Kink family visited with daughter Donna and her husband Mr. and Mrs. Kinkler at Lacey over the weekend.

I have to make a couple of corrections on the account of the Harris' Craig wedding anniversary report last week. Mr. Harry Trice not Price for the best man and Mrs. Sodie not Grace Marlow was the bridesmaid.

My apologies. Congratulations to Mr. Keith Nordstrom on winning the hurrance league raffled by the bowling league on behalf of the Recreation Centre.

The Girl Guides and browns attended church service at the Lutheran Church on Sunday morning.

Mrs. Brent Braland and son, along with her grandmother, all of Canmore, visited with Mrs. E. McLeod Friday afternoon.

Just heard that Mrs. Belva Whitehead spent a couple of weeks in the University Hospital awhile back. She's been home about three weeks and we're happy to hear she's feeling better every day.

Mr. Harold Swanson of Calgary spent the week-end visiting with his dad, Gilbert. He rode up with his nephew on Friday night and left Sunday evening.

Scoring for Killam were Rod Lewis, Jim Lang and Jeff Vold. Assistants were given to Murray Frickard, Jeff Vold and Rod Lewis. Sedgewick defeated Killam 6-3. This was the last of our regular league games.

AUDITOR'S SPECIAL REPORT

We have examined the balance sheets of the various funds of the County of Kingshoff $80 as of December 31, 1979 and the related statements of Revenue and Expenditure, Surplus (Deficit), Capital Planning and Equity in Fixed Assets for the year then ended. Our examination included a general review of the accounting procedures and such tests of accounting records and other supporting evidence as we considered necessary in the circumstances, except that we did not physically examine and count the reported inventories of $215,732.00 and therefore we were unable to satisfy ourselves as to the existence of such inventory.

In our opinion, except for the effect of any adjustments which might have been required had we been able to examine and count the inventory, these financial statements present fairly the financial position of the municipality as at December 31, 1979 and the results of its operations for the year then ended, in accordance with generally accepted accounting principles as they apply to Alberta municipalities.

Further, in our opinion, the additional statements and reports, when considered in relation to the aforementioned statements, presents fairly the supplemental information shown.

REPORT OF THE CHAIRMAN OF THE BOARD

The year past was marked with a number of successes as well as problems.

Cost-control practices initiated a few years ago started to bear fruit in 1979 when, despite the continuing decline in student enrollment and the ever-increasing price and inflation increases, the Board of Education held the mill rate and the number of staff at the 1978 level.

While this may prove to be only a temporary phenomenon, the Board's cost and service base is now well-defined and should, as a consequence, enable the Board to scrutinize future expenditures and services very rigorously.

The past year also saw the introduction of two educational services for our children. First, the fine arts program was strengthened by adding the services of a travelling music teacher. Second, programs for handicapped children were introduced at two schools.

The objective of these two services, particularly the program for the handicapped, was to ensure that the County's educational program more closely matched the interests and capabilities of our children.

Perhaps the most serious problem is that of declining enrollments. Ten years have passed since the peak enrollment was reached with today's enrollment being 700 fewer than in 1968-69. While the elementary school enrollment has stabilized somewhat, the junior and senior high schools will continue to experience decline for the next three or four years.

Since the bulk of government funds for education are transferred to the County on the basis of enrolled students and since the grant is in excess of $1000 per student, the decline has had and will continue to have severe implications for the remaining students. Particularly noteworthy in this regard, is the inability of the County to enter into vocational education programming.

Other negative consequences of the decline include the lack of instruction at the Grade 5 and 7 levels at Loughheed School and the cessation of instruction at Galahad School on September 7, 1979.

Unless alternatives are vigorously pursued, particularly in centres like Alliance, Loughheed, and Heisler, the decline will not only hinder improvements, but, it will also make it more difficult to maintain existing services.

The rising cost of energy which has affected us all has not left the schools untouched. Indeed, energy, whether heating, lighting or transportation, is consuming an ever-increasing amount of education dollars and, as a consequence, is removing these dollars from direct instructional services to our children.

While the Board is actively upgrading its buildings to make them more energy efficient, increased savings will be highly dependent upon awareness and action at the school building level by staff and students alike.

Student consumption of alcoholic beverages, particularly at school-sponsored activities, and the increasing number of students driving to and from school in privately-owned vehicles continues to be of serious concern. Contrary to the feelings of some, the schools are not able to accept responsibility or mete out discipline in the vast majority of such cases.

Overall, I feel we had a successful year.

The Board was saddened in early 1979 to learn of the passing of Mr. E. Bruchten of Heisler who had served on the Board for more than four years.

Respectfully submitted,

Glen W. Miller

AGRICULTURAL FIELDMAN'S REPORT 1979

AGRICULTURAL AND ADVISORY COMMITTEE:

The Agricultural Committee composed of all County Council members remained the same during 1979 with J. Crawford, Forestry as Chairman. E. Elm, Hardisty replaced J. Soffer, Alliance as Advisory Committee member for Division 1 in January of 1979. Donald Pfeiffer, Stroms replaced E. Chavrus, Killam in Division 4 in January of 1980.

SEED CLEANING PLANTS:

The following table shows the amount of seed and commercial cleaning at the four plants during the past three years (July 1 to June 31).

	Seed Cl.	Com. Cl.	Seed Cl.	Com. Cl.	Seed Cl.	Com. Cl.
	1979	1979	1978	1978	1977	1977
Alliance	168,827	32,000	168,184	14,826	235,580	21,144
Forestry	211,804	82,097	207,344	47,739	285,680	39,492
Loughheed	281,952	28,074	278,028	11,609	335,054	11,605
Stroms	242,293	11,931	350,371	4,216	215,637	---
TOTALS	804,876	154,104	934,127	78,690	1,171,582	73,241

Three of the four plants report an increase in cleaning for this time of year (Feb./May) from 15 to 56 thousand bushels.

Because of excessive amounts of sprout appearing in many of the 1979 grain samples, farmers are advised to check their potential seed supply closely before having it cleaned.

WEED CONTROL:

Canada thistle and countless Common Nettle (Hayweed) appear to be the most troublesome weeds to control at the present time. A series of joint information meetings have been planned for the Gladstone, Piquette, Rosalind, and Killam areas early in April. A special survey and awareness program will be conducted in Townships 44 to the north boundary and from Range 12, to the west boundary.

SPRAYER CALIBRATION SERVICE BEING DISCONTINUED:

Lack of competent sprayer technicians, reduced number of requests for service and improved repair facilities by local chemical dealers has resulted in the cancelling out of this program. In its place the Service Board will make spray kits available at reasonable cost which will enable farmers to easily convert their field sprayers to treat roadsides, fence lines, around brush patches, etc.

DEEP PLOWING, RIPPING, LIMING:

A set of plots were put out on the SE 12-41-14-W4 with the following treatments:

- 5 acres of Deep Plowing - 5 acres of Ripping - 5 acres of lime
- 5 acres lime & ripping - 5 acres check.

These plots will be closely monitored for several years with crop yields taken yearly.

0 TILLAGE PLOT:

One set of plots comparing 0 tillage to minimum tillage was set out on the SE 24-44-16. The minimum tillage plot had two workings before seeding while the 0 tillage plot was just sprayed with Roundup. Seeding was done with a Ray Hunter 0 Till Drill. First year results were slightly better on the 0 till plot. The demonstration will be continued again this year.

SOIL CONSERVATION ACT:

In 1977 the County of Pigot passed a by-law prohibiting the burning of crop residues or stubble without the issuance of two permits. (1) Forest & Prairie Protection Act Permit (as in the past) and (2) Crop Residue Permit. Applications for these permits should be made to the Agricultural Fieldman's office, Sedgewick.

CONCLUSION:

At this time I wish to express my appreciation to all the Councilors who compose the Agricultural Committee, the Advisory Committee, D.A.'s office, the County office staff, the men who helped carry out our programs and last but not least, the ratepayers of the County for their valuable assistance during this, our 27th year as Agricultural Fieldman.

Respectfully Submitted,

BRIAN M. LEE,
Agricultural Fieldman.

WASTE DISPOSAL
J. Crawford reported on the waste disposal mentioned in the 1978 Annual Meeting minutes. Various types of disposal systems have been examined and discussed by the committee. The population in this County is such that the burning type of disposal system as suggested in the minutes is not warranted.

REPORT OF COUNTY BO. OF ED. CHAIRMAN
The Chairman called on County Board of Education Chairman G. Miller to present his report.

Mr. Miller introduced the Board of Education for 1979. Non-sitting urban representatives were also introduced.

Mr. Miller advised the addition to the Industrial Arts section at Sedgewick Central School has been completed at an approximate cost of $100,000.00 and is now in full use.

Removals to the 1927 elementary section of the Noyland School have been completed at an approximate cost of $76,000.00 to almost new standard.

It is hoped some of the other schools will also be updated. The new fire regulations are an ever increasing cost to the Board. The government will pick up approximately 80% of the costs of an approved program under the fire regulations. Some of the things asked for are smoke detectors and emergency exit lights.

The mill rate for education will remain the same as last year. There is a small surplus of $2,560.00. There are 2150 students and 120 teachers in the County this year making the pupil teacher ratio about 17.9:1. This is lower than the government would like it to be but the Board feels the children must be given the best possible education at the best possible cost that can be arrived at.

Mr. Miller then thanked the members of the Board, the Assistant Secretary-Treasurer, the Superintendent, teaching staff, bus drivers, janitors and anyone else connected with the board for helping to run education in the County in an efficient and orderly manner.

Mr. Miller advised that Dale Erickson took on the position of Superintendent on a temporary basis as Mr. Cleveland was asked to work for A.S.T.A. for a one year term. Mr. Cleveland will be back in August.

Mr. Miller also introduced Terry Tiffen, the Deputy Superintendent

SUPERINTENDENT'S REPORT

The Chairman thanked Mr. Miller for his report and called on Mr. Erickson, Superintendent of Schools, to make his report.

Mr. Erickson advised most of his report is included in the Financial Statement and he asked if there were any questions.

There is a new special education program in place this year which will be continued next year. It is operating on a year to year basis, and is evaluated each year. New Junior High Science program done by Flagstaff teachers has now been completed with the help of the Regional Office in Red Deer. It is hoped a music program may be implemented in September 1979 in the elementary level. There will be emphasis from the provincial government on student evaluation in some form of provincial examination at the grade 12 level in particular. E.O.P. funds have been extended to the junior high level. The new grant for handicapped students will be taken advantage of in September 1979. There are some curriculum changes this year. High school Mathematics and perhaps Science will be looked at. Mathematics has to be revised reasonably soon due to metrication. There is a grant for the upgrading and metrication of industrial education equipment which will be used in 1979.

The Chairman thanked the Superintendent for his report and asked if there were any questions.

A. Frendrich said that in Grade 11 Science in Central High, there are more students taking Physics and Chemistry by correspondence than there are receiving instruction in the school. There are possibly several reasons. In reply to his question on who pays for these courses, Mr. Erickson advised if students are successful in any correspondence course, they are reimbursed their fees.

In reply to Mr. Frendrich's question as to how long this situation was to continue, Mr. Erickson replied he was not aware of any problem existing but will look into it. He noted sometimes students are forced by their time table to take subjects by correspondence.

Mr. Erickson advised Mr. Waldorf that dependent upon the reason, a student taking a course by correspondence due to conflict of time table may have the fees picked up by the County. Some students take these courses for extra credits and not because they are not offered on the time table. The principal must approve the correspondence course.

In reply to Mr. Cibart's question on what became of the study done on programming and facilities, Mr. Erickson advised the results were given in the last issue of the Flagstaff News. A copy of the study is available from his office. The Board of Education decided at the study last fall at which time they decided to receive it for information, and did not act on any of the recommendations.

Mrs. L. Stokke requested the minutes of the Board of Education meetings be published in Flagstaff News. She was advised this is not a monthly publication. The press have been advised the meeting is open but they have not made arrangements to come to the meetings. Mr. Miller noted the public has the right to come and sit in on the meetings and stated the Board would like the press to do so. The minutes of a meeting cannot be sent to press until they have been approved at a following meeting. The Secretary advised that up until recently copies of the minutes were sent to the Community Press upon approval. They have not been put into the paper.

An invitation has been extended to have the press have a reporter come to the meeting and make their own notes. General opinion was that the minutes should be published. Reeve Blatz noted the press did not like edited minutes and this was the only way they could be printed before they were approved.

SCHOOL PORTION FINANCIAL STATEMENT

G. Charn, Assistant Secretary-Treasurer, reviewed the school portion of the audited Financial Statement for 1978, and asked for information. Mr. North was advised of the percentage of employee benefits the teachers are now receiving.

Mr. North was also advised three men are employed to do the maintenance and repairs on the schools.

Mr. Chermak explained that uncertificated personnel are personnel such as teacher aides, caretakers, busdrivers, mechanics, etc. Only teachers are shown as certificated.

Mr. A. Freadrich was advised the $500.00 per capita Debt Reduction grant is intended for unsupported debts. Nearly all school debentures are wholly supported. The Debt Reduction program is for retirement of unsupported municipal debentures.

In answer to a question from Mr. Freadrich on the school foundation program keeping up with inflation, Mr. Chermak noted the grant increase was approximately 8% although due to our falling enrollment, we receive approximately 6%. The supplementary requisition bill rate will not be increased in 1979.

In answer to Mr. North's question on teacherage rentals, Mr. Chermak advised they are close to the private rental rates in each town or village.

The number of teacherages and trailers owned by the County will be given later on in the meeting. Mr. A. Cameron was advised that in the past four or five years, three or four teacherages and trailers have been sold.

REEVE'S REPORT

The Chairman requested A. Blatz, Reeve of the County, to give his annual report.

Reeve Blatz welcomed everyone to the meeting and thanked them for taking part. Reeve Blatz noted that C.P. Hayes was present for his 52nd Annual Meeting.

Reeve Blatz reported the Ambulance program operating in the County had its annual meeting and the rates will not change for 1979. There is a slight surplus accruing in all areas where the ambulances are stationed. The program is run by a steering committee or representatives of these four urban municipalities and one representative from the County. The surplus monies will be used to buy one ambulance this year. The ambulances were originally purchased in 1973 and have given good service. The Killam ambulance was replaced in 1978 at an approximate cost of $16,500.00. The ambulances are being purchased already converted.

A communication system was installed in the hospitals and ambulances in 1978 and is operating well.

In the health-life protection situation in our county, we are being confronted with a Provincial System of ambulance program. The County are going to try to stay abreast of it to operate a voluntary system within the provincial system. Volunteer operators are being trained by giving them St. John's Ambulance First Aid Courses and last year two Resuscitator Aides and one Resuscitator were purchased to enable Cardiac Pulmonary Resuscitation courses to be given. Four people were trained as instructors for the latter course but through unforeseen circumstances, only one remains in the area. The C.P.R. course will be given to hospital personnel, fire protection people and will become available to the general public.

Eugene Waldorf was asked to give a brief report on the Hospital Board operating within the County. He noted the communication system seems to be working well and has in some cases proven its value. The fact that the communication system is on the same frequency as the ambulance system in Edmonton has caused a little confusion and the nursing staff has had to be encouraged to leave the radios turned up. The beepers given to the doctors and support staff of the hospitals as well as the drivers of the ambulances are working very well. Daysland's walkie-talkies are also working well. One-half of the cost of these walkie-talkies were paid with extra monies the Daysland Ambulance Committee had before the county program was started. Total cost of the Communication System was $17,253.00. Reeve Blatz advised.

Reeve Blatz reported the Fire Protection Plan is operated on the same basis as in the past. The annual meeting was held in February 1979 and the rates will remain the same. The volunteer people are dedicated people and must be given credit where credit is due. The system is operating well and no one wants to change it.

Reeve Blatz advised the Chairman of the Waste Disposal Committee, is J.R. Crawford. The committee has representatives from the urban and rural municipalities and there have been a number of meetings held. He then asked Mr. Crawford to report to the meeting.

Mr. Crawford advised a lot of the people are not fully aware of the situation to be faced as surely as metrication. Waste disposal has to be handled according to the regulations of Alberta Environment and Alberta Health. The whole system requires a lot of study and surveying other systems. The site has to be approved by Alberta Environment and Health. Handling the waste has to be approved by Alberta Health. At the present time one site has been approved by Alberta Environment out of the six to eight sites submitted. It will involve a lot of money to meet their requirements. However, being it is suggested by the government, we have been waiting until there is legislation for funds for this purpose. The Secretary-Treasurer has done a lot of work on this project and we now have a tentative system in mind and within the next year, all things being equal and funds available, we may get something going. All municipalities within the County will be involved in the system eventually and we have to have a system to meet all the various requirements.

The Secretary advised the site approved was SW 11-45-12-34 and it is now being advertised in the local papers for any objections to establishing the sanitary landfill site. The parcel is owned by Alberta Energy and Natural Resources.

Reeve Blatz went on to report 25 miles of road were rebuilt in 1978, 256 miles re-gravelled, 85 miles re-oiled and patched and 6 1/2 miles of new oiled roads were added to the road program. Additional grant funds were received from the government in August which we used on S.R. 870 north of Loughheed. These funds had to be used during that construction season or they were lost. Alberta Transportation has not yet advised the amount of money to be allocated to the County of Flagstaff for road construction in 1979. It looks like six to ten miles of the Coronation road will be reconstructed on the north side of the Skeena River. There is also a possibility of additional work on S.R. 870 south of Loughheed. The bridge is being built on the Coronation road.

The County sold the gravel crusher in the fall of 1978 as contractors can now be hired to do the gravel crushing cheaper than the County could crush. It was also a problem to find people to operate the crusher. 100,000 cu. yds. were crushed at the Soka pit in the fall and winter of 1978, and the summer tender has been let for 50,000 cu. yds. at the Traudt pit to McHabb Crushing, and 75,000 cu. yds. at the Skori pit to Fitzgerald Crushing, making a total of 225,000 cu. yds. in 12 months. This brings the stockpiles up to what was on hand prior to 1974.

Reeve Blatz noted there are 10 full time grader operators in the County. Two new sheds were tendered this year, one in Daysland and one in Forestburg. These sheds are in the residential areas in the towns and the County is building the new sheds outside the residential areas. Also the new machines are too big for the old grader sheds. The buildings will be 40 x 60 and will cost approximately $25,000.00 each insulated. Mainwright Landscaping had the successful tender.

Five of the old grader sheds will be insulated, sliding put on the ends and new doors installed to help keep heating costs down.

The County came out well financially. There was more money come in from the government to the system than was anticipated. The change to monthly payments by the Alberta Education instead of quarterly helped. The County operates on a cash basis and these funds earn interest for us. Interest in 1978 amounted to approximately $95,000.00.

The Debt Reduction program will be just about 2 1/3 million dollars and is to come in sometime in the summer months. Starting April 1st, this money will be drawing interest for the County at 10% in the government coffers until we actually receive it. It is suggested we not get too excited about this money at this time. Because this municipality has no debts we will receive a cash cheque. When this money does come it will draw interest and everyone should take a long hard look at what this money can do. Council want to take their time in making a decision on spending it. The interest will be one mill per month and it behooves Council to sit back and see what can happen in the future. We will report next year what this money can do for the County of Flagstaff.

Reeve Blatz advised Mr. C. Vos that there were five towns and villages under capital agreement with the County, receiving a grant of $1800.00 per town to house and own fire fighting equipment, plus $75.00 for the first two hours and $75.00 per hour standby pay. The cost to County ratepayers and villages not under the capital agreement receive $450.00 for the first two hours and $75.00 per hour standby pay. The cost to County ratepayers is a flat rate of $100.00. Everyone seems happy with this arrangement.

Bill Barnes was advised the regional road profile surveys are supplied by Alberta Transportation and the County pays for legal surveys of roads. The Secretary went on to explain roughly why survey crews returned more than once and sometimes moved stakes.

A. Freadrich asked if something could be done about garbage such as chunks of dirt, etc., in the road ditches. It creates a problem when moving machinery. Reeve Blatz noted this is a problem with no complete answers.

A. Cameron was advised the results of tests taken on land for a sanitary landfill site were still held by the department. The County only received the results of tests on the one parcel approved by Alberta Environment.

The meeting recessed at 2:50 p.m. for coffee and reconvened at 3:00 p.m.

MUNICIPAL PORTION OF FINANCIAL STATEMENT

O.W. Likness, Secretary-Treasurer reviewed the municipal portion of the audited Financial Statement for 1978.

In answer to a question from L. Cameron on what P.S.S. involved, the Secretary explained it is a body set up of members from each of the 10 towns and villages and the county, who are in the social services field and hope through their programs to prevent social problems, especially with young people. Mrs. Hagen noted P.S.S. works with senior citizens, are involved in drop-in centers and home care support services. The new P.S.S. director is Paul Bujold. The programs deal directly with family problems trying to prevent them.

The Secretary clarified the portion of the Financial Statement on the County's contribution to the Recreation districts for Mrs. L. Skobe.

The Secretary advised that as the County is the signing authority for P.S.S., operating costs are reflected in the County's budget.

The Chairman noted the surplus for the year and stated it is hoped a simplified financial statement will be ready for presentation to the ratepayers next year. The present statement is in the form required by the senior governments for their records. The booklets are expensive and a filer type statement is being looked into for insertion in the local papers and to be sent to every post office.

The Chairman advised that the County owns 18 houses, 1 duplex in Killam, 1 triplex in Heister and 4 trailers making a total of 24 units available for use as teachers' quarters.

The 1978 audited Financial Statement was accepted on motion of S. Crenshaw and R. Waldorf.

CARRIFD.

Reeve Blatz reported the total taxes collected in 1978 was 95.8% and he thanked the ratepayers for their co-operation.

MUNICIPAL INSPECTOR'S ON'S REPORT

The Municipal Inspector's Report for 1978 was read by Reeve Blatz and he thanked the internal staff on behalf of everyone. The report was accepted on motion of Reeve Blatz and A. Blatz.

CARRIFD.

Chairman Jacobson asked Brim Lee, the Agricultural Fieldman, to make his report.

There has been one change in the Advisory Committee since the report in the Financial Statement was printed. John Hofer of the Hutterian Brethren of South Bend resigned as he is now living in Saskatchewan most of the time. He was replaced by Eugene Elm as representative in Division 1.

Information on the cattle survey in the County of Plagstaff was included in the last Plagstaff News. This survey is required every four years to be eligible for a grant for Marble Control. This will be the first survey taken in eight years in this County.

A lot of people are not aware of what V.S.I. is and this has been made part of a two page question and answer approach prepared by the Veterinarians' Association. It is not the idea of the County to try to force anything on people but just to put out information for people who are interested. Comments received will be passed on to the Veterinarians' Association.

Mr. Zuck was to report on the Seed Plants to-day but is ill. The Regular Seed Plant Conference will be held June 14th and best attendance trophies will be given out.

Nestlock Sales & Services will service fire extinguishers for towns, villages, or farmers when they are servicing the fire extinguishers for the seed plants. A schedule will be put out as to when they will be in the area.

It was noted the Nestlock Sales & Service will service fire extinguishers for the seed plants but are not under contract to do so.

Now federal dust regulations are coming in and the plants will be checked. More work will have to be done in our seed plants to bring down the dust pollution level.

The federal grant for improvement of seed plants, which was a $10,000.00 grant, has come to an end. 38 plants availed themselves of the grant. The cost of a new plant has escalated tremendously.

D. Poutledge was advised the V.S.I. system is a pre-paid veterinary plan.

A. Freadrich was advised by Glen Warner, District Agriculturist, that the results on the deep plowing plots has been published in the local papers and a more detailed copy of the information may be obtained from the D.A.'s office.

Chairman Jacobson thanked Mr. Lee for his report.

In answer to a question from A. Freadrich, if a fire permit was required for burning windrows of brush and stump piles, he was advised all Councillors and all town and village fire chiefs have fire permits. Under the Forest & Prairie Fire Protection Act a permit is required for any type of burning.

Brief discussion ensued on liability if a permit is not obtained and if proper precautions are not taken when burning. It was noted that by getting a permit, the fire chief is made aware you will be burning and this will avoid a false alarm being turned in. Charges can be laid by Constable Vanderveide, the R.C.M.P. or the Game Warden if a person is caught burning without a permit.

S. Crenshaw was advised you can drain on your own land as long as it does not affect your neighbor's. The County had looked into initiating a study on water drainage in the Iron Creek basin and the effect at the lower end, but the government did not feel it was feasible. They would do the study for the County but the cost would be in the millions. To drain water across or affecting someone's land, you must have a license from Water Resources and permission of the people whose land may be affected. Every project drained into Iron Creek affects the land at the end of the creek where it enters the Battle River. The County wanted to have a study done beginning at the Battle River but had no success. Water Resources do not look at the far end. It was noted 60% of the County is drained by Iron Creek. The ratepayers were cautioned to make sure they proceeded through proper channels.

Mr. Miller, Chairman of the Drainage Committee, said it had been suggested that the creek be straightened out at the river to speed the flow. If information on the effect where the creek enters the river could be obtained, Council could then look at some of the proposed projects and if feasible, could allow them to happen and feel right about it. Council wants to know where the water is going and how much. To date Water Resources have been by-passing council and telling applicants to go ahead and drain anyway. There have been several. What would happen downstream if another year like 1974 occurs?

Mr. Wernery noted the Iron Creek is a fairly substantial portion of the Battle River Study. Water Resources feel the water runs out of the Battle River area too quickly and they feel if the County proceeds with the Iron Creek proposal the water will run out that much quicker.

Mr. Crenshaw noted that the water in a slough bordering his land was pumped dry and the beaver all died. He felt the County did this as they thought the road may be washed out. One dam was 3/4 of a mile away from the road, and he thought the County blew this dam. A grant had been received in the 50's to put this dam in and the beaver had raised it. He thought Constable Vanderveide blew it. Reeve Blatz stated this would have to be

is a flat rate of $100.00. Everyone seems happy with this arrangement.

Bill Barnes was advised the regional road profile surveys are supplied by Alberta Transportation and the County pays for legal surveys of roads. The Secretary went on to explain roughly why survey crews returned more than once and sometimes moved stakes.
